Example 2: On June 30, 1995, a member (who was born on December 5, 1936) transfers to the Retired Reserve with entitlement to two years of RSSP at the rate of $6,000 per year, as determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. The initial payment is in the full amount. The second installment, however, is due on June 30, 1996, which is after the member's 59th birthday but before his 60th birthday. Prorate for each full month between the due date and the member's sixtieth birthday. In this case, this means a payment of 5/12ths of $6,000, or $2,500.

5. Withhold taxes from the initial payment at the rate appropriate for one-time payments for both federal and applicable state tax withholding purposes. Withhold taxes from any other RSSP installment payments at the rate appropriate for salaries paid on an annual basis, currently set forth for federal withholding purposes in of IRS Circular E, Table 7 (reference (cf)). When withholding taxes payments under Table 7, give appropriate consideration to any withholding exemptions claimed by the member on a Form W-4.

6. Receipt of these annual payments does not decrease or otherwise affect the retired pay to which the member is entitled at age 60.

7. In the event of the member's death, do not make any remaining annual payments.

580505. Reservists' Involuntary Separation Pay (RISP)

A. Payment. Upon approval by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, and subject to the restrictions in this paragraph, pay RISP to a member the Selected Reserve who has at least 6 years but less than 15 years of service under 10 U.S.C. 12732 (reference (c)) as of the date of discharge from a Reserve Component or involuntary transfer from the Selected Reserve. Do not make payment if the separation occurs before March 11, 1993.

B. Computation

1. Using an official statement of service, determine years of service under 10 U.S.C. 12733 (reference (c)), computing to three decimal places and rounding to two decimal places. Do not include in the 10 U.S.C. 12733 (reference (c)) service any days or points for which the member previously received separation, severance, or readjustment pay.

2. Multiply the number of years of service under 10 U.S.C. 12733 (reference (c)) times 0.15 times 62 times the member's daily rate of basic pay if serving on active duty as of the date of separation or transfer from the Selected Reserve. The product is the RISP.

Example: A member who is an E-5 over 8 years total service for pay purposes (daily rate of pay $47.55) and a total of 1,760 retirement points credit is approved for discharge on August 27, 1993, by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. Compute RISP as follows: Divide total Retirement Points Credit 1,760 by 360 = 4.89 years (computing to 3 decimal places rounding to 2 decimal places) x 15% x 62 x $47.55 (daily rate of pay) = $2,162.43 RISP.

3. Withhold federal and state income taxes in accordance with Volume 7C, paragraph 050503 of this regulation. RISP payments are not subject to FICA or Medicare taxes.

4. A recipient of RISP who later receives basic pay, inactive duty training compensation, or retired or retainer pay, shall have such pay, compensation, or retired pay reduced by 75 percent until the total reductions equal the total RISP received.

5. A member who has received RISP, who later receives disability compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs, shall have deducted from such disability compensation the total amount of RISP. However, there shall be no such reduction if the disability compensation is for a disability incurred or aggravated after the period for which the RISP was paid.

6. Members are not authorized to receive RISP when they are authorized to receive early (completed at least 15 but less than 20 years of service as computed under 10 U.S.C. 12732 (reference (c))) nonregular retired pay at age 60.

5806 DEDUCTIONS AND COLLECTIONS

580601. Income Tax Withholding. The provisions of Chapter 57, paragraph 570701 apply to members of the Reserve Components who are performing inactive duty training.

580602. Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA). See Chapter 45 of this volume.

580603. Courts-Martial Sentences. The provisions of Chapter 48 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Components who are performing inactive duty training.

580604. Nonjudicial Punishment

A. The provisions of Chapter 49 of this volume, except paragraph 490302, apply to members of the Reserve Components who are performing inactive duty training.

B. The maximum forfeiture to which a member of a Reserve Component is subject, while in an inactive duty status, is limited to one-half of the inactive duty training compensation to which entitled during the period of the sentence. This applies also to a member who is on active duty for training when the nonjudicial punishment is imposed, and reverts to an inactive duty status during the period of the sentence.

580605. Stoppages and Collections Other Than Courts-Martial Forfeitures. The provisions of Chapter 50 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Component who are performing inactive duty training. Remission of indebtedness is not applicable to members in an inactive duty status.

580606. Waiver of Claims for Erroneous Payment of Pay and Allowances. See paragraph 500601 of this volume.

580607. Legal Process for the Enforcement of Child Support and Alimony Obligations. See paragraphs 500201, 500202, and 500203 of this volume.

★5807 SERVICEMEMBERS' GROUP LIFE INSURANCE (SGLI) PROGRAM

580701. Definitions. See section 4701 of this volume.

580702. Part-Time Coverage. The SGLI Program is administered by the VA.

A. Basic Coverage. Effective April 1, 1996, this program automatically insures eligible members against death in the amount of $200,000 while they are performing active duty or active duty for training for an ordered period of 30 days or less, or are performing inactive duty training. Members may elect coverage for less than $200,000, in $10,000 increments, or may elect to decline coverage.

NOTE: All Selected Reservists, and any other Ready Reserve members who are assigned or attached to a unit or position that may require performing active duty or active duty for training and that will require at least 12 scheduled periods of inactive duty for training annually, are covered full-time. (See Chapter 47 of this volume for full-time coverage policy and procedures.)

B. Changes in Coverage. A member who is covered for an amount less than maximum SGLI coverage may later apply for increased coverage in writing, in an amount of up to $200,000 with proof of good health. See Table 47-1, note 7, for the only exception to the proof of good health requirement.

C. Any election made continues in effect during continuous obligation to perform duty in the same Uniformed Service, including any active duty for a period of more than 30 days. For mobilization, see Table 47-1, rule 8.

580704. Appellate Leave. See section 4705 of this volume.

580706. Deductions (SGLI Premiums)

A. General. Amounts for premium deductions are $1.00 for each $10,000 of coverage per fiscal year. The premium due is for the entire fiscal year without regard for any portion served by a member. The annual premium is collected from the member's pay account during the first period of duty each year in which the member is in a pay status. The premium is not prorated.

B. Election Changes. Amounts deducted for coverage before the effective date of a waiver of coverage or before an election of a lesser amount of coverage are not refunded. Should a member elect increased coverage during a year in which a duty period has already been performed, collect the difference (between the higher annual premium and the premium previously collected) during the first period of duty in which the member is in a pay status that same year, if applicable.

580708. Settlement of SGLI Claims. See section 4710 of this volume.

★580709. Retired Reserve. SGLI coverage terminates on the day a member is assigned to (or who upon application would be eligible for assignment to) the Retired Reserve. These members may apply for and receive retired coverage until they receive their first increment of retired pay or until they reach 61 years of age, whichever occurs first. Anyone on medical hold must apply directly to the Office of Servicemember's Group Life Insurance (OSGLI) for coverage. Members are covered on a full-time basis and must pay their own premiums directly to the OSGLI.

CHAPTER 58

PAY AND ALLOWANCES FOR INACTIVE DUTY TRAINING

5801 GENERAL PROVISIONS

★580101. Entitlement and Computation of Inactive Duty Training Pay and Special Pay

A. Inactive Duty Training With Pay. A member of a Reserve Component is entitled to compensation at the rate of one-thirtieth of the basic pay prescribed for grade and years' service for the performance of each authorized period of:

1. Regular inactive duty training (drill or unit training assembly (UTA));
2. Equivalent training, instruction, or duty;
 - a. Army: For details and exceptions, see AR 140-1 and NGR 350-1 (reference (df)).
 - b. Navy: See BUPERS Instruction 1001.39 Series (reference (dg)).
 - c. Air Force: See ANGM 50-01 and Table 11-1, AFR 35-41 (reference (dh)).
 - ★d. Marine Corps: See MCO P1001R.1j (reference (di)).
3. Appropriate duty;
4. Additional flying training period (AFTP); or
5. Additional inactive duty training.

To qualify for pay for a period of inactive duty training, each member must engage in such duty or training for the period (not less than 2 hours) prescribed by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. Compensation will not accrue for periods of inactive duty performed in excess of the number authorized by the appropriate regulations of the Military Service concerned. NOTE: A member cannot qualify for pay for more than 2 periods of inactive duty training during a single calendar day.

B. Inactive Duty Training Without Pay. Members of the Reserve Components may, with their consent, be ordered to inactive duty training without pay when authorized by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned.

★C. Combination Active Duty and Inactive Duty. A member of a Reserve Component may be paid the equivalent total of pay for more than 360 days in a year, when so directed based on actual entitlement, if this total is based on a combination of active duty pay and inactive duty training compensation.

580102. Limitation. A member cannot accrue compensation for inactive duty training performed on a day on which also entitled to basic pay for active duty or active duty for training or on a day on which entitled to muster duty allowance.

580103. Waiver of Benefits. The provisions of paragraph 570104, above, apply to members of the Reserve Components who perform inactive duty training in a pay status.

580104. Allotment of Pay. Except as prescribed in paragraph 570708, above, members of the Reserve Components are not authorized to allot inactive duty training compensation.

580105. Special Pays

A. Members of the Reserve Components are not entitled to special pay for periods of inactive duty except as noted in the following subparagraphs.

B. A member of a Reserve Component who meets the requirements of section 1901 of this volume and any additional requirements of the Military Service concerned, is entitled to foreign language proficiency pay for each regular period of instruction or period of appropriate duty at which the member is engaged for at least 2 hours. This includes instruction received or duty performed on a Sunday or holiday and each period of performance of such equivalent training, instruction duty, or appropriate duties as the Secretary of the Military Department concerned may prescribe.

C. A member under conditions cited in subparagraph B, above, is entitled to an increase in compensation equal to one-thirtieth of the monthly special pay authorized under paragraph 190103 of this volume.

D. A member of a Reserve Component who meets the requirements of Chapter 11 of this volume, based on diving duty performed on and after April 1, 1988, is entitled to diving duty pay for each regular period of instruction, or period of appropriate duty at which the member is engaged for at least 2 hours. This includes instruction received or duty performed on a Sunday or holiday and each period of performance of such equivalent training, instruction duty, or appropriate duties as the Secretary of the Military Department concerned may prescribe.

E. A member under conditions cited in subparagraph D, above, is entitled to an increase in compensation equal to one-thirtieth of the monthly special pay authorized for performance of diving duty for the comparable diving classification under section 1103 of this volume.

580106. Muster Duty Allowance (MDA) for Reservists

★A. Entitlement. A member of the Ready Reserve who is not a member of the National Guard or the Selected Reserve is entitled to a MDA for a minimum of 2 hours muster duty performed pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 12319 (reference (c)). An MDA is paid once during a calendar year.

B. Amount Payable. Refer to Joint Federal Travel Regulations (JFTR), Volume 1, Chapter 7 (reference (d)), for MDA amount, established yearly, effective January 1 of each year. The MDA amount is payable effective January 1 of each year. The MDA amount is payable regardless of pay grade.

C. Collections. From the MDA, collect:

1. FITW at the rate for one-time payments.
2. SITW at the rate appropriate for one-time payments.
3. SGLI premium of $.50 or $1.00. Members who perform muster duty are covered part-time under the SGLI Program. Coverage is at the maximum Basic Coverage rate of $100,000 with a $.50 deduction unless the member elects to waive coverage or applies (elects) for SSGLI at the maximum additional rate of $100,000 with a deduction of $1.00. Members may be covered for either $100,000 or $200,000, or may decline coverage. See Table 47-1 for coverage effective dates.
4. Do not collect FICA taxes.

★D. Payment. The allowance may be paid to a Ready Reservist before, on, or after the date on which the muster duty is performed, but not more than 30 days after that date. The Ready Reservist is not entitled to other payment of any kind, including inactive duty training compensation under paragraph 580101, above, for the performance of a muster duty.

★E. Retirement Point Credit. Muster duty shall not be credited in determining entitlement to, nor computing, retired pay under chapter 1223 of Title 10, U.S.C.

580107. Designated Unit Pay

A. An enlisted member assigned to a unit designated as a high priority unit of the Selected Reserve by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned is, while performing inactive duty training for compensation, entitled to a maximum of $10 designated unit pay for the performance of each authorized period of:

1. Regular inactive duty training (drill or unit training assembly); or
2. Equivalent training, instruction, or duty, provided each authorized period is not of less than 4-hours duration. Authorized periods may be performed on a Sunday or a legal holiday.

B. An enlisted member of a designated unit is entitled to designated unit pay for authorized periods of drill or duty performed with a non-designated unit, but enlisted members of a non-designated unit may not receive designated unit pay for authorized periods of drill or duty performed with a designated unit.

C. Designated unit pay is subject to federal and state withholding, but is not subject to FICA taxation.

★D. No payment of designated unit pay may be made for any period before the date the Secretary of the Military Department concerned designates a unit as a high priority unit, nor may any payment be made for any period of drill or instruction performed after December 31, 1999.

5802 INCENTIVE PAY

★580202. ACIP (Continuous or Conditional) or HDIP. Members of the Reserve Components who perform inactive duty training in a pay status are entitled to ACIP or incentive pay for flying under the conditions of sections 2201 or 2202 of this volume. Effective July 12, 1973, the provisions of subparagraphs 220103.A.1 or 220203.A.1, regarding the use of hours flown during the preceding 5 months not already used to qualify for flight pay, are equally applicable to members otherwise eligible who are performing inactive duty training. Exception: Minimum flight requirements are one-half of those prescribed for a member on active duty, that is, 2 hours per month when the calendar month is the unit period. If a fraction of a calendar month is the unit period, flying time required for such period will be as shown in Table 22-2 under "Inactive Duty." A member who has performed less than the total number of regularly scheduled drills or unit training assemblies during a month or a fractional part of a month must meet the minimum flight requirements for the month, or fraction thereof, in order to be entitled to any flying pay for the drills or unit training assemblies actually performed. When scheduled inactive duty training was not attended and performed in a subsequent month, flying pay for such period(s) is payable, provided the member met minimum flight requirements for each period involved.

A. Combined Flight Requirements. When a member performs both active and inactive duty with pay in the same month, designated flying time earned in that month may be combined to satisfy any ACIP or Hazardous Duty Incentive Pay (HDIP) flight requirements for that month.

1. Active and inactive duty flying time may be combined for application to flight requirements only in the month in which the flying is performed. Combined flying time that is in excess of the requirements of the month in which actually performed, or that otherwise cannot be used in the month earned, must be redistributed into active and inactive flying time categories. Combined flying time may be applied only to other monthly flight requirements (see Chapter 22) for the appropriate status category into which redistributed (i.e., active duty flying time for active duty requirements and inactive duty flying time for inactive duty requirements). Combined flying time will be applied and any excess or unused time will be divided and placed into appropriate categories as set forth below. Note: Unless the member is performing continuous active duty in excess of 30 days, or unless the active duty period extends unbroken over parts of 2 months, the excess/unused active flying duty hours may not be banked for potential application to other requirements.

a. When the hours flown while on active duty are in excess of the active duty flight requirement of the month and the hours flown during the inactive duty period are also in excess of the inactive duty flight requirement of the month; all excess hours will be retained in their respective categories for application to the requirements for other months, if otherwise allowable.

Example 1: A member performed 15 days active duty and was in an inactive duty training status 15 days in the same calendar month. The member performed 5.0 hours of flying duty while on active duty and 1.5 hours while on inactive duty. The 5.0 hours earned while on active duty are excess to the 2 hours required, and the 1.5 hours earned while on inactive duty are excess to the 1.0 hours required. The 3.0 hours that are in excess of the active duty requirement will be “banked” as active duty time, if the criteria of the note in 580202.A.1 are met. The 0.5 hours excess to the inactive duty requirement will be banked as inactive duty time.

b. When the hours flown while on active duty are in excess of the active duty flight requirement of the month, and the hours flown during the inactive duty period are insufficient for the inactive duty flight requirement of the month, the excess active duty hours will be applied to the inactive duty requirement. Any remaining excess or unused active duty hours will be retained for application to the requirements for other months of active duty, if otherwise allowable. If the excess active duty hours applied to the inactive duty requirement are not sufficient to meet the inactive duty requirement for that month, then any banked inactive hours shall also be applied. If the inactive duty requirement is still not satisfied, all hours revert to their respective categories to be used in meeting the requirements for other months, as allowable.

Example 2: A member performed 15 days active duty and was in an inactive duty training status 15 days in the same calendar month. Member performed

5.0 hours of flying duty while on active duty and 0.5 hours while on inactive duty. The active duty flying time is in excess of the active duty requirement of 2.0 hours, while the inactive flying time is insufficient for the inactive duty requirement of 1.0 hours. Apply 0.5 of the excess active duty hours to the inactive requirement. The remaining 2.5 excess active duty hours may be banked as active duty time, if the criteria of the note in 580202A.1 are met.

c. When the hours flown while on active duty are insufficient for the active duty flight requirement of the month, and the hours flown during the inactive duty period are in excess of the inactive duty flight requirement of the month, the excess inactive duty hours will be applied to the active duty requirement. Any remaining excess or unused inactive duty hours will be retained for application to inactive duty requirements in a subsequent month. If the excess inactive duty hours applied to the active duty requirement are not sufficient for the month's active duty requirement, then any banked active duty hours shall be applied. If the active duty requirement is still not satisfied, all hours revert to their respective categories for use in meeting requirements for other months, as allowable.

Example 3: A member performed 15 days active duty and was in an inactive duty training status 15 days in the same calendar month. The member performed 0.5 hours of flying duty while on active duty and 1.5 hours while on inactive duty. The member has 0.0 hours of active duty flying time and 3.0 of inactive flying time banked. The active duty flying time is insufficient for the active duty requirement of 2.0 hours and the inactive flying time is in excess of the inactive duty requirement of 1.0 hours. Apply the 0.5 excess inactive duty hours to the active duty requirement. Combined, the active duty and inactive duty flying time is short of the requirement by 1.0 hours. In this case, there are no banked active duty hours and the active duty requirement remains unfulfilled. Therefore, the 0.5 unused active duty hours may be banked as active duty time if the criteria of the note in 580202.A.1 are met and the 0.5 hours of unused inactive duty time will be banked as inactive duty time.

d. When the hours flown while on active duty are insufficient for the active duty flight requirement of the month and the hours flown during the inactive duty period are also insufficient for the inactive duty flight requirement of the month, the hours will be applied in the following sequence. First, the inactive duty hours flown will be applied to the active duty requirement. If the combined active and inactive duty hours flown are not sufficient for the active duty requirement, then any banked active duty hours shall also be applied. If the active duty requirement is still not satisfied, the active duty hours flown will instead be applied to the inactive duty requirement. If the combined active and inactive duty hours flown are not sufficient for the inactive duty requirement, then any banked inactive duty hours shall also be applied. If the inactive duty requirement is still not satisfied, all hours revert to their respective categories use in meeting requirements for other months, as allowable.

Example 4: A member performed 15 days active duty and was in an inactive duty training status 15 days in the same calendar month. The member performed 0.3 hours of flying duty while on active duty and 0.4 hours while on inactive duty. The member has 0.1 hours of active duty flying time (as a result of a period of active duty that began near the middle of the previous month and was continuous into the present month) and 0.2 hours of inactive duty flying time banked. The active duty flying time is insufficient for the active duty requirement of 2.0 hours and the inactive flying time is insufficient for the inactive duty requirement of 1.0 hours. First, apply the 0.4 hours of the inactive duty flying time to the active duty requirement. Combined, the active duty and inactive duty flying time is short of the requirement by 1.3 hours. In this case, there are 0.1 of banked active duty hours, but that also is insufficient and the active duty requirement remains unfulfilled. Next, apply the 0.3 hours of the active duty flying time to the inactive duty requirement. Again, the coverage is not sufficient, being 0.3 hours short of the inactive duty requirement. In this case, there are 0.2 hours of banked inactive duty hours, but that also is insufficient and the inactive duty requirement remains unfulfilled. Finally, since neither the active nor the inactive requirements could be fulfilled, the unused time will be banked as allowed. The unused 0.3 hours of active flying time may be banked as active duty time, if the criteria of the note in subparagraph 580202.A.1 is met and the unused 0.4 hours of inactive flying time will be banked as inactive duty time.

2. Active Duty of Less Than 1 Calendar Month Covering Parts of 2 Calendar Months. When active duty of less than 1 month covers parts of 2 consecutive calendar months, flights performed on inactive duty training may be combined to satisfy requirements for the whole period of active duty if the inactive duty flight requirements for both months have been met.

Example 1: A member performed 3.4 hours of flying while on an inactive duty training status from April 1-23. The member did not fly during active duty for training period of April 24 –May 7, or while in an inactive duty training status May 8-31. A total of 1.1 excess flying hours were accumulated before April 1. Flying time of 3.4 hours is first applied to the inactive duty training flight requirements for April (1.6 hours) and then to active duty flight requirements for April (1.0 hours). The .8 excess flying hours during April added to the 1.1 excess flying hours accumulated before April results in 1.9 excess flying hours available to apply against May flight requirements. Flight time in May totals 2.6 hours (24 days inactive duty requires 1.6 hours; 7 days of active duty requires 1.0 hours; see Table 22-2.) Accumulated excess hours first are applied to the inactive duty training flight requirements. Do not credit pay for the period May 1-7 since only 0.3 unused hours available is less than the 1.0 hours requirement.

Example 2: A member performed the following flights while on active and inactive duty training during parts of 2 calendar months. No excess flying hours were available on March 1.

Periods	Time Flown	Flight Requirements
(Inactive) March 1-15	1.8 hrs	1 hr
(Active) March 16-31	1.2 hrs	2.2 hrs
(Active) Apr 1-9	1 hr	1.2 hrs
(Inactive) Apr 10-30	1.6 hrs	1.4 hrs

NOTE: The continuous period of active duty training (March 16 – April 9) is a unit period of 25 days, which requires 3.4 hours flying time. For that reason, the 31st day of March imposes required flying time. Since this member is unable to meet the flight requirements for the active duty flight period which covers parts of 2 calendar months, it is necessary to determine if the member can meet the requirements for a single month. Entitlement for the month of March requires a composite of only 3 hours of flying time, and the month of April requires 2.6 hours. Thus, the member qualifies for flying pay for each inactive duty period and for the active duty training periods.

★B. Additional Flying Training Periods. A member who performs an additional flying training period (AFTP) in a pay status, if otherwise qualified, is entitled to incentive pay for flying if he or she meets the flight requirements of this paragraph for the month in which the AFTP is performed. Flying time accumulated during an AFTP may be used to satisfy requirements for inactive duty training and under the provisions of subparagraphs 580202 A.1 and 2, may also be used for requirements for periods of active duty or active duty for training.

C. Operational Flying. Flying duty required by competent orders and performed by members of a Reserve Component, irrespective of unit of assignment, is considered to be operational flying.

580203. Continuous ACIP. An officer of a Reserve Component who performs inactive duty training in a pay status is entitled to continuous ACIP so long as the requirements are met for an aviation service career (not on extended active duty) defined in the Definitions and the provisions of section 2202 of this volume.

580204. Submarine Duty Pay. A member of a Reserve Component who participates in scheduled drills aboard a submarine during underway operations, while under competent orders, and in a pay status, is entitled to incentive pay for submarine duty.

580205. Parachute Duty Pay. A member of a Reserve Component who performs inactive duty training in a pay status is entitled to incentive pay for parachute duty under the provisions of section 2402 of this volume.

A. Parachute jumps performed during periods of inactive duty training or active duty for training qualify a member for incentive pay for either type of duty.

B. Parachute jumps performed while on extended active duty do not qualify a member for incentive pay for inactive duty training. (See paragraph 570101, note, in this volume.)

580206. Flight Deck Duty, Demolition Duty and Experimental Stress Duty. A member of a Reserve Component who performs inactive duty training in a pay status is entitled to incentive pay under provisions of Chapter 24 of this volume.

★5803 SPECIAL PAY FOR CRITICALLY SHORT WARTIME HEALTH SPECIALIST IN SELECTED RESERVES

580301. Entitlement. Beginning on and after February 10, 1996, an officer of a reserve component who executes a written agreement to serve in the Selected Reserve of an armed force for a period of at least 1 year and not more than 3 years is entitled to Special Pay for Critically Short Wartime Specialists in Selected Reserves. Such individual must be an officer in a health care profession who is qualified in a specialty designated by DoD regulations as a critically short wartime specialty. No agreement under this section may be entered into after December 31, 1999.

580302. Rates Payable. Special pay under this section shall be paid annually at the beginning of each 12-month period for which the officer has agreed to serve. The initial installment is payable upon execution of the written agreement. The annual rate may not exceed $10,000.

580304. Termination and Refund of Special Pay. If an officer voluntarily terminates service before the end of any 12-month period of the contract, recoup the full amount of the annual payment made at the beginning of that 12-month period. A discharge in bankruptcy that is entered less than 5 years after the termination of Special Pay for Critically Short Wartime Health Specialists agreement does not discharge the medical officer from a debt arising under the terminated additional special pay agreement.

580401. Clothing Monetary Allowances, Enlisted Members. Except as provided for in subparagraphs 580401.A through C, below, an enlisted member of a Reserve Component is not entitled to any cash clothing allowances when on inactive duty training.

A. Special Initial Clothing Monetary Allowance (Navy). Enlisted members of the Naval Reserve, who are assigned to Selected Reserve units or non-pay units, are entitled to a special initial clothing monetary allowance in the amount of one-half the special initial clothing monetary allowance prescribed for chief petty officers on active duty:

1. Upon first promotion to chief petty officer;

2. Upon joining a pay selected Reserve unit or non-pay unit, if in pay grade E-7 or above, provided they have not previously been paid a cash clothing allowance for an initial outfit of clothing.

B. Quarterly Maintenance Clothing Allowance (Navy). Chief petty officers of the Naval Reserve who are assigned to Selected Reserve units, or non-pay units, and who have participated in a minimum of 75 percent of the regularly scheduled drills in the quarter concerned, are entitled to a Reserve quarterly maintenance clothing allowance (RMA) in the amount of $9.00 per quarter. Participation in authorized equivalent drills and drills missed as a result of active duty for training will be considered participation in regularly scheduled drills for purposes of entitlement to an RMA. A chief petty officer who is advanced to that grade or who becomes a member of a pay unit in a pay or non-pay status on other than the first day of a quarter is not entitled to a quarterly allowance until the first day of the next quarter. The allowance will not be paid for a fractional part of a quarter.

★C. Initial Cash Allowance for Enlisted Member. An enlisted member of a Reserve component is entitled to an initial cash allowance for the purchase of items specifically designated by the military department concerned to be purchased by the member rather than to be furnished in kind. (See paragraph 290201 of this volume.)

580402. Officers' Uniform and Equipment Allowances

A. Initial Uniform Allowance. An officer of a Reserve Component is entitled to an initial uniform allowance upon completing 14 periods of inactive duty training as an officer in the Ready Reserve, provided each period is of at least 2 hours duration. See also Chapter 30, section 3002 of this volume.

B. Repeal and Save Pay Provision of Uniform Maintenance Allowance. The authority (37 U.S.C. 416(a) (reference (aa)) for payment of the uniform maintenance allowance in subparagraph 580402.C, below, was repealed by the Congress effective November 29, 1989. However, a save pay provision was enacted which provides that an officer of a Reserve Component who, but for the repeal of the authority for the uniform maintenance allowance, would have become entitled to such allowance before the end of the 1-year period beginning on November 29, 1989, shall be entitled (during such 1-year period) to receive the allowance as in effect on November 28, 1989.

5805 MISCELLANEOUS PAYMENTS

580501. Pay and Allowances While Disabled

See paragraph 570604 of this volume for entitlements when a member of a Reserve Component is disabled while performing inactive duty training.

580502. Payment on Behalf of Deceased Members

A. Death Gratuity. The eligible beneficiaries of a member of a Reserve Component are entitled to payment of death gratuity, regardless of whether death occurred in the line of duty or was the result of the member's misconduct, if member dies:

1. While on inactive duty training.
2. While traveling directly to or from inactive duty training.
3. Within 120 days after discharge or release from inactive duty training, if the Department of Veteran's Affairs (VA) determines that death resulted from an injury or disease incurred or aggravated while performing, or traveling directly to or from such training.

B. Eligible Beneficiaries. The provisions of Table 36-1 apply to members of the Reserve Components.

C. Determining Eligible Beneficiaries. The provisions of paragraph 360104 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Components.

D. Determination Affecting Entitlement. The provisions of paragraph 360105 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Components.

E. Amounts Payable. The provisions of paragraph 360106 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Components.

F. Expediting Payments. The provisions of paragraph 360107 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Components.

G. Erroneous Payment. The provisions of paragraph 360109 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Components.

H. Settling Deceased Member's Accounts. The provisions of section 3602 of this volume, apply to members of the Reserve Components.

580503. Disability Severance Pay

A. A member who performs inactive duty training and is separated for physical disability due to injury which was the proximate result of the performance of such duty, is entitled to disability severance pay if otherwise qualified under appropriate personnel regulations.

B. Computation of disability severance pay will be as prescribed in Chapter 35 of this volume.

580504. Reservists' Special Separation Pay (RSSP)

★A. Eligibility. Upon approval of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned and in accordance with Public Law 102-484, Section 4411-4422, as amended, October 23, 1992 (reference (en)), pay RSSP to a Reservist who has served more than 20 years of service but who has not reached his/her 60th birthday and meets the following conditions:

1. The member must apply for such pay and request transfer to the Retired Reserve on or after March 11, 1993.

★2. The member must have completed at least 20 years of service computed under 10 U.S.C. 12732 (reference (c)), and be qualified to receive nonregular retired pay (except for having reached the age of 60), not later than September 30, 2001.

3. Members who are authorized to receive early (completed at least 15 but less than 20 years of service as computed under 10 U.S.C. 12732 (reference (c))) nonregular retired pay at age 60 are not authorized to receive RSSP.

4. Members are not eligible to receive RSSP if they are entitled to immediate payment of retired or retainer pay based solely on military service.

B. Computation of Annual Payment

1. Using an official statement of service, determine the member's total years of creditable service under 10 U.S.C. 12732 (reference (c)) as of the date of transfer to the Retired Reserve. (Do not pay RSSP if the member has less than 20 years of service.) Round total years down to the nearest whole year.

2. Using the total years determined above, determine the multiplier from the following Table:

Years of Service	Multiplier
21	5.5%
22	6.0%
23	6.5%
24	7.0%
25	7.5%
26	8.0%
30 or more	10.0%

3. Compute annual RSSP installment by multiplying 12 times the monthly basic pay to which the member would be entitled if the member were serving on active duty on the date the member transfers to the Retired Reserve times the multiplier.

4. Subject to the exception set out below, pay the member a maximum of 5 installments, the number of installments being as determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. Pay the first installment on the member's date of transfer to the Retired Reserve. Any additional installments are due on successive anniversary dates. Do not make any payments after a member reaches age 60. For transfers which occur after October 5, 1994, prorate any installment, including the initial payment, which is due the member after the member's 59th birthday but before the member's 60th birthday. See example 2 below.

Example 1: A member who was born June 5, 1937, and who has 23 years 10 months of creditable service under 10 U.S.C. 12732 (reference (c)), and who has 28 years total service for pay purposes (includes service not creditable under 10 U.S.C. 12732 (reference (c))), transfers to the retired reserve on June 19, 1993, in the grade E-8, and the Secretary of the Military Department concerned approves payment of RSSP. Years of creditable service for RSSP purposes is 23 years (the 10 months are rounded down), with a multiplier of 6.5 percent basic pay for an E-8 with 28 years for pay purposes is $2808.60. The member's RSSP is $2190.71 ($$2808.60 \times 12 \times .065$). Pay an initial installment of $2190.71 on June 19, 1993, with additional installments on June 19, 1994, June 19, 1995, and June 19, 1996. Since the member's 60th birthday will occur before the next installment date of June 19, 1997, no further payment will be made.

Example 2: On June 30, 1995, a member (who was born on December 5, 1936) transfers to the Retired Reserve with entitlement to 2 years of RSSP at the rate of $6,000 per year, as determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. The initial payment is in the full amount. The second installment, however, is due on June 30, 1996, which is after the member's 59th birthday but before his 60th birthday. Prorate for each full month between the due date and the member's sixtieth birthday. In this case, this means a payment of 5/12ths of $6,000, or $2,500.

5. Withhold taxes from the initial payment at the rate appropriate for one-time payments for both federal and applicable state tax withholding purposes. Withhold taxes from any other RSSP installment payments at the rate appropriate for salaries paid on an annual basis, currently set forth for federal withholding purposes in of IRS Circular E, Table 7 (reference (cf)). When withholding taxes from payments under Table 7, give appropriate consideration to any withholding exemptions claimed by the member on a Form W-4.

6. Receipt of these annual payments does not decrease or otherwise affect the retired pay to which the member is entitled at age 60.

7. In the event of the member's death, do not make any remaining annual payments.

580505. Reservists' Involuntary Separation Pay (RISP)

A. Payment. Upon approval by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, and subject to the restrictions in this paragraph, pay RISP to a member of the Selected Reserve who has at least 6 years but less than 15 years of service under 10 U.S.C.

12732 (reference (c)) as of the date of discharge from a Reserve Component or involuntary transfer from the Selected Reserve. Do not make payment if the separation occurs before March 11, 1993.

B. Computation

1. Using an official statement of service, determine years of service under 10 U.S.C. 12733 (reference (c)), computing to 3 decimal places and rounding to 2 decimal places. Do not include in the 10 U.S.C. 12733 (reference (c)) service any days or points for which the member previously received separation, severance, or readjustment pay.

2. Multiply the number of years of service under 10 U.S.C. 12733 (reference (c)) times 0.15 times 62 times the member's daily rate of basic pay if serving on active duty as of the date of separation or transfer from the Selected Reserve. The product is the RISP.

Example: A member who is an E-5 with over 8 years total service for pay purposes (daily rate of pay $47.55) and a total of 1,760 retirement points credit is approved for discharge on August 27, 1993, by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. Compute RISP as follows: Divide total Retirement Points Credit 1,760 by 360 = 4.89 years (computing to 3 decimal places rounding to 2 decimal places) x 15% x 62 x $47.55 (daily rate of pay) = $2,162.43 RISP.

3. Withhold federal and state income taxes in accordance with Volume 7C, paragraph 050503 of this regulation. RISP payments are not subject to FICA or Medicare taxes.

4. A recipient of RISP who later receives basic pay, inactive duty training compensation, or retired or retainer pay, shall have such pay, compensation, or retired pay reduced by 75 percent until the total reductions equal the total RISP received.

5. A member who has received RISP, who later receives disability compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs, shall have deducted from such disability compensation the total amount of RISP. However, there shall be no such reduction if the disability compensation is for a disability incurred or aggravated after the period for which the RISP was paid.

6. Members are not authorized to receive RISP when they are authorized to receive early (completed at least 15 but less than 20 years of service as computed under 10 U.S.C. 12732 (reference (c))) nonregular retired pay at age 60.

5806 DEDUCTIONS AND COLLECTIONS

580601. Income Tax Withholding. The provisions of Chapter 57, paragraph 570701 apply to members of the Reserve Components who are performing inactive duty training.

580602. Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA). See Chapter 45 of this volume.

580603. Courts-Martial Sentences. The provisions of Chapter 48 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Components who are performing inactive duty training.

580604. Nonjudicial Punishment

A. The provisions of Chapter 49 of this volume, except paragraph 490302, apply to members of the Reserve Components who are performing inactive duty training.

B. The maximum forfeiture to which a member of a Reserve Component is subject, while in an inactive duty status, is limited to one-half of the inactive duty training compensation to which entitled during the period of the sentence. This applies also to a member who is on active duty for training when the nonjudicial punishment is imposed, and reverts to an inactive duty status during the period of the sentence.

580605. Stoppages and Collections Other Than Courts-Martial Forfeitures. The provisions of Chapter 50 of this volume apply to members of the Reserve Component who are performing inactive duty training. Remission of indebtedness is not applicable to members in an inactive duty status.

580606. Waiver of Claims for Erroneous Payment of Pay and Allowances. See paragraph 500601 of this volume.

580607. Legal Process for the Enforcement of Child Support and Alimony Obligations. See paragraphs 500201, 500202, and 500203 of this volume.

5807 SERVICEMEMBERS' GROUP LIFE INSURANCE (SGLI) PROGRAM

580701. Definitions. See section 4701 of this volume.

580702. Part-Time Coverage. The SGLI Program is administered by the VA.

★A. Basic Coverage. Effective April 1, 1996, this program automatically insures eligible members against death in the amount of $200,000. Part-time coverage is available to certain eligible members of the Ready Reserve who do not qualify for full-time coverage while performing active duty or active duty for training under calls or orders specifying periods of less than 31 days. Members may elect coverage for less than $200,000, in $10,000 increments, or may elect to decline coverage.

★NOTE: Selected Reservists, and any other member of the Ready Reserve assigned or attached to a unit or position where such member is scheduled to perform at least 12 periods of inactive duty for training annually, is eligible for full-time coverage. (See Chapter 47 of this volume for full-time coverage policy and procedures.)

B. Changes in Coverage. A member who is covered for an amount less than maximum SGLI coverage may later apply for increased coverage in writing, in an amount of up to $200,000 with proof of good health. See Table 47-1, note 7, for the only exception to the proof of good health requirement.

C. Any election made continues in effect during continuous obligation to perform duty in the same Uniformed Service, including any active duty for a period of more than 30 days. For mobilization, see Table 47-1, rule 8.

580703. Periods of Coverage. See Table 47-1.

580704. Appellate Leave. See section 4705 of this volume.

580706. Deductions (SGLI Premiums)

★A. General. Amounts for premium deductions are $1.00 for each $10,000 of coverage per fiscal year. The premium due is for the entire fiscal year without regard for any portion served by a member. The annual premium is collected from the member's pay account during the first period of duty each year in which the member is in a pay status, or for those not in a pay status, by direct payment by the member to the appropriate Military Service. The premium is not prorated.

B. Election Changes. Amounts deducted for coverage before the effective date of a waiver of coverage or before an election of a lesser amount of coverage are not refunded. Should a member elect increased coverage during a year in which a duty period has already been performed, collect the difference (between the higher annual premium and the premium previously collected) during the first period of duty in which the member is in a pay status that same year, if applicable.

580708. Settlement of SGLI Claims. See section 4710 of this volume.

★580709. Retired Reserve. Reservist with full-time coverage, will upon retirement, have the option of converting their SGLI coverage to Veterans' Group Life Insurance (VGLI). On the day that a member is assigned to (or who upon application would be eligible for assignment to) the Retired Reserve, that member's SGLI coverage will remain in effect for 120 days after separation and/or retirement. A member also has 1 year and 120 days after separation and/or retirement to apply for conversion to VGLI. If the member applies for conversion to VGLI within 120 days after separation and/or retirement, medical proof of insurability is not required.

CHAPTER 59

PAYMENT OF MEMBERS OF THE SENIOR RESERVE
OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS (ROTC)5901 SUBSISTENCE ALLOWANCE590101. First Two Years

A. Scholarship Cadets or Midshipmen. Except while performing field training or at-sea training and for the period(s) between academic school years, a scholarship (10 U.S.C. 2107 (reference (c))) cadet or midshipman is entitled to subsistence allowance of $150 per month effective 1 September 1995. Entitlement begins on the day the cadet or midshipman starts the first term of college work and continues through completion of the second year, except for the periods of any field/at-sea training and periods between academic school years, for a maximum of 20 months. The 20 months' limitation is based upon a 10-month academic school year. Individual cadet or midshipman entitlement will be based upon his or her actual academic school year, not to exceed 10 months per academic year.

B. Non-scholarship Cadets or Midshipmen. Nonscholarship cadets and midshipmen are not entitled to subsistence allowance.

590102. Advanced Training. Except while performing field training or at-sea training, a cadet or midshipman who has been selected for advanced training is entitled to subsistence allowance of $150 per month effective 1 September 1995. Entitlement begins on the day the cadet or midshipman starts the advanced training and continues uninterrupted except for the periods of any field/at-sea training until completion of instruction, but not for more than 20 months (30 months when the Secretary of the Military Service has authorized the individual extended entitlement for a 5-year program).

590103. Accelerated Completion of Military Instruction. A cadet or midshipman participating in advanced training at an institution which is withdrawn from the program may complete the third and fourth years (or the fourth and fifth years of a 5-year program) of military training in the third year (or the fourth year of a 5-year program) and be paid subsistence allowance during the fourth academic year (or the fifth year of a 5-year program), as though enrolled for training in the fourth year (or the fifth year of a 5-year program).

590104. Limitations

A. Deduction for Field Training and At-Sea Training. A cadet or midshipman is not entitled to the subsistence allowance while performing field training or at-sea training. During the period of field training or at-sea training, the cadet or midshipman is entitled to pay as specified in paragraph 590801, below.

B. Vacation Periods

1. A cadet or midshipman enrolled in the first 2 years of the program is not entitled to subsistence allowance for any period(s) between academic school years, for example, summer vacations between academic school years. (Holiday breaks do not interrupt the entitlement.)

2. A cadet or midshipman enrolled in the advanced course is entitled to subsistence allowance uninterrupted by any periods between academic school years (subject only to the overall 20 months (30 months in an approved 5-year program) entitlement limitation and subject to deduction for any periods of field training or at-sea training).

C. Government Meals Furnished Without Charge. ROTC members will have deducted from their subsistence allowance on a per meal basis the charge for government meals furnished without charge. The total deduction for any day will not exceed one-thirtieth of the subsistence allowance. This recoupment provision does not apply when meals are furnished during training events conducted during the academic year.

590105. Payment Procedures. Detailed instructions governing the payment of subsistence allowance to the respective ROTC members are contained in:

A. Army: AR 37-104-3 (reference (bh)).

B. Navy: Regulations for the administration and management of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC), CNET Instruction 1533.12 Series. (reference (dj))

C. Air Force: AFR 45-25 (reference (dk)) and AFROTC Regulation 170-1 (reference (dl)).

5902 SUBSISTENCE ALLOWANCE FOR MARINE CORPS PLATOON LEADERS CLASS

Except while serving on active duty, a member of the Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class program is entitled to subsistence allowance at the rate of $150 per month effective 1 September 1995. Detailed instructions governing the payment of the subsistence allowance are in MCO P7220.31D (reference (cw)).

5903 TRAVEL AND TRANSPORTATION ALLOWANCES

Joint Federal Travel Regulations (JFTR), Volume 1, paragraph U7150-F4 (reference (d)), governs the travel and transportation allowances of ROTC cadets and midshipman.

5904 COMMUTATION IN LIEU OF UNIFORMS

590401. Army: See AR 710-2 (reference (dm)).

590402. Navy: See Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps Regulations, CNET

Instruction 7220.2 Series (reference (dn)).

5905 TEXTBOOK ALLOWANCES, SCHOLARSHIP CADETS AND MIDSHIPMEN

590501. Army: No specific monetary entitlement. Required texts are issued by respective universities, which in turn are reimbursed with appropriated funds.

5906 ALLOTMENTS

A member or applicant for membership in the ROTC program is not authorized to register allotments.

5907 NONENTITLEMENT TO RESERVE DRILL PAY (NAVY)

Drill payments to NROTC members are authorized only for students selected for advanced training in their freshman and sophomore years and who specifically request continuation in a drill status.

5908 FIELD TRAINING OR AT-SEA TRAINING

590801. Basic Pay. A member or applicant for membership in the ROTC program is entitled to pay at the monthly rate prescribed in Table 2-5. Pay status begins on the day of arrival at the training site or on the effective date of orders, whichever is later, and ends on the day the member or applicant is relieved from such training. Member is not entitled to basic pay while performing authorized travel to or from the training site.

NOTE: A member or applicant for membership in the ROTC program is not entitled to longevity increases.

590802. Special and Incentive Pay. A member or applicant for membership in the ROTC program is not entitled to special or incentive pay.

590803. Allowances. A member or applicant for membership in the ROTC program is not entitled to allowances while performing field training or at-sea training except as authorized in section 5903, above.

590804. Deductions. The basic pay of a member or applicant for membership in the ROTC program is income subject to withholding for federal income tax and Federal Insurance Contributions Act taxes (FICA). (See Treasury Circular E (reference (cf)) and paragraph 450306 for rates of deduction.)

590805. Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance (SGLI). Public Law 89-214, 29 September 1965, as amended by Public Law 91-291, effective 25 June 1970 and Public Law 93-289, effective 24 May 1974 (reference (dp)), provides for SGLI coverage to Reserve Officer Training Corps members.

A. Chapter 47 applies to members, cadets or midshipmen of the Reserve Officers Training Corps performing full-time duty while attending field training or practice cruises under calls or orders not limited to 30 days or less.

B. Chapter 58, section 5807, applies to members, cadets, or midshipmen of the Reserve Officer Training Corps performing full-time duty while attending field training or practice cruises under calls or orders limited to 30 days or less.

C. Member, cadet, or midshipman is provided SGLI coverage while proceeding directly to or returning directly from the place where such duty is performed.

590806. Advance Pay. See Chapter 32, paragraph 320109.

5909 DISABILITY BENEFITS

590901. Entitlements for Cadets and Midshipmen Disabled While Enroute to or From Field or At-Sea Training. A cadet or midshipman, who is disabled enroute to or from field or at-sea training and who is otherwise entitled to the subsistence allowance described in section 5901, is entitled to the subsistence allowance for the day of incurrence of the disability and continuing thereafter subject to the provisions of Chapter 59, section 5901. The cadet or midshipman may also be entitled to the compensation and other benefits of Title 38., U.S.C., chapter 11 (reference (bx)).

590902. Entitlement for Cadets and Midshipmen Disabled While Attending Field or At-Sea Training. A cadet or midshipman who is disabled while attending field or at-sea training is entitled to the monthly cadet rate of pay prescribed in Table 2-5 through the last day of the ordered training period. If the disability continues beyond the ordered tour, the cadet or midshipman, if otherwise entitled, is entitled to the subsistence allowance described in section 5901. As in paragraph 590901, above, the cadet or midshipman may be entitled to the compensation and other benefits of Title 38, U.S.C., chapter 11 (reference (bx)).

5910 PAYMENTS ON BEHALF OF DECEASED MEMBERS

Beneficiaries of any member or applicant for membership in the ROTC program who dies under the conditions specified in paragraph 590902, above, are entitled to:

591001. Death gratuity under the provisions of Chapter 36, section 3601.

591002. Unpaid pay and allowances under the provisions of Chapter 36, section 3602.

5911 ROTC GRADUATES ORDERED TO ACTIVE DUTY

591101. Officers Ordered to Extended Active Duty. The provisions of Chapters 1 through 55 apply to these officers.

591102. Officers Performing Initial Periods of Active Duty Training Under 50 U.S.C. App 454(d) or 456(d) (reference (dq)). The provisions of Chapter 57 apply to these officers.

SUBJECT: Change to the DoDFMR, Volume 7A, Stipend and Grant
Increases for the F. Edward Hebert Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship and Financial Assistance Programs (AFHPSP/FAP (DFAS Item Number H-46)

This is DFAS Interim Change 3-99 to the DoDFMR, Volume 7A and is effective July 1, 1998. The purpose of this change is to revise the AFHPSP/FAP stipend and grant amounts stated in Health Affairs memorandum of February 18, 1998. In accordance with 10 U.S.C. 2121(d), the monthly stipend and annual grant amounts shall be increased each year by the overall percentage increase in the dollar rate of basic pay for members of the Uniformed Services and rounded to the next highest dollar..

We have evaluated your comments on the draft change to the DoDFMR, Volume 7A. The attached final version of the change includes your comments where appropriate.

Assignment of an interim change is your authority to start a procedural modification, if necessary, to facilitate this change. For the Denver Center, use the attached to initiate the formal printed change to the DoDFMR and the interim change message.

Our point of contact, Col Robert Spath, may be reached at DSN 327-2087 or (703) 607- Lt 2087.

CHAPTER 60

PAYMENT OF MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES HEALTH PROFESSIONS SCHOLARSHIP AND FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (AFHPS/FAP)

6001 ARMED FORCES HEALTH PROFESSIONS SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

600101. Authority. Public Law 92-426 (reference (dr)) established the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program. Under this program selected individuals are appointed commissioned officers in the Reserve Components and detailed to civilian institutions for training in a health profession.

600102. Pay Entitlement

★A. Stipend. Except during periods of active duty (see subparagraph 600102.B, below), members enrolled in this program are entitled to a stipend of $939.00 per month (effective July 1, 1998 ($913.00 effective July 1, 1997)) including periods of absence. This rate is subject to annual increases on 1 July of each year as determined by the Secretary of Defense.

1. Payment. The stipend is payable during the course of study and during vacation periods when members are not on active duty. The stipend is prorated for portions of a month at the beginning and end of the course of study and at the beginning and end of any active duty period.

2. Termination. Some students complete their professional degree requirements several months before the formal graduation ceremony and conferral of the professional degree. In those cases where the actual award of the professional degree is a prerequisite to recommissioning into a professional corps or utilization in the profession, and a lapse of time occurs for administrative reasons, the payment of the stipend should be terminated. The date for termination of the stipend should be the completion of the academic training if this date precedes the date of graduation by more than 45 days.

3. Recoupment. Educational costs of the program are subject to recoupment when members of the program are dropped for deficiency in conduct or studies, or when members for other reasons fail to fulfill their contractual agreement as a result of action not initiated by the government. Effective September 25, 1980, the stipend ceased to be part of educational costs and is, therefore, not subject to recoupment.

B. Active duty. Members enrolled in this program will be ordered to active duty for a period of 45 days during each year of participation in the program. Such members may be paid an advance of pay when reporting for the 45-day active duty tour. (See paragraph 320106 of this volume.) During the active duty period including allowable travel time under Table 2-4, members serve in pay grade O-1 and are entitled to full pay and allowances (see Chapter 57) of that grade. This applies even though a member may hold a higher Reserve grade under a different statute. Any creditable service before entering this program is includable in determining the rate of basic pay.

600103. Officer's Initial Uniform Allowance. A member of the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program is entitled to an initial uniform allowance upon reporting for the first period of active duty required by 10 U.S.C. 2121(c) (reference (c)). (See section 3002 of this volume.)

600104. Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance (SGLI). While under this program, members are entitled to SGLI coverage for the 45-day active duty tour. (See sections 4701-4708 of this volume.) For deductions during active duty periods, see section 4705 of this volume.

600105. Tax Withholding

A. Active duty pay paid under this program is subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW) and Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) in the same manner as prescribed in Chapters 44 and 45 of this volume.

B. Monthly stipends paid to students entering the program on and after January 1, 1981, are subject to FITW. The stipend of students enrolled before January 1, 1981, remains exempt through calendar year 1984. Monthly stipends are not subject to FICA withholding.

C. Amounts paid directly to schools on behalf of students for tuition, books, fees, and laboratory expenses and any reimbursements for such items paid to students participating at any time in the program are not subject to either FITW or FICA withholding.

600106. Settlement of Deceased Member's Accounts. See section 3602 of this volume for authority for payment of any unpaid pay and allowances (includes amount of unpaid stipend.)

6002 FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

600201. Authority. Public Law 101-189, section 725 (reference (ds)), substantially modified the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program. Effective November 29, 1989, the law added a new Financial Assistance Program (FAP) which provides for the award of grants and stipends to eligible physician residents and fellows in specialized training who agree to active duty service obligations. As a member of the FAP, a physician is appointed as a Medical Corps officer under DoDD 1320.7 (reference (dt)).

600202. Pay Entitlement

★A. Grant. A member of the FAP is paid an annual grant in addition to the authorized stipend (subparagraph B, below). Effective July 1, 1998, the annual grant is $19,875 (effective July 1, 1997, the annual grant was $19,333).

1. A grant is paid annually based on the rate in effect on the date of entitlement. Only the final payment is prorated. Subsequent installments are to be issued on the anniversary date of the initial payment.

2. A grant is pro-rated only for partial years of participation.

3. The amount of grant is reviewed and increased as appropriate in the same manner as provided for the stipend.

B. Stipend. Except when serving on active duty (see paragraph 600204, above), a member is entitled to a monthly stipend at a rate equal to that authorized for other AFHPS participants by paragraph 590102, above.

1. Payment starts effective on the date of execution of the oath of office, the date of execution of the FAP contract, or the date of commencement of specialized training, whichever is latest.

2. Payment normally continues until the date of completion of specialized training. If a member of the FAP is suspended or disenrolled from the designated course of specialized training, stipend payments terminate effective on that date.

C. Dual Payments. The authority to make the grant and stipend payments is not affected by any payments made to the member by the civilian training institution.

600203. Recoupment. A member of the FAP who fails to complete speciality training because of deficiency in conduct or studies, or who for other reasons fails to fulfill the contractual agreement as a result of action not initiated by the government, may be required to reimburse the government for all or portion of payments received while a member of the FAP. Recoupment is at the direction of the Secretary of the Military Service concerned. The requirement to recoup may be waived by the Secretary concerned as being in the best interest of the government.

600204. Active Duty. A member of the FAP is required to serve on active duty with full pay (including Reserve Medical Officer's special pay) and allowance in the member's grade for a period of 14 days each year of participation, or portion thereof. This active duty period may be served at the location where the person is receiving specialized training if it would interrupt the member's residency or fellowship training to serve on active duty elsewhere.

600205. Officer's Initial Uniform Allowance. A member of the FAP is entitled to an initial uniform allowance upon reporting for the first period of active duty required by 10 U.S.C. 2121(c) (reference (c)). (See section 3002 of this volume.)

600206. Servicemembers Group Life Insurance (SGLI). A member of the FAP is eligible for SGLI with part-time coverage of the annual 14-day active duty tour above. For part-time coverage deductions, see paragraph 580703 of this volume.

600207. Tax Withholding

A. Active duty pay under this program is subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW) and the Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) in the same manner as prescribed in Chapters 44 and 45.

B. Monthly stipends are subject to FITW, but not subject to FICA withholding.

C. Annual grant is subject to FITW, but not subject to FICA withholding.

600208. Settlement of Deceased Member's Accounts. See section 3602 of this volume for authority for payment of any unpaid pay and allowances (include the amount of unpaid stipend).

CHAPTER 60

PAYMENT OF MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES HEALTH PROFESSIONS SCHOLARSHIP AND FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (AFHPS/FAP)

6001 ARMED FORCES HEALTH PROFESSIONS SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

★600101. Authority. Public Law 92-426 (reference (dr)) established the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program. Under this program selected individuals are appointed commissioned officers in the Reserve Components and detailed as students at an accredited civilian institution for training in a health profession.

600102. Pay Entitlement

★A. Stipend. Except during periods of active duty (see subparagraph 600102.B, below), members enrolled in this program are entitled to a monthly stipend of $973 (effective July 1, 1999), including periods of absence. This rate shall be increased by the Secretary of Defense on July 1 each year by an amount to be rounded to the next highest multiple of $1 equal to the amount of the previous stipend, multiplied by the overall percentage of the increase in the rates of basic pay for members of the uniformed services made effective for the fiscal year in which the school year ends..

1. Payment. The stipend is payable during the course of study and during vacation periods when members are not on active duty. The stipend is prorated for portions of a month at the beginning and end of the course of study and at the beginning and end of any active duty period.

2. Termination. Some students complete their professional degree requirements several months before the formal graduation ceremony and conferral of the professional degree. In those cases where the actual award of the professional degree is a prerequisite to recommissioning into a professional corps or utilization in the profession, and a lapse of time occurs for administrative reasons, the payment of the stipend should be terminated. The date for termination of the stipend should be the completion of the academic training if this date precedes the date of graduation by more than 45 days.

3. Recoupment. Educational costs of the program are subject to recoupment when members of the program are dropped for deficiency in conduct or studies, or when members for other reasons fail to fulfill their contractual agreement as a result of action not initiated by the government.

B. Active duty. Members enrolled in this program will be ordered to active duty for a period of 45 days during each year of participation in the program. Such members may be paid an advance of pay when reporting for the 45-day active duty tour. (See paragraph 320106 of this volume.) During the active duty period including allowable travel time under Table 2-4, members serve in pay grade O-1 and are entitled to full pay and allowances (see Chapter 57) of that grade. This applies even though a member may hold a higher Reserve grade under a different statute. Any creditable service before entering this program is includable in determining the rate of basic pay.

600103. Officer's Initial Uniform Allowance. A member of the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program is entitled to an initial uniform allowance upon reporting for the first period of active duty required by 10 U.S.C. 2121(c) (reference (c)). (See section 3002 of this volume.)

600104. Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance (SGLI). While under this program, members are entitled to SGLI coverage for the 45-day active duty tour. (See sections 4701-4708 of this volume.) For deductions during active duty periods, see section 4705 of this volume.

600105. Tax Withholding

A. Active duty pay paid under this program is subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW) and Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) in the same manner as prescribed in Chapters 44 and 45 of this volume.

B. Monthly stipends paid to students entering the program on and after January 1, 1981, are subject to FITW. The stipend of students enrolled before January 1, 1981, remains exempt through calendar year 1984. Monthly stipends are not subject to FICA withholding.

C. Amounts paid directly to schools on behalf of students for tuition, books, fees, and laboratory expenses and any reimbursements for such items paid to students participating at any time in the program are not subject to either FITW or FICA withholding.

600106. Settlement of Deceased Member's Accounts. See section 3602 of this volume for authority for payment of any unpaid pay and allowances (includes amount of unpaid stipend.)

6002 FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

★600201. Authority. Public Law 101-189, section 725 (reference (ds)), substantially modified the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program. Effective November 29, 1989, the law added a new Financial Assistance Program (FAP) which provides for the award of grants and stipends to eligible health professional participants in specialized training who agree to active duty service obligations. As a member of the FAP, the health professional is appointed as a health profession officer in its particular specialty and the Military Department under DoDD 6000.13 \(reference \(dy\)\).

★A. Grant. A member of the FAP is paid an annual grant in addition to the authorized stipend (subparagraph B, below). Effective July 1, 1999, the annual grant is $20,591.

1. A grant is paid annually based on the rate in effect on the date of entitlement. Only the final payment is prorated. Subsequent installments are to be issued on the anniversary date of the initial payment.

2. A grant is pro-rated only for partial years of participation.

3. The amount of grant shall be increased in the same manner as the stipend.

B. Stipend. Except when serving on active duty (see paragraph 600204, below), a member is entitled to a monthly stipend at a rate equal to that authorized for other AFHPS participants by paragraph 600102, above.

1. Payment starts effective on the date of execution of the oath of office, the date of execution of the FAP contract, or the date of commencement of specialized training, whichever is latest.

2. Payment normally continues until the date of completion of specialized training. If a member of the FAP is suspended or disenrolled from the designated course of specialized training, stipend payments terminate effective on that date.

C. Dual Payments. The authority to make the grant and stipend payments is not affected by any payments made to the member by the civilian training institution.

600203. Recoupment. A member of the FAP who fails to complete specialty training because of deficiency in conduct or studies, or who for other reasons fails to fulfill the contractual agreement as a result of action not initiated by the government, may be required to reimburse the government for all or portion of payments received while a member of the FAP. Recoupment is at the direction of the Secretary of the Military Service concerned. The requirement to recoup may be waived by the Secretary concerned as being in the best interest of the government.

600204. Active Duty. A member of the FAP is required to serve on active duty with full pay (including Reserve Medical Officer's special pay) and allowance in the member's grade for a period of 14 days each year of participation, or portion thereof. This active duty period may be served at the location where the person is receiving specialized training if it would interrupt the member's residency or fellowship training to serve on active duty elsewhere.

600205. Officer's Initial Uniform Allowance. A member of the FAP is entitled to an initial uniform allowance upon reporting for the first period of active duty required by 10 U.S.C. 2121(c) (reference (c)). (See section 3002 of this volume.)

600206. Servicemember's Group Life Insurance (SGLI). A member of the FAP is eligible for SGLI with part-time coverage of the annual 14-day active duty tour above. For part-time coverage deductions, see paragraph 580703 of this volume.

600207. Tax Withholding

A. Active duty pay under this program is subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW) and the Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) in the same manner as prescribed in Chapters 44 and 45.

B. Monthly stipends are subject to FITW, but not subject to FICA withholding.

C. Annual grant is subject to FITW, but not subject to FICA withholding.

600208. Settlement of Deceased Member's Accounts. See section 3602 of this volume for authority for payment of any unpaid pay and allowances (include the amount of unpaid stipend).

CHAPTER 61

BONUS PROGRAM FOR THE INDIVIDUAL READY RESERVE AND INACTIVE NATIONAL GUARD6101 AUTHORITY

Title 37 U.S.C., section 308h (reference (aa)), authorizes a bonus for the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) and Inactive National Guard (ING). Current or prior Military Service members must enlist, reenlist, or voluntarily extend an enlistment in the IRR or ING for 3 years or more to qualify for the bonus.

6102 BASIC CONDITIONS OF ENTITLEMENT

★ An enlisted member of the IRR/ING is authorized a bonus during the period 29 May 1984 through 30 September 1985 and 24 February 1986 to 30 September 1998 under the following conditions:

610201. An individual must:

- A. Remain an enlisted member during the period of enlistment, reenlistment, or extension;
- B. Be qualified in and assigned a primary or secondary military occupational specialty (MOS) rate, specified Navy ratings or NEC's or Air Force Specialty Code (AFSC) in a combat or combat support skill designated by the Secretary of the Military Service concerned;
- C. Enlist, reenlist, or extend for 3 or 6 years beyond the military service obligation in accordance with Military Service regulations;
- D. Not have completed more than 14 years of total Military Service.

610202. An individual who completes obligation to one Military Service may be accepted by another Military Service for enlistment under this program, provided the individual possesses a skill approved by the gaining Military Service for the payment of the bonus.

610203. Army members who transfer from the ING to the IRR may continue to receive this bonus provided such members continue to serve satisfactorily.

6103 AMOUNTS PAYABLE

610301. An amount not to exceed $1,500 may be paid to a person who enlists, reenlists, or extends for a period of 6 years or $750 to a person who enlists, reenlists, or extends for a period of 3 years.

A. A bonus paid for a 6-year reenlistment or extension contract will be as follows: $500 shall be paid at the time of the enlistment, reenlistment, or extension with the remainder paid in equal annual increments.

B. A bonus paid for a 3-year reenlistment or extension contract will be in equal annual increments.

610302. An additional amount of up to $1,500 may be paid for a subsequent reenlistment or extension provided the individual meets the eligibility criteria of section 6102, above.

6104 OBLIGATION

A member must be contractually obligated to serve satisfactorily, as prescribed by the regulations of the Military Service concerned, in the IRR or ING for the full term of enlistment, reenlistment, or extension. As a condition of receipt of the bonus, recipients must agree to participate in an annual muster of the Reserve Component or in active duty for training as may be required by the Secretary of the Military Service concerned. The use of extensions in lieu of reenlistments is authorized and encouraged to reduce the administrative burden of the reenlistment process and to eliminate the need for the oath of enlistment or reenlistment. Participants must obligate themselves to continue to serve in the same MOS unless excused for the convenience of the government. A bonus recipient who later transfers to the Selected Reserve is not required to refund the IRR and ING bonus. Bonus recipients who transfer to the Selected Reserve are not eligible for a selected Reserve reenlistment bonus during the period for which an IRR or ING bonus was paid.

6105 TERMINATION OF BONUS ENTITLEMENT

Entitlement to the IRR and ING bonus will be terminated if a member:

610501. Fails to participate satisfactorily in the Ready Reserve in accordance with the regulations of the Military Service concerned;

610502. Accepts a civilian position where membership in the Reserve Component is a condition of employment (persons on temporary assignment excluded);

610503. Is separated from the Ready Reserve as an enlisted member for any reason (including enlistment or voluntary recall into the active forces);

610504. Becomes a simultaneous member of an authorized officer program drawing a stipend; or 610505. Moves to a nonbonus-qualified MOS, unless at the express direction of the Military Service concerned (through no fault of the member).

6106 RECOUPMENT OF PAYMENTS

610601. Any refund made by a member shall not affect the period of obligation of such member to serve as a Ready Reservist. Recoupment of unearned portions of the IRR and ING bonus is required when the member:

A. Fails to satisfactorily complete the designated term of enlistment, reenlistment, or extension of enlistment for which the bonus was paid unless the failure was due to reasons beyond the control of the member (for example, death, injury, illness, or other impairment not the result of member's misconduct);

B. Accepts a civilian position where membership in the Reserve Component is a condition of employment, if less than one-half of the contract term for which a bonus is payable has been served (persons on temporary assignment excluded);

C. Separates from the Ready Reserve as an enlisted member (including enlistment or voluntary recall into the active component) other than by death or to accept an appointment as an officer in the Ready Reserve;

D. Accepts an immediate appointment as an officer in the Ready Reserve, if less than 1 year of the term has been served; or,

E. Moves to a nonbonus-eligible MOS, unless at the express direction of the Military Service concerned (through no fault of the member).

610602. Recoupment will be the amount of bonus received multiplied by the quotient produced by dividing the number of whole months remaining unserved by the number of months in the term of the bonus. The product is the amount recouped.

Example: An individual reenlists in the IRR for 3 years and receives the maximum bonus of $750. Five months later, the individual is disqualified from entitlement to the bonus:

Amount of bonus received	$ 750.00
Multiplied by:
Number of whole months remaining divided by term of bonus: $31/36 = .8611$	.8611
Amount to be recouped	$ 645.83

610603. However, reduce the amount to be recouped by an amount equal to any reduction taken under Chapter 35, subparagraphs 350702.F or 350802.D.

Interim Changes 21-97, 29-98, and 3-99 are incorporated in this change. Interim Changes 21-97, 29-98, and 3-99 also affect other chapters and will not be deleted from the interim changes cited in the web site.

CHAPTER 62

HEALTH PROFESSIONAL STIPEND

6201 PRIOR STIPEND PROGRAM REPEALED WITH EXCEPTION

620101. Authority. Public Law 99-145 (reference (du)), November 8, 1985, authorizes the Secretaries of each Military Department concerned to provide financial assistance to commissioned officers of the Reserve Components engaged in specialized advanced training in the health professions. Effective December 4, 1987, the program under this section is repealed in favor of the program in section 6202 of this chapter. Repeal, however, does not affect an earlier agreement under which an officer receives the stipend authorized by this section. Payment of such stipend continues while officer is otherwise entitled.

620102. Pay Entitlement

★A. A commissioned officer in the Selected Reserve of a Reserve Component who is engaged full-time in a course of specialized advanced training approved by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, in a health profession, is entitled to a stipend of $939.00 per month (effective July 1, 1998 ($913.00 effective July 1, 1997)). This rate is subject to annual increases on July 1 each year, as determined by the Secretary of Defense.

B. The stipend is payable during the course of specialized advanced training, during vacation periods, and during periods when officers are participating in annual training with the Selected Reserve. The stipend is prorated for portions of a month at the beginning and end of the course of specialized advanced training.

C. When an officer's eligibility to the stipend program is terminated, the officer no longer is entitled to receive the stipend. The effective date of termination is set by program administrators and communicated to the paying activity. Termination is based on criteria set by the Department of Defense.

D. An officer terminated from the stipend program may be required, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, to repay an amount equal to the total amount received under the program. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned may relieve an officer from the recoupment requirement.

620103. Nonavailability. Members of the Ready Reserve may incur periods of authorized nonavailability, in accordance with Military Service regulations, of not more than 30 months (that is, members transferred from the Ready Reserve because of temporary overseas residence, hardship, or disability, key employee status or theological studies). These members are assigned temporarily to the Standby Reserve or to the Inactive National Guard, as appropriate, during the period of authorized nonavailability and are required to extend their Selected Reserve service agreement for a period of time that equals the period of authorized nonavailability.

A. Although not terminated from the stipend program during an authorized period of nonavailability, an officer is not entitled to a monthly stipend during such period of nonavailability.

B. An officer is again entitled to stipend payments when the anniversary date of satisfactory and creditable Ready Reserve service is adjusted for the period of authorized nonavailability.

620104. Tax Withholding

A. Monthly stipends are subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW).

B. Monthly stipends are not subject to Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) (reference (ci)) withholding.

620105. Settlement of Deceased Members' Accounts. See section 3602 of this volume for authority for payment of any unpaid pay and allowances (includes amount of unpaid stipend).

6202 CURRENT STIPEND PROGRAM

620201. Authority. Public Law 100-180, December 4, 1987 (reference (dv)), authorizes the Secretary of the Military Department concerned to provide financial assistance to members of the Reserve Components engaged in specialized training in the health professions.

620202. Pay Entitlement

★A. A commissioned officer in the Ready Reserve of a Reserve Component of the Armed Forces, who is engaged in a program of professional training for physicians or registered nurses in critical specialties designated by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, is entitled to a monthly stipend of $939.00 (effective July 1, 1998 ($913.00, effective July 1, 1997)), except as noted in subparagraph 620202.A.2, below. This rate is subject to annual increases on July 1, of each year, as determined by the Secretary of Defense. The amount is the same as that authorized each year in subparagraph 600102.A, above.

1. The officer described above must agree to serve, upon successful completion of the stipend program, two years in the Selected Reserve for each year, or part thereof, for which the stipend is provided. However,

2. If the officer agrees to serve, upon successful completion of the stipend program, two years in the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) for each year, or part thereof, for which the stipend is provided, the officer is entitled to a monthly stipend at one-half the rate shown above in subparagraph A.

B. An enlisted member in the Ready Reserve of a Reserve Component of the Armed Forces engaged in training as described in this subparagraph is entitled to a monthly stipend of $100 per month. The member must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in the third or fourth year of an accredited baccalaureate nursing program or other accredited baccalaureate program leading to a degree in a health-care profession. Such profession is one designated by the Secretaries of the Military Department concerned as a profession critically needed by that Military Department in wartime. The stipend is payable for the period or the remainder of the period of the baccalaureate program in which the member enrolls or is enrolled. Under this subparagraph:

1. The member must be eligible upon completion of a baccalaureate program, for appointment, designation, or assignment as a Reserve officer for duty as a nurse or other health professional.

2. The member agrees to serve, upon graduation from the baccalaureate program, one year in the Ready Reserve for each year, or part thereof, for which the stipend is paid.

C. The stipend is payable for the period, or the remainder of the period, of member's specialized training or baccalaureate program. This includes vacation periods and periods of active duty while the member participates in the stipend program. The stipend is initially payable effective the first day of specialized training or baccalaureate training immediately following the date member completes the contract agreement. It is prorated for a partial month at the beginning of member's entitlement and for a partial month at the end of a member's specialized training or baccalaureate program.

D. A member of the stipend program who is dropped from the program for deficiency in training, or who fails to complete the program for other reasons, is no longer entitled to the stipend. Termination is based on criteria set by the Department of Defense.

E. A member terminated from the stipend program may be required, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, to repay an amount equal to the total amount paid to the person under the program. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned may relieve a member from the recoupment requirement.

620203. Tax Withholding

A. Monthly stipends are subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW).

B. Monthly stipends are not subject to Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) (reference (ci)) withholding.

620204. Settlement of Deceased Members' Accounts. See section 3602 of this volume for authority for payment of any unpaid pay and allowances (includes amount of unpaid stipend).

CHAPTER 62

HEALTH PROFESSIONAL STIPEND

6201 PRIOR STIPEND PROGRAM REPEALED WITH EXCEPTION

★620101. Authority. Public Law 99-145 (reference (du)), November 8, 1985, authorizes the Secretaries of each Military Department concerned to provide financial assistance to commissioned officers of the Reserve Components engaged in specialized advanced training in the health professions specialties critically needed in wartime. Effective December 4, 1987, the program under this section is repealed in favor of the program in section 6202 of this chapter. Repeal, however, does not affect an earlier agreement under which an officer receives the stipend authorized by this section. Payment of such stipend continues while officer is otherwise entitled.

620102. Pay Entitlement

★A. A commissioned officer in the Selected Reserve of a Reserve Component who is engaged full-time in a course of specialized advanced training approved by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, in a health profession, is entitled to a stipend of $973.00 per month (effective July 1, 1999). This rate shall be increased on July 1 each year, as determined by the Secretary of Defense.

B. The stipend is payable during the course of specialized advanced training, during vacation periods, and during periods when officers are participating in annual training with the Selected Reserve. The stipend is prorated for portions of a month at the beginning and end of the course of specialized advanced training.

C. When an officer's eligibility to the stipend program is terminated, the officer no longer is entitled to receive the stipend. The effective date of termination is set by program administrators and communicated to the paying activity. Termination is based on criteria set by the Department of Defense.

D. An officer terminated from the stipend program may be required, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, to repay an amount equal to the total amount received under the program. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned may relieve an officer from the recoupment requirement.

★620103. Nonavailability. Members of the Ready Reserve who incur a period of authorized nonavailability shall be suspended without recoupment from their incentive. If subsequently assigned to the Reserve status and skill originally contracted for, members may be reinstated in the incentive program, if they extend their term of service, or contract for service so as to be able to serve the full original incentive contract period. Entitlement to subsequent payments shall resume on the adjusted anniversary date of satisfactory and creditable Reserve Service, as appropriate. These members are assigned temporarily to the Standby Reserve or to the Inactive National Guard, as appropriate, during the period of authorized nonavailability and are required to extend their Selected Reserve service agreement for a period of time that equals the period of authorized nonavailability.

★A. Members of the Selected Reserve may incur a period of authorized nonavailability for up to 1 year for valid personal reasons as determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned.

★B. During the period of non-availability a member is suspended without concurrent recoupment. The member shall not be entitled to subsequent payments or any other available incentives.

★C. An officer is again entitled to stipend payments when the anniversary date of satisfactory and creditable Ready Reserve service is adjusted for the period of authorized nonavailability.

620104. Tax Withholding

A. Monthly stipends are subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW).

B. Monthly stipends are not subject to Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) (reference (ci)) withholding.

620105. Settlement of Deceased Members' Accounts. See section 3602 of this volume for authority for payment of any unpaid pay and allowances (includes amount of unpaid stipend).

6202 CURRENT STIPEND PROGRAM

★ 620201. Authority. Public Law 100-180, December 4, 1987 (reference (dv)), authorizes the Secretary of the Military Department concerned to provide financial assistance to members of the Reserve Components engaged in specialized training in the health professions specialties critically needed in wartime.

620202. Pay Entitlement

★A. A commissioned officer in the Ready Reserve of a Reserve Component of the Armed Forces, who is engaged in a program of professional training for physicians, dentists, or registered nurses in critical specialties designated by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, is entitled to a monthly stipend of $973.00 (effective July 1, 1999), except as noted in subparagraph 620202.A.2, below. This rate shall be increased on July 1 of each year, as determined by the Secretary of Defense. The amount is the same as that authorized each year in subparagraph 600102.A, above.

1. The officer described above must agree to serve, upon successful completion of the stipend program, 2 years in the Selected Reserve for each year, or part thereof, for which the stipend is provided. However,

2. If the officer agrees to serve, upon successful completion of the stipend program, 2 years in the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) for each year, or part thereof, for which the stipend is provided, the officer is entitled to a monthly stipend at one-half the rate shown above in subparagraph A.

B. An enlisted member in the Ready Reserve of a Reserve Component of the Armed Forces engaged in training as described in this subparagraph is entitled to a monthly stipend of $100 per month. The member must be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in the third or fourth year of an accredited baccalaureate nursing program or other accredited baccalaureate program leading to a degree in a health-care profession. Such profession is one designated by the Secretaries of the Military Department concerned as a profession critically needed by that Military Department in wartime. The stipend is payable for the period or the remainder of the period of the baccalaureate program in which the member enrolls or is enrolled. Under this subparagraph:

1. The member must be eligible upon completion of a baccalaureate program, for appointment, designation, or assignment as a Reserve officer for duty as a nurse or other health professional.

2. The member agrees to serve, upon graduation from the baccalaureate program, 1 year in the Ready Reserve for each year, or part thereof, for which the stipend is paid.

C. The stipend is payable for the period, or the remainder of the period, of member's specialized training or baccalaureate program. This includes vacation periods and periods of active duty while the member participates in the stipend program. The stipend is initially payable effective the first day of specialized training or baccalaureate training immediately following the date member completes the contract agreement. It is prorated for a partial month at the beginning of member's entitlement and for a partial month at the end of a member's specialized training or baccalaureate program.

D. A member of the stipend program who is dropped from the program for deficiency in training, or who fails to complete the program for other reasons, is no longer entitled to the stipend. Termination is based on criteria set by the Department of Defense.

E. A member terminated from the stipend program may be required, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, to repay an amount equal to the total amount paid to the person under the program. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned may relieve a member from the recoupment requirement.

620203. Tax Withholding

A. Monthly stipends are subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW).

B. Monthly stipends are not subject to Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) (reference (ci)) withholding.

620204. Settlement of Deceased Members' Accounts. See section 3602 of this volume for authority for payment of any unpaid pay and allowances (includes amount of unpaid stipend).

Interim Changes 35-98, and 5-99 are incorporated in this change. These changes also affect Chapter 22 and will not be deleted from the interim changes cited on the Internet.

CHAPTER 63

NURSE OFFICER CANDIDATE PROGRAM AUTHORIZING ACCESSION AND CONTINUATION BONUS

6301 AUTHORITY

Public Law 101-189, November 29, 1989 (reference (ds)), authorizes the Secretaries of the Military Departments to provide financial assistance to full-time students enrolled in baccalaureate degree in nursing programs to assist in the completion of degree requirements and earn commissions as a nurse corps officers on the active duty list.

★6302 BASIC CONDITIONS OF ENTITLEMENT

The Accession and Continuation Bonus is authorized for nursing students who execute an agreement during the period November 29, 1989, through December 31, 1999, under the following conditions:

630201. The student is enrolled as a full-time student in an accredited baccalaureate degree program in nursing at a civilian educational institution that does not have a Senior Reserve Officer's Training program established and will complete this nursing degree program.

630202. The student has completed the second year of an accredited baccalaureate degree program in nursing and has more than six months of academic work remaining before graduation.

630203. The student meets the qualifications for appointment as an officer of a Reserve Component of the Army, Navy, or Air Force as set forth in the regulations of the Military Department concerned.

6303 WRITTEN AGREEMENT EXECUTED

The student described in section 6302, above, will execute a written agreement which must include the following:

630301. Agreement to complete the nursing degree program as stated in paragraph 630201, above.

630302. Agreement that, upon acceptance of the agreement by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, the student will enlist in a Reserve Component of the Armed Forces.

630303. Agreement that the student will accept an appointment as an officer in the Nurse Corps of the Army or the Navy or as an officer designated as a nurse officer in the Air Force, as the case may be, upon graduation from the nursing degree program.

630304. Agreement that the individual will serve on active duty as an officer as follows:

A. For period of 4 years in the case of a person whose agreement was accepted by the Secretary concerned during that person's fourth year of the nursing degree program, or

B. For period of 5 years in the case of a person whose agreement was accepted by the Secretary concerned during that person's third year of the nursing degree program.

630401. Accession Bonus. An amount of not more than $5,000 shall be paid in periodic installments, as determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned at the time the agreement is accepted, except that the first installment may not exceed $2,500.

630402. Continuation Bonus. In addition to the accession bonus, the student shall be entitled to a monthly continuation bonus of not more than $500 for each month that the individual is enrolled as a full-time student in an accredited baccalaureate degree program in nursing at a civilian educational institution that does not have a Senior Reserve Officers' Training Program established under 10 U.S.C. 2102 (reference (c)). The continuation bonus may be paid for not more than 24 months.

630501. The nurse officer candidate shall refund the entire amount of the accession and continuation bonus upon failure to:

A. Complete a nursing degree program in which the person is enrolled in accordance with the agreement entered into with the Military Department;

B. Accept an appointment, if tendered, as an officer of the Nurse Corps of the Army or the Navy or as an officer designated as a nurse officer of the Air Force; or

C. Complete the period of obligated active service required under the agreement.

630502. Under the following circumstances no recoupment will be required; however, no further payments will be made:

A. Death or disability that is not the result of misconduct or willful neglect and not incurred during a period of unauthorized absence;

B. Separation from military service by operation of laws or regulations of the Department of Defense or Military Service regulations, when approved by the Secretary concerned;

C. In other cases, when the ASD(HA) determines recoupment is not in the best interest of the government.

630503. Effective November 29, 1989, a discharge in bankruptcy under Title 11, U.S.C. (reference (aj)) shall not release a person from an obligation to reimburse the United States required under the terms of a written agreement entered into for this accession bonus and continuation bonus, if the final decree of the discharge in bankruptcy was issued within a period of 5 years after the last day of a period that such person had served on active duty.

630504. An obligation to reimburse the United States imposed for the reasons stated above is for all purposes a debt owed to the United States.

6306 TAX WITHHOLDING

630601. The accession and continuation bonus is subject to federal income tax withholding (FITW).

630602. The accession and continuation bonus is not subject to Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) (reference (ci)) withholding.

CHAPTER 64

HEALTH CARE OFFICERS ON ACTIVE DUTY IN SUPPORT OF THE PERSIAN GULF CONFLICT6401 AUTHORITY

Public Law 101-510, Section 1111, 5 November 1990 (reference (q)), authorizes special pay for Reserve medical and dental officers called to active duty in support of Operation Desert Shield (during fiscal years 1990 and 1991) in the same manner as Regular medical and dental officers. Public Law 102-25, Section 304, 6 April 1991 (reference (dw)), as amended by Public Law 102-190, Section 656, 5 December 1991 (reference (dx)), authorizes special pay for health care officers described in Section 302 (medical officers), 302a (optometrists), 302b (dentists), 302e (nurse anesthetists), or 303 (veterinarians) of Title 37, U.S.C. (reference aa) (whichever applies), notwithstanding any requirement in those sections that the call or order to active duty be for a period of not less than 1 year or that the officer execute a written agreement to remain on active duty for a period of not less than 1 year.

6402 DEFINITIONS

640201. Health Care Officer. An officer of the Armed Forces, including Reserve Components and National Guard, described in the following sections of Title 37, U.S.C. (reference aa)):

A. Medical Officers (section 302 (reference aa)). An officer of the Medical Corps of the Army or the Navy or an officer of the Air Force designated as a medical officer.

B. Optometrists (section 302a (reference aa)). An officer of the Army, Navy, or Air Force designated as an optometry officer.

C. Dental Officers (section 302b (reference aa)). An officer of the Dental Corps of the Army or the Navy or an officer of the Air Force designated as a dental officer.

D. Nurse Anesthetists (section 302e (reference aa)). A qualified certified registered nurse anesthetist who is either an officer of the Army or Navy Nurse Corps or an officer of the Air Force designated as a nurse.

E. Veterinarians (section 303 (reference aa)). An officer of the Veterinary Corps of the Army or an officer of the Air Force designated as a veterinary officer.

640202. Operation Desert Storm. Operations of United States Armed Forces conducted as a consequence of the invasion of Kuwait by Iraq including the operation known as Operation Desert Shield.

640203. Persian Gulf Conflict. Means the period beginning on 2 August 1990, and ending thereafter on the date prescribed by presidential proclamation or by law.

6403 ENTITLEMENT

640301. Health Care Officers who are otherwise eligible to receive special pay under 37 U.S.C. 302, 302a, 302b, 302e or 303 (reference (aa)) shall be eligible for such payments for all periods of active duty beginning on or after 1 August 1990 (other than for training) while:

A. A Reserve officer on active duty under a call or order to active duty for a period of less than 1 year in connection with the Persian Gulf Conflict, or

B. A retired officer recalled to active duty under 10 U.S.C. 688 (reference (c)), in connection with the Persian Gulf Conflict, or

C. An officer involuntarily retained on active duty under 10 U.S.C. 673c (reference (c)), or an officer who has voluntarily agreed to remain on active duty for a period of less than 1 year in support of the Persian Gulf Conflict.

640302. Health care officers voluntarily agreeing to remain on active duty are eligible for payments only for those periods served following the expiration of any previously existing active duty service obligations for education, training or special pay agreements as determined by the Secretary concerned or designee.

640304. The provisions of this chapter will end on the first day of the first month beginning on or after the date 180 days after the end of the Persian Gulf Conflict.

6404 LIMITATIONS AND RECOUPMENT

640401. Any payments made for periods the health care officer subsequently fails to actually serve on active duty will be recouped on a pro-rata basis.

640402. Medical officers are not entitled to the $450 per month special pay (see Chapter 5, section 0506) for the same period they receive the special pay provided by this chapter. Any payments made under 37 U.S.C. 302(h) (reference (aa)) are to be recouped for any period that special pay is received under this chapter.

640403. Health care officers on active duty for training are not eligible for the four types of special pay, as applicable (additional, board certified, incentive, and variable), even if they support the Persian Gulf Conflict.

6405 BOARD CERTIFICATION WAIVER (MEDICAL AND DENTAL OFFICERS)

640501. Medical and dental officers in categories eligible for board certification pay, who are unable to schedule or complete board certification examinations because of active duty service in connection with the Persian Gulf Conflict, may be eligible for board certification pay if the otherwise eligible officer:

A. Had completed all other requirements for board certification including all requisite graduate medical education prior to the effective date of the call or order to active duty, and

B. Successfully completes all required certification examinations within 180 days after release from the duty to which the officer was assigned in connection with the Persian Gulf Conflict.

640502. Secretaries of the Military Departments or their designees may waive the 180-day limitation for up to 1 year for those officers whose board examinations are not offered within the 180-day period or in other well-justified cases. Certification must be obtained before the medical or dental officer receives payment.

640503. Payments for periods of active duty pursuant to board certification waivers shall be made in lump sum when that officer successfully completes the first available board certification examination after the release from the duty assignment on which the waiver was based. Officers not successfully completing this first available examination shall only receive board certification pay after they become board certified.

6406 SPECIAL PROVISIONS

640601. All payments provided for in this chapter may be made on a monthly basis, notwithstanding the provisions of 37 U.S.C. 302(e), 302b(d) or 302e(e) (reference (aa)) that would require some payments to be made annually in advance.

640602. For medical and dental officers previously eligible for payments under Public Law 101-510, section 1111 (reference (q)), payments shall continue to be made effective the first day the eligible officer began active duty in connection with Operation Desert Storm. Retroactive payments are authorized for any period which the eligible officer actually served on active duty under the call or order to active duty described above.

6407 RATES PAYABLE

Any health care officer who meets the eligibility requirements, shall be paid special pay equivalent to their active duty counterpart for the period of time the officer is on active duty. Health care officers will be paid the following rates:

640701. Medical officers are paid the monthly rates in Chapter 5 for variable special pay, board certified pay, incentive special pay and additional special pay, as applicable.

640702. Dental officers are paid the monthly rates in Chapter 6 for variable special pay, board certified special pay and additional special pay, as applicable.

640703. Veterinarians and optometrists are entitled to special pay at the monthly rate of $100.

640704. Certified registered nurse anesthetists are entitled to incentive special pay at the monthly rate of $500.

FOREWORD

This volume of the "Department of Defense Financial Management Regulation" is issued under the authority of DoD Instruction 7000.14, "DoD Financial Management Policy and Procedures," dated November 15, 1992. It governs financial management by establishing and enforcing requirements, principles, standards, systems, procedures, and practices necessary to comply with financial management statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to the Department of Defense. It directs financial management requirements, systems, and functions for all appropriated, working capital, revolving, and trust fund activities. In addition, it directs statutory and regulatory financial reporting requirements.

Volume 7 of the "DoD Financial Management Regulation" establishes policies and procedures for military pay. The volume is divided into three volumes: Volume 7A, "Military Pay Policy and Procedures Active Duty and Reserve Pay;" Volume 7B, "Military Pay Policy and Procedures for Retired Pay;" and Volume 7C, "Special Military Pay/Personnel Programs and Operating Procedures Manual." Volume 7B, specifically details entitlements for retired personnel, survivor annuitants, and victims of abuse.

This volume of the Regulation applies to the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Military Departments, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Combatant Commands, the Inspector General of the Department of Defense, the Defense Agencies, and the DoD Field Activities (hereafter referred to collectively as "DoD Components").

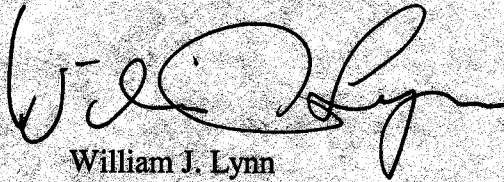

This volume of the Regulation is effective immediately and is mandatory for use by all DoD Components. Heads of DoD Components shall ensure that the provisions of this Volume are adhered to in day-to-day operations and in the design, modification, and maintenance of their Components' financial management and reporting system or systems. The Heads of DoD Components shall not issue supplementary directives and/or regulations without the prior written approval of the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller).

The reporting requirements in this Regulation are exempt from licensing in accordance with paragraph E.4.f of DoD 8910.1-M, "DoD Procedures for Management of Information Requirements," November 1986.

Recommended changes to, and requests for deviations from or exceptions to, the provisions of this volume of the Regulation should be forwarded through appropriate chain of command channels along with specific justification to:

Office of the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller)
Office of the Deputy Chief Financial Officer
Washington, DC 20301-1100

All 15 volumes of the "DoD Financial Management Regulation" are available on the Internet at: <http://www.dtic.mil/comptroller/fmr/>. Printed or CD-ROM copies of the Regulation may be purchased through the Internet Homepage or directly from the Defense Automated Printing Service, at 1401 S. Fern Street, Arlington, VA 22202, or by telephone at (703) 607-5212.

CHAPTER 1INITIAL ENTITLEMENTS-RETIREMENTS*0101 SERVICE CREDITABLE FOR RETIREMENT PURPOSES*010101. General

A. A computation of creditable service may be required at any time during a member's military career for the purpose of retirement. A warrant officer or an enlisted member may be retired voluntarily after completion of 20 years of creditable service. An enlisted member of the Army or Air Force, who retires upon completion of 20 years of creditable service, becomes a member of the Reserve force. A commissioned officer may be retired voluntarily after completion of 20 years of active service at least 10 years of which is active commissioned service. (During the period October 1, 1990 through September 30, 1999, the Secretary concerned may reduce the requirement for 20 years of creditable service to 15 years and the active commissioned service requirement for the retirement of officers from 10 years to 8 years.) Members who continue on active duty after completion of 20 years of service may be retired for voluntary or involuntary reasons. Members who incur a disability while serving on active duty or while called to active duty for training for 30 days or less in the military services may be retired, at which time a service computation is required.

B. Service creditable for the purpose of determining either retirement eligibility or whether a member meets the requirements for retirement varies with each type of retirement. Retirement types and the specific service creditable for each are found in paragraphs 010102 through 010108, below. Service that is not creditable is cited in paragraph 010109, below.

010102. Voluntary Retirement-Enlisted Members. (Table 1-1)

- A. All active service in the Uniformed Services.
- B. Active service in the Army or Navy Nurse Corps as it existed at any time before April 16, 1947.
- C. Active service performed under appointment under the Act of December 22, 1942 (reference (a)), or the Act of June 22, 1944 (reference (b)).
- D. Active full-time service, except as a student or apprentice, with the Medical Department of the Army as a civilian employee in the dietetic or physical therapy categories, if that service was performed after April 6, 1917 and before April 1, 1943.
- E. Active full-time service, except as a student or apprentice, in the occupational therapy category, if that service was performed before appointment in the Army Nurse Corps or Women's Medical Specialist Corps or before appointment in the Air Force with a view to designation as an Air Force nurse or medical specialist and before January 1, 1949.

F. Service as a cadet or midshipman at Service academy.

010103. Voluntary Retirement-Regular and Reserve Commissioned Officers.

A. Active service in the Uniformed Services.

B. The following service, computed under 10 U.S.C. 3683 (repealed) (reference (c)) in addition to any other service that may be credited:

1. Active service performed in the Army Nurse Corps and Navy Nurse Corps as they existed at any time before April 16, 1947.

2. Active service performed under appointment under the Act of December 22, 1942 (reference (a)) or the Act of June 22, 1944 (reference (b)).

3. Active full-time service, except as a student or apprentice, with the Medical Department of the Army as a civilian employee in the dietetic or physical therapy categories, if the service was performed after April 6, 1917 and before April 1, 1943.

4. Active full-time service, except as a student or apprentice, in the occupational therapy category, if that service was performed before appointment in the Army Nurse Corps or Women's Specialist Corps and before January 1, 1949.

C. If an officer of the Regular Army or Air Force, all active service performed as an officer of the Philippine Constabulary.

D. If an officer of the Regular Army or Regular Air Force in the Medical Corps, in addition to the above service, all full-time service performed as a:

1. Contract surgeon

2. Active assistant surgeon

3. Contract physician, under a contract to serve full-time and to take and change station as ordered.

E. If retiring as an officer of the Regular Army or Regular Air Force in the Dental Corps, in addition to the above service, all full-time service performed as a:

1. Contract dental surgeon

2. Acting dental surgeon.

F. To determine whether a commissioned officer of the Army Nurse Corps or the Army Medical Specialist Corps may be retired under 10 U.S.C. 3911 (reference (c)), and whether an Air Force nurse or medical specialist may be retired under 10 U.S.C. 8911 (reference (c)), treat all service credited under subparagraphs 010103.B.1, 2, 3, and 4, above, as service as a commissioned officer.

010104. Voluntary or Mandatory Retirement-Warrant Officers. (Table 1-1)

A. Active service in the Uniformed Services.

B. All service as a:

1. Nurse or contract nurse before February 2, 1901
2. Reserve nurse after February 2, 1901
3. Contract surgeon
4. Contract dental surgeon
5. Acting dental surgeon
6. Veterinarian in the quartermaster department, cavalry, or field artillery.

C. Service on the active list, or on active duty, or while participating in full-time training or other full-time duty provided for or authorized under the National Defense Act of 1916 (reference (d)), or the Naval Reserve Act (reference (e)), as a:

1. Army field clerk
2. Field clerk, Army Quartermaster Corps.

010105. Mandatory Retirement-Regular Commissioned Officers, Army, and Air Force. (Table 1-2) Years of service credited at the time of original appointment in the Regular Army for the purpose of determining eligibility for promotion, except that in subparagraph 010109.B, below, plus all years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army after that appointment, or years of service computed as in subparagraphs A through L, below, whichever applies:

A. Reserve judge advocate appointed in the Regular Army in grade of captain in the Judge Advocate General's Department:

1. Years of active commissioned service in the Army after becoming 21 years of age, after December 7, 1941 and before date of that appointment, or the number of days, months, and years by which the member's age at the time of appointment exceeded 25 years, whichever is greater, plus

2. Years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army after that appointment.

B. Officer appointed in the Regular Army, except the Army Nurse Corps or Army Medical Specialist Corps before December 31, 1947, other than an officer covered by subparagraph A, above, or appointed in the Regular Army under the Act of December 28, 1945 (reference (f)):

1. Years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army after that appointment, plus

2. Years of active commissioned service in the Army after becoming 21 years of age and after December 7, 1941, under any earlier appointment.

C. Officer appointed in the Regular Army, except the Army Nurse Corps or Army Medical Specialist Corps after December 31, 1947, other than an officer appointed in the Women's Army Corps, Regular Army, under section 108 of the Women's Armed Services Integration Act of 1948 (reference (g)):

1. Years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army after that appointment, plus:

2. Years of active commissioned service in the Army after becoming 21 years of age and after December 31, 1947, under any earlier appointment.

D. Officer of the Regular Air Force appointed in the Regular Air Force before January 1, 1948, under the Act of December 28, 1945 (reference (f)), the sum of:

1. The years credited under that Act at the time of appointment,

2. Years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army or Regular Air Force after that appointment, plus

3. The service, but not more than 2 years, by which the member's service on July 20, 1956 was authorized to be increased under section 27, Public Law 85-861 (reference (h)) for the purpose of determining grade, position on the promotion list, seniority, eligibility for promotion, and mandatory retirement.

E. Officer appointed in the Regular Air Force under section 308 of the Women's Armed Services Integration Act of 1948 (reference ((g))), the sum of:

1. The years of service credited under that section at the time of appointment,
2. The years of active commissioned service in the Regular Air Force after that appointment, plus
3. The service credited under subparagraph D.3, above.

F. Reserve judge advocate appointed in the Regular Army in the grade of captain in the Judge Advocate General's Department under section 24e of the National Defense Act (reference (d)), as amended:

1. The years of active commissioned service in the Army after becoming 21 years of age, after December 7, 1941, and before the date of that appointment, or the number of days, months, and years by which the member's age at the time of that appointment exceeded 25 years, whichever is greater, plus:
2. The years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army or Regular Air Force after that appointment plus the service credited under subparagraph D.3, above.

G. Air Force nurse or medical specialist:

1. The period of service credited under the Army-Navy Nurses Act of 1947 (reference (i)), as amended, or commissioned service in the Armed Forces, not to exceed 14 years, after December 6, 1941, performed after becoming 21 years of age and before appointment, plus
2. The years of active commissioned service in the Regular Air Force after appointment in the Regular Air Force.

H. Officer of the Regular Air Force appointed in the Regular Army or Regular Air Force before December 31, 1947, other than an officer covered by subparagraphs D, F, and G above, the sum of:

1. The years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army and Regular Air Force after that appointment,
2. The years of active commissioned service in the Army and Air Force after becoming 21 years of age and after December 7, 1941, under any earlier appointment, plus
3. The service credited under subparagraph D.3, above.

I. Officer of the Regular Air Force appointed in the Regular Army or Regular Air Force after December 31, 1947, under section 506 of the Officer Personnel Act of 1947 (reference (j)), the sum of:

1. The years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army or Regular Air Force after that appointment,

2. The years of active commissioned service in the Armed Forces after becoming 21 years of age and after December 6, 1941, under any earlier appointment, plus

3. The service credited under subparagraph E.3, above.

J. Officer of the Air Force who was appointed in the Regular Army or Regular Air Force after December 31, 1947, other than an officer covered by subparagraphs E, G, I, above, or K, below:

1. The years of active commissioned service in the Regular Army or Regular Air Force after that appointment,

2. The years of active commissioned service in the Air Force after becoming 21 years of age and after December 31, 1947, under any earlier appointment, plus

3. The service credited under subparagraph D.3, above.

K. Officer of the Regular Air Force who was appointed in the Regular Air Force after July 19, 1956, other than an officer covered by subparagraphs G or I, above, or who is designated as a medical or dental officer, the sum of:

1. The years of active commissioned service in the Regular Air Force after that appointment,

2. The years of active commissioned service in the Armed Forces after becoming 21 years of age and before appointment, plus

3. The years credited for the purpose of determining grade, position on a promotion list, seniority, and eligibility for promotion under one of the following conditions.

a. Three years, if appointed in the Regular Air Force with a view to designation as a medical service officer, and if holding a degree of doctor of philosophy or comparable degree in science allied to medicine,

b. Not more than 8 years, if one of not more than 100 persons in any calendar year who are appointed from civil life or from Reserves of the Air Force who have qualifications not otherwise available from members of the Air Force on active duty,

c. Not more than 2 years, if appointed while on active duty in the Air Force.

L. An officer of the Army or Air Force under the Defense Officer Personnel Management Act (reference (k)) is credited with:

1. The years of active service.
2. The years of service, other than active service in subparagraph 1, above, with which member was entitled to be credited on May 31, 1958, in computing basic pay.

A. The total commissioned service of a male officer on the active list in the line of the Navy or of the Marine Corps is computed from June 30 of the fiscal year in which the officer accepted that appointment. The computation applies when the officer has served continuously on the active list since appointment in the grade of ensign or second lieutenant either upon graduation from the Naval Academy or under 10 U.S.C. 2106, 2107, or 6909 (repealed) (reference (c)).

B. Every other male officer on the active list in the line of the Navy or Marine Corps is considered to have the same service as in subparagraph A, above, who:

1. Has not lost numbers or precedence, and
2. Is, or at any time has been, junior to the other officer for the purposes of eligibility for promotion and selection for promotion during the other officer's latest period of continuous service on the active list.

C. The total commissioned service of each officer on the active list of the Navy in the Supply Corps or the Civil Engineer Corps who originally was appointed as a Regular or as a Reserve in the grade of ensign in the line, or any staff corps, or in the grade of lieutenant (junior grade) in the Civil Engineer Corps, and who has served continuously on active duty since that appointment, is computed from June 30 of the fiscal year in which the officer accepted that appointment, beginning August 7, 1947.

D. The total commissioned service of each officer originally appointed in the grade of lieutenant (junior grade) or ensign in any staff corps of the Navy, except the Supply Corps and the Civil Engineer Corps who has since that appointment served continuously on the active list of the Navy, is computed from June 30 of the fiscal year in which the officer accepted that appointment. This provision does not apply, however, to officers appointed under the Act of April 18, 1946 (reference (l)).

E. Every other commissioned officer on the active list of the Navy in any staff corps is considered to have the same total commissioned service as the officer in the same corps described in subparagraphs C and D, above, having the maximum total commissioned service who:

1. Has not lost numbers or precedence; and

2. Is, or at any time has been, junior to the other officer for the purposes of eligibility for promotion and selection for promotion during that other officer's latest period of continuous service on the active list.

F. Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph E, above, officers on the active list of the Navy in the Medical Service Corps appointed under the Act of April 18, 1946 (reference (l)), are considered to have total commissioned service equivalent to that of their running mate.

G. Officers on the active list of the Navy in the Nurse Corps are credited with:

1. Active service in the Nurse Corps and the Nurse Corps Reserve, and
2. Active service in the Nurse Corps and the Nurse Corps Reserve, which was abolished by the Army-Navy Nurses Act of 1947 (reference (i)).

H. An officer of the Navy or Marine Corps under the Defense Officer Personnel Management Act (reference (k)) is credited with:

1. The years of active service;
2. The years of service, other than the service included in subparagraph 1, above, with which member was entitled to be credited on May 31, 1958, in computing basic pay.

010107. Disability Retirement. (Table 1-3)

A. A member of a Regular Component of the Armed Forces is credited with the greater of all service he or she is considered to have for the purpose of separation or mandatory elimination from the active list, or the sum of:

1. All active service as a member of the Armed Forces as a nurse, Reserve nurse after February 2, 1901, contract surgeon, contract dental surgeon, or acting dental surgeon;
2. Active service as a commissioned officer of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), or the Public Health Service (PHS). See subparagraph 010201.C, below, for information regarding NOAA and its two predecessor organizations (Environmental Science Services Administration and the Coast and Geodetic Survey).
3. Service while participating in exercises or performing active duty training and drills in the National Guard, under 32 U.S.C. 502, 503, 504, and 505 (reference (m)).

B. A member who is not a member of a Regular Component of the Armed Forces is credited with the sum of 1 through 4 below, divided by 360:

1. All days of active service;
2. All days of full-time service while performing annual training duty or attending prescribed periods of instruction designated as a Military Service school by law or by the Secretary concerned;
- ★3. One day for each point, but not more than 75 days in any one-year period after September 22, 1996, credited for attendance at a drill or a period of equivalent instruction prescribed for that year by the Secretary concerned that conform to requirements by law or credited as service in the Health Professions Scholarship and Financial Assistance Program under 10 U.S.C. 2126 (reference (c)). The maximum number was 60 days in any one-year period ending before September 23, 1996. Credit includes points at the rate of 15 per year for membership in a Reserve Component of an Armed Force, in the Army or Air Force without component, or service in the following categories before July 1, 1949:
 - a. Federally recognized National Guard before June 15, 1933.
 - b. Federally recognized status in the National Guard before June 15, 1933.
 - c. The National Guard after June 14, 1933, if service was continuous from date of enlistment in the National Guard, or federal recognition as an officer, to date of enlistment or appointment in the National Guard of the United States, the Army National Guard of the United States, or the Air National Guard of the United States.
 - d. The Naval Reserve Force.
 - e. The Naval Militia that conformed to standards prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy.
 - f. The National Naval Volunteers.
 - g. The Army or Navy Nurse Corps, or the Nurse Corps Reserve of the Army or Navy, as it existed any time after February 2, 1901.
4. Fifty days for each year before July 1, 1949, and proportionately for each fraction for a year, for service (other than active service) in a Reserve Component of the Armed Forces, in the Army or Air Force without component, or in any other category covered by 10 U.S.C. 12732(a)(1) (reference (c)).

010108. Age and Service Retirement- Non-Regular Member

- A. Creditable service for retirement includes:

1. Years of service before July 1, 1949 in:
 - a. The Uniformed Services
 - b. Federally recognized National Guard before June 15, 1933
 - c. Federally recognized status in the National Guard before June 15, 1933
 - d. National Guard after June 14, 1933, if service was continuous from date of enlistment in the National Guard or federal recognition as an officer therein, to date of enlistment or appointment in the National Guard of the United States, the Army National Guard of the United States, or the Air National Guard of the United States
 - e. Naval Reserve force
 - f. Naval militia that conformed to the standards prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy
 - g. National naval volunteers
 - h. Army or Navy Nurse Corps, Reserve of the Army or Navy as it existed at any time after February 2, 1901
 - i. The Army under appointment under the Act of December 22, 1942 (reference (a))
 - j. Active full-time status, except as a student or apprentice with the Medical Department of the Army as a civilian employee in:
 - (1) The dietetic or physical therapy categories if the service was performed after April 6, 1917, and before April 1, 1943 or
 - (2) The occupational therapy category, if the service was performed before appointment in the Army Nurse Corps or Women's Medical Specialist Corps and before January 1, 1949, or before appointment in the Air Force before January 1, 1949, with a view to designation as an Air Force nurse or medical specialist.
2. Each 1-year period after July 1, 1949, in which the member earned at least 50 days on this basis:
 - a. One point for each day of active service. Service as a cadet or midshipman at a Service academy is active service for non-regular enlisted members only.

b. One point for each day of full-time service, while performing annual training or attending a prescribed course of instruction at a school designated as a Service school by law or by the Secretary concerned.

c. One point for each attendance at a drill or period of equivalent instruction prescribed for that year by the Secretary concerned.

d. Points at the rate of 15 per year for membership in a Reserve Component of the Armed Forces, in the Army or Air Force without component, or in any other category covered by 10 U.S.C. 12732(a)(1) (reference (c)), except a Regular Component.

NOTE: For the purpose of subparagraphs 010108.B.1, 2, and 3, below, all service in the National Guard is treated as if it were service in a Reserve Component, if the member was later appointed in the National Guard of the United States or Air National Guard of the United States, or as a Reserve of the Army or Air Force and served continuously in the National Guard from date of federal recognition to date of that appointment.

★e. Members whose anniversary year closed on or after September 23, 1996 may be credited with up to 75 inactive duty points (vice 60 inactive duty training points for anniversary years that closed before that date).

★f. Points credited as service in the Health Professions Scholarship and Financial Assistance Program under 10 U.S.C. 2126 (reference (c)).

★B. A member of the Armed Forces or National Guard is entitled to retired pay computed under rule 14, Table 3-1, for non-regular service upon application if he or she:

1. Is at least 60 years of age;

2. Has performed at least 20 years of service (see subparagraph 010108.E, below) as shown in subparagraphs 010108.A, above, or this subparagraph;

★3. Has performed the last 8 years of qualifying service as a member of any category named in 10 U.S.C. 12732(a)(1) (reference (c)) but not while a member of a Regular Component, the Fleet Reserve or the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve (Note: The 8-year period is reduced to 6 years for the period October 5, 1994 through September 30, 1999); and

4. Is not entitled, under any other provision of law, to retired pay from the Armed Forces or retainer pay as a member of the Fleet Reserve or the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

C. A member who has been notified that the years of service requirement has been met for eligibility for retired pay at age 60, may not have that eligibility denied or revoked on the basis of any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination of years of service performed, unless it resulted directly from fraud or misrepresentation of the person.

1. The notification of eligibility, which is based on the member's completion of the service requirement, conforms to applicable Military Department regulations. A nonconforming written notice, administratively issued, which shows completion of service requirements of eligibility for retired pay at age 60 may not result in the denial of retired pay, unless evidence shows that the member caused the service record to be altered or confused.

2. The number of years of creditable service upon which retired pay is computed may be adjusted to correct any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination. When a correction is made, the retiree is entitled to retired pay in accordance with the number of years of creditable service, as corrected, from the date the retiree is granted retired pay.

3. Notwithstanding subparagraph C.2, above, the granting of retired pay to a retiree under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)) is conclusive as to that retiree's entitlement to such pay only if the payment of retired pay began after October 14, 1966. A notification that a person has completed the years of service required for eligibility for retired pay under Chapter 1223 (reference (c)) is conclusive as to that person's subsequent entitlement to such pay only if the notification is made after October 14, 1966.

D. Under 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)), members of a Reserve Component who have reached age 60, and have at least 20 years of qualifying federal service are qualified for retired pay. A member who has qualified for retired pay, but retained under 10 U.S.C. 12308 (reference (c)), with member's consent, may be credited with the service for all purposes. However, a member who elects to receive retired pay under 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)) may not be retained simultaneously on active duty or in active service under 10 U.S.C. 12308 (reference (c)).

E. A temporary special retirement qualification authority, 10 U.S.C. 12731a (reference (c)), provides for the Secretary concerned to allow certain members with at least 15 years of creditable service to retire during the period October 1, 1991 - September 30, 1999.

010109. Service Not Creditable for Determining Retirement Eligibility

A. Service may not be credited to enlisted member for the following time required to be made up:

1. Desertion
2. Absence from organization, station, or duty for more than 1 day without proper authority, as determined by Military Service concerned
3. Confinement for more than one day awaiting trial and disposition of case, when conviction has become final, or under a sentence that has become final

4. Inability for more than 1 day, as determined by competent authority, to perform duties because of intemperate use of drugs or alcoholic liquor, or because of disease or injury resulting from own misconduct.

B. Constructive service, credited under 10 U.S.C. 3287(a)(2)(A) or (B) (repealed), 10 U.S.C. 3294(b) (repealed) (reference (c)) or section 506(c) of the Officer Personnel Act of 1947 (reference (j)), is not included in the service computation under subparagraph 010105.A, above. Constructive service creditable may be:

1. Three years, if appointed as a chaplain, or for service in the Judge Advocate General's Corps or in the Veterinary Corps of the Regular Army.

2. Three years, if appointed in the Medical Service Corps and if holding the degree of doctor of philosophy or comparable degree recognized by the Surgeon General.

3. Four years (five, if member completed 1 year internship) credited at the time of appointment in the Medical or Dental Corps for the purpose of determining grade, position on a promotion list, seniority in grade in the Regular Army, and eligibility for promotion.

C. This service may not be counted for the purpose of determining retirement eligibility under paragraph 010107, above:

1. Service, other than active service, in an inactive section of the Organized Reserve Corps or Army Reserve, or inactive section of the officer's section of the Air Force Reserve.

2. Service, other than active service, after June 30, 1949 while on the Honorary Retired List of the Naval Reserve or of the Marine Corps Reserve.

3. Service in the inactive National Guard or in a nonfederally recognized status of the National Guard.

4. Inactive service in the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

5. Service as an inactive Reserve nurse of the Army Nurse Corps established by the Act of February 2, 1901 (reference (n)) as amended, and service before July 1, 1938, as an inactive Reserve nurse of the Navy Nurse Corps, established by the Act of May 13, 1908 (reference (o)).

6. Service in any status other than that as a commissioned officer, warrant officer, nurse, flight officer, appointed aviation cadet, or enlisted member, and that described in paragraph 010101, above, as creditable.

0102 SERVICE CREDITABLE FOR BASIC PAY

010201. Service for Basic Pay. Basic pay varies with the number of years of service to a member's credit. In computing cumulative years of service for this purpose, members are credited for full-time service.

A. Organizations in General. Active or inactive service as a commissioned officer, commissioned warrant officer, warrant officer, flight officer, or enlisted member in any of these:

1. Air Corps Reserve
2. Air Force Reserve
3. Air Force of the United States (without specification of component)
4. Air National Guard
5. Air National Guard of the United States
6. Army of the United States (without specification of component)
7. Army National Guard
8. Army National Guard of the United States
9. Army Reserve
10. Coast and Geodetic Survey (see subparagraph C, below)
11. Coast Guard Reserve
12. Commissioned Corps of the Environmental Science Services Administration (see subparagraph C, below)
13. Commissioned Corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (see subparagraph C, below)
14. Dental Reserve Corps of the Navy
15. Enlisted Reserve Corps
16. Enlisted Section of the Air Force Reserve
17. Marine Corps Reserve
18. Marine Corps Reserve Force

19. Medical Reserve Corps of the Army
20. Medical Reserve Corps of the Navy
21. National Guard
22. National Guard of the United States
23. National Guard Reserve
24. National Naval Volunteers
25. Naval Reserve
26. Naval Reserve Force
27. Nurse Corps of the Public Health Service
28. Nurse Corps Reserve of the Public Health Service
29. Officers' Reserve Corps
30. Officers' Section of the Air Force Reserve
31. Organized Reserve Corps
32. Philippine Constabulary before July 4, 1946
33. Philippine Scouts
34. Public Health Service
35. Regular Air Force
36. Regular Army
37. Regular Army Reserve
38. Regular Coast Guard
39. Regular Marine Corps
40. Regular Navy

41. Reserve Corps of the Public Health Service

B. Nurse Service Before April 16, 1947. Creditable periods are those during which members held appointments as nurses, Reserve nurses, or commissioned officers in the Army Nurse Corps or the Navy Nurse Corps, of the Reserve Components thereof, as they existed before April 16, 1947.

C. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). Periods during which a member was an officer, deck officer, hydrographic and geodetic engineer, junior hydrographic and geodetic engineer or aid in the NOAA (includes periods served in the former corps of the Environmental Science Services Administration or the Coast and Geodetic Survey) is creditable service. Service as a shipkeeper, seaman, fireman, oiler, etc. under "shipping articles" is not creditable service.

D. Service Counted on January 10, 1962. All service is creditable which, under any law in effect on January 10, 1962, was creditable in computing basic pay.

E. Service on Retired List or as Member of Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve. Creditable periods are those while on a temporary disability retired list, honorary retired list, or retired list of any Uniformed Service; and periods while entitled to retired pay, retirement pay, or retainer pay from any Uniformed Service or the Department of Veterans Affairs as a member of the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve. Except for periods of active service and except as provided under 10 U.S.C. 1402 and 1402a, subsections (b), (c), and (d) (reference (c)), periods of service on a retired list, in a retired status, or in the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve, may not be credited to increase retired or retainer pay. Under subsections (b), (c), and (d) of 10 U.S.C. 1402 and 1402a (reference (c)), where a member is retired (including a retirement other than for physical disability), serves on active duty and is again retired, the inactive time on the retired list prior to the recall to active duty is included in a recomputation of retired pay for disability.

F. Honorary Reserve. All periods are creditable for service as member of the Honorary Reserve of the Officers Reserve Corps or the organized Reserve Corps.

G. Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. Effective August 7, 1959, active service during the period May 14, 1942 through September 29, 1943, as a member of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps (WAAC) may be counted if active military service was performed after September 29, 1943.

H. Army and Air Force Officers Restored to Duty Under Act of June 29, 1948. (reference (p)). The period between the date of removal and the date of restoration of an Army or Air Force officer restored to the active list under the Army and Air Force Vitalization and Retirement Equalization Act of 1948 (reference (q)) is creditable.

I. Retention for Medical Care After Expiration of Term of Service. Any period on and after December 12, 1941, when an enlisted member of the Armed Forces is retained in service after expiration of his or her term of service for medical treatment or hospitalization for disease or injury incident to service and not due to member's misconduct is creditable.

J. Service Before Attainment of Statutory Age for Enlistment. Any service which is otherwise creditable may be counted even if the service was performed before a member attained the statutory age for enlistment. Such service may not be counted if it is determined to be fraudulent and is voided for that reason.

K. Temporary Member of Coast Guard Reserve. Active service performed as a temporary member of the Coast Guard Reserve is creditable.

L. Army of the United States Commissions-World War II. Appointments made on and after December 7, 1941, in the Army of the United States, without component, under the Joint Resolution of September 22, 1941 (reference (r)) are considered to have continued in effect through March 31, 1953 unless terminated before that date by administrative action or specific law. The period from the date of separation through March 31, 1953, may be credited for officers who:

1. Did not have Reserve or National Guard status,
2. Did not accept a Reserve commission, and
3. Were separated on or before March 31, 1953, without vacating their status in the Army of the United States.

M. Warrant Officer Appointment-World War II. For a temporary appointment as a warrant officer under section 3 of the Act of August 21, 1941 (reference (s)), the period from separation from active duty through April 1, 1953 is creditable unless the appointment expressly was terminated earlier.

N. Flight Officer Appointment-World War II. For an appointment as a flight officer under the Flight Officer Act of July 8, 1942 (reference (t)), the period from separation from active duty through October 27, 1952 is creditable unless the appointment was expressly terminated earlier.

O. Service Terminated By Desertion or Dishonorable Discharge. Service in an enlistment terminated by desertion or dishonorable discharge is creditable unless the enlistment was fraudulent and was voided for that reason.

P. Women's Army Corps. Appointments in the Women's Army Corps in the Army of the United States, without component, if not previously terminated, were terminated on March 31, 1953. Such service is creditable for basic pay purposes.

Q. Service as Cadet or Midshipman. Cadet or midshipman service is creditable in computing basic pay of enlisted members. For officers, see Table 1-5.

R. Detail to Agencies such as the Agency for International Development (AID), Department of State. Service is creditable AID and certain other agencies under agreement, such as that between the Department of Defense and AID.

S. Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Service as a member of the Army, Navy, or Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corps is creditable service as follows:

1. Before October 14, 1964, any member who had concurrent Reserve status.

2. After October 13, 1964, an enlisted member who had concurrent Reserve status.

T. Aviation Midshipman. Service in the aviation midshipman program, under the Act of August 13, 1946 (reference (u)), is creditable service for basic pay purposes effective on and after December 26, 1974.

U. Delayed Enlistment (Entry) Program

1. For a Regular Component. Service as an enlisted member in a Reserve Component before beginning active duty in a Regular Component is creditable service if the member enlisted in the Reserve Component before Jan 1, 1985.

2. For a Reserve Component. Service as an enlisted member in a Reserve Component before beginning service on active duty or active duty for training in a Reserve Component is creditable service if the member enlisted in the Reserve Component before November 28, 1989. For enlistments on or after November 28, 1989, such service is creditable if the Reserve member performs inactive duty training before beginning service on active duty for training.

010202. Constructive Service Credit for Medical and Dental Officers

A. Crediting of Constructive Service after September 14, 1981. Crediting of constructive service for medical or dental training or internship is not authorized after September 14, 1981 except as provided in subparagraph B, below.

B. Savings Provisions for Constructive Service Previously Granted. Prior to September 15, 1981, medical and dental officers who completed medical/dental training received 4 years of credit for such training. Medical officers who completed medical internship or its equivalent or entered military status while serving such internship received an additional 1 year credit. The 4 or 5-years of constructive service credit is reduced when required by subparagraph C, below. After September 14, 1981, medical/dental officers with military or Public Health Service status may be credited with constructive service if one of the following conditions exist:

1. On September 14, 1981, they were enrolled in the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program or Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences and completed such program or graduated on or after September 15, 1981 and are appointed as medical or dental officer (includes Public Health Service).

2. On September 14, 1981, they were participating in a program leading to an appointment as an officer in the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps for which the years of service would be credited.

3. On September 15, 1981, they were medical or dental officers (includes officers of the Public Health Service commissioned as medical or dental officers) entitled to include constructive service.

4. On or before September 14, 1981, they had at any time been credited with constructive service as officers, notwithstanding any subsequent break in service.

C. Reduction of Constructive Service for Dual Credit. Reduce the 4 or 5-years of credit by the amount of any service otherwise counted (such as active duty or reserve status) which covers any part of the actual periods spent in medical or dental school or as an intern.

1. Constructive service credit for a medical or dental officer who accepts a commission during the time the officer is a medical or dental student is computed on a 4-year basis.

2. Constructive service credit for a medical officer who accepts a commission while interning is computed on a 5-year basis.

3. A medical or dental officer who was commissioned before entering medical or dental school is still entitled to any allowable constructive service credit.

4. No reduction of constructive service credit is required for the period a medical or dental officer participated in the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program or while a student of the Uniformed Services University of Health Sciences, since the member was not given any creditable service for pay purposes for that period of service.

D. Examples of Constructive Service Credit for Medical and Dental Officers. All examples, except those in subparagraph D.6, below, assume no creditable service before acceptance of commission.

1. A dental officer completed all education requirements before accepting commission. Constructive service credit: 4 years.

2. A medical officer completed internship before accepting commission. Constructive service credit: 5 years.

3. A medical officer entered medical school September 9, 1970 and graduated May 28, 1974, interned at a civilian hospital from July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975, and accepted a commission on Jan 12, 1972. Compute as follows:

	Year	Month	Day
a.	74	05	28
b.	72	01	12
c.	02	04	17
(1 day added for inclusive dates)
d.	03	11	30 (4 years)
e.	02	04	17
f.	01	07	13

NOTES:

- | | |
|------------------------|------------------------|
| a. Graduated | d. Maximum credit |
| b. Accepted commission | e. Less dual status |
| c. Dual status | f. Constructive credit |

4. Same as subparagraph D.3, above, except officer accepted a commission on January 12, 1975. Since officer accepted a commission while interning, computation is based on 5 years of constructive credit.

	Year	Month	Day
a.	75	06	30
b.	75	01	12
c.	00	05	19

d.	4	11	30 (5 years)
e.	0	05	19
f.	4	06	11

NOTES:

- | | |
|-------------------------|------------------------|
| a. Completed internship | d. Maximum credit |
| b. Accepted commission | e. Less dual status |
| c. Dual status | f. Constructive credit |

5. This officer attended the same medical school as in subparagraph D.3, above, but accepted a commission on September 9, 1962 (before entering medical school).

	Year	Month	Day
a.	74	05	28
b.	70	09	09
c.	03	08	20
(1 day added for inclusive dates)

	Year	Month	Day
d.	3	11	30 (4 years)
e.	3	08	20
f.	0	03	10

NOTES:

- | | |
|-------------------|------------------------|
| a. Graduated | d. Maximum credit |
| b. Entered school | e. Less dual status |
| c. Dual status | f. Constructive credit |

NOTE: This member could have been on active duty during any or all of the medical or dental school attendance period, and it would make no difference in the computation. However, the effective date of the change to the basic date for pay purposes (under paragraph 010207, below) is the date the officer was designated a medical officer. For any periods of active duty, active duty for training, or inactive duty training in a pay status, before being designated a medical or dental officer, the member would be paid based on the normal basic date for pay purposes.

6. A member enlisted in the Army Reserve on May 15, 1969, and entered medical school on September 1, 1970, was discharged from the Army Reserve on August 31, 1972, accepted a commission in the Air Force Reserve on September 1, 1972, and graduated on June 3, 1974.

	Year	Month	Day
a.	74	06	03
b.	70	09	01
c.	03	09	03
(1 day added for inclusive dates)
d.	03	11	30 (4 years)
e.	03	09	03
f. .	00	02	27

NOTES:

- | | |
|-------------------|------------------------|
| a. Graduated | d. Maximum credit |
| b. Entered school | e. Less dual status |
| c. Dual status | f. Constructive credit |

NOTE: This member could have been in any branch of service, active or inactive, enlisted, warrant or commissioned status, and it would make no difference in the computation of the dual status period and constructive service credit.

010203. Service Not Creditable. The types of service listed below are not creditable. This list is not all-inclusive, but shows some of the service precluded by law.

A. Fraudulent Enlistment. Time spent in an enlistment which is determined to be fraudulent and is specifically terminated by reason of fraud. (A member is entitled to credit for time in a fraudulent enlistment which is not voided by the government).

B. Officer in Philippine Army. Service as a commissioned officer in the Army of the Philippines.

C. Constructive Service for Determining Grade and Eligibility for Promotion. The constructive service authorized Army and Air Force officers by the Act of December 28, 1945 (reference (f)) for determining grade and eligibility for promotion.

D. Emergency Officers' Retired List. The period of time a member was on the Emergency Officers' Retired List.

E. State, Home or Territorial Guard. Time spent as a member of a state, home, or territorial guard.

F. Reserve Officers' Training Corps. For commissioned officers any period of service after October 13, 1964 as a member of the Army, Navy, or Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps, even if the member held concurrent Reserve status.

G. Inactive National Guard. Time when a person was a member of the inactive National Guard (as distinguished from the National Guard, Reserve and National Guard of the United States) is not creditable. If a member held a commission or an enlisted status in the inactive National Guard and the National Guard of the United States at the same time, such service then is creditable.

H. Service Under Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program. Time served as a commissioned officer while training under the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program is not creditable service (See subparagraph 010202.C, above).

I. Service as a Student of Uniformed Services University of Health Sciences. Time served as a commissioned officer while a student of the Uniformed Services University of Health Sciences is not creditable service.

J. Service as a Cadet or Midshipman at the United States Military Academy, or United States Naval Academy Under an Appointment Accepted After June 25, 1956. (Table 1-5)

010204. Effect of Absence From Duty on Creditable Service

A. Absence While in Officer Status. Authorized or unauthorized absence while a member is in a commissioned or warrant officer status is counted as creditable service. Absence of commissioned or warrant officers because of sickness due to misconduct or because of confinement while awaiting (and during) trial, as distinguished from enlisted members under similar circumstances, is counted as creditable service. Absence during which a member was serving on active duty as an enlisted status and was a Reserve officer is creditable.

B. Absence While in Enlisted Status. (Table 1-6)

C. Making Up Time Lost During Enlistment. After return to full duty, an enlisted member is liable to make up time lost. The time served to make up lost time is creditable service. If a member is held (but not restored to a duty status) for trial or to serve sentence, this does not count as making up time lost and is not creditable. Example: During a 4-year enlistment, a member was in a non-duty status for 1 year. He or she is retained in service 1 year beyond the date his or her enlistment would have expired. The year during which he or she was retained in service is counted in computing basic pay. The member is entitled to total credit for 4 years (the period actually served) but not 5 years.

010205. Active Enlisted and Warrant Officer Service-Pay Grade O-1E, O-2E, or O-E

A. Service Counted

1. Commissioned officers in pay grades O-1, O-2, or O-3 are entitled to the special rate of pay for O-1E, O-2E, or O-3E if the officer has had over 4 years of active service as an enlisted member. In computing active enlisted service, include active duty for training in an enlisted status.

2. Effective September 1, 1980, commissioned officers in pay grades O-1, O-2, or O-3 are entitled to the special rate of pay for O-1E, O-2E, or O-3E if they have had over 4 years of active service as warrant officers. In computing active warrant officer service, include active duty for training in a warrant officer status.

3. Effective October 1, 1983, commissioned officers in pay grades O-1, O-2, or O-3 are entitled to the special rate of pay for O-1E, O-2E, or O-3E if they have a combined total of over 4 years of active service as warrant officers and enlisted members. In computing this active warrant officer and enlisted service, include active duty training in a warrant officer or enlisted status.

B. Service Not Counted. In computing active service, do not count active service in a dual status in the Navy or Marine Corps (temporary officer-permanent enlisted).

010206. How to Compute Total Creditable Service for Basic Pay

A. Basic Method Without Regard to Lost Time. To compute creditable service, use the following method for all periods during which no time was lost:

1. List all beginning dates. Never change these dates.

2. List all ending dates. Change the ending date to 30 if it is the last day of the month and other than 30. Caution: if service ends on February 28 of a leap year, do not change the 28 to 30, since the 29th is the last day of month.

3. Add all beginning dates.

4. Add all ending dates.

5. Subtract total beginning dates from total ending dates. (If more months are needed to make the subtraction, deduct 1 year from the total ending dates and add 12 months. If more days are needed, deduct 1 month from total of ending dates and add 30 days.)

6. Add 1 day for each period of continuous service to account for inclusive dates.

7. Convert the result into full years, months, and days. This is the amount of service creditable for basic pay purposes.

Example 1:

Component	From	To	Beginning Dates			Ending Dates
			Year	Month	Day	Year	Month	Day
RA (Enl)	Jan 1, 51	Feb 28, 54	51	1	1	54	2	30
AUS (Com)	Jun 1, 54	May 26, 61	54	6	1	61	5	26
AFUS (Com)	Aug 1, 63	Mar 31, 68	63	8	1	75	6	4
AFUS (Com)	Apr 1, 68	Jun 4, 75	168	15	3	190	13	60

(Note that period from August 1, 1963 through June 4, 1975 is continuous service.)

Year	Month	Day
190	13	60	(total of ending dates)
168	15	-3	(total of beginning dates)
21	10	57
—	—	+3	(day for each period to cover inclusive dates)
21	10	60
22	00	00	(total creditable service converted to full years)

Member completed 22 years of service on June 4, 1975.

B. Computing Periods of Service Involving Lost Time. Compute separately periods of enlistment during which some time was lost. Add total of such periods to total computed under subparagraph A., above.

1. Lost Time Not Made Good. When the lost time is not made up, compute the lost time on a 30-day-month basis, except that when the absence begins on the 31st day of a month, that day is counted as a day lost. Compute as follows: Date of discharge minus date of enlistment, plus 1 day for inclusive dates, minus number of days lost computed on 30-day-month basis. Add this total to the total computed under subparagraph A., above.

Example 2: A member enlisted on July 18, 1970 for 4 years, and was AWOL from February 10, 1972 through March 16, 1972. He was given a hardship discharge on August 10, 1973; the lost time was not made good. He reenlisted on February 20, 1975. Creditable service on reenlistment is computed as follows:

Year	Month	Day
73	8	10 (ending date of last period of service)
72	19	40 (month changed to 30 days and 1 year to 12 months)
-70	7	18 (beginning date last period of service)
2	12	22
—	—	+1 (extra day for inclusive dates)
2	12	23 (service before deducting lost time)
—	-1	7 (lost time)
2	11	16 (total creditable service on date of reenlistment)

Lost time is computed on a 30-day month basis as follows:

Feb 10-30	21 days
Mar 1-16	16 days
	37 days total lost time

2. Lost Time Made Good: Time lost is made good on a day-for-day basis. When lost time is made good, and the member completes the enlistment contract or period for which inducted, compute the lost time on a day-for-day basis (instead of 30-day-month basis) if this would be to the member's advantage. Under the day-for-day basis, an unauthorized absence March on 30 and 31 and April 1, for example, is counted as 3 lost days. An unauthorized absence on February 28 and 29 and March 1 is also counted as 3 days. Time served on March 30 and 31 and April 1, to make good lost time, is counted as 3 days of service. Time served on February 28 and 29 and March 1, to make good lost time, is also counted as 3 days of service. When a period of service involves lost time made good, compute that period as follows:

First Step. Subtract the enlistment date from the discharge date and add 1 day.

Second Step. Compute the total lost time both on a 30-day month basis and a day-for-day basis. Use whichever result shows the lesser number of days lost.

Third Step. Subtract the total of the second step from the total of the first step. If the resulting total equals or exceeds the period of the enlistment contract, use this total as the service creditable for this period of service. If the resulting total is less than the period of the enlistment contract, do not use this total. Use the full period of the contract, since the member has completed the contract. (In some cases, neither the 30-day month nor the day-for-day basis will produce a total equal to the enlistment contract or induction period. This is because of the different dates of the year when time was lost and made good. (See Example 3, below.)

Fourth Step. Add the total computed under the third step above to any other periods computed under subparagraph A, above, to obtain the members' total creditable service.

Example 3: Assume the member in Example 2, above, had not been given a hardship discharge, but completed the enlistment contract including time served to make good lost time. The member's discharge date would be August 21, 1974 (35 days of lost time computed on a day-for-day basis -14 days made good July 18-31 and 21 days August 1-21, 1974). Compute creditable service on reenlistment February 20, 1975:

Year	Month	Day
74	8	21	(ending date last period of service)
70	7	18	(beginning date last period of service)
—	—	+1	(extra day for inclusive dates)
4	1	4	(service before deducting lost time)

As in Example 2, above, the lost time computed on a 30-day month basis is 37 days. On a day-for-day basis it is 35 days (19 days from February 10-28 and 16 days from March 1-16). Deduct the lesser number of days (35).

Yr	Mo	Day
4	1	4	(service before deducting lost time)
3	12	34	(change of year to months and months to days)
—	-1	5	(lost time)
3	11	29	(total service)

Since this amount of service is less than the enlistment contract, and the member completed the contract, do not use this amount. Credit the member with 4 years of prior service on reenlistment February 20, 1975.

Example 4: A member enlisted July 18, 1970 for 4 years; was AWOL July 28, 1973 through September 3, 1973. Member was required to make up 38 days to complete the enlistment term (July 28-31 = 4 days; August 1-31 = 31 days; September 1-3 = 3 days). In making up AWOL time at the end of the enlistment, member would be credited with 14 days from July 18-31 and 24 days from August 1-24. The discharge date was August 24, 1974. With reenlistment on February 20, 1975, compute prior service as follows:

Year	Month	Day
74	8	24	(ending date of last period of service)
-70	7	18	(beginning date last period of service)
—	—	+1	(extra day for inclusive dates)
4	1	7	(service before deducting lost time)

Computation of lost time on 30-day-month basis:

Jul 28-30, 1973	3 days
Aug 1-30, 1973	30 days
Sep 1-3, 1973	3 days
	36 days

As noted above, the time lost is 38 days computed on a day-for-day basis. Under the rule in the second step above, deduct 36 days (computed on 30-day-month basis) since it is the lesser.

Year	Month	Day
4	1	7	(service before deducting lost time)
—	-1	6	(lost time)
4	0	1	(total creditable service)

Although this member served the same number of days as the member in Example 3, above, this member is credited with 4 years and 1 day of service with reenlistment with February 20, 1975.

010207. Computing Basic Date for Pay Purposes. After computation of creditable service, establish a basic date for use in determining the date when a member is entitled to increased basic pay. Names established for these dates are:

Army--pay entry basic date (PEBD)

Navy and Marine Corps--pay entry base date (PEBD)

Air Force--pay date

Compute the date as follows:

A. Continuous Military Status. Except for medical and dental officers who receive constructive service credit, the date member enlists, is inducted, or accepts an appointment is the basic date for pay purposes. This date stays in effect if the military status continues without any breaks.

B. Noncontinuous Service. When military status has not been continuous, determine the date by deducting total prior creditable service from the date the current period of service began.

Example: Member reenlisted February 20, 1975. Total prior creditable service (computed under paragraph 010206, above) was 4 years and 1 day.

Year	Month	Day
1975	2	20	(date of reenlistment)
-4	0	1	(prior creditable service)
1971	2	19	(basic date upon reenlistment)

010208. Adjusting Basic Date for Pay Purposes for Lost Time. When an enlisted member loses time in a non-duty status under Table 1-6, advance the basic date for pay purposes by a period equal to the time lost computed on a 30-day month basis. (For officers, this date is not affected by non-duty status.)

Example: An enlisted member with no prior service enlisted on July 18, 1973. He was AWOL from February 10, 1975 through March 16, 1975. On the member's return to full duty status the date changes from July 18, 1973 to August 25, 1973. The change is computed:

Feb 10-30	21 days
Mar 1-16	16 days
	37 days of lost time

Yr	Mo	Day
1973	7	18	(original date)
	+1	7	(lost time)
1973	8	25	(adjusted date)

010209. Procedure When Basic Date for Pay Purposes Falls on February 29. When the basic date for pay purposes falls on February 29, use that date. In non-leap years, increased pay begins on March 1. In leap years, it begins on February 29.

0103 SERVICE CREDITABLE FOR PERCENTAGE PURPOSES

010301. Service for Percentage Multiple. Service authorized to be used as a percentage multiple is specified in each law section authorizing computation of retired pay for each type of retirement. Retirement types and service for percentage for each are:

A. Voluntary Retirement Enlisted Members. Service credited under paragraph 010102, above.

B. Voluntary Retirement Commissioned Officers

1. Active service in the Uniformed Services.

2. For an officer of the Medical Corps or Dental Corps of the Army or Navy, an officer of the Air Force designated as a medical or dental officer, or an officer of the Public Health Service commissioned as a medical or dental officer, credit 4 years. For a medical officer who has completed 1 year of medical internship or the equivalent thereof, credit 1 additional year.

a. A medical or dental officer who was in a Reserve Component for a period of time during which the member also was receiving educational training would be entitled to receive the same amount of constructive service credit which would have been credited had the member not been in that Reserve Component.

b. Any credit otherwise accrued during the same period by reason of Reserve membership would not be for use in determining the multiplier for computing retired pay.

3. The years of service, not included in subparagraph B.1, or 2, above, with which the member was entitled to be credited on June 1, 1958 in computing basic pay as stated in paragraph 010201, above.

4. Years of service, not included in subparagraphs B.1, 2, or 3, above, with which the member would be entitled to be credited under 10 U.S.C. 12733 (reference (c)):

a. Days of active service.

b. Days of full-time service under 32 U.S.C. 316, 502-505 (reference (m)) while performing annual training duty or attending a prescribed course of instruction at a school designated as a Service school by law or by the Secretary concerned.

★c. One day for each point, but not more than 75 days in any one-year period after September 22, 1996 credited for attendance at a drill or a period of equivalent instruction prescribed for that year by the Secretary concerned that conform to requirements by law or credited as service in the Health Professions Scholarship and Financial Assistance Program under 10 U.S.C. 2126 (reference (c)). The maximum number was 60 days in any one-year period ending before September 23, 1996. Credit includes points at the rate of 15 per year for membership in a Reserve Component of an Armed Force, in the Army or Air Force without component, or service in the following categories before Jul 1, 1949:

(1) Federally recognized National Guard before June 15, 1933.

(2) Federally recognized status in the National Guard before June 15, 1933.

(3) The National Guard after June 14, 1933, if service was continuous from date of enlistment in the National Guard, or federal recognition as an officer therein, to date of enlistment or appointment in the National Guard of the United States, the Army National Guard of the United States, or the Air National Guard of the United States.

(4) The Naval Reserve Force.

(5) Naval Militia that conformed to standards prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy.

(6) National Naval Volunteers.

(7) Army or Navy Nurse Corps or the Nurse Corps Reserve of the Army or Navy as it existed at any time after February 2, 1901.

d. Fifty days for each year before July 1, 1949, and proportionately for each fraction of a year of service other than active service in a Reserve Component of the Armed Forces, in the Army or Air Force without component, or in any other category of:

(1) Federally recognized National Guard before June 15, 1933.

(2) Federally recognized status in the National Guard before June 15, 1933.

(3) The National Guard after June 14, 1933, if service was continuous from date of enlistment in the National Guard, or federal recognition as an officer therein, to date of enlistment or appointment in the National Guard of the United States, the Army National Guard of the United States, or the Air National Guard of the United States.

(4) The Naval Reserve Force.

(5) Naval Militia that conformed to standards prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy.

(6) National Naval Volunteers.

(7) Army or Navy Nurse Corps or the Nurse Corps Reserve of the Army or Navy as it existed at any time after February 2, 1901. The sum of the periods described in paragraph subparagraph B.4, is then divided by 360.

C. Voluntary Retirement Warrant Officers. Service credited under subparagraph 010301.B, above.

D. Mandatory Retirement

1. Army and Air Force service credited under paragraph 010105 or subparagraph 010301.B, above, whichever is more favorable.

2. Navy and Marine Corps service credited under paragraph 010106 or subparagraph 010301.B, above, whichever is more favorable.

E. Disability Retirement. Service credited under paragraph 010107, above.

★F Age and Service Retirement, Reservist. Total days of service, as stated in subparagraphs 010301.B.4.a through d, divided by 360 equals equivalent years and any fraction of a year of service.

G. Other

1. Commissioned officers and warrant officers voluntarily retired before June 1, 1958 are authorized to use the years of service credited for basic pay purposes as the years for determining the percentage multiple. Service creditable for basic pay purposes is in paragraphs 010201 and 010202, above.

2. Commissioned officers who served as members of the military or naval forces of the United States before November 12, 1918 are authorized to use a 75 percent multiple for retired pay computation.

3. Enlisted members are authorized to count double time for service beyond the continental limits of the United States between 1898 and 1912 while serving in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States.

4. Members who were retired for disability before October 1, 1949, who did not elect within a 5-year period to receive retired pay under Section 511 of the Career Compensation Act of 1949 (reference (w)), are still authorized to use a 75 percent multiple for computation of retired pay. See Chapter 3, section 0304.

0104 UNIFORM RETIREMENT DATE ACT (URDA) APPLICATION (5 U.S.C. 8301(b))

010401. Authority

A. Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, retirement is effective on the first day of the month after that in which retirement would otherwise be effective.

B. Notwithstanding subparagraph A, above, the rate of pay is computed as of the date retirement would have occurred but for the provisions of subparagraph A, above. See Table 1-7. Members who enter a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980 receive retired pay based on an average of basic pay rates for the period actually served not to exceed a 36-month period. See Chapter 3 for gross pay computation.

010402. ApplicationA. Voluntary Retirement

1. Compute pay on the current active duty basic pay rate in effect on the first day of retirement if:

a. Retired on other than an active duty basic pay rate change date.

b. Retired on the same day as an active duty basic pay rate change, but was fully qualified for retirement or met requirements to be retired at least 1 month before the month immediately preceding the active duty basic pay rate change date, except for warrant officers retired under the provisions of 10 U.S.C. 564 (repealed), 580, 1255 (repealed), 1263, 1293, and 1305 (reference (c)).

c. Retired as an enlisted member regardless of qualification date.

d. Retired as a commissioned officer under provisions of 10 U.S.C. 6323 (reference (c)).

2. Compute pay on the active duty basic pay rate in effect on the day before the first date of retirement if:

a. Retired as a warrant officer under 10 U.S.C. 564 (repealed), 580, 1255 (repealed), 1263, 1293, and 1305 (reference (c)).

b. Retired on an active duty basic pay rate change date as a commissioned officer (other than an officer retired under 10 U.S.C. 6323 (reference (c))) or warrant officer who first qualified for retirement during the month immediately preceding the active duty rate change date.

B. Mandatory Retirement

1. Compute pay on the active duty basic pay rate in effect on the date when the member met the requirements for involuntary retirement, and is retired for mandatory reasons.

2. The above provision does not apply if:

a. Before the date scheduled for mandatory retirement, the member qualifies for and requests voluntary retirement which is approved before the member is scheduled for mandatory retirement. See provisions for voluntary retirement in subparagraph 010402.A, above.

b. The member is retained on active duty beyond mandatory retirement date for physical evaluation to determine eligibility for disability retirement and is retired for disability. See provisions for disability retirement.

C. FR/FMCR. The provisions of the Uniform Retirement Date Act do not apply to members transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

D. Disability Retirement

1. Compute pay on the active duty rate in effect on the first day of retirement if the member:

a. Retired on other than an active duty basic pay rate change date.

b. Retired on an active duty pay rate change date and otherwise is eligible for voluntary retirement and met those requirements at least 1 month before the month immediately preceding the new basic pay rates. The new rates apply only to the formula for computation of entitlement for voluntary retirement.

2. Compute pay on the active duty basic pay rate in effect on the day before the first day of retirement if the member:

a. Retired on an active duty rate change date as a commissioned officer, warrant officer, or enlisted member, and

b. Disability retirement findings approved without the Secretary concerned having designated an earlier retirement date under 10 U.S.C. 1221 (reference (c)). The effective date of retirement is governed by the provisions of the Uniform Retirement Date Act.

E. Non-Regular Service Reserve Retirement. Compute pay on the active duty basic pay rate in effect on the date when the member is granted retired pay.

010403. Special Provisions. Under specific circumstances, computation may be based on another basic pay rate that may provide greater pay. See Chapter 3, sections 0302 and 0303.

0105 RANK AND PAY GRADE

★010501. General Determination

A. Unless entitled to a higher grade under some other provisions of law, those Regular and Reserve members who retire other than for disability, will retire in the Regular or Reserve grade they hold on the date of retirement.

B. A commissioned officer of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps who voluntarily retires in a grade above major or lieutenant commander must serve on active duty in that grade for not less than 3 years. The President may waive this requirement in cases of hardship or exceptional or unusual circumstances. The Secretary concerned may reduce the service-in-grade requirement to 2 years during the period October 1, 1990- September 30, 1999.

C. An officer who does not meet the service-in-grade requirement retires in the next lower grade in which member served on active duty satisfactorily for at least six months.

D. Grades 0-9 and 0-10

1. An officer in the grade of general or admiral or lieutenant general or vice admiral may retire in that grade, if the Secretary of Defense certifies, in writing, to the President and the Congress that the officer served on active duty satisfactorily in that grade.

2. The 3-year service-in-grade requirement cannot be reduced or waived if the officer is under investigation for alleged misconduct or if an adverse personnel action is pending against the officer for alleged misconduct.

E. Reserve Officers

1. Unless entitled to a higher grade, or to credit for satisfactory service in a higher grade under some other provision of law, a person who becomes entitled to a non-Regular service reserve retirement shall, upon application, receive credit for satisfactory service in the highest grade held in the Armed Forces, as determined by the Secretary concerned.

2. To receive credit for satisfactory service in a grade below lieutenant colonel or commander, other than a warrant officer grade, a person must serve satisfactorily in that grade, as determined by the Secretary concerned as a Reserve commissioned officer in an active status, or in a retired status on active duty, for at least six months.

3. To receive credit for satisfactory service in a grade above major or lieutenant commander, a person must serve satisfactorily in that grade, as determined by the Secretary concerned, as a reserve commissioned officer in an active status, or in a retired status on active duty, for at least 3 years.

a. A person who completes at least six months of satisfactory service in grade, upon transfer from an active status or upon discharge as a reserve commissioned officer for mandatory age or years of service, receives credit for satisfactory service in the grade in which serving at time of transfer or discharge in that grade.

b. If the person completes at least six months of satisfactory service in grade while serving as adjutant general under 32 U.S.C. 314 (reference (m)) or as assistant adjutant general to such adjutant general and the person is unable to complete 3 years of service in such grade because the appointment is terminated or vacated under 32 U.S.C. 324(b), (reference (m)), then the person may be credited with satisfactory service in that grade.

c. The Secretary concerned may allow credit in a higher grade to a person who has been recommended for promotion but before promotion to the recommended grade. Such credit may be allowed when a person who is in the next lower grade serves in a position after recommendation where the minimum authorized grade for the position the member is serving in is the higher grade to which the member is recommended for promotion. The period of service credit may not include any period before the date the Senate provides advice and consent for the appointment in the recommended grade.

d. The Secretary concerned may allow credit for service-in-grade to a Reserve officer in the Army or Air National Guard in a particular grade that has been extended temporary federal recognition. In order to be considered under this provision, the person must serve in the position after being extended temporary federal recognition in the minimum authorized grade for that position and the person must later be extended permanent federal recognition as a Reserve Officer in that grade and serve in that position after the permanent federal recognition.

4. A person whose length of service in the highest grade held does not meet service-in-grade requirements specified in this, subparagraph E, receives credit for satisfactory service in the next lower grade in which the person serves satisfactorily for at least 6 months as determined by the Secretary concerned.

F. Unless entitled to a higher grade under some other provision of law, members of the Armed Forces who retire for disability are entitled to the highest of:

1. The grade or rank in which serving when placed on the Temporary Disability Retired List or, if not carried on that list, on date of retirement.

2. The highest grade or rank in which member satisfactorily serves.

3. The permanent Regular or Reserve grade to which the member would have been promoted had it not been for the disability for which member is retired that was found upon physical examination.

4. The temporary grade to which member would have been promoted had it not been for the disability for which member is retired, if eligibility for that promotion was required based on the cumulative years of service or years of service in grade, and the disability is found upon physical examination.

010502. Special Provisions

A. Commissioned officers of the Regular or Reserve Component of the Army or Air Force and Regular officers of the Navy or Marine Corps may, at the discretion of the President, be retired by and with the consent of the Senate, in the highest grade held at any time on the active list if they have served as:

1. Chief of Staff to the President.
2. Chief of Staff of the Army.
3. Chief of Naval Operations.
4. Chief of Staff of the Air Force.
5. Senior member of the Military Staff Committee of the United Nations.
6. General or lieutenant general in a position of importance and responsibility designated by the President.
7. Admirals or vice admirals in positions of great importance and responsibility designated by the President under 10 U.S.C. 601 (reference (c)).
8. Chief or assistant chief of a branch of the Regular Army for at least 4 years.
9. Surgeon General of the Army or Air Force in the grade of lieutenant general.
10. Permanent professor of the United States Military Academy or United States Air Force Academy. If the grade is below brigadier general and service as professor is long and distinguished, the professor may, at the discretion of the President, be retired in the grade of brigadier general.
11. Chiefs of Bureaus and Judge Advocate General.

B. Regular and Reserve commissioned officers of the Army and Air Force are entitled to the grade equal to the highest temporary grade in which they served on active duty satisfactorily for not less than 6 months. See exception in subparagraph 010501.B, above.

C. Members of the Regular Army in the Army Nurse Corps or Army Medical Specialist Corps and an Air Force nurse or medical specialist are entitled to a retired grade equal to the highest grade or relative rank in which they served on active duty satisfactorily after September 8, 1940 and before July 1, 1946, as:

1. A member of the Army Nurse Corps established by the Act of July 9, 1918 (reference (y)).

2. A dietitian or physical therapist appointed under the Act of December 22, 1942 (reference (a)).

3. An officer appointed under the Act of June 22, 1944 (reference (b)).

D. Where an existing statute authorizes computation of pay on the basis of a grade in which the member served satisfactorily which is higher than the pay of the grade otherwise entitled, computation is based on the higher grade:

1. Without regard to whether that grade was temporary or permanent.

2. Even though the Military Service in which the member held that higher grade is not the Military Service in which retired.

E. Retired warrant officers of the Army and Air Force, and enlisted members of the Regular Army and Regular Air Force are entitled to be advanced on the retired list to the highest grade in which they served on active duty satisfactorily, when their active service plus time on the retired list equals 30 years.

F. Unless otherwise entitled to a higher grade, officers of the Regular Navy or Regular Marine Corps holding a permanent grade of W-1 or above, retired with 30 or more years of service are retired in the grade in which they are serving at the time of retirement.

G. Unless otherwise entitled to a higher grade, members of the Navy and Marine Corps retired while serving in a temporary grade to which they were appointed in time of war or national emergency which terminates on date of detachment are retired in the grade they would hold if they had not received such appointment.

H. Warrant officers of the Navy and Marine Corps who retire after completion of 20 years of service may elect to be retired in the highest grade entitled under any provision of law.

I. Unless otherwise entitled to a higher grade, members, other than retired members of the Navy or Marine Corps, when retired are advanced on the retired list to the highest officer grade in which they served satisfactorily under a temporary appointment.

J. A courtesy title is not to be used for computation of pay. The grade for pay purposes is determined under the above criteria of general determinations and special provisions with specific reference to the law section authorizing grade for pay purposes.

K. Members promoted while missing in action (MIA) whose status is changed to killed in action (KIA) are exempted from the 6-month time-in-grade requirement since promotions received while in a missing status are "fully effective for all purposes" under 37 U.S.C. 552(a) (reference (z)). Applicable only to Air Force and Army.

L. A member who enters a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980 and who later retires may receive retired pay computed from a retired pay base made up of active duty pay rates from more than one grade.

010503. Satisfactory Service. The determination as to what constitutes satisfactory service for the purpose of retirement in the highest grade is within the discretionary power of the Secretary of the Military Service concerned.

0106 NONCITIZENS

010601. Philippine Constabulary. The Act of February 2, 1901 (reference (n)), as amended by the Act of May 16, 1908 (reference (aa)), authorized the President of the United States to organize a military component to be known as the Philippine Scouts and make it a part of the Regular Army.

A. The total number of enlisted men was limited to 12,000 voluntary enlisted natives of the Philippine Islands. The pay and allowances of whatever nature and kind authorized were to be fixed by the Secretary of the Army, not to exceed or be of classes other than those authorized enlisted men of the Regular Army. Retirement eligibility was the same as for enlisted men of the Regular Army.

B. Officers initially were selected from the Regular Army on provisional appointments. Effective July 1, 1920, all officers who were citizens of the United States, if qualified, were recommissioned in the Regular service and, if not recommissioned, continued to serve under their commissions as officers of the Philippine Scouts. Officers later were selected from citizens of the Philippine Islands, appointed in the grade of second lieutenant. Officers were entitled to the same pay, privileges, and retirement benefits authorized officers of like grade and service of the Regular Army.

C. The Philippine Scouts are not now maintained as a continuing part of the Army.

010602. Insular Force. The Insular Force of the United States Navy was established by Executive Order on April 5, 1901 (reference (ab)), as amended on June 25, 1901, authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to enlist in the Insular Force a total of 500 natives of the Islands of the Philippines and the Island of Guam. The Force was established primarily to use the services of these men in various positions throughout the area in which they were enlisted and to which they were particularly adapted or suited. Members of the Insular Force were eligible for transfer to the Fleet Reserve or to the retired list. The Insular Force is not now maintained as a continuing part of the Navy.

010603. Payment

A. Philippine Scouts. The rates of pay prescribed from time to time for enlisted men of the Philippine Scouts on the active list formed the basis for computing the amount of retired pay. There was no increase in pay and allowances (including retired pay) for the period June 1, 1946 through August 31, 1965.

B. Insular Force. Pay and allowances were permanently fixed at one-half the current prevailing rates for other members of the Regular Navy of corresponding grades. Retired pay is computed as for the Regular Navy at one-half of the basic pay rate.

C. Equalization of Pay. Effective September 1, 1965, the Secretary of the Army authorized new rates of basic pay for Philippine Scouts computed per subparagraph C.1 or 2, below, whichever is greater:

1. One-half of the basic pay of enlisted members of the Army with comparable grades and length of service authorized by the Military Pay Act of 1958 (reference (ac)); or

2. One-half of the basic pay authorized enlisted members of the Army with comparable grades and length of service on the day before the effective date of the Military Pay Act of 1958 (reference (ac)), increased by 6 percent, and further increased by 5 percent.

3. The retired pay of Philippine Scouts also was authorized to be recomputed on the basis of the rates of basic pay so established and that amount, in turn, further increased by the same percentage of increase in retired pay as that provided by section 5(a) of the Act of August 21, 1965 (reference (ad)). Future adjustments of retired pay of Philippine Scouts will be made to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index as provided by 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)).

0107 HEROISM PAY

010701. Entitlement

A. Service Retirement. Enlisted members of the Army, Air Force, Navy, and Marine Corps retired after the completion of 20 but less than 30 years of active service are eligible to receive 10 percent additional retired or retainer pay if credited with extraordinary heroism in the line of duty. Total retired pay, including the 10 percent increases, may not exceed maximum pay of 75 percent. Enlisted members of the Coast Guard retired after completion of 20 years, voluntarily or involuntarily, are eligible to have retired pay increased by an amount equal to 10 percent of the active duty pay and permanent additions thereto of the grade or rating with which retired if credited with extraordinary heroism in the line of duty. See Chapter 2 for transfer of Navy and Marine Corps enlisted members to the Fleet Reserve and Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

B. Disability Retirement. Enlisted members retired for disability who otherwise are eligible for voluntary retirement for more than 20 years of service and entitled to a 10 percent increase in pay for certified acts of extraordinary heroism are entitled to an additional computation under the computation for a length of service retirement. Payment is based on the most favorable computation.

010702. Determination of Entitlement. The Secretary of the Military Service concerned has the authority to grant 10 percent additional retired pay to an individual who has performed an act of extraordinary heroism in the line of duty.

010703. Special Provisions

A. Advancement on the Retired List. Retired enlisted members of the Regular Army or Air Force receiving the 10 percent additional increase in pay for extraordinary heroism are not entitled to the 10 percent increase when advanced to a higher grade on the completion of 30 years of service. See Chapter 9 of this volume.

B. Recomputation After a Period of Active Duty

1. Retired enlisted members of the Army and Air Force are entitled to the 10 percent increase in retired pay for extraordinary heroism when pay is recomputed to reflect active service performed after date of retirement. The retired pay may not exceed 75 percent of the monthly basic pay upon which retired pay is based. Regardless of when the member's retired pay was recomputed, benefits shall not accrue under this provision for any period prior to November 1, 1992.

2. Enlisted members of the Navy and Marine Corps who elected to receive retainer or retired pay computed under laws in effect on August 9, 1945, are not entitled to the 10 percent increase in their pay for extraordinary heroism when that pay is recomputed to reflect active service performed after date of transfer or retirement.

3. Enlisted members of the Navy and Marine Corps who elected to receive retainer or retired pay computed under the Act of August 10, 1946 (reference (ae)) and 10 U.S.C. 6330 and 6331 (reference (c)) are entitled to the 10 percent increase in their pay for extraordinary heroism on and after August 10, 1956, when that pay recomputed to reflect active service performed after date of transfer or retirement.

010801. Effective Date of Payment. Pay accrues on a day-to-day basis from and including the date on which retirement is effective, except members who are transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve. These members become entitled to pay on the day after the date of transfer.

A. Service Retirement. Except as otherwise provided by law, the effective date of retirement eligibility is the first day of the month after the month in which service requirements are fully met.

B. Disability Retirement. Placement on the Temporary and Permanent Disability Retired Lists may become effective on any day of the month as specified by the Secretary of the Military Service concerned.

C. Mandatory Retirement for Age and Service. Members attaining age and/or service requirements for involuntary retirements are retained on active duty through the last day of the month in which age or service requirements are met.

D. Non-Regular Service Retirement. Reservists are entitled to pay effective on the date on which the requirements for age and service have been met, or on the first day of any later month that the retiree may elect.

010802. Revocation of Retirement and/or Transfers

A. A member who is placed on the retired list is legally retired and such status cannot thereafter be changed retrospectively because of a mistake or poor judgment on the part of the retiring authorities. Fully executed orders for retirement, if not cancelled before the date of retirement, are final and may not be reopened, revoked, or amended in the absence of fraud, manifest error, mathematical miscalculation, mistake of law, or substantial new evidence.

B. Transfer of members to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve and to the retired list of the Regular Navy or Marine Corps or the Retired Reserve is conclusive for all purposes. The Secretary may correct any error or omission in the determination as to the member's grade and years of creditable service.

C. Payment of active duty pay and allowances may be permitted after the first of the month in which retirement is effective until retirement orders are actually delivered to member later in the same month, provided prior notice of retirement orders had not been received.

D. Where advance notice of retirement orders is given, but orders are not delivered, an attempt may be made to revoke them after they become effective and replace them with orders directing retirement at a later date. When it is apparent that the member had no knowledge of the lack of legal authority for this action and active duty pay and allowances were received "under color of authority," the "de facto rule" permits repayment of active duty pay and allowances paid for the period and later collected.

010803. Computation

A. Monthly Pay. Compute monthly pay as if each month had 30 days. The daily rate is 1/30 of the monthly rate.

B. Intermediate Day. When retirement begins on an intermediate day of the month, compute pay at the rate of 1/30 for the actual number of days after date of retirement but only through the 30th day of that month. If pay begins on February 28, pay accrues for 3 days. If the pay begins on February 29, pay accrues for 2 days.

2	Unauthorized absence of more than 1 day (24 consecutive hours), including detention of Army or Air Force members by or for civil authorities	is administratively excused as unavoidable
3		is not administratively excused as unavoidable	not creditable (note 2).
4	Civil detention of a Navy or Marine Corps member	occurred before Jul 24, 1956 and the member was not acquitted or released without trial and without making restitution

10		confinement occurred before July 24, 1956	creditable (note 3).

NOTES:

1. If the member is released without trial or acquitted, or if conviction is set aside on legal grounds (as distinguished from clemency), the period of absence is creditable. If the member is released upon agreement to make restitution or is later convicted by court-martial on the same facts, the period of absence is not creditable.
2. Absence during which a member was serving on active duty as an enlisted person and was also a reserve officer is creditable.
3. The period of absence is not creditable only if the confinement was under general court-martial sentence and/or while awaiting (and during) trial which resulted in sentence by a general court-martial to confinement and total loss of pay and allowances.
4. Period spent in confinement is creditable service when the member is acquitted or the sentence is set aside or disapproved.

Table 1-7. Rate of Basic Pay for Retired Pay Computation (5 U.S.C. 8301(b))

NOTES:

1. Under former section 10 U.S.C.1401a(e) (repealed by Public Law 98-94, September 24, 1983), a member may use one prior rate of basic pay if more advantageous to the member provided the member is eligible for retirement on or before September 24, 1983 and retires on or before Sep 24, 1986. If such member retires after September 24, 1986, the retired or retainer pay may not be less than it would have been had the member actually retired on September 23, 1986.
2. For members who qualify for retirement on an earlier computation date under the same or some other provision of law, compute under rates in effect on that earlier date based on grade and service credited at that time, if that rate is greater (10 U.S.C. 1401a(f)).
3. Warrant officers voluntarily retired (10 U.S.C. 1401, formula 4).
4. Not applicable to Navy and Marine Corps enlisted members transferred to the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.
5. Applicable only to retirements under 10 U.S.C. 6323.
6. If otherwise retirement eligible, follow rule for that retirement.
7. A retired pay base is used in lieu of a basic pay rate in the computation of retired pay for members who enter the Uniformed Services after September 7, 1980.

CHAPTER 2

INITIAL ENTITLEMENT-FLEET RESERVE/
FLEET MARINE CORPS RESERVE0201 GENERAL020101. Purpose

A. The Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve was established to provide an available reserve of former members of the Regular Navy or Naval Reserve and the Regular Marine Corps or Marine Corps Reserve who could be used without further training to fill billets requiring experienced personnel in the first stages of mobilization during an emergency or in time of war.

B. When not on active duty, members of the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve may accept employment in any civil branch of the public service and may receive the pay and allowances incident to such employment in addition to any pay and allowances to which they may be entitled under the provisions of law.

C. Members of the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve may be ordered to active duty without their consent:

1. In time of war or national emergency declared by the Congress and for 6 months thereafter.

2. In time of national emergency declared by the President or when otherwise authorized by law. Members of the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve are not, unless urgently required by particular circumstances, ordered to active duty until examined by a medical officer of the Navy or Naval Reserve and found physically qualified for active duty.

3. When otherwise authorized by law.

D. In time of peace, any member of the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve may be required to perform not more than 2 months active duty for training during each 4-year period.

020102. Retirement for Physical Disability. A member of the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve found physically unfit for duty is transferred to the Regular Retired List or Reserve Retired List of the Navy or Marine Corps, as appropriate. Such retirement is by reason of physical disability.

020103. Retirement After 30 Years of Service. On completion of 30 years of active and inactive service, a member of the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve is transferred to either the Regular Retired List or the Reserve Retired List of the Navy or Marine Corps, as appropriate. On being placed on the retired list, a member may be advanced to the highest officer grade in which the member served satisfactorily under a temporary appointment with retired pay based on that grade. See Chapter 9, for advancement on the retired list.

0202 TRANSFER ELIGIBILITY-SERVICE FOR PERCENTAGE MULTIPLE PURPOSES

020201. Minimum Required Service. Enlisted members of the Regular Navy/Marine Corps or Naval Reserve/Marine Corps Reserve upon completion of at least 20 years of active service in the Armed Forces to include service as a cadet or midshipman.

A. Prior to December 31, 1977, a member became eligible for transfer upon completion of 19 years and 6 months of active service since that part of a year that is 6 months or more is creditable as a whole year.

B. On and after December 31, 1977, a member must complete a total of 20 years of active service to be eligible for transfer to the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve. However, time creditable as active service for a completed minority enlistment, and an enlistment terminated within 3 months before the end of the term of enlistment under 10 U.S.C. 6330(d) (reference (c)) prior to Dec 31, 1977, may be used in determining eligibility for transfer.

020202. Application for Transfer to Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve

A. Navy (Fleet Reserve)

1. A member must initiate the request for transfer to the Fleet Reserve. The member submits the applications for transfer, NAVPERS Form 1830/1 (formerly NAVPERS Form 630), to the Chief of Naval Personnel. It is then determined whether the member meets the eligibility requirements for transfer. The approval or disapproval of a request for such transfer is based on the needs of the Military Service and the criteria in effect when the request is received.

2. Upon approval of the request for transfer, the Bureau of Naval Personnel prepares the NAVPERS Form 1830/2 (formerly NAVPERS Form 631), Fleet Reserve Transfer Authorization, specifying a "not earlier than date" for the member's transfer to the Fleet Reserve and sends it to the member's commanding officer. The authorization also states whether the member is entitled to extraordinary heroism pay.

3. At the time of the member's transfer, the commanding officer completes the first endorsement area of the authorization and the disbursing officer completes the second endorsement area. The original authorization is sent to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, Retired Pay Department.

B. Marine Corps (Fleet Marine Corps Reserve)

1. A member submits application for transfer, NAVMAC 10831 (REV 7-71), to the Commandant of the Marine Corps (Code MMSR), where it is determined if the member meets the eligibility requirements for transfer. The approval or disapproval of a request for such transfer is based on the needs of the Military Service and the criteria in effect when the request is received.

2. Upon approval of a member's request for transfer, the Commandant of the Marine Corps issues a letter-type order authorizing the member's release from active duty to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve on a specified date. This order, which also states whether the member is entitled to extraordinary heroism pay, is addressed and forwarded to the member's commanding officer.

3. At the time of member's transfer, the commanding officer issues a letter-type order effecting the member's release from active duty and transfer to the Fleet Reserve. A copy of this order is sent to the DFAS-Kansas City Center, Retired Pay Branch, Centralized Pay Division.

020203. Service Creditable for Transfer to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve

A. Service in the following components is creditable for transfer eligibility and percentage multiple purposes if performed in an active duty (and active duty for training status after August 9, 1956) in the:

1. Army
2. Navy
3. Air Force
4. Marine Corps
5. Coast Guard and former Revenue Cutter Service
6. Any component of the above listed Military Services

a. Service as an appointed or enlisted aviation cadet in the Naval Reserve or Marine Corps Reserve is creditable.

b. Service as a cadet or midshipman at a Service academy is creditable.

c. Not creditable is time lost which occurred before July 24, 1956 because of confinement as a result of sentence of any court martial other than general court martial and while confined awaiting trial and during trial which results in conviction as finally approved is creditable.

B. Service in the following is not creditable for transfer eligibility and percentage multiple purposes:

1. Service in the Philippine Constabulary
2. Furlough without pay (FWOP)
3. Inactive service as a member of a Reserve Component
4. Inactive service while on the Temporary Disability Retired List (TDRL)
5. Time lost in excess of 1 day (24 consecutive hours) because of:
 - a. Sickness due to misconduct (SKMC). Before June 17, 1955, the Bureau of Naval Personnel credited time lost due to SKMC for transfer purposes.
 - b. Non-performance of duty before July 24, 1956 because imprisoned as a result of general court martial sentence and while in arrest awaiting trial and during trial which results in conviction as finally approved. Non-performance of duty after July 23, 1956, due to confinement under sentence by any court martial, as finally approved, before, during, and after trial. If member is acquitted or sentence is set aside and charges dismissed, period of confinement is not considered time lost.
 - c. Absence while in civil arrest, while in custody of civil authorities, unless member is acquitted or released without making restitution or reparation.
 - d. Unauthorized absence which includes absence without leave, absence over leave, and desertion (previously shown as AOL; AWOL; now shown as Unauthorized Absence).

020204. Constructive Service. This is service for which credit is given although not actually performed. Constructive service is creditable as service for transfer eligibility and percentage multiple purposes. Constructive service is not creditable for determining basic pay rate upon which retainer pay is computed. No constructive service is to be credited after December 31, 1977. Constructive service earned prior to December 31, 1977 will be used for eligibility and percentage multiple purposes.

A. Minority Enlistments. This is an enlistment of a male between the age of 14 and 18, or female between the age of 18 and 21 who enlists with the consent of his or her parents or guardians to serve in the Navy or Marine Corps until reaching age 21 years. (The Navy policy is to accept men for enlistment at 17 years.) A completed minority enlistment, or a minority enlistment which terminates within 3 months of the expiration date of the enlistment, is counted as 4 years of active service when actual day-for-day service performed totals at least the period constituting the member's minority upon enlistment less 3 months.

B. Short-term Enlistment. This is an enlistment that is terminated within 3 months before the end of the term of enlistment. A short-term enlistment is counted as active service for the full term when the actual day-for-day active service performed amounts to at least the full term of the enlistment less 3 months.

C. Voluntary Extensions. Modify the original minority or term enlistment contract by increasing the period of time which the member agrees to serve. The same rule established for crediting constructive service for short-term enlistments applies for voluntary extensions.

D. Involuntary Extension. When an enlistment (including a minority enlistment) is involuntarily extended for a specific period, computation of service based on the constructive service principle for short-term enlistments applies equally for computing service for transfer by the Bureau of Naval Personnel on and after March 15, 1966, and by the Commandant of the Marine Corps on and after January 1, 1968.

1. Before March 15, 1966, the Bureau of Naval Personnel, in preparing Fleet Reserve Transfer Authorizations (NAVPERS Form 631, currently NAVPERS Form 1830/2) did not credit constructive service for periods of involuntary extension in computing service for transfer.

2. A Marine is not credited with constructive service for periods of involuntary extensions in computing service for transfer before January 1, 1968. However, a Marine who previously served in the United States Navy is credited constructive service performed in the Navy for periods of involuntary extensions on and after March 15, 1966.

E. Lost Time and Inactive Service. Before crediting constructive service for a period of service, deduct any lost time and any inactive service from the member's day-for-day service. After these deductions, if the member is eligible to receive constructive service for the period of enlistment, credit it. If after deductions the member is not eligible for constructive service for a period of enlistment, give credit only for the actual day-for-day service after the deductions.

020205. Conclusiveness of Transfer. All transfers of members to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve, when effected, are conclusive for all purposes except that the Chief of Naval Personnel or the Commandant of the Marine Corps acting for the Secretary of the Navy may correct any error or omission in the determination as to a member's grade and years of creditable service. When such a correction is made, the member is entitled when not on active duty, to retainer pay based on the grade and number of years of creditable service, as corrected, from the effective date of transfer.

0203 SERVICE FOR BASIC PAY PURPOSES

The total service for basic pay purposes follows the same principle as service for percentage multiple purposes. For an explanation of service creditable for basic pay purposes, see section 0102 of this volume.

0204 DATE OF TRANSFER

020401. Effective Date of Transfer. Members are transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve only upon the authority of and on the date specified by the Chief of Naval Personnel or the Commandant of the Marine Corps. Commanding officers may defer transfers to the Fleet Reserve up to 30 days beyond the date authorized when urgent operational commitments demand the member's service. Transfers to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve may not be made on a date other than the date specified in the authority for release. Any change in this date must be authorized by the Commandant of the Marine Corps before the effective date of transfer. The date of transfer is the member's last day of active duty and the member is entitled to active duty pay and allowances for that date.

020402. Application of Uniform Retirement Date Act (reference (x)). Since a transfer to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve is not considered to be a retirement, the Uniform Retirement Date Act (reference (x)) does not apply. Once the member has completed a total of 30 years of active service and is eligible for retirement, member's date of retirement comes under the Uniform Retirement Date Act (reference (x)). A transfer to the Fleet Reserve may be made on any intermediate day of a month as approved by the Chief of Naval Personnel. Transfers to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve are made on the last day of the month except where transfer has been requested on the effective date of an expiration of enlistment. Except in time of war or national emergency, personnel transferred to the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve are released from active duty on date of such transfer, unless an order to the contrary is received.

020403. Modification of "Not Earlier Than Date." The Chief of Naval Personnel normally does not approve a requested change of authorized date for transfer to the Fleet Reserve. In case of hardship, meritorious circumstances, or unusual conditions, a member may submit a request for a change of authorized date for the transfer to the Chief of Naval Personnel through the commanding officer and cognizant personnel distribution. If earlier date of transfer is requested, the commanding officer's endorsement must state whether the member's services can be spared. The Chief of Naval Personnel approves by message to the commanding officer and sends a copy to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, Retired Pay Department.

020404. Effective Date of Retainer Pay. Members transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve receive "retainer" pay versus "retired" pay as they are considered to have their services retained for possible use. A member becomes entitled to retainer pay starting on the day after the effective date of transfer to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

020405. Retainer Pay Effective on the First Day of New Active Duty Pay Rates

A. When a member is transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve, compute retainer pay using the rate of active duty pay received at the time of transfer. Therefore, if a member transferred on December 31, 1991, with retainer pay effective on January 1, 1992, compute member's retainer pay using the January 1, 1991 active duty pay rates. If a member transferred on January 1, 1992, with retainer pay effective on January 2, 1992, compute retainer pay using the January 1, 1992 active duty pay rates.

B. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the monthly retainer pay of a Fleet Reservist/Fleet Marine Corps Reservist who first became entitled to that pay on or after January 1, 1971, may not be less than the monthly retainer pay to which member would be entitled if the member had become entitled to retainer pay at an earlier date, adjusted to reflect any applicable increase in such pay under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)). In computing the amount of retainer pay to which the member would have been entitled on that earlier date, base the computation, subject to 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)), on the member's grade, length of service and the rate of basic pay applicable at that time.

0205 RANK AND GRADE

A member transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve has retainer pay computed based on the pay grade in which serving on date of transfer.

020501. A member who has served as a temporary officer but holds permanent enlisted status must revert to permanent enlisted pay grade upon transfer to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

020502. A member who has served as senior enlisted advisor of the Navy or as sergeant major of Marine Corps is entitled to retainer pay at the highest basic pay rate to which the member was entitled while so serving, if that rate is higher.

0206 GROSS PAY COMPUTATION

020601. Computation. See section 0301 of this volume.

020602. Extraordinary Heroism. See section 0107 of this volume. See section 0301 of this volume for computation.

020603. Good Conduct (Markings). For members retired and being paid under laws in effect before October 1, 1949, a 10 percent credit for good conduct may apply. To qualify for this credit a member must be retired under the specific citation which contains the authority for this increase and the member's average marks for conduct for 20 or more years must not be less than 95 percent of the maximum.

020604. Insular Force. See section 0106 of this volume.

0207 PAYMENT DATE

See section 0108 of this volume.

CHAPTER 3GROSS PAY COMPUTATION*0301 BASIC COMPUTATION*030101. Disability. (Table 3-1, Rules 1 and 2)

A. Members permanently retired for disability receive the basic pay of the grade authorized, multiplied at their election by either:

1. Two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes, or
2. The percentage of disability with which retired, not to exceed 75 percent maximum retired pay.

B. Members placed on the Temporary Disability Retired List (TDRL) for disability receive the basic pay of the grade authorized, multiplied at their election by either:

1. Two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes, or
2. The percentage of disability with which retired, or
3. If neither renders at least 50 percent of the basic pay upon which pay is computed, minimum pay of 50 percent is authorized while on the TDRL.

C. For members retired for disability who are also otherwise eligible to be retired under some other provision of law follow the rule applicable to that section of law.

D. Members who first enter a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, receive the retired pay base as computed under 10 U.S.C. 1407(b) (reference (c)), multiplied at their election by either:

1. Two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes, or
2. The percentage of disability with which retired. (See paragraph 030402, below.)

030102. Voluntary. (Table 3-1, Rules 3 through 9) Members voluntarily retired receive the basic pay of the grade authorized, multiplied by two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes. Members who first enter a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, receive the retired pay base computed under 10 U.S.C. 1407 (reference (c)), multiplied by two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes. See paragraph 030108, below, for retired pay computation and recomputation for members retired under the Temporary Early Retirement Authority.

A. Enlisted Members. See subparagraph 010301.A for service credited for percentage multiple.

B. Commissioned Officers. See subparagraph 010301.B for service credited for percentage multiple.

C. Warrant Officers. See subparagraph 010301.C for service credited for percentage multiple.

030103. Mandatory. (Table 3-1, Rules 10 through 13) Members mandatorily retired receive the basic pay of the grade authorized multiplied by two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes. Members who first enter a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980 receive the retired pay base as computed under 10 U.S.C. 1407 (reference (c)), multiplied by two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes.

A. Army and Air Force. See subparagraph 010301.D.1 of this volume for service credited for percentage multiple.

B. Navy and Marine Corps. See subparagraph 010301.D.2 of this volume for service credited for percentage purposes.

030104. Reservist (Age and Service Retirement). (Table 3-1, Rule 14) Members of the Reserve or National Guard retired for age and service receive the basic pay of the grade authorized multiplied by two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes. Members who first enter a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, receive the retired pay base as computed under 10 U.S.C. 1407 (reference (c)), multiplied by two and one-half percent times the years of service credited for percentage purposes. See subparagraph 010301.F of this volume for service credited for percentage multiple. (This is the formula for converting retirement points into percentage years: total number of retirement points divided by 360. Carry the result to 3 decimal places; then round to 2 decimal places.)

Example: 4735 retirement points divided by 360 = 13.152 or 13.15 years for percentage purposes.

030105. Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve. (Table 3-1, Rule 15) Members transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve are entitled, when not on active duty, to have their retainer pay computed by:

A. Multiplying monthly basic pay received at time of transfer by two and one-half percent times the number of years of active service (as adjusted under paragraph 030505, below) in the Armed Forces.

B. Multiplying retainer pay base (if member became a member of a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980) computed under 10 U.S.C. 1407 (reference (c)) by two and one-half percent times the number of years of active service (as adjusted under paragraph 030505, below) in the Armed Forces.

030106. Historical Pay Computations for Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve Members

A. The laws which governed the computation of retainer pay for members transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve from its inception in 1916 through June 30, 1938, are of no value since they were assembled in the Naval Reserve Act of 1938 (reference (e)), effective July 1, 1938. Therefore, the earlier computations are not included in this manual since they were restated effective July 1, 1938. See Table 3-2 for the pay computations.

B. Members transferred to the Fleet Reserve (FR) or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve (FMCR) were administratively placed in separate classes to differentiate between laws and conditions governing the computation of these pay entitlements. The following classes are applicable to these members:

COMPONENT	CODE	APPLICABLE TO
FR FMCR	F-4c 1-b	Members who are in the naval service on July 1, 1925 and later transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve after completion of 16 years of active service.
FR FMCR	F-4d 1-c	Members who were in the naval service on July 1, 1925 and later transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Reserve after completion of 20 years but less than 30 years of active service.
FR FMCR	F-5 H-1	Members who first enlisted in the naval service after July 1, 1925 and later transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve before August 10, 1946 after completion of 20 years but less than 30 years of active service.
FR FMCR	F-6 1-d	Members who first enlisted in the naval service after July 1, and later transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve or after August 10, 1946 after completion of 20 years but less than 30 years of active service.

C. Longevity Pay. Longevity is the length of service performed by each member.

1. Before October 1, 1949, longevity pay was a big factor in computing retainer pay. Certain pay laws contained provisions for computing longevity pay. Such pay was based on the length of service. During this period, base pay and longevity were fitted into the framework of pay formulas to arrive at retainer pay. The computation for the longevity pay changed several times before being superseded by basic pay. The various computations and the periods applicable are:

a. Until May 31, 1942, for Navy members, the computation was 10 percent of base pay for the first increment of 4 years of naval service, plus 5 percent of base pay for each 4-year increment thereafter, but not to exceed 16 years, or 25 percent.

Example: Member served 18 years; on transfer to the Fleet Reserve the longevity pay credit was computed:

1. 10% - 4 years
2. 5% - 4 years
3. 5% - 4 years
4. 5% - 4 years
5. 0% - 4 years

b. From June 1, 1942 to September 30, 1949, the computation was 5 percent of base pay of grade for each 3 years of service up to 30 years, maximum of 50 percent.

2. On October 1, 1949, when basic pay became an important factor, longevity pay was not computed separately but was included in the rate of basic pay.

a. Members transferring to the FR/FMCR on or after October 1, 1949 were required to elect the formula under which their pay would be computed. The two formulas were the fractional, under which a member would receive one-third or one-half of base pay, and the percentage, two and one-half percent times years of active federal service times basic pay. Such election was indicated on the authorization for transfer to the Fleet Reserve.

b. Effective August 10, 1956 (reference (ag)), members transferring to the FR/FMCR would receive retainer pay computed on the formula included in the codification of the military pay laws under Title 10, United States Code (reference (c)). The prior computations were still in effect for the members to whom they applied. Members who enter a Uniformed Service before September 8, 1980 receive retainer pay computed under this formula.

c. Members who enter a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980 receive retainer pay under the formula codified in 1956 except the retainer pay base is used instead of a monthly basic pay rate.

030107. Heroism Pay and Good Conduct (Markings). Enlisted members retired after 20 years of active service may be entitled to an additional 10 percent retired pay for extraordinary heroism, if authorized, not to exceed 75 percent of the basic pay on which their retirement pay is computed. See paragraph 010701 of this volume. Navy and Marine Corps personnel may have been authorized an additional 10 percent for good conduct, but not both. See paragraph 020603 of this volume.

030108. Temporary Early Retirement Authority (TERA)

A. Initial Computation of Retired Pay. The initial retired pay entitlement for members of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force retired under the provisions of the Temporary Early Retirement Authority (TERA) of Section 4403, Public Law 102-484, October 23, 1992 (reference (fh)), will be computed as prescribed below. The amount of retired pay otherwise prescribed under the applicable section of 10 U.S.C., sections 3991(a), 6333(a), 8991(a), 1401, or 12739 (reference (c)) will be multiplied by the applicable reduction factor from Table 3-5. The resulting reduced amount of retired pay, if not a multiple of $1, will be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1, according to provisions of the applicable section of 10 U.S.C., sections 3991 (b) (2), 6333(b)(1), 8991(b)(2), 1412, or 12739 (reference (c)). Such rounded amount is the initial gross monthly retired pay entitlement.

B. Reduction Factor. The reduction factor applicable to the above computations is the amount listed in Table 3-5 based on the number of full months by which the number of months of active service of the member are less than 240 as of the date of the member's retirement or transfer to the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

1. Any portion of a month of active service in excess of a whole month is rounded up to the next whole month. For example, total active service of 15 years, 7 months, and 12 days is rounded to 15 years, 8 months. The reduction factor based on 15 years and 8 months is computed as: $15 \times 12 + 8 = 188$ months, and the applicable reduction factor corresponds to the Table 3-5 entry for 240 less 188, or 52 months. The applicable reduction factor is .95667.

2. Note that in computing the retired pay, the 12 days in excess of 187 months of service are disregarded and the retired pay itself is based on 187 months.

Example: A member retired as an E-7, with calculations as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} $1,967.10 \text{ Basic pay} \times 187/12 \times .025 \times .95667 &= \\ $30,653.975 \times .025 \times .95667 &= \\ $766.3494 \times .95667 = \underline{$733.14} &\text{ (Since this is not a multiple of $1, round down to} \\ &\text{$733.)} \end{aligned}$$

C. Recomputation of Retired Pay at Age 62

1. A member retired under TERA will be able to recompute retired pay entitlement if such member is credited with any employment under the provisions of Section 4464 of Public Law 102-484 (reference (fh)). Such employment will be credited according to procedures prescribed in separate instructions. DFAS will be notified by the Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) of the total number of years, months, and days of employment credited. On the first day of the first month beginning after the date member reaches age 62, such member's retired pay is recomputed. Member's retired pay will be computed as in paragraph 030108.A, above. However, the new total years of service will be obtained by adding the years, months, and days of service used in the original retired pay computations to the years, months, and days associated with the certified periods of full-time employment credited under the provisions of Section 4464, Public Law 102-484 (reference (fh)). Add the credit for these employment periods to the previously credited service as though they were periods of active duty. After obtaining the new total amount of service, the recomputation of retired pay is made using each full month of the new total years of service credited as 1/12 of a year and any remaining fractional part of a month is disregarded. In no case will the number of months applicable to these procedures exceed 240. Thus, the maximum retired pay under the recomputation may not exceed 50 percent of the applicable rate of basic pay.

Active Service (Initial retirement)	187 months, 12 days
Public/Community service	32 months, 20 days
TOTAL SERVICE	219 months, 32 days =
	220 months, 2 days

2. Retired pay will be recomputed as though the initial retired pay had been computed on the basis of the new total service credit, but the increased amount is payable only for months after the month in which member reaches age 62. All retired pay percentage increases (for example, a cost-of-living adjustment) granted to such member will be included in the recomputation with annual rounding and recomputation made as if the extra service credit had been included in the original computation. The additional service credit may affect the amount of basic pay used in the retired pay computation, as it is treated as years of active duty service in the Armed Forces for purposes of recomputation. The additional credit could also reduce the impact of the reduction factor for months short of 20 years of service.

Example: A member retired as E-7 (see Example below). The recomputed retired pay is based on the E-7 rate with over 18 years of service from the active duty basic pay tables that were in effect at the time of such member's retirement. The reduction factor is based on 240 less 221 = 19 months, or .98417, so the initial retired pay as recomputed is:

 &$2,079.00 \times (220/12) \times .025 \times .98417 = \\
 &$38,115.00 \times .025 \times .98417 = \\
 &$952.875 \times .98417 = \underline{$937.79} \text{ (Since this is not a multiple of $1, round down to} \\ &\hspace{10em} $937.00.)
 \end{aligned}$$

This amount would be adjusted by applying each annual cost-of-living adjustment given such member since retirement, rounding down after each adjustment as required.

0302 APPLICATION OF SAVED PAY030201. Career Compensation Act Effective October 1, 1949 (reference (w))

A. An officer retired for disability before October 1, 1949 who failed to elect within a 5-year period to receive pay under the 1949 Act (reference (w)), or who did not qualify for pay under the 1949 Act (reference (w)), continued to receive pay under laws in effect before October 1, 1949 computed at 75 percent of the basic pay of the grade authorized.

B. Members who, on October 1, 1949 were hospital patients and who, before January 1, 1951, retired for disability as the result of the disease or injury for which they were hospitalized, could elect to receive retired pay:

1. Computed under laws in effect on September 30, 1949 at 75 percent of the basic pay of the grade authorized; or

2. Computed under section 402(d) of Public Law 81-351 (reference (ah)).

C. Members who, on October 1, 1949 were receiving or were entitled to receive pay under any provision of law, were authorized to continue their entitlement to receive the pay which they were entitled to receive under laws in effect on September 30, 1949.

030202. Military Pay Act Effective June 1, 1958 (reference (ac))

A. Members who retired or transferred to FR/FMCR on or after June 1, 1958 and before April 1, 1963, who were receiving active duty basic pay under the April 1, 1955, "saved pay" rates, continued to receive pay computed under those rates, based upon service credited for basic pay purposes as of June 1, 1958.

B. Members retired or transferred to Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve on June 1, 1958, were entitled to pay computed on the June 1, 1958, active duty basic pay rates, or on the April 1, 1955 active duty basic pay rates plus 6 percent, whichever was greater.

C. Members retired or transferred to FR/FMCR after June 1, 1958, who were receiving active duty saved pay were entitled to retired pay computed on the April 1, 1955 active duty basic pay rates, but were not entitled to the additional 6 percent increase.

030203. Military Pay Act Effective October 1, 1967 (reference (ai))

A. With respect to members entitled to retired pay computed under this paragraph, their retired or retainer pay may not be less than it would have been if they had become entitled to that pay based on the same basic pay grade, years of service for basic pay and percentage purposes, and percent of disability (if any) on the day before the effective date of the rates of monthly basic pay on which retired or retainer pay is based. Such members receive pay:

1. Computed under the current basic pay rates in effect on date of retirement or transfer, or

2. Computed under the rates of basic pay in effect immediately before the current rates, whichever is greater.

B. The above computations were, in some instances, subject to the provisions of the Uniform Retirement Date Act (reference (x)). For application of this Act, see paragraph 010402 of this volume.

C. The "1-year look-back" provision codified at 10 U.S.C. 1401a(e) (reference (c)) was repealed by Section 921 of the DoD Authorization Act, FY 84 (Public Law 98-94, September 24, 1983) (reference (aj)). Under the provisions of that repeal, this paragraph now applies only to:

1. Members retired or transferred to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve October 1, 1967 through September 24, 1983, inclusive; and

2. Members eligible for retirement or transfer on or before September 24, 1983, provided such member retires or transfers on or before September 24, 1986. If such member retires or transfers after September 24, 1986, the retired or retainer pay may not be less than it would have been had the member actually retired or transferred on September 23, 1986.

0303 TOWER AMENDMENT

030301. Basic Provisions

A. A member who retires or transfers to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve on January 1, 1971, and thereafter, who fully qualifies for retirement on a date earlier than the actual retirement date, receives the most favorable rate of pay as though the member had actually retired or been transferred on the earlier date:

1. After becoming retirement-eligible on or after January 1, 1971 (see section 0101 of this volume, Service Creditable for Retirement Purposes);

2. Based upon the grade and the service creditable on the earlier computation date; (For retirements on or after October 5, 1994, the grade used in the computation cannot be higher than the grade in which the member is retired); and

3. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 030203, above.

B. A member who retires or transfers to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve before October 7, 1975, the effective date of the Tower Amendment, is entitled to pay adjusted from October 7, 1975. No adjustment is authorized under provisions of the amendment for any period before October 7, 1975.

C. A member who retires between October 1, 1988 and October 4, 1994, and who is reduced in grade under sentence of court-martial after initially becoming eligible for retired pay, is not entitled to computation on a grade higher than the grade in which retired.

★D. See subparagraph 030503.A, below, for provision concerning an officer who served in a special position as Chairman or Vice Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff or as a Chief of Service.

030302. Earlier Computation Dates

A. Predetermined earlier computation dates are established for uniformity in computing pay of members who qualify under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(f) (reference (c)). Generally, the day immediately preceding an active duty basic pay rate change should be used as the earlier date of voluntary retirement eligibility, unless the computation would be more favorable based on the first day of the month preceding an active duty basic pay rate change.

B. Members of the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve may be transferred on any intermediate day of a month. Therefore, the earlier computation date for these members is the day before new active duty basic pay rates become effective.

C. Warrant officers retired under provisions of 10 U.S.C. 1293 (reference (c)) (see Table 3-1, rule 4), on the effective date of a change in the active duty pay rates, compute retired pay using the rate of basic pay in effect on the day before the date of retirement (or one prior pay rate under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (e) (reference (c)) if subparagraph 030203.C, above, applies). Therefore, the earlier retirement eligibility date would be 1 year earlier with retired pay computed based on pay rates in effect on the day before the earlier eligibility date, (or one prior pay rate under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(e) (reference (c)), if subparagraph 030203.C applies).

030303. Computation at Time of Retirement or Transfer to the FR/FMCR

A. Members receive the most favorable retired pay as adjusted by applicable cost-of-living adjustments computed by using:

1. The active duty basic pay rate applicable on the actual retirement or transfer date, or
2. One prior active duty basic pay rate at the same grade and service applicable on the actual retirement or transfer date if the provisions of subparagraph 030203.C, above, apply.

3. Any active duty basic pay rate in effect on or after January 1, 1971 at the grade and service credited on the earlier computation date, if retirement eligible on the earlier date. After this rule is used, apply subparagraph A.2, above, without further loss of grade and service.

B. Members retiring for disability who are eligible for voluntary retirement or transfer to Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve on an earlier date may have gross retired pay entitlement computed in accordance with the provisions of the Tower Amendment when more favorable. However, the basic pay rate applicable for an earlier retirement date under this condition for gross pay computation cannot be used for computing pay based upon the disability rating. The rate of pay based upon degree of disability may be calculated only on the basic pay rate applicable under subparagraph A.1, or A.2., above.

0304 RETIRED PAY BASE

030401. Basic Provisions

A. Public Law 96-342, (reference (bp)) September 8, 1980, enacted the first major change in the computation of military retired or retainer pay since 1948. Public Law 96-342 (reference (bp)) revised the method for computing retired pay for a member who enters a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980. Previously, retired or retainer pay was computed as a percentage of basic pay rate. Under 10 U.S.C. 1407 (reference (c)), retired pay is computed as a percentage of member's retired pay base. The retired pay base is the average of the monthly basic pay rates a member receives or is entitled to for a period of 36 months, whether or not consecutive. This commonly is referred to as "High 36 months" or "High 3 average." If the member serves on active duty for less than 36 months, the retired pay base is equal to the total amount of monthly basic pay which the member receives during the period of active duty divided by the number of months, including any fraction, which the member serves on active duty.

B. A member is considered to have first entered a Uniformed Service when any individual, on or after September 8, 1980 is first appointed or enlisted in the Uniformed Services. A member who first enlists before September 8, 1980 under the delayed entry program, in a Reserve Component as part of the Senior Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) or ROTC Financial Assistant programs, as a student at a Uniformed Services University of Health Sciences, or as a participant in the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program is considered to have first become a member before September 8, 1980.

030402. Computation of Pay

A. Monthly basic pay amounts, starting with the highest rate of pay, are added together until the total number of months equals 36 months. Divide the total pay derived from the sum of these months by 36, and round to the nearest cents to obtain the high-three average monthly basic pay rate applicable to the member. Any bad time the member had should not be included in the computations.

1. A full month served counts as one month regardless of any interruption by a pay rate change and regardless of the number of days in that month.

a. A member serves the entire calendar month at a single rate of basic pay. This counts as one month of applicability under this rate of basic pay regardless of the number of days in the month--28, 29, 30, or 31.

b. A member serves the entire calendar month with multiple rates of basic pay applicable. If a member is paid more than one rate during a given month which is a full month of service, each rate will be carried as applicable for the number of days paid at that rate. For example, if a member has a longevity pay increase effective February 11, the old rate is applicable for 10 days and the new rate is applicable for 20 days (regardless of any leap year). If a month has 31 days, the 31st is ignored; i.e., if the member has a longevity pay increase effective August 11, the old rate is applicable for 10 days and the new rate is applicable for 20 days. The 30-day months are allocated in a straight-forward manner.

2. If the member has less than 36 months of service, add up all the member's basic pay and compute the number of months in the same manner described above for accumulating 36 months or more of pay. Divide the total pay by the total time expressed as months plus days where days less than 30 are counted as 1/30 of a month. Round to the nearest cent.

3. When a member serves less than a full month, count only the number of days actually paid so that each total of 30 days equals 1 month. If a member serves less than a full month and one or more rates of basic pay apply, each rate should be carried as applicable for the number of days the member was actually paid at the particular rate. For example, assume the member had a break in service and returned to active duty on February 8, but has a longevity increase effective February 11. When a member serves through the end of February, the month is assumed to have 30 days. This member receives 3 days at one rate and 20 days at the new rate, or 23 days of pay even though only 21 or 22 days were served.

Example: A member receives monthly basic pay of $17,658.30 over 14 months and 11 days.

 \frac{$17,658.30}{14 \text{ mos} + 11 \text{ days}} & = & \frac{$17,658.30}{14.36667} = $1,229.12 \text{ Retired Pay Base} \\
 $1,229.12 & \text{Retired Pay Base} & \\
 \times \underline{\hspace{1cm}} \% & \text{Retired Pay Multiplier} & \\
 = & $\text{x,xxx.xx} & \text{Retired Pay Rounded}
 \end{array}$$

B. When it is to the member's advantage, a saved pay rate under the provisions of 10 U.S.C. 1401a(e) (reference (c)) may be used to compute retired pay. The saved pay provisions of 10 U.S.C. 1401a(e) (reference (c)) were eliminated September 24, 1983. See paragraph 030303, above, for eligibility. This provision of Title 10, United States Code 1401a(e) (reference(c)) authorizes the use of basic pay rates in effect on the day before the effective date of the rates of monthly basic pay on which the member's retired pay would otherwise be based.

C. Cost-of-living adjustments to military retired pay under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(b) through (e), (reference (c)) full and partial (or pro-rata) cost-of-living adjustments, also apply to military retired pay computed on the new retired pay base method provided for by 10 U.S.C. 1407 (reference (c)), Retired Pay Base. The most recent active duty basic pay rate used to compute the retired pay base determines whether a member is entitled to a full or partial (or pro-rata) cost-of-living adjustment.

0305 SPECIAL PROVISIONS

030501. Entitlement Under More Than One Pay Formula. Members who are entitled to pay computed under more than one pay formula or provision of law are entitled to be paid under the formula that is most favorable to them.

030502. Commissioned Officers With More Than 4 Years of Active Enlisted and/or Warrant Officer Service. Members who, at the time of retirement, are in pay grades O1E, O2E, and O3E, having served more than 4 years of active duty as enlisted members and/or warrant officers, receive pay computed on the special basic pay rates authorized for them.

030503. Commissioned Officers Serving in Special Positions

★A. An officer who serves as Chairman or Vice Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff or as a Chief of Service may receive retired pay which is computed on the highest rate of basic pay applicable to the member while serving in the special position, if that rate is higher than the rate otherwise authorized as a retired pay base for a member who first became a member before September 8, 1980. The term "Chief of Service" refers to one of the following:

1. Chief of Staff of the Army
2. Chief of Naval Operations
3. Chief of Staff of the Air Force
4. Commandant of the Marine Corps
5. Commandant of the Coast Guard

B. On December 14, 1944, special grades of Fleet Admiral of the United States Navy and General of the Army were created with insignia of five stars. The pay was set at the same pay and allowances as a rear admiral of the upper half, plus a personal money allowance of $5,000 a year. When retired, these members received pay equal to 75 percent of their active duty pay. The five-star grade was made permanent by an Act of Congress on March 23, 1946 (reference (ak)). Active duty pay remained the same as set by the 1944 Act(reference (al)). These members were exempted from mandatory retirement because of age. These members received the same pay and allowances that they received while on active duty. The grade expired July 1, 1950.

★030504. Enlisted Members Serving in Special Positions. A senior enlisted member of an Armed Force serving in a special position may receive retired pay which is computed on the highest rate of basic pay applicable to the member while serving in the special position, if that rate is higher than the rate otherwise authorized as a retired pay base for a member who first became a member before September 8, 1980. The term “senior enlisted member” refers to one of the following:

1. Sergeant Major of the Army
2. Master Chief Petty Officer of the Navy
3. Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force
4. Sergeant Major of the Marine Corps
5. Master Chief Petty Officer of the Coast Guard

030505. Service Credit Rounding of Months. For percentage purposes in computing retired or retainer pay:

A. Members who retired before January 1, 1982 receive credit for any fractional part of a year that is 6 months or more as an additional year. Any portion of a year that is less than 6 months is disregarded. This applies to any member who, before January 1, 1982:

1. Applied for retirement;
2. Applied for transfer to the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve;
3. Was being processed for retirement under the provisions of 10 U.S.C., Chapter 61 reference (c));
4. Was on the temporary disability retired list and thereafter retired under the provisions of 10 U.S.C. 1210(c) or (d) (reference (c)).

B. Unless covered by subparagraph A, above, members who became entitled to retired or retainer pay January 1, 1982, through September 30, 1983, inclusive, received credit on a month-by-month basis for each full month served of 6 months or more. Any fraction of a year less than 6 months was disregarded.

C. Members who become entitled to retired or retainer pay on or after October 1, 1983, receive credit for each full month actually served. Less than full months are disregarded. See Table 3-4.

NOTE: If a member retires October 1, 1983 or later and the member is entitled to retired pay under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(f) (reference (c)) using a hypothetical retirement date which is before January 1, 1982, service credit of 6 months or more is rounded to a full year effective July 1, 1986.

D. In calculating the percentage factor under subparagraphs B or C, above, the percent will be rounded at least to the nearest 1/100 of one percentage. For example, 20 years 7 months (20.58 years) times 2.5 percent equals 51.45 percent. See Table 3-4. This rounding method will also be used for computing retired or retainer pay under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(e) and (f) (reference (c)). (See subparagraph 030101.C, above.)

030506. Computation Under the Uniformed Services Pay Act, October 2, 1963
(reference (am))

A. Beginning October 1, 1963, members retired between October 1, 1949 and May 31, 1958, including members retired before October 1, 1949 receiving pay under the 1949 Act, received the greater of:

1. An increase of 5 percent in the retired pay to which entitled on September 30, 1963, or
2. Pay computed on the basic pay rates established under the June 1, 1958 Act without a 5 percent increase.

B. Beginning October 1, 1963, members retired for service before October 1, 1949, and being paid under laws in effect on September 30, 1949, receive the greater of:

1. An increase of 5 percent in the retired pay to which entitled on September 30, 1963; or
2. Pay recomputed on the basic pay rates established by the Military Pay Act of 1958 (reference (ac)) without a 5 percent increase, based on actual active service creditable.

030507. Computation Under the Military Pay Act, May 20, 1958 (reference (ac))

A. Members who first became entitled to retired pay on June 1, 1958 were authorized to receive pay computed on the new June 1, 1958 basic pay rates or on the April 1, 1955 active duty basic pay rates plus 6 percent, whichever is greater.

B. Members retired after June 1, 1958 who were receiving active duty saved pay were entitled to retired pay computed on the April 1, 1955 active duty basic pay rates but were not entitled to the additional 6 percent increase.

C. An increment of $200 for generals and admirals and $100 for lieutenant generals and vice admirals was added to the basic pay rate used in the computation of pay before a 6 percent increase on June 1, 1958 for retired officers:

1. Who had served in that grade for at least 180 days, and
2. Who were entitled to retired pay on the day before the effective date of the Military Pay Act of 1958 (reference (ac)).

030508. Commissioned Officers With World War I Service. Members retired for any reason as Regular commissioned officers, and those who retired for disability as nonregular commissioned officers, who served in any capacity as members of the military or naval forces of the United States before November 12, 1918, are entitled to receive pay computed at 75 percent of the basic pay of the grade in which retired.

030509. Emergency Officers Retired List (EORL). All persons who served as officers of the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps during World War I, other than officers of the Regular Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, and who during such service incurred a physical disability incurred in the line of duty, were placed on a separate retired list.

A. Payment was authorized at 75 percent of the pay and rank at time of discharge from commissioned service, with entitlement to the same privileges as provided by law for officers of the Regular Army, Navy, or Marine Corps retired for physical disability incurred in the line of duty.

B. Payments are made by the Department of Veterans Affairs from funds appropriated to that agency.

030510. Rate of Basic Pay for Certain Members With Over 24 Years of Service. Members in pay grade E-7, E-8, E-9, W-4, W-5, or O-6 who have over 24, but less than 26 years of service, are entitled to a special rate of pay effective January 1, 1993.

NOTES:

1. For active duty basic pay rate applicable, see paragraphs 010402, 030201, 030301, 030302, 030303, 030501, 030502, and 030504. For a person who first became a member of a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, take the monthly retired pay base.
2. Enlisted members credited with an act of extraordinary heroism in the line of duty.
3. See chapter 1 for service creditable for percentage purposes:

Voluntary retirement:	Paragraph 010301.A-Enlisted members Paragraph 010301.B-Commissioned Officers Paragraph 010301.C-Warrant Officers
Mandatory retirement:	Paragraph 010301.D.1 Army and Air Force Paragraph 010301.D.2 Navy and Marine Corps
Disability Retirement:	Paragraph 010301.E
Reservist age and service retirement:	Paragraph 010301.F
4. Total number of retirement points divided by 360. Carry the resultant figure to three decimal places, then round to two decimal places.

EXAMPLE: 4735 retirement points divided by 360 = 13.152 or 13.15 years of service for percentage Purposes (for the 10 U.S.C. 12731 retiree only) to be multiplied by 2 -1/2 percent.

5. Members retired under 10 U.S.C. 6327 are authorized to receive retired pay at 50 percent of the active duty basic pay of their grade when not on active duty. This provision applies only to persons who were members of the Naval Reserve or Marine Corps Reserve on January 1, 1953. The provisions of 10 U.S.C. 6327 terminated on January 1, 1973. However, termination of the section did not affect any accrued rights to retired pay.
6. Public Law 96-513, December 12, 1980, repealed the following Title 10 U.S.C. sections: 3913, 3916, 3919, 3921-3923, 6371-6374, 6376-6380, 6390, 6394, 6396, 6398, 6400, 8883, 8884-8886, 8913, 8915, 8916, 8919, 8921-8923, 8927. Section 6375 was repealed by Public Law 87-123, August 3, 1961.
7. If member entered a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, substitute the retired pay base for the monthly active duty pay.
8. If member was initially retired on or after October 1, 1983, the amount computed, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. Any future adjustments to such pay must be made on the rounded figure. Retired pay of members retired on September 30, 1983 will not be rounded until there is an adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a; then, and with each subsequent adjustment, the amount as adjusted, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. The rounded amount becomes the member's entitlement and any future adjustments shall be based on this rounded entitlement.
9. Section 1255 repealed by Public Law 90-130, November 8, 1967. Section 564 repealed by Public Law 102-190, December 5, 1991.

NOTES:

1. Fractional year of 6 months or more not creditable as 1 year for longevity or transfer.
2. Fractional year of 6 months or more creditable equals full year for transfer and longevity effective August 10, 1946.
3. Effective August 10, 1946 class F-5 changed to class F-6.
4. Six months or more equals 1 year for active service; 6 months or more does not equal 1 year for basic pay; no good conduct or extraordinary heroism.
5. Six months equals 1 year for basic pay and not for computing years of naval service for transfer.
6. Six months or more equals 1 full year for active service and basic pay.
7. Six months equals 1 year for active service (include constructive service in active service). Six months equals 1 year for basic pay (do not include constructive service in service for basic pay).
8. If member entered a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, substitute the retainer pay base for the base or basic pay.

NOTE:

To arrive at the above multipliers, divide the number of whole months by 12, carry the quotient 3, round to 2. Add this to the number of years and multiply by .025.

Example 1: 20 years, 7 months, 13 days
7 months \div 12 = .583 (.58)
20.58 x .025 = 51.45%

Example 2: 20 years, 8 months, 28 days
8 months \div 12 = .667 (.67)
20.67 x .025 = 51.68%

Exception: Members who retire between January 1, 1982 and September 30, 1983 and meet requirements of subparagraph 030505.B will round service credit of 6 months or more as shown on the Table.

CHAPTER 4

RECOUPMENT OF READJUSTMENT PAY, NONDISABILITY SEVERANCE PAY, SEPARATION PAY, VOLUNTARY SEPARATION INCENTIVE, AND SPECIAL SEPARATION BENEFIT

0401 GENERAL PROVISIONS

040101. Purpose. To provide guidance covering recoupment of payments made to certain members upon involuntary discharge, release from active duty, or voluntary separation, when members are later placed on a retired list.

040102. Definitions

A. Readjustment Pay. A lump-sum payment to members of a Reserve Component of any Military Service, members of the Army or Air Force without component, and Regular Army commissioned officers below the grade of major who are involuntarily released after completing at least 5 years of continuous active duty and who do not qualify for retirement.

B. Nondisability Severance Pay. A lump-sum payment specifically authorized by law to certain commissioned and warrant officers who are involuntarily discharged from active duty under certain conditions.

C. Separation Pay. A lump-sum payment to a Regular officer or a member of a Reserve Component who is discharged involuntarily or released from active duty September 15, 1981 or later, who has completed 5 or more, but less than 20 years of active service, and who does not qualify for retirement. Effective October 1, 1983, the 5 years of minimum active duty must have been continuous for any member who was not on the active duty list. A period of active duty is continuous if any break in service does not exceed 30 days.

D. Voluntary Separation Incentive. An annual payment to members who separate voluntarily from service before October 1, 1995, under conditions prescribed by the Secretary concerned.

E. Special Separation Benefit. A lump-sum payment to members who separate voluntarily from service before October 1, 1995, under conditions prescribed by the Secretary concerned.

F. Recoupment. Refund or recovery of readjustment pay, nondisability severance pay, separation pay, voluntary separation incentive or special separation benefit previously received, due to entitlement to retirement benefits based on the same active service.

0402 READJUSTMENT PAY040201. Members Affected

A. A member who receives readjustment pay before September 15, 1981, because of involuntary discharge or release from active duty after June 28, 1962 and later qualifies for retired pay on completion of 20 years of active service must refund 75 percent of the readjustment payment. For this purpose, a member transferred to the Fleet Reserve or the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve is considered to have "qualified for retired pay under a statute authorizing retirement upon completion of 20 years of active service," even though such transfer may have occurred after completion of less than 20 years of actual service. See Table 4-1.

B. A Regular Army commissioned officer in the grade of second lieutenant, first lieutenant, or captain, who receives readjustment pay from December 30, 1974 through December 30, 1977, and who later qualifies for retired pay upon completion of 20 years of active service, must refund 75 percent of the readjustment payment. See Table 4-1.

C. A member of the Uniformed Services who served on active duty as a temporary officer and held a Reserve officer status upon release from active duty receives readjustment pay after June 28, 1962 but before September 15, 1981, and who after a period of enlisted service is retired for temporary or permanent disability and also qualifies for service retirement as a Reserve officer, must refund 75 percent of the readjustment payment. See Table 4-1.

D. A member who receives readjustment pay September 15, 1981 or later, and who later qualifies for retired pay, must refund an amount equal to the total amount of readjustment pay received. See subparagraph 040202.B, below.

040202. Recoupment of Readjustment PayA. Readjustment Pay Received Before September 15, 1981.

1. A total of 75 percent of the gross readjustment pay without interest is deducted immediately from retired pay.

2. There is no entitlement to retired pay until 75 percent of the lump-sum pay is recovered. Cost for coverage under the Survivor Benefit Plan must be paid by direct remittance to the servicing finance activity during the period member is not entitled to retired pay.

3. When applying the 75 percent formula to lump-sum readjustment payment to determine the amount to be recouped from retired pay, any mustering-out payment previously received under the Mustering-Out Payment Act of 1944 (reference (an)) or the Veteran's Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952 (reference (ao)) must be first deducted from the gross readjustment pay.

B. Readjustment Pay Received September 15, 1981 or Later.

1. A member who receives readjustment pay September 15, 1981 or later and subsequently qualifies for retired pay must refund an amount equal to the total amount of the readjustment pay received.

2. Recoupment of the readjustment pay shall be by monthly deduction based on the service used in the computation of readjustment pay.

040203. Special Provisions

A. No income tax withholding is made from retired pay used for satisfying the readjustment pay recoupment. Neither is such pay included on Treasury Department Form W-2P (Statement for Recipients of Annuities, Pensions or Retired Pay) nor reported as taxable earnings.

B. A member who receives readjustment pay and also is immediately eligible to receive disability compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs may retain the gross readjustment pay; however, 75 percent (or the total amount, if applicable) of that gross readjustment payment is deducted from the disability compensation. Acceptance of the gross readjustment pay, however, does not prevent the member from becoming entitled to disability compensation based on service performed after that payment was received.

1. Readjustment pay received before September 15, 1981, which has not been recovered from disability compensation shall, upon a later retirement from an active Uniformed Service, be immediately deducted from retired pay. Readjustment pay received September 15, 1981 or later, which has not been recovered from disability compensation shall, upon a later retirement from an active Uniformed Service, be deducted from retired pay by monthly deductions.

2. No deduction from retired pay is required when 75 percent (or the total amount, as applicable) of the readjustment payment has been recovered by the Department of Veteran's Affairs before retirement.

C. If a member previously was paid readjustment pay or a payment of mustering-out pay under the Mustering-Out Payment Act of 1944 (reference (an)) or the Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952 (reference (ao)), the prior readjustment or mustering-out payments are deducted from the readjustment pay to which member is entitled after June 28, 1962. If the member has repaid the prior payment of readjustment pay to the United States, the period covered by it is treated as a period for which a payment has not been made.

D. A member may waive entitlement to readjustment pay. Also, the full amount of such pay may be refunded before retirement. Under either condition, the member receives retired pay immediately upon retirement or transfer to the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

E. Reserve members retired under 10 U.S.C. 12731-12737 (reference (c)), who received readjustment pay before September 15, 1981, are not subject to recoupment or readjustment pay. Such members receiving readjustment pay September 15, 1981, or later are subject to recoupment of readjustment pay under subparagraph 040202.B, above.

0403 SEVERANCE PAY-NONDISABILITY

040301. General. Before September 15, 1981, certain provisions of law governing separation, from the active list required refund of severance pay upon a member's retirement. See Table 4-2 for conditions governing refund of severance pay received before September 15, 1981. Members who receive severance pay September 15, 1981, or later and subsequently qualify for retirement are subject to recoupment under paragraph 040302, below.

040302. Recoupment of Nondisability Severance Pay

A. Lump-sum severance pay must be recouped by deducting from retired pay each month an amount based on the service for which the severance pay was received until the total deducted equals the amount of the severance pay.

B. The member may refund the full amount by direct remittance to the servicing finance activity or may authorize deduction in an amount greater than that required by law.

0404 SEPARATION PAY

040401. Members Affected

A. Entitlement After September 15, 1981. A Regular officer (including a Regular warrant officer) and nonregular member of an Armed Force involuntarily discharged or released on or after September 15, 1981, with at least 5 but less than 20 years of active service, are entitled to separation pay as determined by the Secretary concerned. Effective October 1, 1983, the 5-year minimum active duty requirement must have been continuous for any member who was not on the active duty list. A period of active duty is continuous if any break in service does not exceed 30 days.

B. Entitlement Before September 15, 1981. A member of the Army, Navy, Air Force, or Marine Corps on active duty September 14, 1981, who later is involuntarily discharged or released from active duty, is entitled to readjustment pay or severance pay under the laws in effect on that date. A member who also is eligible for separation pay elects which payment to receive. If the member fails to make an election in a timely manner, the more favorable amount is paid.

040402. Recoupment of Separation Pay

A. A member who receives separation pay and who later qualifies for retired pay will repay an amount equal to the total amount of separation pay received by a monthly deduction from retired pay based on the service for which separation pay was computed.

B. A member who receives separation pay and who also is eligible for disability compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs will repay an amount equal to the total amount of separation pay received from the disability compensation awarded. However, no deduction for separation pay shall be made from disability compensation based on service performed after the separation pay was received.

0405 VOLUNTARY SEPARATION INCENTIVE (VSI)

040501. Members Affected. Certain members who voluntarily separated before October 1, 1995, received annual payments of voluntary separation incentive (VSI), based on their grade or rank at separation and number of years of service creditable for retirement purposes.

040502. Recoupment of VSI. If a member who has received VSI becomes eligible for retired pay, recoup from the member the gross amount of VSI paid. The gross amount paid does not include any amounts offset because of the member's receipt of military compensation between the date of separation which caused the VSI to begin and the date the member becomes eligible for receipt of retired pay. Recoupment is according to the following formula-divide the total days service for retirement prior to the separation by the total days of service for retirement: the resulting fraction is the percentage of retired pay to recoup until the entire amount due has been collected. Also apply this collection rate to any increases in the member's retired pay resulting from any cost-of-living increases.

0406 SPECIAL SEPARATION BENEFIT (SSB)

040601. Members Affected. Certain members who voluntarily separated before October 1, 1995, received a lump-sum special separation benefit (SSB) based on years of service for pay purposes and grade or rank at date of separation.

040602. Recoupment of SSB

A. If a member who has received an SSB payment becomes eligible for retired pay, recoup from the member the gross amount of SSB received, as shown on the member's DD Form 214. Use the formula in paragraph 040502, above, to compute the collection rate.

B. A member who receives SSB and who subsequently becomes eligible for disability compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs will repay an amount equal to the SSB from the disability compensation. However, no deduction for SSB shall be made from disability compensation based on service performed after the SSB was received.

RECOUPMENT OF READJUSTMENT PAY RECEIVED BEFORE SEPTEMBER 15, 1981 (Note 1)
R U L E	A	B	C	D
	If a member was a	and received before September 15, 1981 (note 1)	and later qualifies for retirement	then readjustment pay is
1	Reserve member (or member of the Army or Air Force without component (temporary))	readjustment payment upon involuntary release after at least 5 years of continuous active service after June 28, 1962	after 20 years of active service (note 2)	recouped immediately upon retirement at the rate of 75 percent of the gross readjustment pay (note 3).
2	Regular Army officer below the grade of major	readjustment payment upon involuntary release after at least 5 years of continuous active service because of a reduction in force for the period December 30, 1974 through December 30, 1977
3	temporary officer on active duty and held a Reserve officer status	readjustment payment upon involuntary release after at least 5 years of continuous active service after June 28, 1962	for disability after a period of enlisted service and also qualifies for retirement for 20 years of active service
4	Reserve member (or member of the Army or Air Force without component (temporary))		under 10 U.S.C. 12731	not recouped from retired pay (note 4).

NOTES:

1. For recoupment of readjustment pay received September 15, 1981 or later, see subparagraph 040202.B.
2. Includes transfer to Fleet Reserve with less than 20 years of active service if otherwise qualified.
3. Payment of readjustment pay before June 28, 1962 is not for recoupment from retired pay.
4. There is no provision of law that authorizes recoupment of readjustment pay for members not qualified for retired pay based on 20 years of active service.

CHAPTER 5

EMPLOYMENT★0501 REPORTING REQUIREMENT★050101. General.

Certain retired members, as specified below, are required to adhere to laws and regulations pertaining to conflict of interest and civilian employment by the federal government.

★050102. Notification of Personnel Action

A. What Agencies Must File. Filing is required of each agency of the federal government in the legislative, executive, or judicial branch (including each corporation owned or controlled by the federal government and non-appropriated fund instrumentalities under the jurisdiction of the Armed Forces) or in the municipal government of the District of Columbia.

B. Where to File. The SF 50 (Notification of Personnel Action) or its equivalent must be sent by an employing agency to the Military Service responsible for administering retired pay of Regular commissioned officers or warrant officers retired for length of service, age, or noncombat-incurred disability.

C. When to File. Submit the SF 50 or its equivalent to the Military Service concerned whenever a retired member is added to the employing agency's rolls or whenever a change or termination of employment occurs.

D. Purpose of the Notification of Personnel Action. The Military Service concerned uses the Personnel Action to determine the application of the dual compensation and pay cap laws as they relate to the employment.

E. Explanation of Codes and Data Elements on the SF 50 (Blocks 5, 6, 24, and 45). Table 5-1 identifies codes for the tenure group, most commonly used codes for nature of action, and an explanation of abbreviations and data in the remarks section. Uniformed Service pay grades and basic titles are in Appendix I.

0502 FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT050201. Introduction

A. Various laws have been enacted that restrict the acceptance of federal civilian employment by retired commissioned officers and warrant officers. Generally the basis for these restrictions are:

1. Government economy, and

2. Expansion of employment opportunities.

B. The general provisions of the three major laws relating to dual compensation restrictions are in paragraphs 050202-050204, below.

C. During fiscal years 1983, 1984, and 1985, there was a dollar deduction from civilian pay equal to the military retired or retainer pay cost-of-living increase. The deduction is described in paragraph 050210, below.

050202. The Dual Office Act of 1894 (reference (aq))

A. Section 2 of the Act of July 31, 1894 (reference (aq)), as amended, prohibited a person from holding another office under the federal government when compensation or salary received from one office equaled or exceeded $2,500 per annum. This prohibition did not apply to:

1. Retired officers when elected or appointed to public office,

2. Enlisted members retired for any cause, and

3. Retired officers who were retired for:

a. Injuries received in battle; or

b. Disabilities incurred in combat with an enemy of the United States; or

c. Disabilities resulting from any instrumentality of war in the line of duty during a period of war as defined in 38 U.S.C. 101 and 301 (reference (ar)).

B. Retired military personnel, unless specifically exempted, who were receiving retired pay were considered to be holding an office with compensation attached within the meaning of the Act (reference (aq)). Persons who rendered full-time service in regular civilian positions likewise held "an office to which compensation was attached." Accordingly, they were prohibited from holding another office where either the retired pay or civilian salary was $2,500 or more per annum.

C. If the compensation of the retired officer was less than $2,500, and he or she was subject to the 1894 Act (reference (aq)), the officer could have been appointed to a civilian position, provided the yearly civilian salary was less than $2,500.

D. When the retired officer's pay exceeded $2,500 per annum, the prohibition of the Act of July 31, 1894 (reference (aq)), could not be overcome by waiving or relinquishing either the retired pay or salary attached to the full-time civilian position. An appointment to a civilian position made under such circumstances was illegal and had to be cancelled and the civilian salary refunded in full.

050203. Economy Act of June 30, 1932, as Amended (reference (as))

A. This Act did not render inoperative any portion of the Act of July 31, 1894 (reference (aq)). It placed a limitation of $3,000 per annum on the combined total rates of pay received for, or on account of, commissioned service and the salary received when the appointment to the civilian position was authorized under the Act of July 31, 1894 (reference (aq)).

B. The limitation on the combined total rates of pay from both sources was increased to $10,000 effective August 4, 1955.

1. If the civilian salary equaled or exceeded the $10,000 limitation, payment of retired pay was suspended.

2. If civilian salary was less than the $10,000 limitation but when combined with full retired pay exceeded the limitation, retired pay was reduced to keep combined income within the $10,000 limitation.

3. If maximum per annum compensation payable under the civilian appointment when combined with annual retired pay totaled less than $10,000, neither civilian compensation nor retired pay was subject to reduction.

C. While warrant officers, including retired temporary warrant officers not retired for injuries or incapacitation incurred in the line of duty, held an "office" within the meaning of the Act of July 31, 1894 (reference (aq)), they were not considered commissioned officers for dual compensation purposes under this Act (reference (aq)).

D. Enlisted members who received pay for or on account of commissioned service were subject to the 1932 Act (reference (as)) unless retired for wounds received in battle, disability incurred in combat with an enemy of the United States or as a result of an instrumentality of war. Enlisted members advanced on the retired list to commissioned officer rank retained the office of an enlisted member within the meaning of the 1894 Act (reference (aq)).

E. Members entitled to retired pay as officers or former officers in the Reserve Components of the Armed Forces were exempt from the dual compensation restrictions of the Economy Act of 1932 (reference (as)), as amended, if retired under authority of, and entitled to, retired pay under laws relating to Reserve Components of the Armed Forces.

050204. Dual Compensation Act of 1964 (reference (at))

A. This Act repealed all previous dual compensation statutes and combined all dual compensation restrictions into one act. Before December 1, 1964, restriction on federal employment was governed by the Dual Office Act of 1894 (reference (aq)) or the Economy Act of 1932 (reference (as)), as amended.

B. The Act (reference (at)) provides that a retired commissioned or warrant officer of any Regular Component may receive full salary of any federal civilian office held but during the period for which salary is received, retired pay is reduced to an annual rate equal to the first $2,000 plus one half of the remainder.

1. The $2,000 base amount effective December 1, 1964, has been increased by later cost-of-living increases as shown in Table 5-4.

2. The term "civilian office" means a civilian office or position in the United States Government, including each corporation owned or controlled by the government and including non-appropriated fund instrumentalities under the jurisdiction of the Armed Forces.

C. Reduction in retired pay does not apply if retired pay is:

1. Based on a disability resulting from injury or disease received in the line of duty as a direct result of armed conflict, or

2. Caused by an instrumentality of war and incurred in the line of duty during a period of war.

050205. General Provisions

A. Retired pay may be subject to reduction under dual compensation laws for members employed by the federal government.

1. Table 5-2 identifies categories of members (Regular or non-regular) and specifies the statute governing pay reduction.

2. Civilian positions exempt from reduction are in Table 5-3. Exceptions to restrictions on retired pay for other positions may be made when warranted on the basis of special emergency government employment needs which cannot otherwise be met. These exceptions may be approved by the:

a. President of the Senate, with respect to positions in the Senate.

b. Speaker of the House, with respect to positions in the House of Representatives.

c. Architect of the Capitol, with respect to positions in the Office of the Architect of the Capitol.

d. Office of Personnel Management, subject to supervision and control of the President, with respect to all other positions.

e. Administrator of National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) with respect to not more than 30 NASA employees appointed to scientific, engineering, or administrative positions under 42 U.S.C. 2473(c)(2)(A) (reference (au)).

f. The Governor of the Armed Forces Retirement Home Board with respect to physicians' positions in the Home.

g. The Board of Regents of the Uniformed Services University of Health Sciences, with respect to physicians' positions.

h. The Director of the Office of Personnel Management with respect to employees on a case-by-case basis. Effective February 14, 1991, the Director, at the request of the head of an Executive Agency, may waive dual compensation restrictions in positions for which there is exceptional difficulty in recruiting or retaining a qualified employee. The Director may grant authority to the head of an agency to waive the dual compensation restrictions for an employee serving on a temporary basis, but only if, and for so long as, the authority is necessary due to an emergency involving a direct threat to life or property or other unusual circumstances.

i. The Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, with respect to an employee in the Judicial Branch, has the same waiver authority as would be available to the Director of the Office of Personnel Management, or a duly authorized agency head, under subparagraph A.2.h, above, with respect to any employee of an Executive Agency. Authority under this subsection may not be exercised with respect to a justice or judge of the United States, as defined in 28 U.S.C. 451 (reference (av)). Authority may be exercised with respect to an employee of an agency in the Legislative Branch, by the head of such agency; with respect to an employee of the House of Representatives, by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; and with respect to an employee of the Senate, by the Committee of Rules and Administration of the Senate. This became effective December 5, 1991.

B. Reduction in retired pay is not required when retirement is based on a disability:

1. Resulting from injury or disease received in line of duty as a direct result of armed conflict; or

2. Caused by an instrumentality of war and incurred in line of duty during a period of war (as defined in 38 U.S.C. 101 and 301) (reference (ar)).

C. If doubt exists as to whether a disability qualifies a member or her for exemption under the dual compensation statute, a special determination must be requested from the Military Service legal staff.

D. Reduction in retired pay is not required when a member is employed by an agency supported by a grant from the United States if the position was created by the state and the salary is paid out of funds which have been receipted for by the state and have become state funds. However, employment in a cooperative position between state and federal governments, where an employee is entitled to benefits of Federal Employee's Group Life Insurance and civil service retirement deductions are made from pay, is subject to the dual compensation restrictions.

E. Retired members who are employed by schools participating in the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps Program are entitled to receive their full retired pay without reduction. They also receive an additional amount of not more than the difference between their retired pay and the active duty pay and allowances which they would receive if ordered to active duty. One-half of that additional amount is paid to the institution concerned by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, from funds appropriated for that purpose.

F. Indebtedness resulting from erroneous payment of retired pay due to dual compensation is collectible when discovered after 6 years from the last period of employment ONLY if the United States General Accounting Office is notified within the 6-year period. Otherwise, the overpayment is barred from recovery. Automatic collection is possible and required within 6 years immediately after the last period of federal employment.

050206. Time Limit for Accepting Employment. The Dual Compensation Act of 1964 (reference (at)) prohibits the employment of any retired member of the Armed Forces in the Department of Defense (including a nonappropriated fund instrumentality under the jurisdiction of the Armed Forces) within 180 days immediately after retirement, except:

A. When the appointment is authorized by the Secretary of a Military Department or designee, and if appropriate, approved by the Office of Personnel Management;

B. The minimum rate of basic compensation for the office has been increased by Presidential authority in order to recruit or retain well qualified individuals; or

C. A state of national emergency exists.

050207. Restrictions for Members Retired Before December 1, 1964

A. The criteria in paragraphs 050204 and 050205, above, automatically apply to:

1. Members retired before December 1, 1964, who were employed on Nov 30, 1964, if they elected before March 1, 1965 to become subject to the restrictions of the 1964 Act (reference (at)).

2. Members retired before December 1, 1964, who were not employed on Nov 30, 1964, and later became employed by the federal government.

3. Members retired before December 1, 1964, who were employed on Nov 30, 1964, and later had a break in federal employment of 30 days or more regardless of any election made to remain subject to statutes in effect before December 1, 1964.

B. For members who were employed on Nov 30, 1964, and did not elect to become subject to the 1964 Act, (reference (at)), the dual compensation statutes in effect on Nov 30, 1964 governing retired pay reduction remain applicable:

1. Under the Economy Act of 1932 (reference (as)), combined retired pay and civilian federal salary may not exceed $10,000 in one calendar year. (Before August 4, 1955, the limitation was $3,000 per calendar year.)

2. The total amount of salary earned during a calendar year is applied toward the $10,000 limitation, even though the daily or monthly rate, when calculated on an annual basis, would exceed $10,000 per year.

3. A refund of amounts withheld from the member's retired pay or collection from the member may be required to adjust the account.

050208. Experts and Consultants

A. The term "expert" means a member with a proficiency in a particular skill who is employed by the federal government to perform specific service in return for a fixed fee or a specific daily rate of pay only on those days when such service is performed.

B. The term "consultant" means a person with a special knowledge who may be employed by the federal government to give professional advice in return for a fixed fee or a specific daily rate of pay only on those days when such advice is given.

C. The head of any department, when authorized by law, may procure the temporary (not longer than 1 year) or intermittent services of experts or consultants.

D. Experts and consultants are permitted to renew appointments from year to year. A different appointment is one in which the duties and responsibilities are recognizably different from those of the previous assignment and cannot be considered a continuation, outgrowth, or extension of the assignment.

E. Method of computing retired pay overpayment due to employment is in paragraph 050303, below.

050209. Civil Service Reform Act of 1978 (reference (aw))

A. The provisions of the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978 (reference (aw)) apply to any officer or enlisted member of a Regular or Reserve Component who retired after January 11, 1979, and becomes employed in a federal civilian position. The restrictions imposed on Regular officers and warrant officers under the Dual Compensation Act of 1964 (reference (at)) remain in effect for such members.

B. The provisions of this Act do not apply to:

1. Regular officers retired on or before January 11, 1979, and eligible to receive retired pay, whether employed before or after January 11, 1979. Members are subject only to the 1964 Act (reference (at)).

2. Reserve officers and Reserve enlisted members, otherwise eligible to receive retired pay but for the fact they are not age 60, and employed by the federal government in any position on October 13, 1978, so long as the individual continues to hold any such position without a break in service of more than 3 days.

3. Retired Reserve officers and retired Regular or Reserve enlisted members eligible to receive retired pay on or before January 11, 1979, whether employed by the federal government before or after January 11, 1979.

4. Members whose retired pay is computed in whole or in part based on a disability resulting from injury or disease received in the line of duty as a direct result of armed conflict, or caused by an instrumentality of war and incurred in line of duty during a period of war.

C. The full base pay of the civilian position is retained. The amount of civilian pay used in this determination includes, for members employed by the Legislative Branch, temporary pay increases, even though they may be intended as bonuses. If the amount of pay (not including locality pay) for the civilian position combined with retired pay exceeds the rate of pay currently paid for positions classified at Level V of the Executive Schedule, a reduction is required in retired pay. See Table 5-9 for Executive Schedule Level V rates and dates.

1. The amount of each reduction may not result in retired pay, when combined with civilian pay, being at a rate less than the current rate paid for Level V of the Executive Schedule.

2. The amount of retired pay used in this reduction excludes the amount of retired pay waived in order to receive disability compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs.

3. For retired Regular officers, the amount of retired pay used in this reduction is the amount remaining after the reduction in subparagraph C.2, above, if applicable, and further reduced by the amount of the reduction required under the Act of 1964 (reference (at)).

4. The cost of participation in a survivor benefits program or a veterans insurance program is not considered in computing the required reduction, unless the remainder is inadequate to cover that cost.

D. When combined civilian pay and retired pay exceeds Level V, the amount of the reduction to retired pay will be deposited to the general fund of the Treasury of the United States.

E. The reduction does not apply if the member is employed on a temporary (full or part-time) basis, for the first 30-day period for which the member receives pay.

F. A limited 5-year waiver authority has been designated to the Office of Personnel Management to meet special or emergency employment needs of the government with regard to civilian medical officer positions. However, if there is a break in service of 3 or more days, the waiver is terminated.

G. The limitation on the amount received applies to any one pay period rather than for any given calendar year or fiscal year. The amount of the retired pay reduction is not refundable even though the retiree's combined retired pay and civilian salary for the entire year may be less than the annual pay for Level V of the Executive Schedule.

H. Leave Without Pay (LWOP) during a period of pay cap reduction is treated the same as during a period of dual compensation reduction.

050210. Deductions From Civilian Pay for Increases in Military Retired or Retainer Pay. Under Public Law 97-253 (reference (ax)), each federal agency deducted from the civilian pay of a member or former member of a Uniformed Service, an amount equal to the cost-of-living increase in military retired or retainer pay under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(b) (reference (c)) in April 1983. Public Law 98-270 (reference (ay)), repealed this provision before any further reductions could be made as set out in Public Law 97-253 (reference (ax)). The deduction in civilian pay did not apply if a member's retirement was based on war or combat-incurred injury or disability. The annual amount of the increase was computed as the difference between the adjusted gross before and after the cost-of-living increase. The adjusted gross equals gross less VA compensation less SBP/RCSBP/RSFPP less dual compensation less pay cap.

0503 PAY ADJUSTMENTS

050301. Effective Date for Reduction

A. Permanent (Full-Time or Part-Time) Appointments

1. Reduction in retired pay is required effective with the first day of employment with pay when employed in a permanent full-time appointment.

a. A member of a Uniformed Service, while in a terminal leave status pending retirement, may accept a civilian office or position in the United States Government, its territories or possessions, or the government of the District of Columbia. The pay of that office or position may be received in addition to pay and allowances from the Uniformed Service for the unexpired portion of the terminal leave (5 U.S.C. 5534a (reference (az)), Public Law 90-93 (reference (az)), 56 Comp Gen 855 (reference (ba))).

b. Reduction in retired pay for employment which begins before retirement is effective with the first day of entitlement to retired pay.

c. Employment before retirement is subject to the time limit contained in paragraph 050206, above, prohibiting employment with the Department of Defense immediately after retirement.

2. Reduction is required effective the 31st calendar day when employed in a part-time appointment regardless of hours worked per day, but only for the days for which the employee actually receives pay.

3. When a member is in a leave-without pay status for an entire day which is normally a working day, no reduction in retired pay is required for that day.

B. Temporary (Full-Time or Part-Time), Intermittent, and When Actually Employed (WAE) Appointments

1. Reduction of retired pay is not required for the first 30-day period for which salary is received. The 30-day exclusion does not apply to more than one appointment aggregating more than 30 days within the same fiscal year nor to a reappointment to the same position in the succeeding fiscal year. Reduction is required effective the 31st calendar day for a full-time temporary appointment, and effective with the 31st actual day worked for a temporary part-time or intermittent appointment.

2. Temporary full-time is regular employment with a limited duration. The 30 days are calculated by the full-calendar period employed including Saturdays and Sundays.

3. Temporary appointments may be renewed yearly as long as an employer has the authority to renew them. If a member is serving under more than one appointment, the first period for which the member is paid in an aggregate of 30 days in the fiscal year from all positions in which employed is exempt from reduction.

4. A second appointment conversion which meets the following conditions is not a new appointment, but rather an extension in the original appointment; therefore, a new 30-day exemption is not allowed when there is no change in:

a. The appropriation to be charged with the salary and traveling expenses; and

b. The department or agency under which the service is to be performed; and

c. The position.

5. In determining the aggregate of 30 days in a fiscal year (FY) for members employed under two or more appointments, the period July 1 through September 30, 1976 is treated as part of the FY 77 which began October 1, 1976. FY 77 is treated as a 15-month period for this purpose.

C. Temporary Appointment Pending Establishment of Register (TAPER).
Reduction in retired pay is required effective with the first day of employment with pay.

050302. Effective Date for Termination of Reduction in Retired Pay. Full retired pay entitlement is restored effective the day after the last day for which civilian salary is received. Lump-sum payments of accrued leave have no effect on payment of retired pay.

050303. Computation of Reduced Retired Pay Under the 1964 Act (reference (as))

A. See Tables 5-5 and 5-6 for formulas and example for computing reduced retired pay and reduced taxable pay under the 1964 Act (reference (at)).

B. When a member is employed on an intermittent when actually employed (WAE) basis, divide the monthly reduced retired pay entitlement by 30 days to determine the daily rate of entitlements on the days worked for which salary is paid.

1. Do not prorate partial-day payments.

2. Reduce retired pay for each day civilian salary is received regardless of the number of hours for which salary is paid.

C. If the member's gross retired pay, or gross retired pay as reduced by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) waiver, amount is equal to or less than the dual compensation exempt portion, there is no reduction.

D. The amount of reduction in retired pay, regardless of the type of appointment, may not exceed the gross amount of civilian salary received.

050304. Computation of Reduced Retired Pay Entitlement Under the Economy Act of 1932 (reference (as))

A. If the retired member's civilian salary is equal to or exceeds the $10,000 limitation of the 1932 Act (reference (as)), no entitlement to retired pay exists. If member's civilian salary is less than $10,000 annually, retired pay is reduced to an annual rate sufficient to keep combined incomes within the $10,000 limitation.

1. When a member receives VA compensation, deduct the VA compensation amount before determining the annual rate of retired pay payable, then determine whether the dual compensation provisions will further reduce retired pay.

2. This is an example of the method for computing reduced retired pay when a member is employed under an unlimited appointment on a per annum civilian salary:

$ 640.90	Basic retired pay entitlement
- 350.00	Less VA compensation
290.90	Monthly gross retired pay available
x 12
$ 3,490.80	Annual retired pay payable
$10,000.00	Limited combined income
- 7,560.40	Less civilian salary
2,439.60	Annual retired pay allowable
÷ 12
$ 203.30	Monthly retired pay allowable

B. A retired member could not have accepted appointments limiting the total number of days employed so that a combined civilian salary and retired pay may not exceed the $10,000 limitation.

1. Limited appointments must state on the face of the appointment (Notification of Personnel Action) a specific number of days or hours for which consultative services are to be performed and the daily rate or hourly rate to be paid.

2. Compute the anticipated annual civilian income using the information shown on the Notification of Personnel Action. If the combined retired pay and civilian income exceed the $10,000 limitation, retired pay must be adjusted accordingly.

C. Conversion to the 1964 Dual Compensation Act (reference (at)). The method of applying the $10,000 limitation under the 1932 Act (reference (as)) for members who were subject to the provisions of the 1964 Act (reference (at)) beginning December 1, 1964, was an eleven-twelfths computation of $10,000, or the combined rate of $9,166.66.

050305. Effect on Pay - Dual Compensation Reduction and Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Waiver

A. Retired pay is adjusted retroactively, first to effect a waiver because of VA compensation, and then further reduced under the dual compensation formula when these conditions exist:

1. A Regular commissioned officer or warrant officer accepts federal civilian employment, and

2. Immediately or concurrent with retirement, the member executes a waiver of retired pay in order to receive disability compensation from the VA, and

3. The award, though administratively delayed, is granted by the VA retroactive to the date of the waiver.

B. Retired pay is not adjusted retroactively for members who have a waiver of retired pay in effect in favor of VA compensation and who later accept employment with the federal government. Reduction as provided in subparagraph A, above, is effective with the first day of employment.

C. Retired pay is adjusted retroactively for members employed by the federal government who:

1. Have a waiver of retired pay in effect in favor of VA compensation, and

2. Receive a retroactive VA increase after the effective date of employment.

D. A DD Form 2279 (Request for Retroactive Waiver of Military Retired Pay) is completed by the member, authorizing the Department of Veterans Affairs to pay the member any additional compensation due. This form also authorizes the VA to deduct the overpayment of retired pay from the compensation and refund it to the DFAS-Cleveland Center.

0504 CONFLICT OF INTEREST

050401. General

A. Conflict of interest statutes are intended to safeguard the integrity of public administration and prevent government officials from using their positions and influence for personal gain.

B. The conflict of interest statutes applicable in general to those whose government service has ended accomplish these purposes by:

1. Imposing limitation in some cases upon the employment of former DoD procurement personnel by defense contractors;

2. Requiring the employment of such personnel by defense contractors in other instances be reported; and

3. Restricting the activities of former DoD officers and employees in representing or assisting their employers in claims-related matters or becoming personally involved in the process of "selling" to the government.

C. A comprehensive digest of laws, including conflict of interest laws applicable to retired military personnel, is set forth in DoD 5500.7-R (reference (bb)), Chapters 5 and 9, and Appendix A.

D. Although violation of conflict of interest laws may result in the imposition of criminal penalties (including fines and imprisonment) or administrative fines and sanctions, entitlement to military retired pay is directly affected only when:

★1. A retired Regular officer is convicted of violating 18 U.S.C. 281(a) (reference (bc)) during any period prior to October 13, 1994; or

2. Any member is convicted of violating the Hiss Act (5 U.S.C. 8311-8322) (reference (bd)).

E. Fines levied for convictions under other statutes may result in debts to the United States that may be collected in accordance with Chapter 28; they do not, however, affect a convicted member's entitlement to receive retired pay.

050402. Selling

★A. "Selling," as an activity under the conflict of interest laws, is prohibited during any time prior to October 13, 1994, under 18 U.S.C. 281(a) (reference (bc)). A retired Regular officer may not, during the 2-year period following retirement, represent any person in the sale of anything to the department in which the officer holds retired status. This statute has been interpreted by the Department of Justice as prohibiting a retired Regular officer from representing any party other than himself in connection with a contract for the sale of services or for the sale of supplies. Since an officer is disqualified from holding a position of honor, trust, or profit under the United States as a result of conviction, entitlement to retired pay ceases.

B. The prohibition against selling has been broadly interpreted to include virtually all activities involved in the selling process and to apply in any case reasonably within the scope of the statute where the conduct at which it was directed could arise.

C. The following activities are examples of conduct by retired Regular officers that might be interpreted as selling:

1. Contacting military installations or consulting with DoD officials to obtain information on current or projected military needs and suggesting new lines of potential product development to member's employer.

2. Attending precontract negotiations or preproposal conferences with other members of the employer's firm.

3. Making contacts to promote goodwill that directly or indirectly may result in sales to Uniformed Services agencies or their nonappropriated fund instrumentalities.

4. Giving demonstrations and explaining products with a view toward an eventual sale on behalf of an employer.

5. Making contacts at social functions sponsored by the employer with Uniformed Services personnel who are in positions to influence procurement.

6. Making calls at installations to render technical assistance, update catalog materials, or provide information on companies represented.

7. Contacting procurement and budget personnel on behalf of the employer to discuss general trends in the military environment.

8. Conducting promotional seminars on supplies or products already sold by the employer to the Department of Defense.

D. Whether the retired officer acted in good faith, was ignorant of the law, or will experience financial hardship, has no effect upon the requirement to withhold retired pay for the period of statutory violation.

E. See Table 5-7 for synopsis of Comptroller General decisions as they relate to conflict of interest statutes.

050403. Withholding Retired Pay. Retired pay may be withheld when the employment falls under the category of activities prohibited under conflict of interest laws.

0505 FOREIGN GOVERNMENT EMPLOYMENT

050501. Background

A. Employment of retired members by a foreign government is restricted. The primary restriction is in article 1, section 9, clause 8 of the Constitution of the United States (reference (bf)), which reads: "No Title of Nobility shall be granted by the United States: And no person holding any Office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of Congress, accept any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince, or foreign state." The Comptroller General interpreted this to prohibit employment of all retired personnel, including members of the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve, by a foreign government unless congressional consent is granted.

B. The conditions for accepting foreign employment were modified by Public Law 95-105, section 509(a)(1) and (2) (reference (bg)). The Congress granted consent for retired members to accept employment or compensation from foreign governments if the members obtain the approval of the Secretary concerned and the Secretary of State before acceptance.

1. The approval by the Secretary concerned and Secretary of State for a member to accept foreign employment is only effective prospectively from the date the approval is granted and may not be made retroactively to authorize foreign employment and compensation received before approval is granted.

2. The compensation received from the foreign government without approval is considered received by the retired member for the United States. A debt in favor of the government is created which is to be collected by withholding from retired pay. The debt is an amount equal to the compensation received from the foreign government. When the compensation earned during the period of unauthorized employment exceeds the amount of retired pay accrued during the same period, only the retired pay amount may be collected.

050502. Legislative History

A. The history of the constitutional provisions under consideration indicates that the condition intended to be avoided is the exercise of undue influence by a foreign government upon retired members of the United States.

B. In determining the existence of an employer-employee relationship between a retired member and a foreign government, or instrumentality thereof, the common law rules of agency are applied to determine whether such instrumentality has the right to control and direct an employee in performance of his or her work and the manner in which the work is done.

C. There are at least five criteria that may be considered in determining whether the relationship of employer and employee exists. These are:

1. The selection and engagement of the employee
2. The payments of wages
3. The power to discharge
4. The power to control the employee's conduct

5. The relationship of the work to the employer's business, whether the work is a part of the regular business of the employer.

D. The decisive test to determine the existence of an employer-employee relationship is whether the employer has the right to control and direct the employee in the performance of his or her work and in the manner in which the work is to be done. Additionally, the Comptroller General has ruled that a corporation incorporated in the United States, which maintains a separate identity and appears to be a separate legal entity from its dominant shareholder, does not necessarily become an instrumentality of a foreign government when its principal shareholder is a foreign corporation substantially owned by a foreign government.

050503. Types of Employment

A. Employment by educational or commercial institutions owned, operated, or controlled by a foreign government is included within the scope of this restriction.

B. Employment with a foreign government which requires acquisition of foreign citizenship results in forfeiture of entitlement to retired pay. See Chapter 6, Foreign Citizenship, for additional information.

C. Employment by international agencies, such as the United Nations, is not prohibited.

050504. Adjustment to Retired Pay

A. Withhold retired pay in an amount equal to the amount of compensation received from the foreign government. Compensation includes salary, free transportation, household goods shipments at employer's expense, housing allowances, and gifts. To determine the amount to be withheld from a member on account of the nonmilitary elements of compensation, the value should be set fairly, considering the actual value or estimates of the compensation received. A gift of more than minimal value is deemed to have been accepted on behalf of the United States. It is deposited by the donee for use and disposal as property of the United States.

B. Amounts of retired pay withheld from members of the Uniformed Services who accept foreign employment without congressional consent, as required by the United States Constitution, should be treated as though the member has no entitlement to them and should not be "held in trust" for them pending possible future congressional consent to their receipt.

0506 FEDERAL JUDGES050601. General

A. Title 10, U.S.C. Judges. A person who has completed a term of service as a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces may be eligible for a retirement annuity upon separation from civilian service in the federal government. Retirement annuities and survivor annuities for judges retired from the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces are paid from the DoD Military Retirement Fund.

B. Title 28, U.S.C. Judges. Any justice or judge of the United States appointed to hold office during good behavior may retire after meeting age and service requirements.

050602. Limitations

A. Title 10, U.S.C. Judges. A person who is receiving a retirement annuity by reason of service as a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, and who subsequently is appointed to a position in the federal government, is entitled to the higher of the retirement annuity as a judge or the pay for the federal government position.

B. Title 28, U.S.C. Judges. A member who becomes a judge may not receive military retired pay while performing regular judicial active service as a judge. When the member later retires from judicial active service or enters senior status as a judge, military retired pay shall be resumed or commenced without reduction.

0507 SERVICE IN MILITARY FORCE OF NEWLY DEMOCRATIC NATIONS

050701. Background

A. The Congress has consented to a retired member of the Uniformed Services accepting employment by, or holding an office or position in, the military forces of a newly democratic nation and accepting compensation associated with such employment, office, or position.

B. The Secretary concerned and the Secretary of State jointly shall determine whether a nation is a newly democratic nation.

050702. Approval Required

The consent provided for a member of the Uniformed Services to accept employment or hold an office or position shall apply to a retired member only if the Secretary concerned and the Secretary of State jointly approve the employment or the holding of such office or position.

050703. Continued Entitlement to Retired Pay and Benefits

The eligibility of retired members to receive retired or retainer pay and other benefits arising from the member's status as a retired member of the Uniformed Services may not be terminated by reason of employment or holding of an office or position consented to in paragraph 050702, above. The eligibility of such retired member's dependents to benefits also may not be terminated.

CIVILIAN POSITIONS EXEMPT FROM DUAL COMPENSATION RESTRICTIONS (Includes But Not Limited to These:)
Type Position and/or Employing Agency	Explanation
1. Armed Forces Entrance and Examining Stations	Exception granted by Civil Service Commission (CSC) letter, dated June 19, 1972, to employment of retired military physicians to remain in effect as long as the member remains employed in that position. Exemption expired June 30, 1974 except for those appointed to the position before June 30, 1974.
2. Army Emergency Relief (AER)	Employment with AER is not considered employment with the federal government under Act of 1964. (26 Comp Gen 192)
3. Chaplains employed part time by Department of Veterans Affairs	The CSC exercised its authority to provide an exception to the reduction in retired pay. The exception applies to persons in positions where the duties typically do not require the services for more than 6 hours a day required reduction in retired pay. (United States Civ Svc Directive, April 4, 1966)
4. Fee basis physicians	Fee basis physicians on a contractual relationship do not occupy a "civilian office" within the purview of 5 U.S.C. 3101(3). (45 Comp Gen 81)
5. International organization	Civilian salary is paid from mixed funds contributed by several different countries. (27 Comp Gen 12)
6. Military Sea Transportation Service (MSTS)	Under provisions of 5 U.S.C. 5532(d), CSC has approved exemption from the dual compensation restrictions with reference to these seafaring positions in the MSTS: Radio officer - deck officer - engine officer; unlicensed skill deck positions requiring employee to have United States Coast Guard document as an able seaman; unlicensed skilled engine department positions requiring employee to have a United States Coast Guard document as a qualified member of engine dept., oiler, or fireman-watertender. The exception applies to retired regular officers now employed and who become employed during the period ending February 28, 1969. Exception will continue in effect for an individual who becomes subject to it for as long as he or she remains in one of the positions covered. The exception is subject to removal as the need requires.
7. Mutual Security Act	Employment is limited by the 1932 Act except when appointment as an expert or consultant under provisions of Section 530(a) of the Mutual Security Act of 1954; then position is exempt for all dual compensation statutes.
8. National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA)	The administrator of NASA may make exception to the restrictions with respect to not more than 30 NASA employees appointed to scientific, engineering, or administrative positions under 42 U.S.C. 2473(b)(2)(A).

Table 5-3. Civilian Positions Exempt From Dual Compensation Restrictions

Type Position and/or Employing Agency	Explanation
9. Nonappropriated Fund Activity	Before December 1, 1964, employment not subject to 1932 Act. Effective December 1, 1964, employment under direct jurisdiction and supervision of an administrative official of the Armed Forces is subject to Act of 1964. Direct jurisdiction and supervision by administrative office must be determined by the agency personnel office in addition to the notice of employment with a nonappropriated activity before a conclusive determination of the applicability of dual compensation statute can be activated. (MS Comp Gen B-165534, December 17, 1968)
10. Nonpersonal Service Contract	A retiree employed by nonpersonal-service contract is not subject to dual compensation statutes. (26 Comp Gen 501 and 28 Comp Gen 50) Lecturers are considered under nonpersonal-service contracts. (23 Comp Gen 425 and MS Comp Gen B-134618, May 31, 1958)
11. Retired Nurses	If receiving pay under Act of June 20, 1930, 46 Stat 790, they were not considered retired officers June 22, 1944. On and after June 22, 1944, retired employed nurses who were receiving retired pay on basis of commissioned office became subject to the Act of 1932, as amended.
12. US Soldiers' and Airmen's Home	Subject to 1932 Act from date of appointment (Public Law 374, 78th Congress, June 28, 1944). The Governor of the Home may exempt at any time, not more than two physicians, if it is determined that such exemptions are necessary to recruit or retain well-qualified physicians for the Home. An exemption granted under this section shall terminate upon any break in employment with the Home by a physician of 3 days or more. (Public Law 99-145, Nov 8, 1985)
13. VA Consultant	Appointment to a position with the Department of Veterans Affairs under provisions of 38 U.S.C. 4114(a) as a consultant in a capacity on a fixed fee basis. (45 Comp Gen 559)
14. VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America)	Employees are not deemed to be federal employees except for the purpose of Internal Revenue, Social Security, Federal Employees Compensation and the Federal Tort Claims provisions of 28 U.S.C. (Public Law 88-452, August 20, 1964, Economic Opportunity Act of 1964)
15. VA Doctor or Osteopath	The Secretary of VA may make exception to the restrictions, when necessary, to meet special or emergency employment needs in DM&S resulting from a severe shortage of well-qualified candidates which otherwise cannot be readily met. (Public Law 98-528, October 19, 1984)

Type Position and/or Employing Agency	Explanation
16. Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences	The Board of Regents may exempt, at any time, not more than two physicians if it is determined that such exemptions are necessary to recruit or retain well-qualified physicians for the University. An exemption granted under this section shall terminate upon any break in employment with the University by a physician of 3 days or more. The effective date of this exemption is the first day of the month after the month the exemption is granted.
17. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve Board	The Federal Reserve Board is a "nonappropriated fund" instrumentality and the only such instrumentalities covered by the law are those of the Armed Forces. (Denkler v. United States , 782 F.2d 1003 (Fed. Cir. 1986) and Comp Gen Dec B-226074, June 3, 1988)
18. Contract for Health Services	Retired personnel are not subject to dual compensation restrictions when they enter into contracts with the government under the authority of 10 U.S.C. 1091 (Supp. IV 1986) to provide health care services (B-231565, Nov 14, 1988).
19. 1990 Decennial Census	Temporary Bureau of the Census employees carrying out the 1990 census of population are granted a 6-month exemption between August 16, 1989 and December 31, 1990. The period of this exemption is computed in the same manner as described in 5 U.S.C. 5532(a). However, any employee who was in a position subject to dual compensation restrictions immediately before being placed in the temporary position is not eligible for this exemption. On May 17, 1990 this exemption was revised to eliminate the 6-month limitation and grant exemption through December 31, 1990 to all temporary employees. Those employees whose 6-month exemption had expired were again exempt beginning with May 17, 1990. (Public Law 101-86 as amended by Public Law 101-293) (See exception B-244417, July 1, 1992)
20. National Civilian Community Corps	Members of the CCC's permanent cadre pursuant to Title 42, U.S.C., section 12619(c)(2), (Public Law 103-337, Section 640, October 5, 1994 and ASD (Force Management Policy) Memo, December 23, 1994)

Table 5-4. Exempt Amount Based On Cost-Of-Living Increases

Notes:

1. The 4.4 percent cost-of-living index increase in retired pay authorized by Public Law 89-132, approved August 21, 1965 (79 Stat 545-548), increased the $2,000 amount to $2,088 a year ($174 a month) effective September 1, 1965 for members entitled to retired pay computed on basic (A/D) pay rates authorized by laws in effect before September 1, 1965. Members who are entitled to retired pay based on A/D rates authorized by Public Law 89-132 are restricted to the $2,000 amount plus one-half of the balance of their retired pay. See 45 Comp Gen 164.
2. In 46 Comp Gen 549 and 46 Comp Gen 575, it was held that the amount exempt from reduction for all members irrespective of the date of retirement would be $2,074 effective December 1, 1966.
3. Because of an error in the Consumer Price Index for April 1974, the July 1974 cost-of-living increase was corrected from 6.4 percent to 6.3 percent. The dual compensation exemption amount was originally computed as $270.87 monthly and $3,250.41 yearly. No action is required to adjust the accounts that were reduced by the erroneous exempt amount for the period July 1, 1974 through December 31, 1974.
4. Under 5 U.S.C. 5532(b) and Section 301, Public Law 97-253, members who:
 - a. As of March 1, 1983 are under age 62, are entitled to retired pay on such date, and are holding a federal civilian position on April 1, 1983, are entitled to the exempt amount adjusted by 3.3 percent plus one-half the remainder of retired pay, if any; or
 - b. As of March 1, 1983 are age 62 or more, or military disability retirees who are entitled to retired pay and are holding a federal civilian position on April 1, 1983, are entitled to the exempt amount adjusted by 3.9 percent plus one-half the remainder of retired pay, if any.
 - c. As of December 1, 1984 are under age 62, are entitled to retired pay on such date and are holding a federal civilian position on Dec 1, 1984, are entitled to the exempt amount adjusted 3.5 percent to $6,972.38 plus one-half the remainder of retired pay, if any; or
 - d. As of December 1, 1984 are age 62 or more, or military disability retirees who are entitled to retired pay and are holding a federal civilian position on December 1, 1984, are entitled to the exempt amount adjusted by 3.5 percent to $7,012.87 plus one-half the remainder of retired pay, if any.
5. Applies to officers of the Regular Component who first became a member of a Uniformed Service before August 1, 1986.
6. Applies to officers of the Regular Component who first became a member of a Uniformed Service on or after August 1, 1986.

DECISIONS OF THE COMPTROLLER GENERAL-CONFLICT OF INTEREST
SUMMARY
No.	Reference	Condition	Decision
1.	38 Comp Gen 470	Employment under a contract for personal services with a person who manufactures and/or sells supplies of war materials to military departments, but no personal connection with sales or promotion of sales, is not engaged in selling, contracting, or negotiating to sell.	Not considered in violation of 37 U.S.C. 801(c), as amended.
		Employment requires contact with military departments to promote goodwill.	Such activity will result in sales and is in violation, even though the actual sale is made by another employee of the firm or the sale was not a result of the contact.
2.	39 Comp Gen 366	Retiree signs a proposal and a contract for construction of air field improvements.	This is a violation even though retiree signed only as president of the firm.
3.	39 Comp Gen 751	Retiree contracts for and operates a concession on a military installation.	Not concerned with sale of anything to the Government; not a violation of 37 U.S.C. 801(c), (repealed by Public Law 103-355, October 13, 1994) as amended
4.	40 Comp Gen 511	Consultant to advise a military supplier concerning government needs and assist in designing and manufacturing products for current or future military need.	Not a violation as long as employee does not personally contact the military departments. If contact is made, there is a conflict of interest.
		Employee demonstrates and explains products to representatives of military.	Such activity is aimed at eventual sales and is a violation of statutes.
5.	41 Comp Gen 642	Operations manager, in which capacity employee continued sporadic contact with military.	A violation of statute.
6.	41 Comp Gen 677	Retiree negotiates a contract for shipment of household goods of military personnel which does not transfer ownership of the property to the government.	Such a contract is for performance of services only and does not represent a violation.
7.	41 Comp Gen 784	Retiree is executive of a firm which sells to the military. Vice president for sales reports to the executive.	No violation as long as executive does not sign a bid, proposal, or contract; negotiate a contract; contact the military; or perform liaison activities to promote sales.
8.	41 Comp Gen 799	Retiree performs analytical services for a firm selling to the military. Provides assistance, information, and advice, but does not engage in any activity to induce sales.	No violation unless other information indicates selling may be involved.

Table 5-7. Decisions of the Comptroller General-Conflict of Interest

SUMMARY
No.	Reference	Condition	Decision
9.	42 Comp Gen 32	Employee engaged in contracting activities, but later removed himself from any connection with a bid being considered by the military.	Is a violation only for contracts the employee signed before self-removal from such activity.
10.	42 Comp Gen 87	Over-the-counter sales by a retired Regular officer as owner or representative of the firm. Sales to military not the result of bid, proposal, or contract.	No violation.
		Employment activity which repairs equipment, sells public utilities or meals to military installations.	No violation since these activities are regarded as service rather than sale of tangible property.
		Supervisor responsibility over the sales department or salespersons, but makes no contacts in person or otherwise with military customers.	No violation.
		Retiree maintains lines of communication with military, but has no authority to make sales or negotiate contracts.	No violation.
		Retiree analyzes and reports on legislative or executive agency programs, attends conventions or meetings with military.	No violation unless for the purpose of making sales.
		Retiree arranges for travel and lodging, appointments, and general assistance for a corporation's office in Washington, D.C.	No violation.
		Retiree manages a local office of a company doing business with the military.	Depends on the scope of the job.
		Public relations activities.	Depends on the scope of the job.
		Liaison activities with representatives of foreign governments.	No violation of 37 U.S.C. 801 (c).
11.	42 Comp Gen 236	Precontract discussions with military personnel.	Depends on the nature of the discussions.
		Employment in a consultant firm that represents companies engaged in contracting or selling to military.	No violation solely by reason of such employment as long as selling for the companies is not involved.
		Contacts at places other than government offices, including social gatherings, which are made for the purpose of selling.	A violation of statute.

SUMMARY
No.	Reference	Condition	Decision
12.	43 Comp Gen 408	Contact with procurement and budget personnel of the military to discuss general trends.	A violation, but see 42 Comp Gen 236.
13.	49 Comp Gen 85	Manufacturer's representative for companies selling to the military. Obtain data from invitations to bid, pass along to manufacturers, monitor progress of the contract, act as intermediary between military and manufacturer.	Considered liaison activities prohibited by 37 U.S.C. 801 (c).
14.	53 Comp Gen 616	Sales representative making calls on military for the purpose of technical assistance, updating catalog materials, providing information on productions and determining future markets.	Considered participating in the procurement process for the purpose of selling and is in violation of statute.
15.	53 Comp Gen 753	Foreign government.	Violation of article 1, section 9, clause 8 of the Constitution of the United States.
16.	B-203079, March 22, 1982	Retiree demonstrates an employer's product to customers in the Army and Air Force Exchange Service stores, stocks store with employer's sales literature, and takes inventory of company's sales.	No violation of 37 U.S.C. 801(c) (repealed by Public Law 103-355, October 13, 1994).
		Employee visits exchange service stores to perform warranty repairs on employer's product.	No violation.
		Conducts a seminar for the purpose of explaining the use of products already procured by the agency or service.	No violation.
17.	B-217096, March 11, 1985	Retiree employed by a law firm incorporated in Virginia as a professional corporation, serving as legal counsel for Office of Saudi Military Attache, an instrumentality of foreign government.	Violation of article 1, section 9, clause 8 of the Constitution of the United States.
18.	68 Comp Gen 240	Retiree employed by a DoD contractor discussed changes in specifications of a contract by coordinating a mutually satisfactory technical solution to a problem.	No violation.
19.	B-231498, June 21, 1989	During the period when retiree was employed by Arabian Oil Company (ARAMCO), if the corporation was owned by a foreign government, then the restrictions would be violated and any claim from the violation may be waived under 10 U.S.C. 2774.	Violation of article 1, section 9, clause 8 of the Constitution of the United States.

FORMULA FOR COMPUTATION OF REDUCTION (ACT OF 1978)
A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I
From	subtract	multiply	subtract (note 1)	divide	Add	add	subtract	divide
Monthly gross retired pay	monthly VA compensation	result of column B by 12 months	annual exempt amount 1964 Act	result by 2	Annual exempt amount	annual civilian salary to result from column F (note 2)	Executive Level V salary from result of column G	result from column H by 12 (note 3)

Example:

A.	$ 4,588.00	Monthly gross retired pay
B.	- 170.00	VA compensation
	$ 4,418.00	Reduced retired pay
C.	x 12	Months
	$ 53,016.00	Annual retired pay
D.	- 9,570.85	Annual exempt amount (1964 Act)
E.	43,445.15	Remainder of retired pay
	$ 21,722.58
						To adjust within a pay period:
F.	+9,570.85	Exempt amount
	$ 31,293.43	Annual retired pay reduced by 1964 Act			=26 pay periods =	$1,203.60 biweekly
G.	+83,512.09	Annual civilian salary (note 2)			=26 pay periods =	$3,212.00 biweekly
	$114,805.52					(note 4)
	$114,805.52	Annual combined salary			=26 pay periods =	$4,415.60 biweekly
H.	-108,200.00	Level V of the Executive Schedule			=26 pay periods =	$4,161.54 biweekly
I.	6,605.52	Annual pay in excess of Level V
	$ 550.46	Monthly reduction under Civil Service Reform Act of 1978 (note 3)				$ 254.06 biweekly

NOTES:

1. Delete steps in column D, E, and F for a Reservist or enlisted member not subject to the 1964 Act. Add result of column C to column G and proceed with column H.
2. The civilian salary equals the annual rate provided on the Standard Form 50 divided by 2,087 hours and multiplied by 2,080 (the actual number of hours a member is entitled to civilian salary) and divided by 26 pay periods.
3. If the result of column I in the example leaves an insufficient amount to cover the cost of the member's participation in any survivor benefit program, the pay cap deduction is recomputed with survivor benefit program, the pay cap deduction is recomputed with the cost of that program collected from the result of column F.
4. To adjust Leave Without Pay (LWOP), divide the biweekly civilian salary amount by 80 hours (or use the hourly rate as it appears on the employee's LES) and multiply the results by the number of LWOP hours taken within that biweekly period. The resultant adjustment in the retired pay reduction for the hours of LWOP (pay loss) cannot exceed the biweekly reduction under Civil Service Reform Act of 1978.

CHAPTER 6FOREIGN CITIZENSHIP AFTER RETIREMENT*0601 GENERAL APPLICATION

★060101. The right to retired pay based on years of active service or disability for Regular or Reserve officers and Regular enlisted personnel generally is contingent upon continuation of their military status; loss of citizenship is inconsistent with a continuation of that status.

060102. A member retains military status with the attendant obligation to conform to prescribed rules and regulations and to remain subject to recall to active duty.

A. Retired enlisted members of Regular Components are still considered to hold an office under the United States within the meaning of that term as used in the constitutional provision quoted in Chapter 5, paragraph 050501.

B. Retired Regular officers of the Armed Forces are still in the military service of the United States.

060103. Termination of such military status by loss of United States citizenship would operate to deprive these members of entitlement to retired pay.

060104. A recognized distinction exists between the term "retired" and "entitled to retired pay."

A. It is the law under which a member is retired or becomes entitled to retired pay that governs the member's "retired" status and fixes associated rights. The award of disability retirement pay to Army of the United States officers under section 5 of the Act of April 3, 1939 (reference (bh)), did not confer a retired status to such personnel but merely authorized their entitlement to retired pay without relation to continued military status.

B. The effect of a member's loss of United States citizenship upon payment of retired pay must be viewed in light of circumstances in the individual's case.

0602 FOREIGN RESIDENCE

A citizen of the United States may live outside the United States indefinitely without losing United States citizenship.

0603 LOSS OF UNITED STATES CITIZENSHIP

★060301. Generally, loss of citizenship requires a measure of voluntary positive action. A person who is a citizen of the United States loses that citizenship by voluntarily and intentionally relinquishing United States citizenship:

★A. Obtaining citizenship in a foreign state upon member's application or upon an application filed in member's behalf by a parent, guardian, or duly authorized agent; or

B. Taking an oath or making an affirmation or other formal declaration of allegiance to a foreign state or a political subdivision thereof.

060302. See Table 6-1 for decisions of the Comptroller General pertaining to loss of United States citizenship upon acquisition of foreign citizenship.

0604 CONDITIONS NOT SUBJECTED TO LOSS OF UNITED STATES CITIZENSHIP AND/OR LOSS OF ENTITLEMENT TO RETIRED PAY

060401. Retired pay benefits authorized for non-regular service members of the Uniformed Services in 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)) are viewed as a pension and entitlement to retired pay under 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)) is not dependent on the continuation of military status.

A. A member eligible to receive retired pay at age 60 who, before attaining age 60, acquires foreign citizenship and/or status in a foreign military service, does not lose entitlement to retired pay at age 60.

B. A member who receives retired pay pursuant to 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)) is not required to forfeit such pay upon becoming a citizen of a foreign country. Further, entitlement continues if the member enters the armed forces of the foreign country if the foreign country is not one that is engaged in hostile military operations against the United States.

★060402. A retired alien member of a Regular Component of the Armed Forces who lives in a foreign country does not lose the right to retired pay, in the absence of some provision of law or regulation affecting the member's right in such circumstances.

060403. A right to retirement pay for non-regular members retired for disability under the provisions of the Act of August 27, 1940 (reference (bi)), is not conditioned on their remaining in the military service. Therefore, these non-regular members are entitled to retirement pay without regard to whether they remain citizens of the United States, since that retired pay is viewed as being in the nature of a pension.

0605 DUAL CITIZENSHIP AND/OR SERVICE IN THE ARMED FORCES OF A FOREIGN COUNTRY

★060501. A retired member of a Regular Component, who resides in a foreign country and acquires foreign citizenship by operation of that country's law and who does not relinquish United States citizenship, is considered to have dual citizenship. Dual citizenship alone does not require a member to lose entitlement to retired pay.

★060503. Retired pay must be discontinued when a retired member becomes a member of a foreign military service without authorizing legislation. See Chapter 5, section 0507, for provisions regarding service in military forces of newly democratic nations.

COMPTROLLER GENERAL DECISIONS-FOREIGN CITIZENSHIP
Decision Number	Synopsis
1. 37 Comp Gen 207	The right of a retired member of Regular Navy to receive retired pay is contingent upon continuation of a status in the Regular Navy and loss of United States citizenship by a member is inconsistent with continuation of military status. Therefore, the right to retired pay terminates if a member of the Regular Navy becomes a citizen of a foreign country.
★2. 41 Comp Gen 715	★ a. Retired Reserve officers, receiving retired pay under laws other than 10 U.S.C. 12731, who lose U.S. citizenship by acquiring foreign citizenship are no longer eligible for involuntary recall to active duty in times of war or national emergency, and the acquisition of foreign nationality would be inconsistent with the oath prescribed for Reserve officers to support and defend the Constitution of the United States in 5 U.S.C., section 16. Therefore, in the absence of any law authorizing continuation of an officer's membership in a Reserve organization after the officer becomes a citizen of a foreign country, payment of retired pay may not be approved. b. A Reserve officer may not terminate retired status through resignation or other means, then acquire foreign citizenship and continue to receive retired pay. c. Retired enlisted members of the Regular Components remain a part of the Armed Forces, and their right to retired or retirement pay is dependent on continuation of their military status.
3. 44 Comp Gen 51	a. A retired enlisted member of a Regular Component of the Armed Forces who loses United States citizenship when he or she acquires citizenship in a foreign country has taken a voluntary action so inconsistent with the oath of allegiance to the United States and status as a member of the Armed Forces to warrant termination of retired pay. b. United States citizenship is not a prerequisite to receipt of retired pay; however, if a citizen of the United States by birth acquires foreign citizenship, his or her retired pay may be terminated.
★4. 44 Comp Gen 227	A retired member who voluntarily loses U.S. citizenship by becoming a citizen of a foreign country is regarded as having taken a voluntary action inconsistent with an oath of allegiance to the United States to warrant termination of retired pay.
5. 48 Comp Gen 699	Retired pay benefits authorized non-Regular service members under 10 U.S.C. 12731, viewed as a pension, are not dependent on continuation of military status. Member acquiring foreign citizenship and/or status in a foreign military service before age 60 does not lose entitlement to retired pay at age 60. Neither is retired pay forfeited upon becoming a citizen of a foreign country, and/or entry in the armed forces of a foreign country, provided that country is not one engaged in hostile military operations against the United States.
6. 50 Comp Gen 269	Payment of retired pay to an alien who chooses to live outside the United States after retirement would not constitute a bar to the receipt of retired pay in the absence of some provision of law or regulation affecting retiree's right in such circumstances.

Table 6-1. Comptroller General Decisions-Foreign Citizenship

Decision Number	Synopsis
7. MS Comp Gen B-144694, Feb 14, 1961	An enlisted member of the Regular Air Force-an alien who had met the statutory requirement for enlistment by filing a legal intention to become a citizen of the United States-when retired is entitled to receive retired pay. In the absence of a provision of law barring the payment of retired pay to an alien or indicating the lack of citizenship is consistent with status as a retired member of the Regular Air Force, it would appear that so long as member's allegiance status remains unchanged after retirement, the fact that he or she chooses to live outside the United States after retirement would not in and of itself constitute a bar to the receipt of retired pay.
8. MS Comp Gen B-157646, Oct 5, 1965	A naturalized citizen retired for disability under 10 U.S.C. 1201, who returned to the country of birth and resumes former nationality because of employment, loses retired status. Member receives retired pay, as distinguished from a grant of retirement pay, and upon transfer to the retired Reserve is subject to recall to active duty.
9. 58 Comp Gen 566	a. A retired Regular Army officer residing in Israel acquired Israeli citizenship by operation of Israeli law, but also remains a United States citizen. While the loss of United States citizenship is inconsistent with status as a retired Regular officer and thus results in loss of status as an officer and loss of entitlement to retired pay, dual Israeli/United States citizenship alone does not require loss of entitlement to retired pay. b. A retired Regular Army officer residing in Israel who has dual Israeli/United States citizenship is subject to service in the Israel Defense Forces, the Israeli armed force. Such service in a foreign armed force by a retired Regular officer appears inherently inconsistent with the position as a Regular Army officer, as well as being prohibited (without congressional consent) by article I, section 9, clause 8 of the Constitution of the United States. Thus, service in the foreign armed force would make the status as a retired Army officer very doubtful. Retired pay may not be paid without authorizing legislation.
10. MS Comp Gen B-212481, Feb 2, 1984	A retired member of the Armed Forces who becomes a citizen of a foreign country by naturalization and who voluntarily renounces United States citizenship loses the right to retired pay since entitlement to retired pay depends upon the continuation of the individual's status as a retired member of the military service available for service as required and that status is incompatible with renunciation of United States citizenship. However, such a person who elected to participate in the Survivor Benefit Plan and from whose retired pay the required deductions were being made for coverage under the plan when United States citizenship is renounced, may continue coverage under the plan by making the required payments into the U.S. Treasury.

CHAPTER 7RECOMPUTATION AFTER ADDITIONAL ACTIVE DUTY0701 GENERAL

070101. A retiree is not entitled to receive retired pay upon recall to active duty. On release from active duty, a retiree is entitled to credit the additional time served on active duty for recomputation of retired pay, and may be eligible to receive:

A. Retired pay based on a higher grade to which advanced while on active duty;
or

B. Retired pay based on a disability incurred or aggravated while serving on active duty.

★070102. A member of the Armed Forces who first becomes a member of a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, and who has become entitled to retired or retainer pay and later serves on active duty (other than for training) is entitled to recomputation of retired pay per paragraph 070607, below, and Table 7-4, rules 2 and 4.

070103. As an exception to section 0703, below, and subject to the following criteria, a member of the Armed Forces shall have retired or retainer pay recomputed under the rates of basic pay in effect at the time of that release from active duty and increased by the amount by which the member's retired or retainer pay would have increased during the period beginning on the date of the member's release from active duty and ending on October 18, 1984

A. Was voluntarily called or ordered to active duty during the period beginning Oct 1, 1963, and ending Sep 30, 1971;

B. Was at the time of such call or order entitled to retired or retainer pay;

C. Served on such active duty under such call or order for a continuous period of at least 2 years; and

D. Was released from such active duty before October 1, 1973. . This provision applies to monthly retired and retainer pay payable beginning November 1984.

0702 COMPUTATION OF ADDITIONAL ACTIVE SERVICE

070201. The additional time spent on active duty after retirement either:

A. Increases the years of service for percentage and basic pay purposes for recomputing retired pay reversion.

	YR	MO	DAY
Date released from active duty	74	05	28
Date recalled to active duty	71	09	09
Additional time on active duty	02	08	20

(1 day added for inclusive dates)

Service credited upon retirement	22	06	03
Plus additional active duty	02	08	20
Service credited for recomputation	25	02	23

B. Increases the years of service for percentage purposes, as shown in subparagraph A, above, and the retired or retainer pay base for recomputing retired pay upon reversion for members who first become members after September 7, 1980.

0703 LENGTH OF TIME ON ACTIVE DUTY

070301. A retiree who serves on active duty after retirement for a continuous period of at least 2 years and returns to the retired list not by reason of disability is entitled to:

A. Retired pay recomputed under the rates of basic pay in effect upon release from active duty if the retiree received these rates for at least 2 years, see paragraph 070103, above, for exception; or

B. Retired pay recomputed under the basic pay rates in effect before the current basic pay rate if the retiree did not receive the current rate for at least 2 years, plus applicable cost-of-living increases; or

C. Retired pay computed using the basic pay rates under which the member's retired pay was computed when the member entered on active duty, plus applicable cost-of-living adjustments made under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)) after the member first became entitled to that pay.

070302. A retiree who does not serve on active duty for at least 2 years is entitled to retired pay recomputed under the rates of basic pay under which retired pay was computed when the retiree entered on that active duty, plus applicable cost-of-living adjustments.

070303. A retiree who reverts to retired status with a disability rating of 30 percent or more is entitled to recomputation of retired pay per paragraph 070603, below.

0704 APPLICABLE BASIC PAY RATES

070401. See Tables 7-1 and 7-3 for basic pay rates and cost-of-living adjustment percentages to use when a retiree reverts and is entitled to retired pay based on service.

070402. See Tables 7-2 and 7-3 for basic pay rates and cost-of-living adjustment percentages to use when a retiree reverts with a disability rating of 30 percent or more.

070403. See the provisions of 10 U.S.C. 1401a(f) (the Tower Amendment) (reference (c)) (Chapter 3, section 0303) to determine if basic pay rates authorized under that provision afford greater retired pay entitlement than the basic pay rates in Tables 7-1 and 7-2.

070404. See paragraph 070103, above, for certain recalled members who may receive retired or retainer pay recomputed using the current basic pay rate upon release from active duty although the member had not received the rate at least 2 years.

0705 GRADES AUTHORIZED FOR RECOMPUTATION

070501. A retiree advanced in grade on the retired list while serving on active duty after retirement may decline advancement to the higher grade upon release from active duty if advancement results in a reduction in retired pay entitlement. The retiree is entitled to:

A. Recomputation at the higher grade based on the basic pay rates applicable at the time of retirement increased by an applicable adjustment in that pay, (see Chapter 8) or,

B. Recomputation at the grade held before advancement based on the basic pay rates replaced by those in effect upon release from active duty if active duty after retirement was for a continuous period of at least 2 years.

070502. It is not mandatory that a retiree be advanced on the retired list. The retiree is "entitled" to be advanced, if the retiree so chooses. Once advanced, the retiree has retired pay rights determined under the section governing such advancement.

070503. A retired officer recalled to active duty (other than for training) in the grade held on the retired list, under former 10 U.S.C. 6150 (reference (c)) (repealed), or under any other law that authorized advancement on the retired list based on a special commendation for the performance of duty in actual combat, may have retired pay recomputed upon release from active duty based on that grade; and,

A. As prescribed in Table 7-4, rule 1, and

B. On the basis of the rates in effect upon release from active duty if the retiree received these rates for a continuous period of at least 3 years; or

C. On the basis of the rates replaced by those in effect upon release from active duty if the retiree did not receive the current rates for a continuous period of at least 3 years.

070504. A retiree recalled to active duty after retirement and promoted in grade while on active duty may elect, upon release from that active duty, to have retired pay recomputed based on either

A. The higher grade to which promoted in which the retiree served satisfactorily; or

B. The lower grade held at initial retirement.

070505. A retiree recalled to active duty after retirement and demoted in grade while on active duty may elect, upon release from that active duty, to have retired pay recomputed based on either

A. The grade to which demoted; or

B. The pay to which entitled in the grade held at initial retirement.

0706 RECOMPUTATION OF ENTITLEMENT

★070601. A member of the Armed Forces entitled to retired pay, who thereafter serves on active duty (other than for training) and who does not incur a disability of at least 30 percent, is entitled to recomputation of retired pay upon release from active duty per Table 7-4, rules 1 or 2. (See Figures 7-1 and 7-2.)

070602. A member of the Armed Forces is entitled, upon release from active duty, to retired pay, as specified in paragraph 070604, below, if he or she:

A. Retired other than for physical disability; and

B. While on active duty incurs a physical disability of at least 30 percent for which the member would be otherwise eligible for disability retired pay.

070603. A member of the Armed Forces is entitled upon release from active duty, to recomputation of retired pay, per paragraph 070604, below, if he or she:

A. Retired for temporary disability or on the Temporary Disability Retired List (TDRL); and

B. Incurs, while on active duty after his or her name was placed on that list, an additional physical disability or one that aggravates the original physical disability; and

C. Is qualified for temporary or permanent disability retirement

070604. A member of the Armed Forces covered by paragraph 070602 or 070603, above, may elect to receive either:

A. The retired pay to which entitled when the member retired, increased by applicable adjustments in that pay, as specified in, Chapter 8, after the member first became entitled to that pay; or

B. Retired pay computed per Table 7-4, rule 2.

070605. A retiree covered by paragraph 070602 or 070603, above, who is promoted to a higher grade in which he or she serves satisfactorily (as determined by the Secretary concerned) while on active duty after retirement or after member's name was placed on the TDRL, is entitled to retired pay of the grade in which:

A. The member would be eligible to retire if retiring upon that release from active duty in that higher grade; or

B. The member would be eligible to transfer to the FR/FMCR if transferring upon that release from active duty.

070606. Notwithstanding paragraph 070601, above, a retiree covered by that paragraph may elect, upon release from active duty, to have retired pay:

A. Recomputed according to the formula in Table 7-4, rule 1, but using the rate of basic pay under which retired pay was computed when the member entered on active duty; and

B. Increased by any applicable adjustments in that pay as specified in Chapter 8, after the member first became entitled to that pay.

070607. A member of the Armed Forces who first became a member of a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, and who has become entitled to retired or retainer pay and thereafter serves on active duty (other than for training) is entitled to have retired pay:

A. Recomputed according to the formula in Table 7-4, rule 2, but using the retired pay to which the member became entitled upon retirement, and

B. Increased by any applicable adjustments in that pay under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)) after the member initially became entitled to that pay.

(10 U.S.C. 1402) (With at Least 2 Years of Active Service After Recall) (Continued)

NOTES:

1. See 48 Comp Gen 398.
2. See 50 Comp Gen 232.
3. See 48 Comp Gen 204.
4. If member was first retired on or after Oct 1, 1967, was recalled to active duty on or after Oct 1, 1967, and reverted to retired status, the provision of 10 U.S.C. 1401a(e) may be applied (52 Comp Gen 469). However, 10 U.S.C. 1401a(e) was repealed by Public Law 98-94, Sep 24, 1983. (See paragraph 030203.)
5. If member was initially retired on or after Oct 1, 1983, the amount computed, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. Any future adjustments to such pay must be made on the rounded figure. Retired pay of members retired on Sep 30, 1983 will not be rounded until there is an adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a; then, and with each subsequent adjustment, the amount adjusted, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. The rounded amount becomes the member's entitlement and any future adjustments shall be based on this rounded entitlement.
6. Public Law 97-92 established new rates for Executive Level V personnel effective Jan 1, 1982, which permitted an increase in the maximum amount payable for grades O-7, O-8, O-9, and O-10. Members received a .7 percent cost-of-living adjustment effective Mar 1, 1982, and rule 25 through end from Table 7-3.
7. Public Law 97-377 permitted an increase in the maximum amount payable for Executive Level V personnel effective Dec 18, 1982. Grades O-8, O-9, and O-10 were affected. Members received cost-of-living adjustment under Table 7-3, rule 26 through end.
- ★8. See, Chapter 8, section 0804 for the applicable first cost-of-living adjustment for members who enter a Uniformed Service after Jul 31, 1986, or before Aug 1, 1986 and whose retired pay is computed using a retired pay average (high 36 month pay average).
- ★9. Members who enter a Uniformed Service on or after August 1, 1986 receive the difference between the full cost-of-living adjustment and 1% vice the full cost-of-living adjustment shown on Table 7-3.

NOTES:

1. See 48 Comp Gen 398.
2. On Mar 1, 1982, members eligible for recomputation on Oct 1, 1980 rate plus cost-of-living adjustment 2.7 (March 1981) and 8.7 (March 1982), and Table 7-3, rules 25 through end are: grades 31, 32, 33, O-7, O-8, O-9, and O-10. However, members in grade O-7, O-8, O-9, and O-10 eligible for computation under January 1982 rates (see para 080450) remain under January 1982 rates plus cost-of-living adjustment .7 (March 1982) and rules 25 through end, Table 7-3.
3. On Apr 1, 1983, grades O-7 are recomputed on Jan 1, 1982 rate plus cost-of-living adjustment .7 and Table 7-3, rules 25 through end. Grades O-8, O-9, and O-10, who retire Oct 1, 1982 through Dec 17, 1982, remain under January 1982 rate plus cost-of-living adjustment .7 (March 1982) and rules 25 through end. Grades O-8, O-9, and O-10, who retire Dec 18, 1982, or later, remain under rates effective Dec 18, 1982, plus cost-of-living adjustment for rule 26 through end, Table 7-3.
4. On Dec 1, 1986, pre-August 1986 members received a 1.3 cost-of-living adjustment. Post-August 1986 members entitled to retired pay based on October 1985 rates did not receive a cost-of-living adjustment.
5. Executive Level V increased effective March 1, 1987 for grades O-8, O-9, and O-10.
- ★6. See Chapter 8, section 0804 for the applicable first cost-of-living adjustment for members who enter a Uniformed Service after Jul 31, 1986, or before Aug 1, 1986 and whose retired pay is computed using a retired pay average (high 36 month pay average).
- ★7. Members who enter a Uniformed Service on or after August 1, 1986 receive the difference between the full cost-of-living adjustment and 1% vice the full cost-of-living adjustment shown on Table 7-3.

NOTES:

- ★1. For a member who has been entitled, for a continuous period of at least 2 years, to basic pay under the rates of basic pay in effect upon release from active duty, compute under those rates. For a member who has been entitled to basic pay for a continuous period of at least 2 years upon that release from active duty, but who is not covered by the preceding sentence, compute under the rates of basic pay replaced by those in effect upon that release from active duty. For any other member, compute under the rates of basic pay under which the member's retired pay or retainer pay was computed when member entered on that active duty.
- ★2. Before applying percentage factor, credit each full month of service that is in addition to the number of full years of service creditable to the member as one-twelfth of a year. Disregard any remaining fractional part of a month.
3. If member was initially retired on or after Oct 1, 1983, the amount computed, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. Any future adjustments to such pay must be made on the rounded figure. Retired pay of members retired on Sep 30, 1983 will not be rounded until there is an adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a; then, and with each subsequent adjustment, the amount as adjusted, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. The rounded amount becomes the member's entitlement and any future adjustments shall be based on this rounded entitlement.

CHAPTER 8BASIC PAY RATES, LEGISLATIVE AND COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENTS TO RETIRED PAY*0801 PURPOSE

080101. Information in this chapter enables the reader to determine the accuracy of a member's current retired pay through a history of basic pay rates, retired pay increases, and the application of special provisions in determining retired pay since October 1949. Retired pay for members who have entered a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980 is computed using a retired or retainer pay base. See Chapter 3 for gross pay computation. This chapter explains the effect of legislative and cost-of-living adjustments on retired pay that has been computed using a retired or retainer pay base.

080102. Before June 1, 1958, compiling tables to show the actual rates of retired pay was relatively simple since all members (except the pre-October 1, 1949, "saved pay" accounts) received a direct percentage of the active duty basic pay rates in effect October 1, 1949 through May 31, 1958. With the enactment of Public Law 85-422 (reference (ac)), and later active duty and retired pay adjustments, it became increasingly more difficult to prepare and maintain tables reflecting the pay of members on the retired rolls and, eventually, preparing such tables was no longer feasible. The applicable active duty pay tables are now serve as the basis for determining the rate of retired pay.

080103. For members who have entered a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980:

A. The amount of retired pay is individualized. Members who retire with the same grade and years of service for percentage and basic pay purposes may or may not receive the same amount of retired pay.

B. The member's current retired pay can be verified from the retired or retainer pay base, years of service for percentage purposes or percentage of disability, retired pay increases, and the application of any special provisions in retired pay identified in this chapter.

0802 DEFINITIONS

080201. The terms used in this chapter are:

A. Pay Table Code. The designation by number (or other means) used by the Military Services to identify active duty pay rates in effect during the different time periods.

★B Cost-of-Living Adjustment. Percentage change increases applied to retired pay based on laws using the Consumer Price Index (CPI), Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers-U.S. City Average, CPI-W, as published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, to determine the amount of the increase. Full cost-of-living adjustment percentages appear in Table 7-3.

1. Full Cost-of-Living Adjustment. Members on the retired rolls receive the full cost-of-living adjustment if their retired pay is computed using the basic pay rates which were effective before the previous cost-of-living adjustment.

2. Partial Cost-of-Living Adjustment. Members whose retired pay is computed using the basic pay rates that become effective at the same time or after the previous cost-of-living adjustment receive a partial cost-of-living adjustment. This increase is effective from the later of the date of the full cost-of-living adjustment or date of retirement.

C. One Percent Add-On. This is an additional 1 percent added to all full cost-of-living adjustment in retired pay from November 1, 1969 through March 31, 1976. The 1 percent did not apply to partial cost-of-living adjustment. The add-on was provided to make up for the 3-month time lag between the rise in the CPI and the actual increase in retired pay. Public Law 94-440 (reference (bj)), eliminated the 1 percent add-on.

D. Legislative Increases. This is any adjustment in retired pay authorized by legislation that identifies a percentage increase rather than being based on the CPI.

E. Recomputation. This is the provision for recomputing retired pay using a pay table other than that used in the first computation of retired pay.

F. Uniform Retirement Date Act (URDA) (reference (x)). This statute (1) provides, under certain retirement laws, that members cannot be retired before the first day of the month after the date of first eligibility, and (2) determines the pay table used in computing retired pay. This provision is especially significant when the retirement date coincides with the effective date of an active duty basic pay rate increase, because of the additional requirement to compute pay on the rates in effect as of the date retirement would have occurred except for this restriction.

G. Otherwise Qualified. This term refers to members, retired under a particular law, who are eligible for retirement under another law that may provide greater benefits. It pertains primarily to disability retirees when members have enough service to be retired for non-disability.

H. Years of Service for Basic Pay. Computation of service years creditable in determining the basic pay rate upon which retired pay is to be based, may vary depending upon retirement law. (See Chapter 1.)

I. Years of Service for Percentage Multiplier. This refers to service years creditable in determining the percentage multiplier factor (2-1/2 percent times years of service of basic pay) in retired pay computation. Computation of years of service may vary depending upon retirement law. For Reserve retirements under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)), Reserve service points are converted to years of service (i.e., total points divided by 360 = years of service). (See Chapter 1.)

J. Burchinal Decision. This Comptroller General decision held that, under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(e) (reference (c)), retired pay is computed only under the current pay rates or the pay rates in effect immediately before the current rate.

K. Pay Inversion. A condition that exists during the periods when the cost-of-living adjustment in retired pay exceeds the percentage increases applied to active duty basic pay rates.

L. Retired Pay Base. This is an average of the highest monthly basic pay rates applicable to a member determined by the length of time member was a member of a Uniformed Service (less than or at least 36 months) and/or the type of retirement (e.g., disability or voluntary). The retired pay base or retainer pay base applies to members who entered a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980. It replaced the monthly basic pay rate formerly used to compute of retired or retainer pay.

0803 MAJOR CHANGES IN THE USE OF BASIC PAY RATES AND CONDITIONS APPLICABLE TO COMPUTATION OF RETIRED PAY

080301. The Career Compensation Act (reference (w)) stipulated that basic pay rates would be based both on pay grade and total years of service. The Act also established new methods for computing disability retirements.

080304. Public Law 89-132 (reference (bk)), effective September 1, 1965, changed the provisions for determining the retired pay cost-of-living adjustment. Instead of the yearly determination, the Secretary of Defense would determine the retired pay increase once the CPI had increased at least 3 percent over the previous CPI base and remained at that rate for 3 consecutive months. The adjustment in retired pay was the highest percent of increase reached during the 3-month period. The cost-of-living adjustment was effective the first day of the third month beginning after the 3-month period.

080305. Public Law 90-207 (reference (bl)), effective October 1, 1967, added subsections (c) through (e) under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)). Subsections (c) and (d) of reference (c) stipulated that retired pay, when computed from the current basic pay rates, would increase at the later of the next cost-of-living adjustment or retirement date by a partial adjustment. The partial adjustment represented the percent by which the new base index exceeded the index in effect on the day before the basic pay increase. Subsection (e) (reference (c)), a saved-pay provision, permitted computation of retired pay on the basic pay rates in effect immediately preceding those in effect on retirement date if they were more favorable because of a cost-of-living adjustment. Title 10 United States Code, section 1401a(e) (reference (c)) was repealed by Public Law 98-94 (reference (aj)), effective September 24, 1983. See paragraph 080313, below. Section 8(a) of Public Law 90-207 (reference (bl)) provided that, effective January 1, 1968, whenever the General Schedule of Compensation for federal classified employees increased, an adjustment in the monthly basic pay authorized members of the Uniformed Services immediately would become effective.

080306. Public Law 91-179 (reference (bm)) effective October 31, 1969, stipulated that 1 percent would be added to the percentage increase each time there was a general cost-of-living adjustment to retired pay. Partial cost-of-living adjustment increases did not include the 1 percent.

080307. Public Law 94-440 (reference (bj)) again changed the provisions for determining the cost-of-living adjustments to retired pay. Beginning with March 1977, cost-of-living adjustments occurred twice each year; effective March 1 and September 1. The March adjustment was determined by the percentage change in the consumer price index (CPI) between June and December of the previous year. The September adjustment was determined by the percentage change in the CPI between the previous December and June. In accordance with Public Law 94-361 (reference (bn)), these adjustments were the actual percentage change (nearest 1/10 of 1 percent) without the additional 1 percent. Beginning October 1976, partial cost-of-living adjustment changes were made for members whose retired pay was computed using the basic pay rates which became effective in months other than January or July. The partial cost-of-living adjustment was the percentage (closest 1/10 of one percent) of change in the CPI between the month before establishment of the new basic pay rates and the following June or December (which was used as the new base CPI).

080308. Pay Inversion. Effective with Public Law 85-422 (reference (ac)) on June 1, 1958 (which prohibited recomputation of retired pay each time active duty pay was increased), it was assumed that members, of the same pay grade and years of service retired under later active duty pay increases, would receive a greater retired pay. Beginning in 1971, however there were instances where the cumulative cost-of-living adjustment applied to retired pay was greater than the increases in the active duty pay rates. This was popularly known as "pay inversion" and created some retention problems because, through early retirement, members could increase their retired pay rather than remaining on active duty. Under 53 Comp Gen 698 (reference (bo)), known as the "Burchinal Decision," members were restricted to the greater amount, based on two computations of retired pay, of pay computed on the active duty pay rates in effect:

A. At the time of retirement using the pay grade and years of service for both basic pay and percentage multiplier at the time of retirement, or

B. Immediately before the active duty basic pay rates in effect on the date of retirement, plus the cost-of-living adjustment in retired pay applicable to those basic pay rates. For this computation, the same pay grade and years of service for both basic pay and multiplier at time of retirement were used even though the computation used the earlier basic pay rates.

080309. Tower Amendment. Public Law 94-106, October 7, 1975, (reference (fg)), added subparagraph (f) to 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)). The new provision stipulated another method to offset partially the effect of "pay inversion." This method involved computing pay based on any previous basic pay rates, on and after January 1, 1971, plus cost-of-living adjustment, if the member was eligible for retirement at the time those rates were in effect. The computation was restricted to the pay grade and years of service at that earlier time. (For retirements on October 5, 1994 or later, the computation may not be based on a grade higher than that held at time of retirement.) The statute applies to all members retired on or after January 1, 1971. There were no retroactive pay adjustments however, for the period before October 7, 1975. A member who is recalled to active duty after retirement is not entitled to recomputation of retired pay under the Tower Amendment upon release from that active duty. Pay recomputation upon that release is restricted to the methods prescribed in 10 U.S.C. 1402 (reference (c)) covered in Chapter 7 of this Regulation. The Tower Amendment did not repeal or modify those provisions.

080311. On August 13, 1981, Public Law 97-35 (reference (bq)) revised the frequency for cost-of-living adjustment from semiannual to annual for retired pay, retainer pay, survivor annuities, and dual compensation amounts. This legislation became effective with the amendment to 5 U.S.C. 8340(b) (reference (az)), also enacted by Public Law 97-35 (reference (bq)). The annual cost-of-living adjustment, effective March 1 of each year, was based on the accumulative percentage change in the price index published for December of the preceding year over the price index published for December of the year prior to the preceding year, adjusted to the nearest 1/10th of 1 percent.

080312. Public Law 97-253 (reference (ax)), revised the cost-of-living adjustment mechanism under federal retirement systems during fiscal year 1983. The revision affected the eligibility, percentage, and effective dates of such adjustments. See Chapter 5, paragraph 050210, of this Regulation for the civilian dollar offset reduction coincident to the military cost-of-living increase (repealed in Public Law 98-369 (reference (br))).

A. First (partial) Adjustment. Members who had entitlement to a first adjustment in initial amounts of retired or retainer pay under 10 U.S.C. (reference (c)), as computed on the active duty base pay scale, became entitled to a first adjustment in retired or retainer pay equal to the percentage increase in CPI occurring between September and December 1982.

B. Members Under Age 62. Any member under age 62 on or before March 1, 1983, who was entitled to an adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(b) (reference (c)), received an adjustment based on an assumed increase in the price index. The assumed increase in the price index was 6.6 percent for fiscal year 1983. Retired or retained pay increased by one-half the assumed increase plus the amount by which the actual percentage increase in the price index increased over the assumed increase from December through December of the preceding time period.

C. Members Age 62 or Over. Any member who was age 62 or more on March 1, 1983, and entitled to an adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(b) (reference (c)) in retired or retainer pay on that date, became entitled to that increase without limitation.

D. Military Disability Retirees. Any member who was retired by reason of physical disability under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 61 (reference (c)), and entitled to an adjustment of retired pay under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(b) (reference (c)) on March 1, 1983, received that adjustment without limitation.

E. Effective Date. The effective date for cost-of-living adjustments for FY 1983 was changed from March 1 to April 1.

080313. The DoD Authorization Act, FY 1984 (reference (aj)), affected computation of retired and retainer pay.

A. Section 921 of the Act (reference (aj)) repealed the 1-year look-back provision (10 U.S.C. 1401a(e)) (reference (c)). Members who first become eligible to retire or transfer after September 24, 1983, would not use the 1-year look-back provision in computing their retired pay. Section 921 of (reference (aj)), however, had a savings provision that permitted any member, who was eligible to retire on September 24, 1983, to use the 1-year look-back as though that provision had not been repealed, provided that the member retired on or before September 24, 1986. If such member retired after September 24, 1986, the retired or retainer pay could not be less than what it would have been if the member actually retired on September 23, 1986.

NOTE: Section 921 reference (aj) did not affect the Tower Amendment (10 U.S.C. 1401a(f) (reference (c))). Under this statute, any member who used the Tower Amendment to compute his or her retired pay, as though he or she had retired on a date when he or she otherwise would have been entitled to use the 1-year look-back provision, could apply the 1-year look-back provision to ensure that their retired pay was not less than what it would have been had they actually retired on the earlier date.

B. Section 922 of reference (aj) amended all statutes that previously had authorized the rounding of monthly retired or retainer pay. All members who retire on or after October 1, 1983 had their retired or retainer pay rounded. In the initial computation of gross retired pay, any amount that was not a multiple of $1 was rounded down to the next lower multiple of $1. All further reductions, deductions, withholdings, and allotments were made from the rounded entitlement. Future adjustments to such pay were made on the rounded figure. For members retired on September 30, 1983, no rounding was made until there was an adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)); then, and with each subsequent adjustment, the amount as adjusted, if not a multiple of $1, is rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. This became the member's entitlement and any future adjustments were based on this rounded figure.

080314. Public Law 98-270 (reference (ay)), amended 5 U.S.C. 8340(a) and (b) (reference (az)) to modify cost-of-living adjustments that also applied to military retired and retainer pay under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(b) (reference (c)). The effective date for cost-of-living adjustments was changed from March 1 to December 1. The cost-of-living adjustment equaled the percentage change in the price index for the base quarter of such year over the price index for the base quarter of the preceding year. The price index for a base quarter was defined as the arithmetical mean of such index for the 3 months of the base quarter. The partial cost-of-living adjustment equaled the percentage increase of the average CPI for July, August, and September over the CPI for the preceding December.

080315. The Military Retirement Reform Act of 1986, Public Law 99-348 (reference (bs)):

A. Reduced the retired pay multiplier for any member who first became a member of a Uniformed Service after July 31, 1986, and who retired before age 62 with less than 30 years of creditable service (excluding retirements under Title 10, Chapters 61 and 1223 (reference (c))). The multiplier was reduced by:

1. 1 percentage point for each full year that the member's years of creditable service were less than 30; and
2. 1/12 of 1 percentage point for each month by which the member's years of creditable service (after counting all full years of such service) was less than a full year,

B. Stipulated cost-of-living increases for any member who first became a member of a Uniformed Service on or after August 1, 1986, when the increase in the CPI exceeded 1 percent. The cost-of-living increase was 1 percentage point less than the increase in CPI; and

C. Restored the reduction in retired pay multiplier under (1) above at age 62 and provided a one-time restoral at age 62 for the reduction in cost-of-living increase under

(2) above. Sample calculations of retired pay catch up at age 62 and the average monthly CPI by quarter are in Appendix U.

080316. Public Law 99-576 (reference (bt)) guaranteed that military retired pay cost-of-living adjustments were unaffected by Public Law 99-177 (reference (bu)) during fiscal years 1987 through 1989.

080317. The grade Chief Warrant Officer, W-5, was established, effective February 1, 1992, for the four Military Services.

080318. Effective January 1, 1993, a longevity step for "over 24," but less than 26 years, was added for pay grades E-7, E-8, E-9, W-4, W-5, and O-6.

080319. Public Law 103-66, August 10, 1993 (reference (fm)) delayed the payment of the December 1, 1993, military retirement cost-of-living adjustment until March 1, 1994. Disability retirements and survivor annuities were unaffected.

080321. In FY 1996, the cost-of-living adjustment became effective December 1, 1995. Certain adjustments, however, were not payable for periods before March 1996: increases in retired or retainer pay for members and former members retired on the basis of longevity, age, or non-Regular service (10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223, (reference (c))). Adjustments, which became payable beginning December 1, 1995, included the increases in survivor annuities and survivor benefit program costs, retired pay based on disability, and the exclusion amounts for dual compensation.

★080322. The FY 1997 DoD Authorization Act (reference (fp)) clarified the method of computing the first cost-of-living adjustment of retired pay for members who entered a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980, but before August 1, 1986.

0804 PROVISIONS OF PAY CHANGES, EXCEPTIONS, AND SPECIAL COMPUTATIONS

080401. The Career Compensation Act (reference (w)) stipulated the:

A. Establishment of new basic pay rates, using a combination of pay grade and total years of service pay.

B. Disability retirement based on a percentage of disability, using the Department of Veterans Affairs Schedule of Ratings for establishing such percentages with pay computed based on years of service or percentage of disability, as the member elected.

C. A revised method for recomputing pay for members who served on active duty after retirement.

D. Automatic recomputation for members retired for non-disability reasons before October 1, 1949, on the October 1, 1949 basic pay rates, if greater than rates in effect before October 1, 1949.

E. An option for members retired for disability before October 1, 1949, upon physical evaluation and assignment of a percentage of disability, to elect not later than October 1, 1954, to:

1. Remain at the rates in effect before October 1, 1949 (saved pay);
2. Have pay computed on the October 1, 1949 rates, using either disability percentages assigned or years of active service; or
3. Receive severance pay.

F. An option for members who were hospitalized on October 1, 1949, and retired before January 1, 1951 for the disability for which they were hospitalized, to elect pay based on the laws and pay tables in effect before October 1, 1949 (saved pay).

080402. Public Law 82-346 (reference (bv)), effective May 1, 1952, provided for an increase of 4 percent applied to retired saved pay accounts, regular retired accounts, and active duty basic pay rates.

080403. Public Law 84-20 (reference (bw)), effective April 1, 1955, provided for:

- A. Increased basic pay rates.
- B. A 6 percent increase for disability retired saved pay accounts.
- C. Recomputation of retired accounts (other than saved pay) on the new basic pay rates.

D. A 6 percent increase for non-disability retirees receiving pay computed on pre-October 1, 1949 rates or recomputation on April 1, 1955 basic pay rates, whichever was greater.

E. For officers with less than 3 years of service and warrant officers and enlisted members with less than 2 years of service retired for disability or placed on the TDRL. Pay computed on the April 1, 1955 rates, plus 6 percent.

080404. The Military Pay Act 1958 (reference (ac)), effective June 1, 1958, provided for:

- A. Increased basic pay rates.
 - B. Retired pay increase of 6 percent for members receiving retired pay on May 31, 1958.
 - C. Pay computed on the June 1, 1958 basic pay rates, plus 6 percent for members retired for disability on or after June 1, 1958, with 2 or less years of service.
 - D. An additional new basic pay rate for certain pay grades with more than 20 years of service.
 - E. Two new enlisted pay grades, E-8 and E-9, and two new officer pay grades, O-9 and O-10.
 - F. Basic pay rates for new pay grades O-1E, O-2E, O-3E, for officers in grades O-1, O-2, O-3 with 4 or more years of active enlisted service.
 - G. Computation of retired pay on the April 1, 1955 basic pay rates (active duty saved-pay rates), if greater.
 - H. Retired pay computed on the April 1, 1955 pay rates, but not the 6 percent increase, for members retired after June 1, 1958, and receiving active duty saved pay.
 - I. The greater of pay computed on the June 1, 1958, basic pay rates, or the April 1, 1955 rates plus 6 percent, for members retired on June 1, 1958.
 - J. Retired pay recomputed effective June 1, 1958, for officers retired before June 1, 1958, who served on active duty before that date in the grade of general, admiral, lieutenant general, or vice admiral for at least 180 days. This recomputation was computed on the April 1, 1955 basic pay rates of pay grade O-8 increased by $100 for pay grade O-9 and $200 for pay grade O-10 with the result increased by 6 percent.
080405. The Uniformed Services Pay Act (reference (am)), effective October 1, 1963, provided for:
- A. Increased basic pay rates.
 - B. Retired pay computed on the October 1, 1963 basic pay rates plus 6 percent for members retired for disability on or after October 1, 1963, with 2 years of service or less.
 - C. A 5 percent increase in retired pay for members retired before September 30, 1963, except that:

1. Nondisability retirees receiving pay computed on the rate in effect before October 1, 1949, were entitled to the 5 percent increase or recomputation on the June 1, 1958, basic pay rates, using the 2-1/2 percent formula, whichever was greater.

2. Retirees receiving pay computed on the April 1, 1955 basic pay rates plus 6 percent were entitled to that pay plus 5 percent, or recomputation on the June 1, 1958 basic pay rates, whichever was greater.

3. Members retired on April 1, 1963, who were not subject to the URDA (5 U.S.C. 8301) (reference (x)) and members retired between April 2, 1963, and September 30, 1963, were entitled to a 5 percent increase or recomputation on the October 1, 1963 basic pay rates, whichever was greater.

D. Amendment to 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)) to provide for adjustments to retired pay based on the CPI.

080406. Public Law 88-422 (reference (bx)), and effective September 1, 1964, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase in retired pay except that:

1. Members retired for disability on September 1, 1964, with 2 years of service or less, were entitled to pay computed on the October 1, 1963 basic pay rates plus 6 percent.

2. Members retired for disability on or after September 2, 1964, with 2 years of service or less, were entitled to pay computed on the September 1, 1964 basic pay rates plus 6 percent.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the September 1, 1964 basic pay rates for members retired on September 1, 1964, who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (August 31, 1964 transfers). Their pay was computed on the October 1, 1963, basic pay rates.

080407. Public Law 89-132 (reference (bk)) effective September 1, 1965, together with the cost-of-living formula, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. A 4.4 percent cost-of-living adjustment in retired pay for all members on the rolls on August 31, 1965.

C. Pay computed on the September 1, 1964 basic pay rates, plus 4.4 percent for members retired on September 1, 1965 who were:

1. Subject to the URDA (reference (x)),
 2. Navy Fleet Reservists and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (August 31, 1965, transfers), or
 3. Warrant officers.
- D. Pay computed on the September 1, 1964 basic pay rates, plus 6 percent and 4.4 percent for members retired for disability on September 1, 1965, with 2 years of service or less.
080408. Public Law 89-501 (reference (by)), effective July 1, 1966, provided for:
- A. Increased basic pay rates.
 - B. No increase for members on the retired rolls on June 30, 1966.
 - C. Pay computed on the July 1, 1966 basic pay rates, notwithstanding the URDA (reference (x)) for all members who first became entitled to retired pay on or after July 1, 1966.
080409. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective December 1, 1966, provided for:
- A. Increased retired pay by 3.7 percent for all members on the rolls on November 30, 1966.
 - B. Pay computed on the July 1, 1966 basic pay rates, plus 3.7 percent from date of retirement for entitled members retired on or after December 1, 1966.
080410. Public Law 90-207 (reference (bl)), effective retroactive to October 1, 1967, provided for:
- A. Increased basic pay rates.
 - B. No increase in retired pay for members on the rolls on September 30, 1967.
 - C. Pay computed on the October 1, 1967 basic pay rates, notwithstanding the URDA (reference (x)) for all members who first became entitled to retired pay on or after October 1, 1967.
 - D. A 3.7 percent increase in retired pay from the date of retirement for members who retired after November 30, 1966, whose retired pay was computed using the July 1, 1966, active duty pay rates.

E. An adjustment of military active duty basic pay whenever the General Schedule for Classified Employees was adjusted upward, effective January 1, 1968.

080411. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective April 1, 1968, provided for:

A. Increased retired pay by 3.9 percent for all retirees receiving pay computed on basic pay rates in effect before October 1, 1967.

B. Entitled members whose pay was computed on the October 1, 1967 basic pay rates to:

1. An increase of 1.3 percent of the pay they were receiving on March 31, 1968, or

2. Pay computed on the July 1, 1966, basic pay rates, increased by 7.7443 percent, from April 1, 1968, or date of retirement, if later.

080412. Executive Order 11414 (reference (bz)), effective July 1, 1968, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase to retired members on the rolls on June 30, 1968.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the July 1, 1968 basic pay rates for members retired on July 1, 1968, who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Navy Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (June 30, 1968, transfers). Their pay was computed on the July 1, 1966, basic pay rates, plus 7.7443 percent.

080413. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective February 1, 1969, provided for:

A. Increased retired pay by 4 percent for retirees receiving retired pay computed on the basic pay rates in effect before July 1, 1968.

B. Entitled members whose pay was computed on the July 1, 1968, basic pay rates, to:

1. A 2.1 percent increase in the pay they were receiving on January 31, 1969, or

2. Recomputation of pay on the July 1, 1966 basic pay rates plus 7.7443 percent and 4 percent.

080414. Executive Order 11475 (reference (ca)), effective July 1, 1969, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase for retired members on the rolls on June 30, 1969.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the July 1, 1969 basic pay rates for members retired on July 1, 1969, who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Navy Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (June 30, 1969, transfers). Their pay was computed on the July 1, 1968, basic pay rates, plus 2.1 percent.

080415. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective from November 1, 1969, provided for:

A. Members whose retired pay was computed on the basic pay rates in effect before July 1, 1969, were entitled to an increase of 4.3 percent.

B. Members whose retired pay was computed on the July 1, 1969 basic pay rates, received a 0.9 percent increase.

C. Members who retired after November 1, 1969, received a 0.9 percent increase from the date of retirement.

080416. Public Law 91-179 (reference (bm)) amended 10 U.S.C. 1401a(b) (reference (c)) to provide an additional 1 percent to all cost-of-living adjustments. The additional 1 percent was retroactive to the November 1, 1969 cost-of-living adjustment, which effectively made the increase 5.3 percent.

080417. Executive Order 11525 (reference (cb)), effective January 1, 1970, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. Pay computed on the January 1, 1970 basic pay rates for members who first became entitled to retired pay on or after April 15, 1970.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the January 1, 1970 basic pay rates for members who first became entitled to retired pay before April 15, 1970. Their pay was computed using the July 1, 1969 basic pay rates, plus .9 percent.

080418. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective from August 1, 1970, provided for:

A. Members whose retired pay was computed on the basic pay rates in effect before January 1, 1970, were entitled to a 5.6 percent increase, effective August 1, 1970.

B. Members whose retired pay was computed on the January 1, 1970, basic pay rates, were entitled to a 2.5 percent increase in retired pay effective August 1, 1970, or date of retirement, if later.

080419. Executive Order 11577 (reference (cc)), increased active duty basic pay rates, effective January 1, 1971, and provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No entitlement to pay computed on January 1, 1971 basic pay rates for members who retired on January 1, 1971, who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (December 31, 1970 transfers). Their pay was computed on the rates effective January 1, 1970.

C. No increase for retired members whose pay was computed on basic pay rates in effect before January 1, 1971.

080420. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective from June 1, 1971, provided for:

A. Members whose retired pay was computed on basic pay rates in effect before January 1, 1971, were entitled to an increase of 4.5 percent.

B. Members whose retired pay was computed on the January 1, 1971, basic pay rates, were entitled to a .6 percent increase effective June 1, 1971, or date of retirement, if later.

080421. Public Law 92-129 (reference (cd)), effective October 1, 1971, increased basic pay rates for only certain pay grades and years of service. (Because of an economic pay freeze, the rates were not effective until November 14, 1971.) It provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates for:

1. Pay grades E-1 through E-4, regardless of years of service,
2. Pay grades E-5 through E-7 with less than 2 years of service,
3. Pay grade O-1, regardless of years of service, and
4. Pay grade O-2 with less than 2 years of service.

B. Computation of retired pay of members who retired on or after October 1, 1971, in all other pay grades, on the January 1, 1971 basic pay rates, increased by 0.6 percent.

080422. Executive Order 11638 (reference (ce)), increased active duty basic pay rates, effective January 1, 1972, and provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No entitlement to pay computed on the January 1, 1972, basic pay rates for members retired on January 1, 1972, who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (December 31, 1971 transfers). Their pay was computed on the basic pay rates effective October 1, 1971, or January 1, 1971.

C. No increase for retired members whose pay was computed on basic pay rates in effect before January 1, 1972.

080423. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective July 1, 1972, provided for:

A. Members whose pay was computed on basic pay rates in effect before October 1, 1971, were entitled to an increase of 4.8 percent.

B. Members whose pay was computed on the basic pay rates effective October 1, 1971, were entitled to an increase of 1.7 percent.

C. Entitlement to a 1 percent increase, effective July 1, 1972, or date of retirement, if later, for members whose retired pay was computed on the January 1, 1972 basic pay rates.

080424. Executive Order 11692 (reference (cf)), increased active duty basic pay rates, effective January 1, 1973, and provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase for members whose retired pay was computed on basic pay rates in effect before January 1, 1973. Executive Order 11778 (reference (cg)) changed the effective date of the basic pay rates from January 1, 1973 to October 1, 1972.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the October 1, 1972 basic pay rates for members who on October 1, 1972, were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Navy Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (September 30, 1972 transfers). Their pay was computed on the basic pay rates effective January 1, 1972.

080425. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective July 1, 1973, provided for:

A. Members whose retired pay was computed on basic pay rates in effect before January 1, 1973, later changed to computation on October 1, 1972 rates, received a 6.1 percent increase.

B. Entitlement to an increase of 2.7 percent from July 1, 1973, or date of retirement, if later, for members whose retired pay was computed on the January 1, 1973 basic pay rates. These accounts were later recomputed to provide 3.6 percent instead of 2.7 percent from July 1, 1973.

080426. Executive Order 11740 (reference (ch)), effective October 1, 1973, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No entitlement to pay computed on the October 1, 1973 basic pay rates for members who retired on October 1, 1973 and who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (September 30, 1973 transfers).

C. No increase for members on retired rolls on September 30, 1973.

080427. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective January 1, 1974, provided for:

A. An increase of 5.5 percent for members whose retired pay was computed on the basic pay rates in effect before October 1, 1973.

B. Entitlement to a 0.8 percent increase effective January 1, 1974, or retired pay computed on the January 1, 1973 basic pay rates, increased by 2.7 percent (later 3.6 percent) and 5.5 percent for members whose retired pay was computed on the October 1, 1973 basic pay rates.

080428. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective July 1, 1974, provided for:

A. Entitlement to an increase of 6.4 percent for members whose retired pay was computed on basic pay rates in effect before October 1, 1973.

B. Entitlement to a 6.3 percent increase (0.8 not applied) effective July 1, 1974, or date of retirement for members whose retired pay was computed on the October 1, 1973 basic pay rates.

Note: Because of an error in the Consumer Price Index, all accounts were overpaid by 0.1 percent from July 1974 through December 1974. (The Office of the Secretary of Defense waived the overpayments.) The accounts were corrected on a current basis to 6.3 percent and 6.2 percent effective January 1975.

080429. Executive Order 11812 (reference (ci)), effective October 1, 1974, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. Retired pay computed on the October 1, 1973 rates, plus 6.3 percent, which was reduced to 6.3 percent, which was reduced to 6.2 percent effective January 1, 1975 for members retired on or after October 1, 1974.

A cost-of-living adjustment, effective January 1, 1975, provided that members whose retired pay was computed on the basic pay rates in effect before October 1, 1974, received a 7.3 percent increase. To adjust accounts for the error in the CPI for July 1, 1974, the accounts were increased by 7.1992 percent, effective January 1, 1975.

080431. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective August 1, 1975, provided for:

A. Entitlement to an increase of 5.1 percent for members whose retired pay was computed on the basic pay rates in effect before October 1, 1974.

B. Pay increased by 5 percent, or computed on the October 1, 1973 basic pay rates, plus 6.2 percent, 7.3 percent, and 5.1 percent for members whose retired pay was computed on the October 1, 1974, basic pay rates.

080432. Executive Order 11883 (reference (cj)), effective October 1, 1975, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase for members retired before October 1, 1975.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the October 1, 1975 basic pay rates for members retired on October 1, 1975, who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (September 30, 1975 transfers). Their pay was computed on the October 1, 1974 basic pay rates.

D. Pay computed on the October 1, 1974, basic pay rates, plus 5 percent for members whose retired pay was computed on the October 1, 1975 basic pay rates. In computing the first retirements, some members benefited by using the October 1, 1974, rates plus 5 percent and for others, the October 1, 1975 rates were slightly higher.

080433. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective March 1, 1976, provided for:

A. An increase of 5.4 percent for members whose retired pay was computed on the basic pay rates in effect before October 1, 1975.

B. A 1.7 percent increase or recomputation on the October 1, 1974 basic pay rates, plus 5 percent and 5.4 percent for members whose retired pay was computed on the October 1, 1975 basic pay rates.

080434. Executive Order 11941 (reference (ck)), effective October 1, 1976, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No entitlement to pay computed on the October 1, 1976 basic pay rates for members who retired on October 1, 1976, who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (September 30, 1976, transfers). Their pay was computed on the October 1, 1975 basic pay rates.

C. No increase in retired pay for members on the retired rolls on September 30, 1976.

080435. A cost-of-living adjustment, effective March 1, 1977, provided for:

080470. Executive Order 12736 (reference (db)), effective January 1, 1991, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase for members retired before January 1, 1991.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the January 1, 1991, basic pay rates for members who retired on January 1, 1991, and who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (December 31, 1990, transfers).

080471. A cost-of-living adjustment effective December 1, 1991 provided for:

A. Pre-August 1986 members:

1. Members who first entered service before August 1, 1986, and whose retired pay has been computed on active duty pay rates in effect before January 1, 1991, received a 3.7 percent adjustment.

2. Members who first entered service before August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay computed on the January 1, 1991, active duty pay rate received a 2 percent adjustment.

B. Post-August 1986 members:

1. Members who first entered service on or after August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay before January 1, 1991, received a 2.7 percent adjustment.

2. Members who first entered service on or after August 1, 1986 and who became entitled to retired pay on or after January 1, 1991, received a pro-rata initial adjustment as follows:

080475. Executive Order 12826 (reference (dd)), effective January 1, 1993, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase for members retired before January 1, 1993.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the January 1, 1993, basic pay rates for members who retired on January 1, 1993, and who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (December 31, 1992, transfers).

080476. A cost-of-living adjustment effective December 1, 1993 provides the following increases. Public Law 103-66, August 10, 1993 (reference (fm)), prohibits the payment for months before March 1994 of any increase in retired pay associated with the cost-of-living adjustment except for those members retired for disability under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 61 (reference (c)).

A. Pre-August 1986 members:

1. Members who first entered service before August 1, 1986, and whose retired pay has been computed on active duty pay rates in effect before January 1, 1993, received a 2.6 percent adjustment.

2. Members who first entered service before August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay computed on the January 1, 1993, active duty pay rate received a 1.9 percent adjustment.

B. Post-August 1986 members:

1. Members who first entered service on or after August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay before January 1, 1993, received a 1.6 percent adjustment.

2. Members who first entered service on or after August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay on or after January 1, 1993, received a pro-rata initial adjustment as follows:

080477. Executive Order 12886 (reference (fk)), effective January 1, 1994, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase for members retired before January 1, 1994.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the January 1, 1994, basic pay rates for members who retired on January 1, 1994, and who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (December 31, 1993, transfers).

080478. A cost-of-living adjustment effective December 1, 1994, provides the following increases. 10 U.S.C. 1401ab2Bii (reference (c)), as amended by Public Law 103-337, October 5, 1994 (reference (fi)), and Public Law 103-335, September 30, 1994 (reference (fj)), prohibited payment for months before March 1995, of any increased retired pay associated with cost-of-living adjustments except for those members or former members retired for disability. The delay did not pertain to SBP base amounts and associated annuities and premiums, or to the exclusion amounts for dual compensation.

A. Pre-August 1986 members:

1. Members who first entered service before August 1, 1986, and whose retired pay has been computed on active duty pay rates in effect before January 1, 1994, received a 2.8 percent adjustment.

2. Members who first entered service before August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay computed on the January 1, 1994, active duty basic pay rate, received a 2.2 percent adjustment.

B. Post-August 1986 members:

1. Members who first entered service on or after August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay before January 1, 1994, received a 1.8 percent adjustment.

2. Members who first entered service on or after August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay on or after January 1, 1994, received a pro-rata initial adjustment as follows:

080479. Executive Order 12944 (reference (fl)), effective January 1, 1995, provided for:

A. Increased basic pay rates.

B. No increase for members retired before January 1, 1995.

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the January 1, 1995, basic pay rates for members who retired on January 1, 1995, and who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (December 31, 1994, transfers).

080480. A cost-of-living adjustment effective December 1, 1995, provides the following increases: increases in survivor annuities (including SBP base amounts and associated annuities and premiums), retired pay based on disability, and exclusion amounts for dual compensation. Under 10 U.S.C. 1401a(b)(2) (reference (c)) and Public Law 104-106 (reference (fn)), the payment of increased retired pay associated with the FY 1996 cost-of-living adjustment was prohibited for all other members for periods before March 1, 1996.

A. Pre-August 1986 members:

1. Members who first entered service before August 1, 1986, and whose retired pay has been computed on active duty basic pay rates in effect before January 1, 1995, received a 2.6 percent adjustment.

2. Members who first entered service before August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay computed on the January 1, 1995, active duty pay rate received a 2.0 percent adjustment.

B. Post-August 1986 members:

1. Members who first entered service on or after August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay before January 1, 1995, received a 1.6 percent adjustment.

2. Members who first entered service on or after August 1, 1986, and who became entitled to retired pay on or after January 1, 1995, received a pro-rata initial adjustment as follows:

C. No entitlement to pay computed on the January 1, 1997 basic pay rates for members who retired on January 1, 1997 and who were subject to the URDA (reference (x)), warrant officers, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists (December 31, 1996, transfers).

CHAPTER 9ADVANCEMENTS ON RETIRED LIST*0901 PURPOSE

090101. This chapter covers advancements of retired members, Fleet Reservists, and Fleet Marine Corps Reservists who are retired when:

A. Their active service, inactive service (Navy or Marine Corps members only), and service on the retired list or in the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve totals 30 years; or

B. Members are found not physically qualified for retention in the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.

0902 GENERAL

090201. Section 0103 of this volume covers members retired from active service in:

A. A higher grade because of serving on active duty in special positions,

B. The highest grade or rating held while serving on active duty, or

C. The grade to which members would have been promoted had it not been for the physical disability for which retired and which was found to exist as a result of physical examination for promotion.

0903 ADVANCEMENTS

090301. Army and Air Force. Each warrant officer of the Army or Air Force and each enlisted member of the Regular Army or Air Force is entitled, when active service plus service on the retired list totals 30 years, to be advanced on the retired list to the highest temporary or permanent grade in which the member served satisfactorily as determined by the Secretary of the Army or Air Force.

090302. Navy and Marine Corps

A. When an enlisted member of the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve has completed 30 years of service, or when the member is found not physically qualified for retention in the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve as a result of the required quadrennial physical examination, the member is transferred to the retired list.

B. Such a member may be advanced on the retired list to the highest officer grade in which the he or she served satisfactorily under a temporary or permanent appointment as determined by the Secretary of the Navy.

0904 EFFECTS ON PAY

090401. The advancement authorities do not impose the absolute requirement that a member of the Armed Forces must be advanced on the retired list. When a member would receive a lesser rate of the retired pay when advanced than when originally retired or transferred, the member should be consulted and advised that retired pay would be less if member elects to be advanced on the retired list.

090402. Warrant officers advanced on the retired list are entitled to use only years of active service in determining the percentage multiplier to be used in computing retired pay for the advanced grade. When recomputation results in a reduction of retired pay and is effected solely on the basis of administrative determination without regard to member's wishes, the member may elect advancement and reduction in pay or remain in the grade in which retired with benefits of original retirement.

090403. If an enlisted member is in fact advanced on the retired list, retired pay must be recomputed, even though a reduction of retired pay would result. Before being advanced, the member should be consulted and advised that the retired pay entitlement will be less if the member elects to be advanced.

090404. Retired pay may be computed at the higher grade in which a member had served satisfactorily, without regard to whether the higher grade was temporary or permanent, even though the Military Service in which the individual held the higher grade is not the Military Service from which retired. Where required by statute, an administrative approval that the service at the higher grade was satisfactorily performed must be issued by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned in which the member performed service at the higher grade.

090405. An enlisted member who, when retired or transferred, was awarded a 10 percent increase in retired pay because of extraordinary heroism performed in the line of duty is not eligible to continue receiving the additional 10 percent upon advancement to officer rank.

090406. A member of the Armed Forces advanced on the retired list is entitled to retired pay recomputed by:

A. Taking the rate of monthly basic pay for the grade on the initial date of retirement or transfer (or taking the monthly retired pay base if member entered a Uniformed Service after September 7, 1980);

B. Multiplying two and one-half percent times the total number of years of active service (using 6 months or more as a whole year) for members advanced before

October 1, 1983, and using whole months actually served, in excess of whole years, as 1/12 of a year for members advanced after September 30, 1983;

C. Subtracting the excess over 75 percent of pay upon which computation is based; and

D. Adding all applicable cost-of-living adjustments from the date of initial retirement or transfer.

0905 RESTORATION OF FORMER GRADE

Each retired warrant officer, enlisted member of the Regular Army or Air Force, or enlisted member retired from the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve who has been advanced on the retired list to a higher temporary or permanent commissioned officer grade may apply to the Secretary concerned within 3 months after advancement for restoration to the former enlisted or warrant officer grade. If the Secretary of the Military Department concerned approves the request, the member may be restored to the former warrant officer or enlisted grade. A member so restored is thereafter considered for all purposes to be a warrant officer or an enlisted member, as applicable.

CHAPTER 10CORRECTION OF RECORDS*1001 AUTHORITY

100101. The Secretary of a Military Department, under procedures established by that Secretary and approved by the Secretary of Defense, and acting through boards of civilians of the executive part of that Military Department, may correct any military record of that department when the Secretary concerned considers it necessary to correct an error or remove an injustice.

100102. Corrections of military records are final and conclusive on all officers of the United States except when procured through fraud.

100103. If there is to be a proper correction and a right to the payment of money as a result of that proper correction, there must be a change of facts as set out in the original record, or an addition or deletion of a fact. A reaffirmation of the existing facts already in the original record does not constitute a proper correction of that record. A recital of existing facts does not avoid the operation of a statute of limitations. The statute of limitations on a proper correction of the record begins to run from the date of the correction. For example, when the record of a member of the naval service transferred to the Fleet Reserve or the Fleet Marine Corps Reserve was corrected to show additional service credits, the 6-year (10-year before July 1975) limitation period started from the date of the correction of the member's records rather than from the date of the transfer, and upon correction, the member was entitled to retainer pay from the date of transfer in accordance with member's grade and number of years of creditable service, as corrected.

100104. Corrections may be made when:

A. The member, the member's heir, or legal representative filed a request before October 26, 1961, or within 3 years after member has discovered the error or injustice, whichever is later, or

B. The Board excuses a failure to file within 3 years when it is in the interest of justice.

1002 PAY COMPUTATION

100201. Payments based on a correction of military records must be made in the amounts determined to be due by applying pertinent laws and regulations to all the material facts shown in the corrected record. Generally, the payments resulting from the correction of military records are based on the:

A. Pay entitlement the member had before the correction,

B. Actual payments made for these entitlements, and

C. New pay entitlements that accrue as a result of the correction. For specific computation, see the chapters concerning the entitlement to and computation of retired or retainer pay, and participation in and payment of survivor annuities under the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (RSFPP) and/or the Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP).

100202. The settlement of retired pay, retainer pay, or survivor annuities due as a result of the correction of a military record must be reduced, as applicable, by:

- A. Any previous settlements of active duty pay and allowances involving the same periods
- B. Prior payments of readjustment pay or disability severance pay
- C. Prior payments of disability compensation, pensions, or Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) made by the Department of Veterans Affairs
- D. Federal income tax
- E. Cost of participation in the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan and/or Survivor Benefit Plan
- F. Dual compensation statutes if a retired Regular officer is employed by the United States Government
- G. Prior payments of the mother's benefit received from social security and the amount of the spouse's social security entitlement, if any, resulting from the retiree's active military service.

100203. When payment cannot be made to the member because of member's death, payment may be made to member's legal representative. In the absence of a demand for payment by the legal representative, payments are made:

- A. To the surviving spouse, heir, or beneficiaries, in the order prescribed by the law applicable to that kind of payment,
- B. In the order of precedence in Chapter 30 or if there is no such law covering order of payment,
- C. As otherwise prescribed by the law applicable to that kind of payment.

100204. A claimant's acceptance of settlement fully satisfies the claim concerned. Settlement of this claim does not preclude payment of a separate and distinct claim and acceptance of settlement does not preclude recomputation and adjustment when there is a mutual mistake. Payments are not authorized for any claim compensated by private law before October 25, 1951.

1003 TAX ADJUSTMENT

1004 APPROPRIATION CHARGES

The payments that become due and payable as a result of the correction are charged to the applicable current retired pay appropriation for all amounts due on and after the date of approval by the Secretary concerned. Amounts due for periods before date of approval by the Secretary concerned are charged to the Claims, Department of Defense appropriation.

1005 RESTRICTIONS

No payment resulting from a correction of records may be made for a benefit to which the claimant might later become entitled under the laws and regulations administered by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs.

CHAPTER 11

REMOVAL FROM THE TEMPORARY DISABILITY RETIRED LIST1101 ENTITLEMENT TO DISABILITY SEVERANCE PAY

A member on the TDRL is given a physical examination at least once every 18 months. The Secretary concerned may make a final determination as to the member's disability at that time or at the end of the 5-year TDRL period. If the physical disability is rated less than 30 percent and if the member has less than 20 years of active service, the member's name is removed from the TDRL and the member may be separated with severance pay.

1102 COMPUTATION OF SEVERANCE PAY

110201. When the member is removed from the TDRL with entitlement to disability severance pay, the pay is computed by multiplying years of active service, but not more than 12, by the highest of these amounts:

A. Twice the amount of monthly basic pay that the member would be entitled if serving on active duty on the date of removal from the TDRL and in the grade or rank in which serving on the date of transfer to the TDRL.

B. Twice the amount of monthly basic pay to which the member would be entitled if serving on active duty when the his or her name was placed on the TDRL or on the date of separation, if not carried on TDRL. This basic pay rate reflects any temporary grade or rank higher than that in subparagraph 110201.A, above, in which the member served satisfactorily as determined by the Secretary concerned.

C. Twice the amount of monthly basic pay to which the member would be entitled if serving on active duty when the member's name was placed on TDRL or on the date of separation, if not carried on TDRL. This basic pay rate reflects the permanent Regular or Reserve grade that the member would have been promoted to but for the disability for which separated and which was found on physical examination for promotion.

D. Twice the amount of monthly basic pay to which the member would be entitled to if serving on active duty when the member's name was placed on TDRL or on the date of separation, if not carried on TDRL. This basic pay rate reflects the temporary grade or rank to which the member would have been promoted had it not been for the physical disability for which member separated and which was found on physical examination for promotion, if promotion eligibility was required to be based on cumulative years of service or years in grade.

110202. To compute the years of active service multiplier, count a part of a year of active service that is 6 months or more as a whole year, and disregard a part of a year that is less than 6 months. A member with less than 6 months of active service is not entitled to disability severance pay.

110203. To determine the taxability of the disability severance pay, see Chapter 24, section 2413 of this volume.

1103 SEVERANCE PAY AND DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS (VA) DISABILITY COMPENSATION

The amount of disability severance pay received under 10 U.S.C. 1212 (reference (c)) is deducted from any compensation for the same disability to which the former member for the Armed Forces or the member's dependents become entitled under any law administered by the Department of Veterans Affairs. However, no deduction is made from any death compensation to which the former member's dependents become entitled after member's death.

1104 RETURN TO ACTIVE DUTY

If, as a result of the physical examination or determination by the Secretary concerned referenced in section 1101, above, it is determined that the member is physically fit to perform the duties of the office, grade, rank, or rating, the member is removed from the TDRL. Any member removed may, with his or her consent, be recalled to active duty, appointed, reappointed, enlisted, reenlisted, or resume status in the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve. See Table 11-1.

1105 DISABILITY OF A PERMANENT NATURE

110501. If, as a result of the physical examination or determination by the Secretary concerned, referenced in section 1101, above;

A. The member's physical disability is determined to be permanent and is at least 30 percent under the standard schedule of rating disabilities in use by the Department of Veterans Affairs at the time of the determination, then the member's name is removed from the TDRL and member is retired by reason of permanent physical disability.

B. The member's physical disability is determined to be permanent and is less than 30 percent under the standard schedule of rating disabilities in use by the Department of Veterans Affairs at the time of the determination and, if member has at least 20 years of service, then the member's name is removed from the TDRL and member is retired by reason of permanent physical disability with retired pay computed under 10 U.S.C. 1401 (reference (c)). See Table 11-1.

1106 TERMINATION OF TEMPORARY DISABILITY RETIRED PAY

110601. The disability retired pay of a member terminates on the earlier of:

A. The date of removal from TDRL because of

1. Recall to active duty,

2. Resumption of status in Fleet Reserve and Fleet Marine Corps Reserve,
 3. Appointment, reappointment, enlistment, or reenlistment,
 4. Physical examination in which the member is found fit for duty or the disability is less than 30 percent, or
- B. Upon the expiration of 5 years after the date when the member's name was placed on the TDRL.

1107 NOTIFICATION TO DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS (VA)

When a total or partial VA waiver of retired pay is in effect on the date of the retiree's discharge from the TDRL, the DFAS Center notifies the cognizant VA office of the effective date of discharge, amount of disability severance pay entitlement, if applicable, and the VA disability codes, if available, for which severance pay was paid.

CHAPTER 12

WAIVER OF RETIRED PAY1201 WAIVER CONDITIONS AND BENEFITS120101. General

A. Retired pay is a statutory right and, as such, cannot be waived except as authorized by law. These two laws authorize a member to waive entitlement to retired pay:

1. 38 U.S.C. 5305 (reference (ar)) permits a member to receive compensation or pension from the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA).

2. 5 U.S.C. 8332(c) (reference (az)) permits a member to include creditable military service in computing a civil service retirement annuity.

★B. A member may not waive his or her right to retired pay. Even if retired pay is not being sent to a member on a monthly basis (for example, the member's whereabouts is unknown), the retired pay continues to accrue. Since, for income tax purposes, such retired pay is deemed to have been constructively received by the member once it is made available and can be drawn upon, it is subject to the withholding and reporting requirements of ordinary wages.

C. A member who waive his or her retired pay in order to receive VA compensation or a pension may benefit for these reasons:

1. VA benefits are nontaxable income for federal, state, and local income taxation. See Chapter 24 of this volume for computation of taxable pay and federal income tax withholding.

2. VA benefits may exceed the retired pay entitlement.

3. A retired Regular officer who also is employed by the federal government and is subject to the dual compensation statutes may have that reduction reduced because of the waiver of retired pay to receive VA benefits. See Chapter 5 of this volume for computation of the dual compensation deduction.

1202 DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS BENEFITS

120201. Dual Benefits. A retiree receiving retired pay who is also eligible to receive disability compensation/pension from the Department of Veterans Affairs is barred from receiving concurrent payments of both retired pay and the VA benefit, unless the member elects to waive that portion of retired pay that is equal to the amount of the VA benefit awarded. A retiree receiving retired pay who also is eligible to receive an improved VA pension from the Department of Veterans Affairs is not required to waive any retired pay effective October 1, 1980. See Appendix G, article III, paragraph 3-1.

120202. Initial Award. See Appendix G, article I, paragraph 1-2.

A. The timeframe for processing the initial waiver is in accordance with agreements in the VA-DoD Memorandum of Understanding in Appendix G, article II, paragraphs 2-1 and 2-2.

B. Responsibility for recouping overpayments in accordance with the VA-DoD Memorandum of Understanding is in Appendix G, article II, paragraphs 2-1 and 2-2.

C. When a Regular retired officer is employed by the federal government or instrumentality thereof during the period of a retroactive initial award of VA benefits, all amounts classified as retired pay are subject to reduction under the dual compensation formula. Disability compensation payable by the Department of Veterans Affairs is not retired pay. Payments equal to the VA compensation entitlement, and received after the effective date of the waiver, are classified as disability compensation and are not subject to reduction under the Dual Compensation Act (reference (at)). When a member executes a retroactive waiver of retired pay, the DFAS-Cleveland Center must recompute any dual compensation reduction as of the retroactive effective date of the waiver. A DD Form 2279 (Request for Retroactive Waiver of Military Retired Pay), once completed by the member, authorizes the Department of Veterans Affairs to pay the member any additional compensation due. This form also authorizes the Department of Veterans Affairs to deduct the overpayment of retired pay from compensation and refund it to the DFAS-Cleveland Center.

120203. Change in Awards

A. For increased, reduced awards, or a statutory increase, see Appendix G, article II, paragraphs 2-1 and 2-2.

B. A retiree may receive VA compensation while receiving Federal Employees Compensation Act (FECA) benefits as long as such payment is not for the same injury or retainer pay; and retired pay or retainer pay while receiving FECA benefits subject to the limitations on receipt of dual compensation by retired officers.

120204. Withdrawal. A retiree who has waived retired pay in favor of VA benefits may withdraw the waiver and elect to receive retired pay at any time. The notification of the withdrawal of the previous waiver of retired pay must be submitted to the Department of Veterans Affairs in writing over the retiree's signature. This renouncement of VA benefits terminates the retiree's right to these benefits from such filing of notification. Renouncement of VA benefits does not preclude the retiree from filing a new waiver of retired pay at a later date, enabling the retiree to receive VA benefits again. The effective date or reinstatement of retired pay is determined by the VA procedures outlined below.

A. When the Department of Veterans Affairs is the initial recipient of the request or withdrawal, the Department of Veterans Affairs notifies the appropriate retired pay activity of the effective date of termination of VA benefits. The effective date is the first of the month after the month of the request for withdrawal or termination of VA benefits, whichever is later. See Appendix G.

B. When a retired pay activity is the first recipient of the request for withdrawal, it sends the request to the appropriate VA office by a cover letter indicating the monthly gross retired pay. Upon receipt, the Department of Veterans Affairs follows the procedure in subparagraph 12004.A, above.

120205. Incompetents. See Appendix G, article III, paragraph 3-2. The effective date for restoration of retired pay will be the first of the month following the month of the restoration request or termination of VA benefits, whichever is later.

120206. RSFPP and SBP. Any retiree participating in RSFPP and/or SBP who waives retired pay in favor of VA benefits may:

A. Authorize the Department of Veterans Affairs to withhold the cost of the RSFPP and/or SBP from the benefits awarded and remit that amount to the cognizant retired pay activity. (See Chapters 36, 45 and 56 of this volume); or

B. Be subject to involuntary collection action by the DFAS. Such collection action is subject to the provisions of the Public Law 97-365 (reference (de)). For procedures, see Appendix V, Interagency Agreement Between the Department of Veterans Affairs and the Department of Defense Military Retired Pay, September 6, 1990.

1203 CIVIL SERVICE RETIREMENT

120301. General. A retiree receiving retired pay, pursuant to any provision of law authorizing such payments, who applies for a retirement annuity under the laws administered by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), or the Foreign Service, which bar credit for the military service, may elect to waive the retired pay in order to credit military service for computing civil service annuity. To avoid a delay in adjudicating a civil service retirement claim, the member should execute a waiver and send it to the DFAS at least 60 days before the anticipated starting date of the annuity.

120302. Creditable Service. All periods of military service before the date of separation on which title to annuity is based are creditable. However, if a member is awarded retired pay on account of military service, the military service may not be credited unless:

A. The retired pay is awarded on account of a service-connected disability

1. Incurred in combat with an enemy of the United States; or

2. Caused by an instrumentality of war and incurred in line of duty during a period of war as defined by 38 U.S.C. 1101 (reference (ar)). The term "period of war" includes, in the case of any veteran:

a. Any period of service performed after November 11, 1918, and before July 2, 1921, if such veteran served in the active military, naval, or air service after April 5, 1917, and before November 12, 1918; and

b. Any period of continuous service performed after December 31, 1946, and before July 26, 1947, if such period began before January 1, 1947.

B. The retired pay is awarded under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)); or

C. The member waives retired pay.

120303. Initial Waiver. A retiree may request waiver of retired pay so that military service may be used in establishing eligibility for and/or computation of civil service retirement annuity. The request for waiver of retired pay must be submitted over the retiree's signature and should contain the effective date of the waiver of retired pay. Certain civil service annuities, starting on or after October 1, 1982, commence the first day of the month after separation from civil service or pay ceases and the service and age requirements for title to annuity are met. Individuals retiring during the first 3 days of a month are excluded; their annuities begin the following day. Also excluded are survivor annuities, disability annuities, or discontinued service annuities based on involuntary separation, death, or last day of pay. The member should also authorize the OPM to withhold amounts necessary from the civil service retirement annuity to repay amounts of retired pay paid beyond the effective date of waiver. The retired pay activity notifies the OPM of the date retired pay is waived. The OPM, in turn, advises the retired pay activity of the actual date member's retirement annuity started, enabling the retired pay activity to make any final settlement that might be due the retired member.

120304. Dual Waivers. Civil service regulations prohibit the credit of military service for retirement annuity purposes if the retiree is receiving retired pay except retired pay awarded in accordance with paragraph 120302, above. When a retiree has a total waiver of retired pay in effect to receive VA compensation, the OPM interprets its regulations as providing for crediting military service for retirement annuity purposes.

120305. Withdrawal of Waiver. The waiver of military retired pay to receive an increased civil service retirement annuity may be withdrawn and military retired pay reinstated under these conditions:

A. The member becomes a reemployed annuitant and the civil service annuity is terminated.

B. When the member becomes eligible for social security benefits based on the member's wages and/or self-employment income, military service performed after 1956 must be excluded from the computation of civil service annuity. The waiver may be withdrawn, and retired pay must be reinstated, but only if the military service was not used to establish eligibility for a civil service retirement annuity.

C. Any time a member revokes a waiver of military retired pay, provided that this will not produce dual retirement benefits based on the same period of service.

120306. Relationship of Civil Service Survivor Annuity to Military RSFPP/SBP. When a retiree, who is participating in the survivor annuity program, elects to waive retired pay in favor of civil service retirement, the retiree is required to:

A. Pay the RSFPP cost during the period the waiver is in effect.

B. Pay the SBP cost during the period the waiver is in effect unless the OPM notifies the DFAS that the member elected to provide spouse coverage under the civil service annuity program.

120307. Addresses. The correspondence addresses for the OPM and the Foreign Service are:

1204 RESERVE TRAINING (ARMY AND AIR FORCE ONLY)

120401. Definitions

A. Retired member, as used in this section, refers to:

1. Army and Air Force Reserve officers who retire under 10 U.S.C. 3911 or 8911 (reference (c)), and

2. Army and Air Force Regular officers or enlisted members who transfer to a Reserve unit of the Armed Forces after retirement.

B. Active duty, as used in this section, does not include extended active duty (more than 30 days) where strength accountability passes from the Reserve Components to the active military establishment.

120402. Reserve Training Category. Each Armed Forces Reserve Component, is divided into three categories: ready (active status), standby (inactive status) and retired (retired status).

A. Ready Reserve

1. A member of the ready Reserve may, without consent, be ordered to active duty by the Secretary concerned during a period of war or national emergency, or when otherwise authorized by law.

2. Retired personnel having Ready Reserve status may participate in active duty for training or inactive duty training required by virtue of their assignment in a Reserve Component. Each period of training must be a duration of at least 2 hours with a maximum of two training periods in 1 calendar day. Compensation for each regular period of instruction or period of appropriate duty is at the rate of 1/30 of the member's authorized monthly pay and allowance, including that performed on a Sunday or holiday. Where the duty performed is for a continuous period of less than 1 month, compensation for each day of the period is at the rate of 1/30 of the monthly pay and allowances. The 31st day may not be excluded from computation. A member may perform inactive duty training without pay.

a. Active duty for training. This duty may include full-time training, annual training tours, or attendance at a school designated as a Military Service school by the Secretary concerned.

b. Inactive duty training. This training may include assemblies, additional flying training periods, and other additional duties as authorized by the Secretary concerned.

B. Standby Reserve. A member of the Standby Reserve may be called to active duty only in time of war or national emergency declared by the Congress or when otherwise authorized by law. This member does not participate in the duty referred to in subparagraph 120402.A.2.a or b, above.

C. Retired Reserve. A member of the Retired Reserve who is entitled to retired pay not be placed in the Ready Reserve unless the Secretary concerned makes a special finding that the member's services in the ready Reserve are indispensable. The Secretary may not delegate authority in this instance.

120403. Entitlement. A Reservist entitled to retired pay who performed Reserve training for compensation may elect to receive for that duty:

A. The retired pay to which entitled because of earlier military service; or

B. The pay and allowances authorized for the duty being performed, if the member specifically waives retired pay.

120404. Effect on Pay. A retired member who elects to receive compensation for periods of active duty for training or inactive duty training must waive 1 day of retired pay for each calendar day on which the Reserve training is performed. Performance of more than one drill in 1 calendar day requires the withholding of only 1 day of retired pay for that calendar day.

A. Waiver of Pay. The member must prepare in advance a waiver of retired pay for the entire or remainder of the fiscal year in which the training is to be performed. The waiver form should show, by month, the number of training periods for inactive duty and the inclusive dates of each anticipated active duty tour. Timely preparation of the waiver will prevent a possible overpayment of pay.

B. Supplemental Certificate of Waiver. The certificate is required when a member performs active or inactive duty not covered by the first declaration. This certification shows, by month, the additional days of duty performed and is added to the first declaration.

C. Certificate of Recoupment. The certificate recovers previously waived benefits that exceed active or inactive duty training performed. This request for recoupment must be signed by the unit commander and may not be submitted earlier than the last day of the fiscal year involved. The schedule for both the active and inactive duty for training may be shown on the same waiver form or certificate.

D. Adjustment of Pay. Pay is adjusted on an individual basis. Procedures for liquidating an outstanding debt or for collecting cash for RSFPP and SBP coverage are the same as for all other retired members.

SUSPENSION OF PAY1301 GENERAL

The pay account of a retiree may be placed in a suspended (non-payment) status for a definite or indefinite period of time. The pay may be suspended to comply with statutory or regulatory requirements, or Military Service procedures. Such suspension may not necessarily affect continued or future entitlement when the requirements or procedures that were the basis for the suspension no longer apply. When a retired member is missing and there is no information concerning the member's whereabouts, the member's retired pay must be suspended from the date that the member was last known to be alive.

1302 STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS

130201. The statutes may prohibit the retiree's receipt of concurrent payments, payments after a specific period of time, or payments if a member fails to comply with statutory requirements.

130202. A retiree's pay is suspended if the retiree:

- A. Is recalled to active duty; or
- B. Requests waiver of retired pay because of:
 - 1. Award of Department of Veterans Affairs disability compensation or pension payments, or
 - 2. Military service being used for United States civil service retirement annuity purposes; or
- C. Completes 5 years on the TDRL; or
- D. Fails to report for a required physical examination while on the TDRL or while a member of the Fleet Reserve/Fleet Marine Corps Reserve; or
- E. Is employed by a foreign government (to include local government units within a foreign country as well as the national government itself) without applicable congressional or Secretarial approvals; or
- F. Is reported to be, or is found to be, mentally incapable of managing his or her own affairs, and no guardian, trustee, or other legal representative has been appointed. (See Table 13-1); or

- G. Is repaying readjustment pay.

1303 REGULATORY REQUIREMENTS

Retired pay may be suspended if certain situations exist where regulations prohibit making payments. For example, retired pay is suspended if the retiree requests that the retired paycheck be mailed to a country listed in Appendix A.

1304 SERVICE DEPARTMENT ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS

130401. In accordance with the Military Department procedures, the head of the retired pay activity may suspend retired pay if the retiree fails to take necessary administrative actions on time, or if the retiree declines further payments.

130402. Retired pay is suspended if the retiree:

- A. Fails to furnish a required proof of existence;
- B. Fails to notify the Military Department of an address change and the retiree's current address is unknown;
- C. Refuses to accept further payments; or
- D. Is potentially being overpaid because there is some doubt concerning entitlement.

130403. Retired pay may be suspended if the retiree is repaying government debts or delinquent RSFPP or SBP costs.

1305 EFFECT OF SUSPENSION ON TAXABLE INCOME, FEDERAL INCOME TAX WITHHELD, AND OTHER ACTIONS

130501. Taxable Income and Federal Income Tax Withheld. The suspension of a retiree's pay account for any reason cited in sections 1302 through 1304, above, may result in the suspension of any other reporting of taxable income and income taxes withheld. The reporting of taxable income and taxes withheld, if applicable, resumes upon removal of the suspension of pay. See Chapter 24 of this volume regarding taxable income, tax withheld, and issuance of TD Form W-2P.

130502. Allotment Deductions. Handle the retiree's allotments according to the procedures of the Military Department's concerned. (See Chapters 19 through 23 of this volume.)

130503. Survivor Annuity Deductions. Handle the retiree's cost for participation in the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan and/or the Survivor Benefit Plan according to the procedures of the Military Department concerned. (See Chapters 33 through 57 of this volume.)

CHAPTER 14

PAYMENT RESTRICTIONS1401 GENERAL

140101. Payment Dates. DoD policy requires all retired/retainer and annuity payments be paid no earlier than the first business day of the succeeding month.

1402 GEOGRAPHIC140201. Checks

A. Mailing of Checks to Foreign Countries. The Secretary of the Treasury has determined that the mailing of checks is prohibited to the countries listed in Appendix A. Postal, transportation, banking facilities in general, or local conditions are such that there is not a reasonable assurance that a retiree or annuitant in listed countries actually will receive checks drawn against funds of the United States, or negotiate checks for full value. Power of attorney for receipt or collection of checks or for the proceeds of checks included within the determination of the Secretary of the Treasury are not recognized.

B. Claims. Claims for the release of checks withheld from delivery, or for proceeds thereof, are filed with the DFAS Center, that originally authorized issuance.

C. Philippine Islands. Checks drawn on the Treasury of the United States for delivery to Philippine citizens located in The Republic of the Philippines are inscribed with the phrase "Payable only in pesos through authorized agent banks of the Central Bank of Philippines and Postal Offices." Proof of United States citizenship, claimed by a retiree living in The Philippines, must be verified by the disbursing office responsible for delivering checks to The Philippines.

1403 EXPIRATION OF ELIGIBILITY TO RETIRED PAY140301. Conditions

- A. Five Years on the TDRL. See Chapter 11 of this volume.
- B. Foreign Citizenship. See Chapter 6 of this volume.
- C. Employment by Foreign Government. See Chapter 5 of this volume.
- D. Conflict of Interest. See Chapter 5 of this volume.
- E. National Security Violations Within the Scope of 5 U.S.C. 8311-8322 (reference (bd)).

NOTE: The "Hiss Act," codified as 5 U.S.C. 8311-8322 (reference (bd)), as amended, prohibited the payment of retired pay to military personnel who were convicted of any of a long list of criminal offenses enumerated in the statute. The Act did not prohibit the payment of retired pay if both the offense or conviction and the award of retired pay occurred before September 1, 1954. However, retired pay awarded on or after September 1, 1954, could not be paid regardless of the date the offense or conviction occurred. If the individual involved received a presidential pardon or later was cleared by decision of a higher court, the right to retired pay was restored. Public Law 87-299 (reference (be)), amended the Hiss Act and limited provisions to cases involving the national security. Members convicted by courts-martial or federal civil courts of offenses, which were felonies or equivalent of felonies but not involving the national security were no longer subject to the provisions of the Hiss Act.

F. Denial Upon Certain Punitive Discharges or Dismissals. The non-Regular service retired pay of a member is denied when the member's court-martial sentence includes death or separation by dishonorable discharge, bad conduct discharge, or dismissal effective with court-martial sentences adjudged after February 10, 1996.

140302. Recall to Active Duty. A retiree who receives orders, issued by proper authority, for recall to active duty for an indefinite or definite period is not entitled to retired pay for the period of active duty. Members on active duty for training are covered in section 1204 of this volume.

CHAPTER 15PROOF OF EXISTENCE*1501 GENERAL

For the protection of the government, certain safeguards are required for retired pay checks mailed through the international postal system or payable to legal representatives of mentally incompetent members.

1502 COMPETENT RETIREE

150201. When retired pay checks are delivered to the retired member through the international postal system to foreign countries, the retiree must furnish a report of existence (ROE) semiannually. The retiree does this by filling out a form provided by the Military Service or by letter over the retiree's signature.

150202. The ROE is not required when the retiree's check is mailed to a financial institution in the United States. The endorsement by the financial institution constitutes a certificate of the existence of the retiree.

150203. A competent retiree residing in the United States whose retired pay check is mailed to an address other than a financial institution is not required to submit an ROE.

150204. Retired pay checks mailed to an APO, FPO, or a finance officer or disbursing officer at an overseas address do not require submission of an ROE. Checks are not addressed to a United States Consulate, Embassy, or Military Attache unless the retiree is employed by that particular agency.

1503 MENTALLY INCOMPETENT RETIREE

Comptroller General decisions (66 C.G. 340, 65 C.G. 621, 62 C.G. 202, 51 C.G. 438) prohibit forwarding checks directly to retirees who are found mentally incompetent to manage their own affairs. Checks may be drawn payable to a legal guardian, trustee, or other legal representative after receipt of proper documentation of the authority of the guardian, trustee, or other legal representative to receive such payments. See Chapter 16 of this volume for appointment or designation of legal representatives.

150301. The legal representative must sign the monthly report of his or her ward's continued existence. The retired pay check may be mailed to the legal representative or to a financial institution established by the legal representative for the retiree (ward).

150302. In the absence of the appointment of a guardian, trustee, or other legal representative for an incompetent retiree, payment may be made to the Administrator of a VA hospital to provide the retiree with health and comfort items. See Chapter 16 of this volume.

1504 MAILING OF RETIRED PAY CHECKS

Retired pay checks are mailed at the end of each month, provided a signed ROE, when required, has been received that certifies the retiree's continued existence.

CHAPTER 16

PHYSICAL OR MENTAL INCAPACITATION1601 DEFINITIONS

160101. Physically or Mentally Incapacitated Retiree. An individual who is impaired by physical disability, mental illness, mental deficiency, advanced age, chronic use of drugs or alcohol, or other causes which prevent sufficient understanding or capacity to competently manage the his or her own affairs.

160102. Committee. A person, assembly, or board of persons to whom the consideration or management of any matter is committed or referred by some court, as a person or persons having guardianship of the person and property of an insane person.

160103. Conservator. A guardian, protector, or preserver; a maintainer.

160104. Court of Competent Jurisdiction. A court having power and authority of law at the time of acting to do the particular act; one that has jurisdiction both of the person and of the subject matter; one provided for in the Constitution (reference (df)) or created by the legislature and which has jurisdiction of the subject matter and of the person.

160105. Guardian. A person who legally has the care of the person or property, or both, of another person who is incompetent to act for himself or herself.

160106. Trustee. As used in the legal sense, a person who takes and holds the legal title to the trust property for the benefit of another, one to whom another's property is legally committed in trust; or a person holding the legal title to property under an expressed or implied agreement to apply it, and the income arising from it, to the use and for the benefit of another person.

1602 PHYSICALLY INCAPACITATED RETIREE

160201. It frequently has been held that physical infirmity does not warrant the appointment of a guardian for the estate of a person. A statute which makes physical disability or infirmity a ground for the appointment of a guardian of the property of a person mentally competent, but physically incompetent is unconstitutional and an unwarranted abridgment of the liberty of such person, and an unwarranted abridgment of the person's right to acquire, possess, and protect property. On the other hand, in some cases, incompetence to manage an estate or property has been found primarily from evidence of advanced age and physical infirmity, and a guardian or conservator has been appointed. Also, in some jurisdictions there are statutes, held to be constitutional, which authorize the appointment of guardians of the estates of those who, because of old age or physical incapacity, are incapable of managing their property.

160202. In several states, statutes authorize persons who, although of sound mind, believe themselves incapable of managing their own estates or of caring for their own property, to apply for, request or consent to the appointment of a conservator or guardian of the estate or of their persons, or both. The conservator or guardian, when appointed, possesses over the estate substantially the same power and is subject to substantially the same duties as a guardian of an incompetent.

160203. Because of the variety of county and state statutes regarding the appointment of legal representatives for physically incapacitated members, the DFAS Centers accept and process court orders appointing such representatives. It is not the responsibility of the DFAS Center to authenticate each order.

160204. Examples

A. A person who is bedfast and physically incapacitated as the result of two strokes is not necessarily incompetent so as to require the appointment of a guardian.

B. A 77-year-old woman suffering from complete paralysis of the left side, was unable to speak except an occasional word, could not swallow and could write only with difficulty and very briefly, but could hear, read, watch television, walk with assistance, and could be out of bed and sit up for short periods of time. She was, according to medical testimony, mentally competent, but the evidence was sufficient to support a finding that she was physically incompetent and unable to manage her property.

C. When an adult person has sufficient mental capacity to understand the nature and consequences of the application for a conservator, that person's wishes, if conducive to welfare and contentment of mind, may properly be given great weight in determining whether a conservator (rather than a guardian) should be appointed.

D. The physical condition of the person for whom a conservator is required can be considered only insofar as it may affect the person's mental condition.

1603 MEDICAL EXAMINATION

160301. Federal agencies authorized to make determinations of the competency of a retired service member hospitalized in a facility under its jurisdiction are:

- A. Department of the Army
- B. Department of the Navy
- C. Department of the Air Force
- D. Department of Health and Human Services

E. Department of Veterans Affairs

160302. Upon receipt of information that a retiree may be mentally incapacitated, a board of no fewer than three medical officers or physicians (including one specially trained in treatment of mental disorders), is convened to determine whether the retiree is competent. The board is also convened when requested to do so by proper authority.

160303. The convening authority ensures that the board's findings are certified by three members of the board.

160304. The convening authority sends one copy of the board's findings, as applicable, to:

A. Army and Air Force. Director, DFAS-Cleveland Center, Attn: DFAS-CL/DG, A.J. Celebrezze Building, 1240 East 9th Street, Cleveland OH 44199-2055.

B. Navy and Marine Corps. Head, Fiduciary Affairs Branch, Civil Affairs Division, Office of the Judge Advocate General, 200 Stovall Street, Alexandria, VA 22332-2400.

1604 MILITARY DEPARTMENT APPOINTMENT OF TRUSTEE

160401. The authority of the Secretary of the Army to appoint trustees without the necessity of official action has been delegated to the Director, DFAS-Indianapolis Center.

160402. The authority of the Secretary of the Navy to appoint trustees without the necessity of judicial action has been delegated to the Head, Fiduciary Affairs Branch, Civil Affairs Division, Office of the Judge Advocate General, 200 Stovall Street, Alexandria, VA 22332-2400.

160403. The authority of the Secretary of the Air Force to appoint trustees without the necessity of judicial action has been delegated to the Director, DFAS-Denver Center.

160404. The Director, DFAS-Indianapolis Center, or the Director, DFAS-Denver Center may designate one of the following persons as trustee for Army and Air Force retirees if the trustee is 21 years of age or over:

- A. Lawful spouse (not subject to age retirement)
- B. Legitimate son or daughter or legally adopted son or daughter
- C. Parents
- D. Head of an institution, if member is a patient
- E. Any other person or persons if in the best interest of the member 160402. The Judge Advocate General of the Navy may designate a suitable person, not under legal disability, as trustee to receive and expend all amounts due to Navy or Marine Corps retirees.

A. While a next of kin or other relative of the retiree ordinarily is preferred for designation as trustee, any other person, willing and suitable to act as such may be designated as temporary or permanent trustee unless a committee, guardian, or other legal representative is appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction.

B. Upon the designation of a trustee to receive monies payable to an incompetent Navy or Marine Corps retiree, the Director, Fiduciary Affairs Division, notifies the Director, DFAS-Cleveland Center, Attn: Dir, Retired Pay Operations, A.J. Celebrezze Building, 1240 East 9th Street, Cleveland, OH 44199-2055, of that designation. After such notification, all monies due to the incompetent are paid to the designated trustee.

160403. The trustee designated to receive monies in behalf of the incompetent retiree furnishes a suitable bond in all cases when the amounts to be received may be expected to exceed $1,000. The bond so required and furnished must have, as the surety, a company approved by the U.S. Government and must be in such amount as required by the Military Department concerned. The person who has been designated as trustee acts in this capacity without remuneration. However, if a bond is required, the premium fee charged by the bonding company may be paid from the funds received on behalf of the mentally incompetent retiree. Any other expenses incurred in securing the bond may not, however, be paid from the amount payable to the incompetent retiree.

160404. The trustee appointed by the Military Department has the authority only to receive, expend, and account for monies received from the appointing Military Department; the appointment does not convey authority to act as a trustee in a civilian capacity without prior authority from a court of competent jurisdiction. The Military Department trustee must use the monies received for the benefit of the incompetent retiree. The Military Department may not appoint a trustee in any case in which a legal committee, guardian or other representative has been appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction.

160405. The designated trustee submits accounting reports annually or at such times as directed by the Military Department. The reports must show all funds received, all expenditures made in behalf of the incompetent retiree, and a statement of the condition of the trustee account at the time the report is submitted. The trustee also may be required to provide all receipts, cancelled checks, or voucher accounts, savings account pass books or statements, or any other records concerning the trustee account. If the trustee fails to report promptly at the end of the accounting period, the appointing authority either may temporarily suspend or terminate further payments to the trustee, and may designate a successor trustee.

160406. Payments due an incompetent retiree cease to be paid to the trustee upon receipt of notification by the DFAS-Cleveland Center of:

- A. Death of the incompetent
- B. Death or disability of the trustee
- C. Receipt of notice that a committee, guardian, or other legal representative has been appointed for the incompetent by a court of competent jurisdiction
- D. Failure of a trustee to render required accounting reports
- E. Probable cause to believe that there is improper use of monies received on behalf of the incompetent;
- F. Receipt of notification that a board of medical officers or other appropriate medical authorities have now found the retiree to be capable of managing his or her affairs. The appointing authority may, at his or her discretion, accept the findings of a Department of Veterans Affairs hospital or of a Public Health Service hospital, or the findings of other public or private institutions, that a person formerly found incompetent is now competent. If payments are terminated under subparagraphs B, D, or E, above, the appointing authority may appoint a successor trustee.

160410. The Director, DFAS-Cleveland Center notifies the Head, Fiduciary Affairs Branch, of any changes in the status of the incompetent retiree's pay account; that is, death of retiree or trustee, appointment of a legal guardian, committee, or other legal representative by a court of competent jurisdiction, waiver of retired pay to receive Department of Veterans Affairs compensation, or failure of trustee to submit required report of existence. The Director also furnishes the Head, Fiduciary Affairs Branch, a report as to the amount of payments made to trustees annually, or as requested, or at the time of a change in the status of the trusteeship.

160411. When payments under this chapter are terminated, the trustee files a final accounting report with the appointing authority. When the final accounting report has been approved, the trustee is discharged and the surety released of its bond. Upon death or disability of a trustee, the trustee's legal representative makes the final accounting report.

1605 COURT APPOINTMENT OF A GUARDIAN OR OTHER LEGAL REPRESENTATIVE FOR PHYSICALLY, OR MENTALLY INCAPACITATED RETIREE

160501. The incapacitated retiree or any person interested in the welfare of the retiree may petition a court of competent jurisdiction for a finding of incapacity and appointment of a guardian or other legal representative.

160502. A copy of the appropriate court order certifying to the appointment of the guardian, committee, or conservator is required before payments may be made to the appointee.

160503. Accounting reports, similar to those identified in paragraph 160408, above, are not required. Such reports, if required by the court, are matters of concern between the court-appointed guardian or legal representative and the court.

1606 COMFORT ITEMS WHILE IN THE HOSPITAL

The commanding officer of any military hospital or the director of a VA hospital may designate an officer under the command to receive and receipt for a sum of money from the accrued pay of a retiree who, as a patient at the hospital, has been found to be physically or mentally incapacitated in a report of medical officers. This money may be used only for the purchase of comfort items for the use and benefit of that retiree when all of the following conditions exist.

160601. A trustee has not been designated and a guardian or other legal representative has not been appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction; and 160602. There are no other funds available for use on behalf of the retiree; and 160603. Competent medical authority agrees that the items to be purchased will serve the comfort of the retiree.

1607 GENERAL MAINTENANCE OF ACCOUNTS

Once the appointment of trustee, guardian, committee, etc., has been made, the supporting DFAS Center shall change or update the account per the appropriate provisions of this regulation.

CHAPTER 17BANKRUPTCIES*1701 WAGE EARNER'S PLAN UNDER THE BANKRUPTCY ACT, CHAPTER 13

170101. A wage earner's plan under Chapter 13 (reference (dg)) is one relating to future earnings of the debtor and relief is predicated upon the primary concept that, while the debtor is unable to pay existing debts, a plan to effect a composition or extension out of future earnings has been presented to the bankruptcy court for approval. The plan must provide for submitting such earnings or wages to the supervision and control of the court for the purpose of enforcing the plan.

170102. When the plan is confirmed by the court, its provisions are binding upon the debtor and all creditors of the debtor, whether they are affected by the plan, have accepted it and have filed their claims, or whether their claims have been scheduled or allowed, or are allowable.

170103. The court has authority to issue orders needed to implement the provisions of the plan including orders directed to an employer of the debtor.

170104. The retired pay of a retiree is subject to payment to the trustee appointed by the court pursuant to Chapter 13 of the Bankruptcy Act (reference (dg)). The payment by accounting, finance or disbursing officers of part of the retiree's pay in response to a court order issued in a Chapter 13 (reference (dg)) Wage Earner's Plan case does not violate 31 U.S.C. 3727 (reference (dh)). Compliance with such a court order gives the government a valid acquittance against the member since the court order is binding on the retiree.

170105. If the United States is both the debtor and creditor when the member files a Chapter 13 (reference (dg)) Wage Earner's Plan, the government's priority under 31 U.S.C. 3713 (reference (dh)) may be asserted in the absence of a judicial determination to the contrary.

170106. The rules governing the payments of retired pay made to the trustee appointed by the court pursuant to a Chapter 13 (reference (dg)) Wage Earner's Plan are set forth in the following regulations:

- A. Army: AR 37-103, chapter 16 (reference (di)).
- B. Navy/Marine Corps: Navy Comptroller Manual 041355.3 (reference (dj)).
- C. Air Force: Volume 5 of this Regulation (reference (dk)) and AFR 110-24 (reference (dl)).

170107. A retiree who is participating in a Chapter 13 (reference (dg)) Wage Earner's Plan must pay the delinquent taxes which he or she owes that had not been assessed before the date of confirmation of the plan. The retiree also is responsible for all taxes that may become due. The United States may accept the provisions of any plan dealing with the assumption, settlement, or payment of any such delinquent taxes.

A. When the DFAS-Cleveland Center sends the entire amount of the retiree's pay to the court-appointed trustee, the IRS Notice of Levy should be forwarded to the court-appointed trustee for disposition.

B. When the DFAS-Cleveland Center sends part of the pay due the retiree to the court-appointed trustee, the IRS Notice of Levy should be processed in the normal manner against the amount due the retiree. The court-appointed trustee is provided a copy of the IRS Notice of Levy and notified of the action taken in establishing the liquidation procedures on a continuing Notice of Levy.

1702 REGULAR BANKRUPTCY

A retiree is within the class of persons specified in 11 U.S.C. 301 (reference (dm)), as entitled to the benefits of voluntary bankruptcy.

170201. Continuing deductions from retired pay without the retiree's consent, after the filing of a petition in bankruptcy that lists the debt(s) to the government, is improper in view of the pending bankruptcy proceedings. A debt included on a bankrupt person's schedule of debts is not subject to involuntary collection. All involuntary deductions to liquidate the listed indebtedness must be discontinued promptly upon notice or actual knowledge of the filing of a bankruptcy petition. Amounts withheld after the date the bankruptcy petition is filed must be refunded to the retiree.

170202. Upon notice or actual knowledge of the filing of a bankruptcy petition, when the retiree has listed the U.S. government as a creditor, the DFAS-Cleveland Center:

A. Requests the local U.S. attorney to file claim with the federal court concerned, or

B. Files a claim with the federal court concerned.

170203. If the bankruptcy petition is approved, the listed indebtedness to the United States is discharged. The bankruptcy proceedings have no bearing on the liquidation of any new item of indebtedness discovered after the filing of a petition in bankruptcy and not included in the petition.

CHAPTER 19

GENERAL PROVISIONS GOVERNING ALLOTMENTS OF RETIRED PAY1901 GENERAL

Personnel receiving retired pay may authorize allotments from their retired pay for the purposes set forth in Chapters 19-23 of this volume. The voluntary allotment system enables retirees to make a limited number of payments by payroll deduction. Allotments are designed for the convenience and privilege of retirees and are not to be exploited or abused. Allotments are an assignment of retired pay by the retiree to a third party, financial institution, or agency. The retired pay activity acts solely as an agent of the retiree in the assignment of pay and assumes no liability concerning any contract between the retiree and the allottee. Allotments paid erroneously through administrative error must be recovered from the allottee, if possible, or may be collected from the retiree if such payment provided a benefit to that retiree.

1902 SPECIALIZED TERMS

190201. Allotment. As used herein, a definite portion of the retired pay of a person retired from a Military Service, which is authorized to be paid to a qualified allottee.

190202. Allottee. The person, institution, or agency to whom the allotment is made payable.

190203. Allotter. The person from whose retired pay the allotment is made.

190204. Financial Institution. A bank, credit union, or thrift association.

1903 AUTHORIZED ALLOTMENTS

190301. Voluntary allotments. Allotments authorized for establishment from retired pay are limited to:

A. Purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds.

B. Payments of premiums for insurance on the life of the allotter. This includes U.S. Government Life Insurance, National Service Life Insurance, Veterans Group Life Insurance, Navy Mutual Aid Insurance, Army Mutual Aid Insurance, and commercial life insurance. Allotments for insurance on the life of an allotter's spouse or children are not authorized, except under a family group contract which primarily provides insurance on the life of the allotter and as a subordinate feature includes insurance on the lives of the spouse or children.

C. Voluntary Liquidation of Debts to the United States. This includes indebtedness incurred by defaulted notes guaranteed by the Federal Housing Administration or the Department of Veterans Affairs; delinquent federal income taxes; or any other indebtedness to the United States Government, except indebtedness to one of the Military Services or any other organization in the Department of Defense, to include its non-appropriated fund instrumentalities.

D. Dependents. The allotment may be made to a spouse, former spouse, and/or children of the retired member having permanent residence other than that of the retired member. It may be made payable to a financial institution for credit to the account of the dependent.

E. Charity. Allotments may be initiated for charitable contributions to the Army Emergency Relief, Navy and Marine Corps Relief Society, or affiliates of the Air Force Assistance Fund. These allotments may be registered only for a definite period of time.

F. Loans. Allotments may be made for the repayment of loans to the Army Emergency Relief, Navy and Marine Corps Relief Society, or Air Force Aid Society.

G. In addition to allotments authorized above, and to aid personnel in the transition from active duty to retired status, all existing authorized allotments of members on active military duty, except those for Combined Federal Campaign and Post-Vietnam Era Veterans' Educational Assistance Program, may be continued as approved allotments.

1. If any allotments are discontinued by order of the retiree, they may not be reestablished and only allotments authorized in subparagraphs 190301.A. through F., above, may be established by the retiree. Establishment or change of allotment for voluntary liquidation of debts to the United States (subparagraph C., above) is controlled by the DFAS-Cleveland Center, which pays the retiree. Any change in the amount of an allotment or change in the name of an allottee constitutes a discontinuance of the allotment unless the change is beyond the control of the retiree. This pertains only to existing allotments continued from active duty, and not to those under subparagraphs 190301.A. through F., above.

2. Changes beyond the control of the retiree are changes that are of an administrative nature dictated by events incidental to the purpose of the allotment. An example of an administrative change by the payee is an amount change due to contractual obligations existing at the time the allotment was executed, such as mortgage payment changes because of a variable-rate mortgage or changing escrow requirements. Although a change of this nature does not constitute a discontinuance, any administrative change that adjusts the amount to the allotment shall be accepted only when communicated by the retiree on a new allotment request. Discontinuance occurs with any mortgage refinancing action. A change in allotments made by an organizational allottee may be accepted when the change is properly documented, is of an administrative nature, and does not increase the amount allotted.

190302. Limitations. Multiple allotments authorized for establishment from retired pay are limited to purpose codes B, D, I, and T (multiple T-allotments are limited to federal debts). Purpose codes are found at Figure 19-1 and Table 19-1.

190303. Establishment, Discontinuance, and Changes to Existing Allotments. A letter or form signed by the retiree or an automated data exchange for National Service Life Insurance and Veterans Group Life Insurance establishes, discontinues, or changes an allotment. The letter must include: (1) retiree's name and social security number, (2) amount of the allotment and start and/or stop date as appropriate, and (3) allotter's full name and address. Also required are full name, title (Mr., Mrs., or Ms.), and social security number of first named person on bond. Normally, allotments are not established retroactively.

1904 RETIRED PAY WHICH MAY BE ALLOTTED

The amount of retired pay, which may be allotted, can be limited administratively to exclude amounts required to be withheld:

190401. For tax purposes.

190402. For liquidation of an indebtedness determined under applicable provisions of law to be chargeable against the member's retired pay account.

190403. For cost of participation in the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan and/or Survivor Benefit Plan.

190404. Because of federal civilian employment of a retired Regular officer.

190405. For garnishments.

190406. For continuing tax levies.

190407. For VA compensation.

190408. For former spouse.

1905 PERIODS OF ALLOTMENTS

Allotments are registered for an indefinite period except allotments for:

190501. Repayment of an indebtedness to the United States, to include payment of delinquent federal income taxes.

190502. Charity as specified in subparagraph 190301.E, above.

1906 RESTRICTIONS

190601. Minors. Allotments (except U.S. Savings Bonds) may not be made payable to children under 16 years of age. Such allotments may be made payable to the children's guardian or custodian. Spouses of retirees may be named as allottees regardless of age.

190602. Mental Incompetents. Allotments are not payable to mentally incompetent persons. Such allotments are payable to a guardian or the institution where confined.

190603. Multiple Allotments. See restrictions in paragraph 190301, above, and Chapters 20-23 of this volume.

190604. Power of Attorney. A power of attorney is not acceptable to establish, change, or stop an allotment.

190605. Reduced Retired Pay of Allotter. When a stoppage or reduction of retired pay does not leave enough funds for deduction of allotments in force, those allotments are stopped administratively by the disbursing officer without the signature of the retiree.

190606. Administrative Stops. Allotments may be stopped because of the required deductions from retired pay listed in section 1904, above. When possible, the retiree is allowed to determine the allotments to be stopped. However, if the retiree involved refuses, or is unable, to identify those that should be stopped, the allotments of that retiree are involuntarily stopped:

1907 RIGHT TO ALLOTMENTS IN CASE OF DEATH

190701. Death of Retiree. Entitlements to allotments end with the death of the member. No further allotment payments may be made after receipt of notice of the allotter's death. Deductions made from the retiree's pay, but not paid to the allottee, become part of the arrears of retired pay. Allotments paid after the retiree's death may not be collected from the allottee, except:

A. Allotments erroneously established after notice of death of the retiree, and

B. Unearned insurance premiums (insurance premiums are paid 1 month before the day payment is actually due).

190702. Death of Allottee. An allotment check, even though endorsed, does not become part of an allottee's estate if it is not cashed or negotiated before the allottee's death. It is not subject to any expense incurred by or on behalf of the allottee before or after death. All unnegotiated allotment checks must be returned to the office that issued them. Such checks are credited to the retiree's account.

1908 ALLOTMENT OVERPAYMENT RESPONSIBILITIES

Any check or bond issued and mailed to recipient for which entitlement does not exist must be recovered immediately by the issuing office. When an allotment payment is made after deductions from retiree's retired pay have ceased, and the retiree does not return the amount of that payment, the office of issuance starts recovery action of an equal amount from the recipient, or the retiree, if that office determines that the retiree benefited from the payment. If the retiree is liable, overpayment is recovered by deductions from retired pay due to the retiree.

CHAPTER 20

ALLOTMENTS TO DEPENDENTS AND RELATIVES OR FOR INDEBTEDNESS2001 DEPENDENTS AND RELATIVES200101. Allotments to Dependents and Relatives

A. Eligibility and Purpose. A retiree may continue any allotments in effect while on active duty that were payable to a spouse, former spouse, other dependents, or to provide financial assistance to relatives who are not legally designated as dependents, so long as these allotments do not exceed the total amount of retired pay. A retiree also may allot a portion of retired pay to a spouse, former spouse, and/or children who have a permanent residence other than that of the retired member.

B. Type of Allotments. Class D allotments are established for this purpose.

C. Specific Instructions. Establish class D allotments only upon request of the retiree using procedures established by the Military Service concerned. The allotment may be made payable to an individual or to a financial institution for credit to the account of the allottee or a joint account of the allotter and allottee. A class D allotment administratively established when the member was on active duty may be terminated by request of the member.

D. Prior Arrangements Necessary. When an allotment is made payable to a financial institution, the retiree or allottee must make satisfactory arrangements with the financial institution to accept these deposits before starting the allotment. Note: Maximum use will be made of electronic funds transfer.

2002 INDEBTEDNESS200201. Allotments Authorized for Repayment of Indebtedness

A. Purpose of Allotments. Retired members may make allotments to:

1. Repay defaulted notes insured by the Federal Housing Administration or guaranteed by the Department of Veterans Affairs.

2. Pay delinquent federal income taxes (see Chapter 22 of this volume).

3. Repay any other indebtedness to any federal agency. The allotment cannot be used to repay a loan from a government or commercial insurance policy. (See Chapters 33 through 41 of this volume for payments of amounts due under the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan.)

B. Period of Allotment. An allotment for repayment of an indebtedness to the United States is registered for a definite period required to liquidate the indebtedness. The retiree may terminate the allotment at any time.

C. Type of Allotments. Class T allotments are established for this purpose.

CHAPTER 21

PAYMENT OF INSURANCE PREMIUMS2101 CLASS N ALLOTMENTS

210101. Purpose. Class N allotments are authorized by all Military Services to pay premiums on U.S. Government Life Insurance and/or National Service Life Insurance. The allotment cannot be used for the repayment of loans on U.S. Government Life Insurance.

210102. Eligible Allottee. The allottee for class N allotments is:

The Department of Veterans Affairs
P.O. Box 8079
Philadelphia, PA 19101

210103. Number of Allotments Permitted. A member may have only one class N allotment. When the member has more than one policy in effect under one class of insurance, or a combination of U.S. Government and National Service Life Insurance, combine the premium payments into one allotment.

210104. Effective Dates for Starting, Changing, and Stopping Allotments.
Tables 21-1, 21-2, and 21-3 prescribe effective dates on which class N allotments are started, changed, or stopped.

210105. Cash Deposit for Insurance. If a retiree's retired pay account is in a non-pay status, (such as, full waiver of pay, failure to report for periodic physical examination, or 5 years on the Temporary Disability Retired List, inform the retiree that he or she may request the Department of Veterans Affairs to pay insurance premiums by deduction from disability compensation benefits, or that the retiree must pay premiums by sending remittances directly to:

The Department of Veterans Affairs
P.O. Box 7787
Philadelphia, PA 19101

2102 CLASS I ALLOTMENTS (COMMERCIAL LIFE INSURANCE)

210201. Purpose

A. Allotments Authorized. Class I allotments are authorized to pay premiums on commercial life insurance on the life of the allotter, spouse and/or children.

B. Restrictions. Allotments are not permitted for health, accident, or hospitalization insurance, or other contracts or agreements, which as a secondary or incidental feature include insurance on the life of the allotter.

210202. Eligible Allottees

A. Commercial Life Insurers. Commercial life insurers are eligible allottees for class I allotments under this section. All payments to an insurer are made to the home office of the agency issuing the policy or to a branch office named by the home office of the agency.

B. The allottee for Veterans Group Life Insurance is:

OSGLI
213 Washington Street
Attn: VGLI Program
Newark, NJ 07102

210203. Number of Allotments Permitted. A member may have more than one class I allotment for commercial life insurance. However, if he or she has more than one life insurance policy with the same company, combine premium payments into one allotment to that company.

210204. Effective Dates for Starting, Changing, and Stopping Allotments.
Tables 21-1, 21-2, and 21-3 prescribe effective dates on which class I allotments for commercial life insurance may be started, changed, or stopped.

2103 CLASS M ALLOTMENTS (NAVY AND MARINE CORPS ONLY)

210301. Purpose. Class M allotments are authorized only for use by Navy and Marine Corps personnel to pay premiums on Navy Mutual Aid Insurance. The restrictions in paragraph 210201, above, on commercial insurance allotments apply to class M allotments.

210302. Eligible Allottees. The allottee for class M allotments is:

Navy Mutual Aid Association
Navy Department
Washington, DC 20370

CHAPTER 22

PAYMENT OF DELINQUENT FEDERAL TAXES2201 VOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION

A retiree may execute an agreement with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to pay delinquent taxes by monthly deductions from retired pay. Agreements are made by executing an IRS Form 2159. A retiree may cancel an agreement before the tax indebtedness is completely liquidated. This indebtedness is not increased periodically to include additional accrued interest and/or penalty expenses. Agreements are processed as follows:

220101. Army and Air Force. Process as a class T allotment.

220102. Navy and Marine Corps. Process as a class T allotment if the period of liquidation is 3 months or longer. If the period is less than 3 months, the disbursing officer remits the monthly deduction from retired pay to the appropriate IRS office.

2202 INVOLUNTARY LIQUIDATION

Delinquent federal taxes involuntarily liquidated are not treated as allotments. See Chapter 28 of this volume.

CHAPTER 23UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS*2301 AUTHORIZED PURCHASES BY ALLOTMENT

Retired members may purchase U.S. Savings Bonds by class B allotment. Denominations of issue and pay deduction schedules are contained in Volume 5 of this Regulation. The purchase price of the bond is one-half of the face amount. Bond purchases in one calendar year may not exceed $15,000 (purchase price).

2302 MAILING BONDS

Bonds may be mailed to any address except those in blocked countries.

CHAPTER 24

COMPUTATION OF WAGES SUBJECT TO FEDERAL INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING2401 BACKGROUND

Federal income tax withholding (FITW) is based on payments actually or constructively paid, regardless of date on which they are earned. Retired pay is paid constructively when it is credited to the account or set apart for a retiree so that he or she may draw on it at any time, although it is not actually reduced to possession. It must have been credited to or set apart for the retiree without any substantial limitation or restriction as to the time or manner of payment or condition under which it is to be made and brought within the retiree's control and disposition.

2402 RETIRED PAY SUBJECT TO FITW

Except as otherwise indicated in this chapter, retired pay is income and constitutes wages subject to FITW.

2403 RETIRED PAY NOT SUBJECT TO FITW

240301. The gross retired pay of a member is not subject to FITW if the member's retired pay is computed only on the basis of percentage of disability and the member is on the temporary or permanent disability retired lists, if:

A. On or before September 24, 1975, the member was entitled to receive retired pay computed on the basis of percentage of disability (26 U.S.C. 104(a)(4) and 104(b)(2)(A)) (reference (dw)); or

B. On September 24, 1975, he or she was a member of the Armed Forces (or Reserve Component thereof) or under a binding written commitment to become such a member (26 U.S.C. 104(a)(4) and 104(b)(2)(B) (reference (dw))); or

C. The member receives disability retired pay because of a combat-related injury. The term combat-related injury means personal injury or sickness incurred as a direct result of armed conflict, or while engaged in extra hazardous service, or under conditions simulating war, or caused by an instrument of war.

2404 EFFECT OF VA AWARD ON FEDERAL INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING

240401. A member is entitled to exclude from the taxable portion of retired pay:

A. The maximum amount that he or she would be entitled to receive as disability compensation upon application to the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA);

B. An additional amount based on the difference between a prospective VA disability compensation award and the amount excluded under section 2403, above.

C. The retroactive amount of a VA disability compensation award not previously excluded from retired pay.

2405 GROSS PAY PARTIALLY TAXABLE

Part of the retired pay for members who are entitled to have their retired pay computed on the basis of both percentage of disability and years of service may be designated as FITW wages. Any reduction of FITW wages for disability retired pay must meet one of the conditions set forth in section 2403, above.

240501. Compute the FITW wages of members retired for disability on or after October 1, 1949, as follows:

A. If the member is placed on the Permanent Disability Retired List (PDRL), subtract retired pay based on the percentage of disability from retired pay based on the years of service. The result of such subtraction is FITW wages.

B. If the member is placed on the Temporary Disability Retired List (TDRL), use one of these two methods:

1. If the member's disability rating is 50 percent or more, compute as in subparagraph 240501A., above.

2. If the member's disability rating is less than 50 percent, and retired pay is computed based on years of service, exclude from FITW wages the amount of retired pay the member would have received if such pay were computed solely on the actual percentage of disability. If the member's disability rating is less than 50 percent, and the member elects to receive disability retired pay based on the percentage of disability, the retired pay received is not FITW wages.

240502. FITW wages for members who retired before October 1, 1949, fell into two categories. Such retired pay either was based on years of service and was fully taxable, or it was based on disability and was nontaxable. Members retired for physical disability before October 1, 1949 were assigned a disability rating for purposes of computing retired pay entitlement under the provisions of the Career Compensation Act (reference (w)). These members could either continue to receive the nontaxable retired pay they were receiving on September 30, 1949, or elect to receive retired pay computed under the provisions of the Career Compensation Act (reference (w)) based on the percentage of disability assigned or years of active service. If members chose to have their pay computed based on the Career Compensation Act (reference (w)), their FITW wages were computed as described in section 2403 or subparagraph 240501A., above.

2406 FITW WAGE REDUCTIONS FROM DEDUCTIONS AND COLLECTIONS

240601. Deductions and collections that reduce FITW wages include:

A. The total reduction of a member's retired pay in order to participate in the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (RSFPP). This deduction did not reduce taxable income until the tax laws were changed to permit a dollar-for-dollar reduction effective January 1, 1966. The tax implication for a member who pays for this protection by direct remittance is discussed in section 2411, below.

B. The total reduction of a member's retired pay to participate in the Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP). The tax implication for a member who pays for this protection by direct remittance is discussed in section 2410, below.

C. Waiver of pay because a member is receiving compensation or a pension from the VA.

1. If the member's gross retired pay is fully subject to FITW, subtract the amount of the VA waiver from FITW wages.

2. In the case of a member retired because of physical disability, reduce FITW wages, if any, by the amount of the VA waiver or the portion of the member's retired pay based on the actual percentage of disability, whichever is greater.

D. Reduction of retired pay due to the Dual Compensation Act of 1964 (reference (at)):

1. Reduce the FITW wages of a non-disability retiree by the amount of retired pay forfeited because of the retired member's federal civil service employment.

2. Determine the FITW wages of a member retired with a disability using the following process:

a. Step A. Gross retired pay less amount of RSFPP and/or SBP deduction and less amount of disability retired pay or VA disability compensation (whichever is greater) equals amount of FITW wages if there is no Dual Compensation Act (reference (at)) deduction. If there is a deduction due to the Dual Compensation Act (reference (at)), use the formula in Step B to compute the amount of FITW wages.

b. Step B. Gross retired pay, less amounts of RSFPP and/or SBP deduction and less any amount of retired pay waived to receive VA compensation, equals the amount of adjusted gross pay.

c. Step C. Taxable pay from Step A, divided by adjusted gross retired pay from Step B equals percentage ratio. Carry to five decimal places and round to four decimal places.

d. Step D. Subtract the amount of retired pay forfeiture for federal civilian employment from the adjusted gross pay obtained in Step B. Multiply the resulting figure by the percentage ratio from Step C to obtain FITW wages.

2407 UNITED STATES CITIZENS ABROAD

The retired pay of members who temporarily or permanently reside in a foreign country is subject to FITW as if they resided in the United States or its possessions. Thus, apply the withholding rules discussed above.

2408 ARREARS OF PAY

See section 3003 of this volume, for taxation policies that apply to deceased members and their beneficiaries.

2409 COLLECTION OF DELINQUENT TAXES

240901. Voluntary Withholding. A retiree may, with the consent of the IRS, have deductions made from his or her retired pay to satisfy a debt due to tax delinquency. The class T allotment has been designated to allow a member to make payments to IRS in this manner. See Chapter 22 of this volume.

240902. Involuntary Withholding. If a retiree neglects or refuses to pay his or her federal income tax liability within 10 days after receiving notice of liability, the cognizant IRS District Director can collect the amount by placing a levy on the member's retired pay. The IRS is required to give the member 10 days notice that a levy will be executed. This notice normally is included with the notification of liability. See Chapter 28 of this volume.

2410 TAXABILITY OF DIRECT REMITTANCE PAYMENTS FOR COVERAGE UNDER THE SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN (SBP)

★241001. When the retired pay account of an SBP participant is placed in a suspended status, the retiree is required to pay monthly SBP costs by remittance. (See section 5203 of this volume for resulting tax consequences.)

241002. A certificate of costs is not issued to cover deposits made in later years. During those years, the member will have received no taxable retired pay against which the certificate could be applied. If, in the future, the member again becomes entitled to receive retired pay, a certificate of costs is issued at the time the pay account is reinstated, covering all deposits made during years of suspension and not previously included on a certificate of costs. If the member does not again receive retired pay before death and, as a result, the retired pay income exclusion for SBP costs is not fully used during the member's lifetime, the remaining income exclusion (the unused "consideration for the contract") is available to the annuitant for purposes of reducing taxable income derived from annuity payments. In such cases, therefore, at the time the annuity is established, the annuitant is furnished a certificate of costs covering pertinent deposits made. See Chapter 52 of this volume.

2411 TAXABILITY OF DIRECT REMITTANCE PAYMENTS FOR COVERAGE UNDER THE RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN (RSFPP)

The SBP rules in section 2410, above, apply to members who paid RSFPP coverage by direct remittance after January 1, 1966. Note that certificates of costs were issued to all members whose accounts were active as of December 31, 1965. These certificates covered costs that were paid by direct remittance and automatically deducted from the member's retired pay.

2412 PROCESSING CORRECTION OF RECORDS CASES

241201. If payment is made as the result of a correction of military records, that payment is processed as follows.

A. When amounts previously paid and reported as FITW wages are not subject to FITW as a result of the correction, the member is provided either a corrected TD Form W-2P for the 3 calendar years before the year that the correction action is made or a letter citing the "before" and "after" amounts for each calendar year involved. The member then may obtain a tax refund, if any is due, from the IRS based on his or her total tax liability for 3 years. If the retiree asks for a refund for periods before this 3-year period, a claim must be filed with the retired pay activity. That activity may use 52 Comp Gen 420 (reference (dx)) as authority for refunding excess FITW before this 3-year period.

B. When the member's retired pay is subject to FITW, the payment is reported as FITW wages from applicable current year appropriations reserved for such payment.

2413 TAXABILITY AND WITHHOLDING

241301. General. Disability severance pay normally is taxable income. However, disability severance pay is not subject to tax withholding or reporting if at least one of the following three conditions exists:

A. On September 24, 1975, the individual either was a member of an Armed Force or was under a binding written commitment to become a member;

B. The entitlement resulted from combat-related injury or illness, as determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee), which happens as a result of any of the following activities:

1. Directly from armed conflict,

2. While actually performing extra-hazardous service, even if the service does not directly involve combat,

3. Under conditions simulating war, including maneuvers or training, or

4. By an instrumentality of war, such as weapons.

C. The member would be entitled to receive VA disability compensation for the same illness or injury that resulted in his or her entitlement had he or she made application.

241302. VA Compensation Awarded Prior to Separation. Finance offices will not withhold taxes if, before separation, the member provides documentation that he or she is entitled to disability compensation from the VA per subparagraph 241301.C., above.

241303. VA Compensation Awarded After Separation. When a VA disability compensation award has not been made by the separation date, the commander should advise the member that a VA compensation award after separation could make the disability severance pay non-taxable. The member also should be advised to file appropriate tax returns, with VA provided documentation and related separation documents, claiming reduction in taxable income based on the St. Clair v. U.S. (reference (dy)) district court decision. A corrected IRS Form W-2 (W-2c) or other document, which could support the decrease in taxable income, will not be issued.

2414 TAXABILITY OF RETIRED PAY FOR FLEET RESERVIST/FLEET MARINE CORPS RESERVIST NOT PHYSICALLY QUALIFIED FOR RETENTION IN THE FLEET RESERVE/FLEET MARINE CORPS RESERVE (FR/FMCR)

The retired pay of a member of the FR/FMCR who is transferred to the retired list, when found not physically qualified for retention in the FR/FMCR (as stated in paragraph 020102 of this volume) is subject to FITW.

CHAPTER 25

250101. Taxable pay, as computed under provision of Chapter 24, is subject to withholding of federal income tax.

250102. The gross monthly amount of the annuity (RSFPP/SBP), or the monthly amount of the SBP annuity remaining after it has been reduced by a Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) award and/or Social Security offset, is taxable income and is subject to FITW unless the annuitant elects no withholding. See paragraphs 410201 and 410202 and paragraphs 520201 and 520202 of this volume.

2502 RATES FOR REGULAR AND ADDITIONAL WITHHOLDING OF FEDERAL INCOME TAX

250201. Federal income tax will be withheld in accordance with Treasury Department Circular E (reference (dz)).

250202. A member may authorize an additional monthly amount of federal income tax to be withheld. Refer to the procedural instructions of the retired pay activity concerned regarding the additional withholding of federal income tax.

250203. FITW for an annuitant will be computed on the basis of "married, three exemptions" unless the annuitant elects no withholding or submits a certificate requesting a different rate of withholding.

250204. Nonresident Alien

A. Service Outside the United States. Members who are nonresident aliens are not liable for United States income tax on income received for service outside the United States, and such income is not subject to FITW. Service by a nonresident alien member assigned to a base outside the United States, or to a U.S. vessel (other than vessels normally used in coastal waters only) on which the enlisted members are entitled to sea duty pay, is considered service outside the United States.

B. Service Within the United States. For purposes of this paragraph, the United States includes the 50 states and the District of Columbia. Service on board a coast-wide vessel is regarded as service within the United States. Duty on the Great Lakes, the Mississippi River, and other inland waters of the United States, or while serving on a vessel normally operating within the territorial limit of the United States, is considered service within the United States. Gross pay for this service is subject to FITW.

C. FITW Computation

1. Step 1. Compute the member's FITW wages from gross retired pay as if he or she is a United States citizen.

2. Step 2. Determine the ratio of the number of days of active duty inside United States to the total number of days of active duty.

3. Step 3. Multiply FITW wages determined under Step 1 by the ratio determined under Step 2. The resulting amount is subject to FITW at the rate of 30 percent, without being reduced by withholding allowances of personal exemptions, unless the member is a citizen of a country that has a tax treaty with the United States. Use the withholding rate specified in the treaty if the member files TD Form 1001 with the supporting DFAS Center and the Director of International Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, DC 20225. Note that when the member files an income tax return, the IRS will refund any excess tax withheld. A member in this status is responsible for reporting the income to the country of the member's citizenship and paying any tax owed on this income.

2503 RATES OF FEDERAL INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING FOR ONE-TIME PAYMENTS

Special computation rules have been developed by the IRS for the computation of FITW for one-time payments. These rules differentiate whether the taxable portion of a one-time payment must be lumped together with normal taxable pay or should the taxable portion of a one-time payment be treated separately. The rules are differentiated by whether the taxable portion of the one-time payment is made concurrently with a regular payment, or made separately from the regular monthly payment.

250301. One-time payments made concurrently with a regular monthly payment. When a one-time payment is combined with the regular monthly payment, FITW may be computed at 28 percent on the one-time payment portion if it separately is identified and if tax is withheld on the monthly payment at the appropriate rate. (See Revenue Ruling 82-200 (reference (ea)).)

250302. One-time payment made separately from a regular monthly payment. There are two computation rules available. The difference between the rules is not the type of payment, but whether federal income tax previously was withheld from the member's regular monthly payment.

A. When federal income tax was not withheld because the member's exemptions exceeded the taxable portion of retired or retainer pay, the one-time payment must be included with the wages paid for the last pay period (in the same calendar year) or with the wages paid for the current pay period. The amount of withholding is then computed as if this was a single payment.

B. When federal income tax has been withheld there are two alternatives:

1. Combine the taxable portion of the payments, as in subparagraph 750302.A., above, and compute the aggregate withholding amount. Then subtract the amount of federal income tax previously withheld or the amount scheduled to be withheld for the current period. The excess amount then would be deducted from the one-time payment.

2. Withhold a flat 28 percent of the taxable portion of the one-time payment. This amount is computed without regard to the withholding exemptions claimed and cannot be used when there was no federal income tax withheld from the regular monthly payment. (See Revenue Ruling 66-190, 1966-2 CB 457 (reference (eb)).)

CHAPTER 26

STATE AND LOCAL TAXES

2601 INTRODUCTION

The taxing authorities of a member's legal residence may tax the member's retired pay.

2602 WITHHOLDING

260201. A retiree may request voluntary state income tax withholding if the designated state has signed the standard written agreement with the Department of Defense.

260202. The retiree's request must be in writing and is revocable at any time. The withholding amount requested must be an even dollar amount, at least $10, or the state's minimum, if that amount is higher.

2603 PAYMENTS AND REPORTS

260301. The Uniformed Services will disburse amounts withheld to the states in the month following each calendar quarter. Payment procedures and state income tax withholding shall follow the usual fiscal practices of the Uniformed Services.

260302. The Uniformed Services will provide each retiree an IRS Form W-2P that indicates the total tax withheld for each state at the year's end.

CHAPTER 27GARNISHMENTS*2701 BACKGROUND

Public Law 93-647, section 459 (reference (ec)), waived the United States' sovereign immunity from suit to allow garnishment (or similar process in the nature of garnishment) against the United States for the enforcement of child support and alimony obligations of certain U.S. Government employees, including active duty and retired members of the Armed Forces. Public Law 95-30, section 509 (reference (ed)), which made substantial changes in the garnishment law, clarified congressional intent, and authorized issuance of regulations to establish procedures to carry out the provisions of the garnishment law.

2702 PURPOSE

This chapter prescribes guidelines for administering the garnishment law for payment of retired members.

2703 SCOPE

The Armed Forces must comply with valid legal process issued for the enforcement of child support or alimony obligations by federal and state courts or administrative agencies when such agencies are authorized by state law to issue such legal process. The member's retired pay, based upon remuneration for employment, is subject to legal process the same as if the United States were a private person. However, the DFAS Centers are not required to vary their normal pay and disbursement cycle to comply with any such legal process.

2704 DEFINITIONS

270401. Alimony. This is defined as periodic payments of funds for the support and maintenance of a spouse or former spouse. Alimony includes (subject to and in accordance with state law) separate maintenance, alimony pending legal process, maintenance, and spousal support. It also includes attorney fees, interest, and court costs when, and to the extent that they are, expressly made recoverable as such by a decree, order, or judgment issued in accordance with applicable state law by a court of competent jurisdiction. Alimony, as used in Chapters 27 through 29 of this volume, excludes payments or transfers of property made in compliance with any community property settlement, equitable distribution of property, or other division of property between the spouses or former spouses.

270402. Child Support. This is defined as periodic payments of funds for the support and maintenance of a child or children. Subject to and in accordance with state law, child support includes (but is not limited to) payments to provide for health care, education, recreation, clothing, or other specific needs. It also includes attorney fees, interest, and court costs, when and to the extent that they are made recoverable as such by a decree, order, or judgment issued in accordance with applicable state law by a court of competent jurisdiction.

270403. Disposable Earnings. This is defined as that part of an individual's earnings remaining after lawful deductions. To determine disposable earnings of retired members, deduct the following from gross retired pay:

- A. Amounts withheld in payment of debts owed to the United States;
- B. Deductions required by law (i.e., SBP and RSFPP cost deductions, deductions for VA waiver, and dual compensation);
- C. Federal income tax withholding (FITW), if required or authorized by law. Additional amounts for tax withholding are made from retired pay only when the member submits evidence of a tax obligation, which supports the additional withholding.
- D. State income tax withholding if authorized (i.e., when the retiree's state of legal residence has a withholding agreement with the Department of Defense). The amount withheld will not exceed the retiree's estimated retired pay state income tax liability.

270404. Legal Process. This is defined as any writ, order, summons, or other similar process in the nature of garnishment. Legal process may be issued by:

- A. A court of competent jurisdiction within any state, territory, or possession of the United States;
- B. A court of competent jurisdiction in any foreign country with which the United States has entered into an agreement that obligates the United States to honor such process or,
- C. An authorized official according to an order of such a court of competent jurisdiction or pursuant to state or local law.

270405. Remuneration for Employment. This term includes severance pay, retirement or retired pay including disability retired pay, and RSFPP, SBP, and limited income widow's annuities. Does not include death gratuity.

270406. Wage Assignment. This is defined as an order of the court assigning a portion of the member's retired pay on a continuing basis without a recurring court order. Wage assignments are valid only if specifically authorized by state law.

2705 RECEIPT OF PROCESS

270501. Method of Service. The document invoking the legal process to enforce an individual's obligations to provide child support or alimony is served by certified or registered mail (return receipt requested) or by personal service upon the head of the government entity having payment responsibility for the money involved, or on its designee. The process should be served by a party who, under state law, is authorized to do so. The process must be accompanied by data to permit prompt identification of the individual and the monies involved and must clearly show that it is issued for child support or alimony.

270502. Designated Activity

Director
Defense Finance and Accounting Service -
Cleveland Center
Attn: Director, Retired Pay Operations
Anthony J. Celebrezze Federal Building
Cleveland, OH 44199-2055

2706 EFFECTS ON ALLOTMENTS

270601. Allotments are stopped to comply with a writ of garnishment or attachment in the following order unless the member advises his or her Military Service otherwise.

- A. Charitable contributions
- B. Bonds
- C. Savings
- D. Loans
- E. Delinquent state or local income taxes
- F. Dependents
- G. Home loans
- H. Commercial insurance
- I. Army, Navy Mutual Aid Insurance
- J. U.S. Government Life Insurance

270602. Allotments for repayment of indebtedness to the United States or delinquent federal taxes may not be garnished.

270603. Allotments for individuals who are garnishing the pay of members are subject to garnishment or attachment. Allotments to dependents or relatives are not involuntarily cancelled if there are funds remaining for payment of the allotment after the garnishment has been honored.

270604. Allotments discontinued to satisfy a garnishment action may be reinstated by the paying office upon request of the retiree when such amounts are no longer needed to satisfy the garnishment action.

270605. Allotments of pay for delinquent state or local income or employment taxes will not be excluded from pay subject to garnishment.

2707 RESPONSIVE PLEADINGS

Response to interrogatories or to legal process seeking the payment of child support or alimony obligations must be made within 30 days (or a longer period if provided by applicable state law or if there is an agreement for extension of time) from the effective date of service.

2708 NOTICE TO MEMBER

The person who is served must, as soon as possible but no more than 15 days after the date of service, send written notice to the retired member whose pay is affected that the process has been served. The notice must explain the potential effect of the legal process on the member's pay and should be accompanied by a copy of the process and all pertinent documents.

2709 LIMITATIONS

The amount of pay subject to garnishment or similar process for child support or alimony is limited to 50 percent of disposable pay if the member is supporting a second family or 60 percent if the member is not supporting a second family. If, however, the member is more than 12 weeks in arrears, the amount subject to legal process is increased to 55 percent where the member is supporting a second family, and 65 percent where the member is not supporting a second family.

2710 LIABILITIES

271001. Neither the United States nor any disbursing officer or other government entity is liable for any payment made from monies due or payable from the United States to any individual according to legal process if the payment is made in accordance with the regulations pertaining to garnishments.

271002. Federal employees, whose duties include responding to relevant interrogatories made before issuance of legal process and authorized by law, are not subject to any disciplinary action or civil or criminal liability or penalty for, or on account of, any disclosures of information made in connection with the answering of such interrogatories.

2711 PRIORITIES

271101. Legal Process Issued From Two or More Parties

A. When a governmental entity is served with more than one legal process with respect to money payable to any individual, available pay is available on a first-come, first-served basis.

B. The next process is satisfied out of pay subject to garnishment that remains after the prior process has been satisfied.

271102. Effect of Tax Levies on Garnishment

A. The amount of pay being withheld in garnishment or similar legal process according to a judgment by a court of competent jurisdiction for child support or alimony may not be used to satisfy a notice of levy for unpaid federal taxes.

B. To take priority, legal process for collection of alimony must be served before receipt of the tax levy.

C. If an attaching process containing indebtedness for both child support and alimony is served before a tax levy, both take precedence; however, if the judgment predates the tax levy but the attaching process is served after the tax levy, only child support is entitled to exemption and the levy is entitled to priority.

2712 COLLECTIONS BY GARNISHMENTS

A garnishment procedure may not attach more than 65 percent of a retired member's disposable earnings. If the member is indebted to the United States, only so much of the indebtedness that is being withheld each month is deducted from gross earnings to calculate disposable earnings.

EXAMPLE: An order is served June 1, 1977 on the designated activity against pay of retiree. The retiree's monthly gross is $1,500; SBP cost, $127.50; FITW, $205.88; and he or she is indebted to the United States for $2,000. Liquidation of the indebtedness has been established at the rate of $500 per month. Gross earnings thus are reduced by the debt deduction (that is, $500), SBP cost, and FITW, resulting in disposable earnings of $666.62. The 65-percent rule limits the garnishment to $433.30 ($666.62 X 65 percent) and member receives $233.32 ($666.62 minus $433.30).

2713 GARNISHMENT OF RENOUNCED PAY

A writ of garnishment must be honored even though the member has renounced receipt of pay. Entitlement to pay continues as "due from or payable by" the United States and is subject to garnishment. The right to accrue pay may not be waived, except as authorized by law. See Chapter 12 of this volume concerning the waiver of retired pay.

CHAPTER 28

COLLECTION OF DEBTS2801 GENERAL

A debt may be due to an overpayment or erroneous payment not legally due a member, or an amount due to the U. S. Government but unpaid by a member. A debt may be for an overpayment of retired pay, an overpayment of active duty pay and allowances, or other indebtedness arising from service on active duty, an overpayment from another federal agency, unpaid government hospital bills, unpaid rent due military installations, IRS tax levies, court judgments, and bad checks tendered to appropriated or non-appropriated fund activities. Also, a failure to deduct or an under-deduction from retired pay for VA compensation, federal civil employment, Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan or Survivor Benefit Plan costs, or allotments constitute an overpayment of retired pay. Pay or salary that has been earned for personal services rendered to the United States is authorized to be withheld only when expressly provided for by statute. See Table 28-1 for additional information. See paragraph 190606 of this volume for precedence of discontinuing allotments, if required, to increase available pay for collection.

2802 SPECIALIZED TERMS

280201. Administrative Offset. The withholding of money payable by the U. S. Government to, or held by the government for, a person to satisfy a debt that person owes to the government.

280202. Allowances. Includes, but is not limited to, allowances for subsistence, quarters, uniforms, personal money, family separation, travel and transportation, and overseas station allowances.

280203. Compromise. The acceptance of a lesser amount in settlement of a debt in accordance with 31 U.S.C. 3711 (reference (dh)) and 4 C.F.R., Chapter II, Part 103, (reference (ee)).

280204. Creditor Agency. The United States agency to which the debt is owed.

280205. Delinquent Debt. A debt that is past due and unpaid.

280206. Disposable Pay. That part of pay remaining after deduction of any amount required or authorized by law to be withheld for state or federal income taxes.

280207. Erroneous Payment. A payment that was not legal and proper when made.

280208. Involuntary Collections. Collection action taken without a member's consent following provision of procedural due process rights to member. Involuntary collection action requires a statute specifically authorizing such collection.

280209. Pay. That part of current pay remaining after any reductions in entitlements required by law because of:

- A. Civilian employment (dual compensation, foreign employment, and conflict of interest restrictions)
- B. Reserve duty (IDT/ADT)
- C. Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan premium
- D. Survivor Benefit Plan premium
- E. VA compensation

280210. Paying Agency. The federal agency from which the debtor is receiving current pay.

280212. Salary Offset. The collection of a debt to the United States by installment deduction(s) at officially established pay intervals from the current pay account of a member.

280213. Waiver and Waive. The authority to forego the collection of a government claim arising out of an erroneous payment or an overpayment of pay or allowance.

2803 COLLECTION WITH MEMBER'S CONSENT

Members indebted to the United States will be encouraged to discharge their indebtedness through lump-sum cash payment when possible. When the amount of the debt relative to the member's ability to repay indicates that lump-sum settlement would create financial hardship for the member, installment payments will be accepted. Members will be encouraged to accept liability voluntarily for their indebtedness and agree to repayment schedules that adequately protect the interests both of the United States and those members.

2804 AUTHORITY FOR INVOLUNTARY COLLECTION

Current pay is available for repayment of an indebtedness without the member's consent only if such recovery is expressly authorized by statute. Statutory authority to collect indebtedness to the United States is contained in 37 U.S.C. 1007(c) (reference (z)), 5 U.S.C. 5514 (reference (az)), and 31 U.S.C. 3716 (reference (dh)). Debts to the Department of Defense or any of its instrumentalities or other Uniformed Services will be collected under 37 U.S.C. 1007(c) (reference (z)). Debts administratively determined to be owed to another federal agency shall be collected by salary offset under authority of 5 U.S.C. 5514 (reference (az)). Debts determined to be owed to another federal agency shall be collected administratively under authority of 31 U.S.C. 3716 (reference (dh)). However, requests by courts to be paid money due non-federal debtors are not debts to the United States that can be involuntarily offset, unless the offset specifically is authorized by statute.

2805 COLLECTION UNDER 37 U.S.C. 1007(C) (reference (z))

The law authorizes the deduction from a member's pay of amounts that the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) administratively determines to be owed the United States or any of its instrumentalities.

280501. Routine Adjustments. See paragraph 280211, above, for definition. The member shall be given notice of the adjustment when it is made, or as soon thereafter as practicable. The member shall be told whom to contact for additional information.

280502. Other Collections. Before initiating any collection action, other than a routine adjustment, the member shall be given at least 30 days written notice that includes the following provisions. (Note: the Secretary concerned may prescribe additional rights prior to collection by offset under 37 U.S.C. 1007(c)) (reference (z)).)

A. The nature and amount of the debt due the United States, and the intent to commence collection through deductions from pay;

B. The member's opportunity to inspect and copy or request and receive a copy of government records related to the debt;

C. The member's opportunity for review of the decision related to the debt;

D. The member's opportunity to request a written agreement with the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) under terms acceptable to both parties to establish a schedule for repayment of the debt;

E. The member's right to seek waiver or remission of the debt, if appropriate.

280503. Active duty debts will be transferred on retirement and collection will be resumed from retirement or retainer pay. It will not be necessary to repeat the due process procedures in paragraphs 280501 and 280502, above.

280504. Where a member of one Military Service owes a debt to another Military Service and the Secretary of the creditor Service makes an administrative determination of indebtedness, the Secretary may forward that determination, along with certification of compliance with appropriate procedures set forth above, to the Secretary of the member's Military Service. That Secretary (or designee) then may initiate collection.

2806 COLLECTION UNDER 5 U.S.C. 5514 (reference (az))

★280601. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) determines that a member is indebted to the United States under the authority of 5 U.S.C. 5514 (reference (az)). The designated agent listed below is responsible for receiving these collection requests:

DFAS-CL/ABA
1240 E 9th Street
Cleveland, OH 44199-8002

★280602. Collection may be made in monthly installments or at established pay intervals not to exceed 15 percent of disposable pay for any pay period, unless a greater percentage is authorized by written consent of the member. Unsatisfied debts at discharge or retirement shall be deducted from subsequent payments of any nature due the member.

★280603. Due Process. Debts collected under 5 U.S.C. 5514 (reference (az)) are those owed to departments and agencies outside the Department of Defense or other Uniformed Services. The creditor agency is responsible for providing due process rights to member debtors and for certifying to the Secretary of Defense that required due process rights have been provided when requesting collection action. Once the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) has accepted the debt for collection, a member should be given written notice giving the nature and amount of the debt due the United States and the intent to commence collection through deductions from pay. The notice should identify a point of contact at the creditor agency for any questions or disputes that the member may have concerning the intended collection action.

2807 LIMITATION ON AMOUNT OF DEDUCTIONS

280701. The amount to be collected each month in order to recoup an indebtedness from a member's retired pay should be no less than $50, or an amount each month reasonable to the size of the debt and the member's ability to pay. Minimum amounts do not apply where collection amounts are specified by statute.

280702. The maximum monthly amount that may be collected under section 2805, above, is two-thirds of the member's pay less:

- A. Amounts deducted in arriving at disposable pay plus
- B. Amounts collected under section 2806, above, and this section.

2808 INTEREST, PENALTIES, AND ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS

280801. With respect to collections, other than routine adjustments, the Secretary concerned shall charge a minimum annual rate of interest on an outstanding debt to the United States that is equal to the average investment rate for the Treasury tax and loan accounts for the 12-month period ending on September 30 of each year, rounded to the nearest whole-percentage point.

280802. Interest shall accrue from the date on which notice of debt and the interest requirements are first mailed, or hand delivered, to the debtor or such date as specified in the notice.

280803. Interest under paragraph 280801, above, may not be charged if the amount due on the claim is paid within 30 days after the date from which interest accrues in paragraph 280802, above.

280804. The Secretary concerned shall assess charges to cover the administrative cost of processing and handling a delinquent debt.

280805. A penalty charge, not to exceed 6 percent a year, shall be assessed for failure to pay a part of a debt more than 90 days past due. The charge will be calculated from the 91st day of delinquency, but shall accrue from the date the debt became delinquent.

280806. The interest specified in paragraph 280801, above, does not accrue on charges assessed under paragraphs 280804 and 280805, above.

280807. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned may prescribe regulations identifying circumstances appropriate to waiving collection of interest and charges under paragraphs 280801, 280804, and 280805, above.

2809 WAIVER OF INDEBTEDNESS

280901. Recovery of erroneous payments of pay and allowances to or on behalf of a member or former member of the Uniformed Services, may be waived if recovery is determined to be against equity and good conscience. (Erroneous payments of travel and transportation allowances, made prior to December 28, 1985, may not be waived.) Application for waiver must be received by the Department of Defense within 3 years from the date the erroneous payment was discovered. The member must apply for a refund of any amount collected within 2 years from the date of waiver approval. A claim of the United States against a member or former member of the Uniformed Services, arising out of such erroneous payment, may be considered for waiver within 3 years from the date of discovery, when collection of the erroneous payment would be against equity and good conscience, and not in the best interest of the United States. Generally, these criteria are met by a finding that: (a) the erroneous payment occurred through administrative error; and (b) there is no indication of fraud, misrepresentation, fault, or lack of good faith on the part of the member or any other person having an interest in obtaining a waiver of the claim. Any significant unexplained increase in pay that would require a reasonable person to inquire about the correctness of pay would preclude a waiver when the member fails to bring the matter to the attention of the appropriate officials. Collection action may be suspended in certain cases pending action on an application for waiver. In determining, on a case-by-case basis, whether suspension of collection would be appropriate, consider whether:

- A. There is a reasonable possibility that a waiver will be granted;
- B. The government's interest will be protected if suspension is granted by reasonable assurance that the erroneous payment could be recovered if waiver is not granted;
- C. The collection of the debt will cause undue hardship. See procedural instructions of the Military Service concerned.

2810 APPLICATION OF THE FEDERAL CLAIMS COLLECTION ACT

The Secretary of the Military Department concerned shall make all reasonable efforts to collect all claims of the United States for money or property arising out of the activities of, or referred to, that agency. Any claims that have not been referred to another agency for further collection action and do not exceed $20,000 exclusive of interest, may be compromised or collection action may be terminated when the Secretary concerned determines that no person liable in the claim has the present or prospective financial ability to repay the claim, or that cost of collecting the claim is likely to exceed the amount of recovery. See the appropriate regulation of the Military Department concerned.

2811 IRS TAX LEVIES

281102. Procedures. The IRS will transmit IRS Forms 668-W or 668-W(c) in five parts (the letter "c" designates a computer-generated form which is the same as the version of the form without the "c") which will identify the member; specify the amount of the tax liability; give instructions for providing due process; show how to compute the levy based on input from the taxpayer; and give the address to which to send the payment.

Read and follow the instructions on the IRS Form 668-W; in general, this requires notifying the taxpayer, computing the amounts available for payment to the IRS, and making the payment. Currently, the IRS Form 688-W requires the employer to send to the IRS all of the taxpayer's net pay less what is exempt from levy. Net pay is gross retired pay less all deductions and allotments in effect as of the date of receipt of IRS Form 688-W. Follow the instructions on that form when computing exemptions.

Specific instructions:

A. Within 3 working days from the date of receipt of the levy, notify the taxpayer by using a formal letter similar to that at Appendix W and enclosing the member's copies of the IRS Form 668-W.

B. If the date of receipt of the levy is between the 1st and the 15th day of the month, advise the member that the deduction from retired pay will be on the first business day of the second month after current month. If the date of receipt of the levy is between the 16th and the last day of the month, the deduction will be on the first business day of the third month after current month. Thus, if the receipt of the levy is November 11, 1993, deduction will be in the retired pay check of January 1, 1994. If the receipt of the levy is November 28, 1993, the deduction will be on February 1, 1994.

C. Notify affected former spouses with divorce dates prior to February 3, 1991 (division of property settlement cases only), that a future payment will be different from anticipated. Do not tell the former spouse the reason for the fluctuation.

D. Even if the member's declaration of exemption is not timely, it should be honored if received prior to the last date for making changes to the member's retired pay account.

281103. Problem Cases. When the IRS has determined the taxpayer to be a "problem case," the taxpayer will be furnished with the Form 668-W, a statement of the amount of delinquent taxes and a statement that "net pay" is not enough to pay the levy and that all available accrued pay should be sent to the IRS. Available accrued pay is gross retired pay less:

- A. Withholding for current federal taxes (statutory amounts only)
- B. Amounts required to satisfy prior overpayments of pay and allowances
- C. Amounts waived in favor of compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs
- D. Amounts forfeited for dual compensation and pay cap (see paragraphs 050203, 050204, and 050209 of this volume)
- E. SGLI premiums
- F. Deductions for military survivor benefit plans of whatever type
- G. Voluntary child support allotments to satisfy court orders, provided the court order is dated prior to the date of the levy from the IRS
- H. Pay attached or garnished for child support or alimony

I. The levy exemptions calculated under normal levy procedures

The main difference between a regular levy and a problem case levy is that, under the latter, the member's voluntary allotments of retired pay must be stopped to satisfy the levy. If it is not necessary to stop all allotments, the member should be given the opportunity to select those allotments to be stopped. If the member does not so elect, stop such allotments as are necessary, stopping any commercial insurance allotments last.

2812 BANKRUPTCY

A member may file a petition of bankruptcy under Chapters 7, 11, or 13 of the Bankruptcy Code (reference (dg)).

281201. When the amount of an indebtedness due the United States is incurred prior to the filing date of the petition, the debt is termed prepetition indebtedness. Such debt may be collected by set-off from the member's pay account only through the day prior to the date the bankruptcy petition is filed, except as provided below:

A. After the date of bankruptcy petition is filed, prepetition indebtedness due the United States may be collected by the filing of proofs of claim with United States Bankruptcy Court. No collection action may begin until the Bankruptcy Court has provided a repayment plan or liquidation schedule. Collection is then limited to the amount provided in such a plan or schedule.

B. After the date the bankruptcy petition is filed, prepetition indebtedness due the United States may be set-off from the member's pay account if the member reaffirms indebtedness due the United States. Reaffirmation agreements must be approved by the court.

C. If the court subsequently dismisses a bankruptcy case, collection is permitted by set-off if otherwise authorized in Chapters 27 through 29 of this volume.

281202. An indebtedness due the United States, but incurred after the filing date of the petition of bankruptcy, may be collected by set-off if otherwise authorized by Chapters 27 through 29 of this volume.

281203. A member may enter voluntarily into a Chapter 13 Plan (formerly Wage Earner's Plan) under the Bankruptcy Code (reference (dg)). When required by a Chapter 13 Plan (reference (dg)), send the member's pay to the court-appointed trustee as ordered by the court. (See Chapter 17 of this volume.)

2813 PAY NOT AFFECTED BY CIVIL PROCESS

A retired member may not be deprived of his or her pay by civil process of garnishment or levy except as follows:

- 281301. Garnishment for child support or alimony. (See Chapter 27 of this volume.)
- 281302. Levy for delinquent federal income taxes. (See section 2811, above.)
- 281303. Levy for child support

CHAPTER 29

FORMER SPOUSE PAYMENTS FROM RETIRED PAY2901 BACKGROUND

Public Law 97-252 (reference (ei)), as amended by Public Laws 98-525 (reference (ej)), 99-661 (reference (ek)), and 101-510 (reference (el)), authorizes direct payments to a former spouse from the retired pay of a member in response to court-ordered alimony, child support, or division of property.

2902 PURPOSE

This chapter implements procedures to effect the deduction of former spouse payments from retired pay.

2903 DEFINITIONS

290301. Alimony. Periodic payments for support and maintenance of a spouse or former spouse in accordance with state law under 42 U.S.C. 662(c) (reference (au)). Alimony includes, but is not limited to, spousal support, separate maintenance, and maintenance. Alimony does not include any payment for the division of property.

290302. Annuitant. A person receiving a monthly payment under a survivor benefit plan related to retired pay.

290303. Child Support. Periodic payments for the support and maintenance of child(ren) subject to and in accordance with state law under 42 U.S.C. 662(b) (reference (au)). Child support includes, but is not limited to, payments to provide for health care, education, recreation, and clothing, or to meet other specific needs of such child(ren).

290304. Court. Any court of competent jurisdiction of any state, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands and any court of the United States (as defined in 28 U.S.C. 451 (reference (av))) having competent jurisdiction; or any court of competent jurisdiction of a foreign country with which the United States has an agreement requiring the United States to honor any court order of such country.

290305. Court Order. As defined under 10 U.S.C. 1408(a)(2) (reference (c)), a final decree of divorce, dissolution, annulment, or legal separation issued by a court, or a court-ordered, ratified, or approved property settlement incident to such a decree. A court order includes a final decree modifying the terms of a previously issued decree of divorce, dissolution, annulment, or legal separation, or a court-ordered, ratified, or approved property settlement incident to such previously issued decree. A court order must stipulate the payment to a member's former spouse of child support, alimony or division of property. In the case of a division of property, the court order must specify that the payment is to be made from the member's disposable retired pay.

290306. Creditable Service. Service counted towards the establishment of any entitlement for retired pay. See Chapter 1, paragraphs 010102 through 010108, above, 42 U.S.C. 212 for the Public Health Service (reference (au)), and 33 U.S.C. 864 (reference (em)) and 10 U.S.C. 6323 (reference (c)) for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

290307. Designated Agent. The representative of a Uniformed Service who will receive and process court orders under this chapter.

290308. Division of Property. Any transfer of property or its value by an individual to his or her former spouse in compliance with any community property settlement, equitable distribution of property, or other distribution of property between spouses or former spouses.

290309. Entitlement. The legal right of the member to receive retired pay.

290310. Final Decree. As defined under 10 U.S.C. 1408(a)(3) (reference (c)), a decree from which no appeal may be taken or from which no appeal has been taken within the time allowed for taking such appeals under the laws applicable to such appeals, or a decree from which timely appeal has been taken and such appeal has been finally decided under the laws applicable to such appeals.

290311. Former Spouse. The former husband or former wife, of a member.

290312. Garnishment. The legal procedure through which payment is made from an individual's pay, that is due or payable, to another party in order to satisfy a legal obligation to provide child support, to make alimony payments, or both, or to enforce a division of property (other than a division of retired pay as property under 10 U.S.C. 1408(d)(5)) (reference (c)).

290313. Renounced Pay. Retired pay to which a member has an entitlement, but for which receipt of payment has been waived by the member.

290314. Retired Member (Retiree). A person originally appointed or enlisted in, or conscripted into, a Uniformed Service who has retired and is now carried on one of the lists of retired personnel from the Regular or Reserve Components of the Uniformed Services.

290313. Retired Pay. The gross entitlement due a member based on conditions of the retirement law, pay grade, years of service for basic pay, years of service for percentage multiplier, if applicable, and date of retirement (transfer to the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve); also known as retainer pay.

2904 ELIGIBILITY OF FORMER SPOUSE

290401. A former spouse is eligible to receive direct payments from a retiree's retired pay if the court order satisfies the requirements and conditions specified for such payment as set forth in this chapter. In the case of a division of property, the court order specifically must provide that payment is to be made from disposable retired pay.

290402. To establish eligibility for a court-ordered division of retired pay as property, the former spouse must have been married to the member for 10 years or more during which time the member performed 10 years creditable service. Court-ordered payments for child support and/or alimony do not require a specified length of marriage.

2905 APPLICATION BY FORMER SPOUSE

★290501. The former spouse must initiate the effective service through notification of the designated agent. The notification is by facsimile or electronic submission, by mail, or by personal service. Effective service is accomplished when a complete application is received by the appropriate designated agent. The designated agent shall note the date and time of receipt on the notification document.

290502. The notification is a signed statement or a signed DD Form 2293 (Request for Former Spouse Payments From Retired Pay) by the former spouse that includes:

A. Notice to make direct payment to the former spouse from the member's retired pay;

B. A certified copy of the court order and other certified accompanying documents, if applicable, that provide for payment of child support, alimony, or division of property;

C. A statement that the court order has not been amended, superseded, or set aside;

D. Sufficient information to identify the retired member so the application can be processed. The identification should give the retiree's full name, social security number, and Uniformed Service;

E. The full name, social security number, and address of the former spouse;

F. Personal agreement, prior to payment, that any future overpayments are recoverable and subject to involuntary collection from the former spouse or his or her estate;

G. Personal agreement, prior to payment, to notify the designated agent promptly if the court order upon which the payment is based is vacated, modified, or set aside. The former spouse also must notify the designated agent upon remarriage if all or part of the payment is for alimony or of any change in eligibility for child support payments as a result of the child's death, emancipation, adoption, or attainment of majority if payment is for child support.

290503. If the court-ordered division of retired pay as property does not state that the former spouse satisfied the eligibility criteria in section 2904, above, the former spouse must furnish sufficient evidence for the designated agent to verify eligibility.

290504. The designated agent for each Uniformed Service is:

★A. Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps

Director
DFAS-Cleveland Center
ATTN: Code L
PO Box 998002
Cleveland, OH 44199-8002

Telephone (216) 522-5301

B. United States Coast Guard

Commanding Officer (L)

D. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration

See Coast Guard address.

290505. U.S. Attorneys are not designated agents authorized to receive court orders or garnishments under this chapter.

290506. The designated agent will respond to the former spouse, who makes an application, not later than 90 days after effective service:

A. If the court order will be honored, the former spouse shall be informed of the date that payments tentatively will begin; the amount of each payment; the amount of gross retired pay, total deductions, and disposable retired pay (except in cases where full payment of a court-ordered fixed amount will be made); and other relevant information, if applicable; or

B. If the court order will not be honored, the designated agent shall explain in writing to the former spouse why the court order was not honored.

2906 REVIEW OF COURT ORDERS

290601. The acceptable form of a court order that directs payments to a former spouse shall be:

A. A final decree.

B. Regular on its face. This means the court order is issued by a court of competent jurisdiction in accordance with the laws of that jurisdiction.

C. Legal in form and include nothing on its face that provides reasonable notice that it is issued without authority of law. The court order must be authenticated or certified within the 90 days immediately preceding its service on the designated agent.

290602. If the court order was issued while the member was on active duty and the member was not represented in court, the court order or other court document shall certify that the rights of the member were observed under the 50 App. U.S.C.A., Section 501-591 (reference (en)).

290603. The court order must contain sufficient information to identify the retiree.

290604. Additionally, a court order that stipulates a division of retired pay as property must meet the following conditions:

A. The court must have jurisdiction over the retiree by reason of his or her:

1. Residence, other than because of military assignment, in the territorial jurisdiction of the court;

2. Domicile in the territorial jurisdiction of the court; or

3. Consent by the retiree to the court's jurisdiction.

B. The treatment of retired pay as property solely of the retiree or as property of the retiree and the former spouse of that retiree shall be in accordance with the law of the jurisdiction of such court.

C. The court order or other accompanying documents served with the court order must show that the former spouse was married to the member during 10 years or more of creditable service.

290606. The court order shall require payment of child support or alimony or, in the case of a division of property, specifically provide for the payment of an amount of disposable retired or retainer pay, expressed as a dollar amount or as a percentage. Court orders specifying a percentage or fraction of retired pay shall be construed as a percentage or fraction of disposable retired pay. A court order that stipulates a division of retired pay by means of a formula wherein the elements of the formula are not specifically set forth or readily apparent on the face of the court order will not be honored unless clarified by the court.

★290607. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) may refuse service of a court order that is an out-of-state modification and not comply with the court order provisions, unless the court issuing that order has jurisdiction, as shown in paragraph 290604, above, over both the retiree and the spouse or former spouse involved. A court order is considered an out-of-state modification if the court order:

A. Modifies a previous court order upon which payments under this chapter are based; and

B. Is issued by a court of a state other than the state of the court that issued the previous court order.

2907 GARNISHMENT ORDERS

290701. If a court order stipulates a division of property other than retired pay in addition to specifying an amount of disposable retired pay to the former spouse, the former spouse may garnish the retiree's retired pay to enforce the division of property. The designated agents authorized to receive service of process shall be those listed in section 2905, above. The amount payable to the former spouse is limited under 15 U.S.C. 1673 (reference (eo)) and section 2908, below.

290702. Garnishment orders for divisions of property, other than retired pay, shall be processed in the manner prescribed in 5 CFR, part 581 (reference (ep)), to the extent that it is consistent with this chapter. (See Chapter 27 of this volume.)

2908 LIMITATIONS

290801. Divorces, Dissolutions of Marriage, Annulments, and Legal Separations that Become Effective Before Feb 3, 1991. Upon proper service, a retiree's retired pay may be paid directly to a former spouse in the amount necessary to comply with the court order, provided the total amount does not exceed:

A. Fifty percent of disposable retired pay for all court orders and garnishment actions paid under this chapter.

B. Sixty-five percent of disposable retired pay for all court orders and garnishments paid under this chapter and garnishments paid under 42 U.S.C. 659 (reference (au)). (See Chapter 27 of this volume.)

290802. Divorces, Dissolutions of Marriage, Annulments, and Legal Separations that Become Effective On or After February 3, 1991. Upon proper service, a retiree's retired pay may be paid directly to a former spouse in the amount necessary to comply with the court order, provided the total amount paid does not exceed:

A. Fifty percent of disposable retired pay for all court orders and garnishment actions paid under this chapter.

B. Sixty-five percent of the remuneration for employment as defined under 42 U.S.C. 659 and 662 (reference (au)) for all court orders and garnishments under this chapter and garnishments paid under 42 U.S.C. 659 (reference (au)). (See Chapter 27 of this volume.)

290803. Disposable Retired Pay. Disposable retired pay is the gross pay entitlement, including renounced pay, less authorized deductions. Disposable retired pay does not include annuitant payments under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 73 (reference (c)). For court orders issued on or before November 14, 1986 (or amendments to such court orders), disposable retired pay does not include retired pay of a member retired for disability under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 61 (reference (c)). The authorized deductions are:

A. For divorce, dissolution of marriage, annulment, or legal separation that became effective before February 3, 1991:

1. Amounts owed to the United States.
2. Amounts required by law to be deducted from a member's pay.
3. Fines and forfeitures ordered by a court martial.
4. Amounts waived in order to receive compensation under Title 5 or Title 38, United States Code (references (az) and (ar)).

5. Federal employment taxes and income taxes withheld to the extent that the amount is consistent with retiree's tax liability, including amounts for supplemental withholding under 26 U.S.C. 3402(i) (reference (dw)) when he or she presents evidence to the satisfaction of the designated agent that supports such withholding. State employment taxes and income taxes are withheld when the retiree makes a voluntary request for such withholding from retired pay and the Uniformed Services have an agreement with the state concerned for withholding from retired pay.

6. Premiums paid as a result of an election under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 73 (reference (c)), to provide an annuity to a spouse or former spouse to whom payment of a portion of such retiree's retired pay is being made pursuant to a court order under this chapter.

7. The amount of the retiree's retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 61 (reference (c)) computed using the percentage of his or her disability on the date when he or she was retired (or the date on which his or her name was placed on the temporary disability retired list), for court orders issued after November 14, 1986.

B. For divorces, dissolutions of marriage, annulments, or legal separations that become effective on or after February 3, 1991:

1. Amounts owed to the United States for previous overpayments of retired pay and for recoupments required by law resulting from entitlement to retired pay.

2. Forfeitures of retired pay ordered by a court martial.

3. Amounts waived in order to receive compensation under Title 5 or Title 38, United States Code (references (az) and (ar)).

4. Premiums paid as a result of an election under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 73 (reference (c)) to provide an annuity to a spouse or former spouse to whom payment of a portion of such member's retired pay is being made pursuant to a court order under this chapter.

5. The amount of the retiree's retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 61 (reference (c)) computed using the percentage of his or her disability on the date when the he or she was retired (or the date on which his or her name was placed on the temporary disability retired list).

2909 NOTIFICATION OF MEMBER

290901. The designated agent will send a written notice to the affected retiree at his or her last known address no later than 30 days after effective service of a court order or garnishment action described in this chapter.

290902. The notice shall include:

- A. A copy of the court order and accompanying documentation;
- B. An explanation of the limitations placed on the direct payment to the former spouse;
- C. A request that the retiree submit notice to the designated agent if the court order has been amended, superseded, or set aside; (the member must provide an authenticated or certified copy of the court documents when there are conflicting court orders);
- D. The dollar amount or percentage of disposable retired pay that will be deducted if the retiree fails to respond to the notification as prescribed by this chapter;
- E. The effective date that payments to the former spouse will tentatively begin;
- F. A notice that the retiree's failure to respond within 30 days of the date that notification is mailed may result in the payment of retired pay as set out in the notice to the member;
- G. The statement that if the retiree submits information in response to this notification, he or she thereby consents to the disclosure of such information to the former spouse or the former spouse's agent.

290903. The designated agent will consider any response by the retiree and will not honor the court order if it is defective or is modified, superseded, or set aside.

2910 LIABILITY OF THE DESIGNATED AGENT

291001. The United States and any officer or employee of the United States shall not be liable with respect to any payment made from retired or retainer pay to any retiree, spouse, or former spouse pursuant to a court order that is regular on its face if such payment is made according to this chapter.

291002. Any officer or employee of the United States who, under this chapter, has the duty to respond to interrogatories shall not be subject under any law to any disciplinary action or civil or criminal liability or penalty for, or because of, any disclosure of information made by him or her in carrying out any of the duties which directly or indirectly pertain to answering such interrogatories.

291003. If a court order on its face appears to conform to the laws of the jurisdiction from which it was issued, the designated agent will not be required to ascertain whether the court had obtained personal jurisdiction over the retiree.

291004. Whenever a designated agent is effectively served with interrogatories concerning implementation of this chapter, the designated agent shall respond to such interrogatories within 30 calendar days of receipt or within such longer period as may be prescribed by applicable state law.

2911 PAYMENTS

291101. Contingent on the retiree's eligibility for retired pay and the effective service of a court order, the Uniformed Service concerned shall start payments to the former spouse not later than 90 days after the date of effective service.

291102. Payments will conform with the normal pay and disbursement cycle for military retired pay.

291103. Payments may be in a fixed-dollar amount or based on a percentage or fraction of disposable retired pay. Payments based on a percentage or fraction will increase in direct proportion with, and at the effective date of future cost-of-living adjustments, unless the court directs otherwise.

291104. Payments terminate on the date of death of the retiree, death of the former spouse or as stated in the court order, whichever occurs first. Payments shall also be terminated or reduced upon the occurrence of a condition under the applicable state or local law that requires termination or reduction.

291105. When several court orders are served on a retiree's retired pay, payments will be satisfied on a first-come, first-served basis within the limitations shown in section 2908, above.

291106. In the event of effective service of conflicting court orders which direct that different amounts be paid during the month to the same former spouse from a given retiree's retired pay, the designated agent will authorize payment on the court order directing payment of the least amount. The difference in amounts will be held by the designated agent pending resolution by the court with jurisdiction or by agreement of the parties. The amount held will be paid as provided in a subsequent court order or agreement. The total of payments released and moneys held will be within the limitations of section 2908, above.

291107. The designated agent shall comply with a stay of execution issued by a court of competent jurisdiction and shall suspend payment of disputed amounts pending resolution of the issue.

291108. When service is made and the identified retiree is found not to be currently entitled to payments, the designated agent shall advise the former spouse that no payments are due from or payable by the Uniformed Service to the named individual. If the member is on active duty when service is accomplished, the designated agent shall retain the application until the member's retirement. In such case, payments to the former spouse, if otherwise proper, shall begin not later than 90 days from the date the retiree first becomes entitled to receive retired pay. If the retiree becomes entitled to receive retired pay more than 90 days after first being notified under section 2909, above, the notification procedures prescribed above shall be repeated by the designated agent.

291109. If net pay is only temporarily exhausted or otherwise unavailable, the former spouse shall be fully advised of the reason or reasons why and for how long such funds will be unavailable. Service shall be retained by the designated agent and payments to the former spouse, if otherwise proper, shall begin not later than 90 days from the date the retiree becomes entitled to receive retired pay. If the retiree becomes entitled to receive retired pay more than 90 days after first being notified under section 2909, above, the notification procedures prescribed above shall be repeated by the designated agent.

291110. If the gross amount of retired pay is not sufficient to cover all authorized deductions and collections, refer to the order of precedence for disbursement in the Treasury Financial Manual for Guidance of Departments and Agencies (reference (eq)). The court-ordered payments to a former spouse will be enforced over other voluntary deductions and allotments from retired pay.

291111. Payments to the former spouse are prospective in terms of the amount stated in the court order and arrearages will not be considered in determining the amount payable from retired pay.

291112. No right, title, or interest that can be sold, assigned, transferred, or otherwise disposed of including by inheritance, is created under this chapter.

291113. The former spouse may be required to submit a signed certification of continued eligibility upon request of the designated agent. The certification of eligibility for the former spouse will include a notice of a change in status or circumstances that affects eligibility. If the former spouse fails or refuses to comply with the certification requirement, payments may be suspended or terminated after notice to the former spouse.

291114. For divorce, dissolution of marriage, annulment, or legal separation that became effective on or after February 3, 1991, payments to a former spouse for a division of property are excluded in determining a retiree's gross wages concerning retired pay.

2912 RECONSIDERATION

A retiree or a former spouse may request that the designated agent reconsider the designated agent's determination in response to service of an application for payments under this chapter or the member's answer to the designated agent with respect to notice of such service. For reconsideration, the request must express the issues that the retiree or the former spouse believes were incorrectly resolved by the designated agent. The designated agent shall respond to the request for reconsideration, giving an explanation of the determination reached.

CHAPTER 30

DEATH OF RETIREE3001 ARREARS OF PAY

300101. General. Entitlement to retired pay terminates on the date of the retiree's death. Arrears of pay include all unencumbered amounts due to deceased member. Arrears are not due if the retiree waived pay in favor of a civil service annuity. VA benefits terminate on the last day of the month before death. For members who waive retired pay for VA benefits, only retired pay is due on behalf of the member for the month of death. A retiree's account is placed in a suspended status upon receipt of a notification of death from any source until the date of death can be verified. The retiree's account is terminated upon receipt of a death certificate or DD Form 1300 (Report of Casualty).

300102. Related Inquiries. The Military Department concerned advises the surviving spouse to contact the Department of Veterans Affairs or the Social Security Administration on matters relating to entitlements benefits payable by those agencies.

300103. Responsibilities. The DFAS-Cleveland Center, when notification of a retiree's death is received, terminates payment of retired pay; recoups outstanding retired pay checks or direct deposit payments; discontinues and collects overpayments of allotments; pays death gratuity if applicable; collects debts; furnishes claim forms to prospective beneficiaries; and prepares vouchers and tax statements upon final account settlement.

300104. Eligible Beneficiaries. Each Military Service periodically advises retirees of their right to designate a beneficiary or beneficiaries to receive the amounts due, and disposition to be made of unpaid amounts where no beneficiary or beneficiaries have been designated. Any person or persons including a legal entity or the estate of the member may be designated.

A. Arrears of retired pay are paid to the person living on the date of the retiree's death in this order of precedence:

1. Beneficiary designated by the member in writing, if the designation is received by the Military Department concerned before the member's death

2. Surviving spouse

3. Children and their descendants, by representation

- a. Adopted Child. An adopted child is a legal heir in every state and, therefore, is entitled to payment of unpaid pay and allowances, if otherwise proper. If the deceased retiree's child is adopted by others, the child is a beneficiary only in those states where an adopted child inherits from its natural father.

b. Stepchild. A stepchild is not an eligible beneficiary, unless adopted by the deceased retiree.

c. Illegitimate Child. An illegitimate child may not be paid unpaid pay and allowances of a deceased retiree, unless that child is recognized for inheritance purposes under the laws of the jurisdiction involved.

4. Father and mother in equal parts or, if either is dead, the survivor

5. Legal representative

6. Person entitled under the law of the domicile of the deceased retiree

B. The retiree may change a beneficiary previously designated if the change is in writing and is received by the Military Department concerned before the retiree's death.

C. If there is no person listed in the order of precedence in this section, obtain a claim from the person paying the funeral expenses.

D. If the retiree was killed by the beneficiary, the arrears are not paid to that person unless evidence is received which clearly absolves the beneficiary of any felonious intent. This does not preclude the person from receiving the arrears in the capacity of custodian or guardian of minor children.

E. If the beneficiary dies after the retiree but before receiving final settlement, the arrears are paid to the beneficiary's estate. If doubt as to entitlement exists, forward claim to the DFAS Cleveland Center for review and payment.

300105. Substantiating Documents and Collection of Overpayments

A. To effect settlement, these documents must be a matter of record:

1. Completed SF 1174 (Claim for Unpaid Compensation of Deceased Member of the Uniformed Services) from the beneficiary

2. Proof of death (DD Form 1300 or a copy of the death certificate)

3. Retirement orders

4. Adoption papers, court orders of appointment, or custodianship papers, if required

B. Every attempt should be made to recover all outstanding checks or direct deposits (not negotiated before the retiree's death or forwarded past the date of entitlement) or the proceeds thereof. Unrecovered funds are treated as erroneous payments with the indebtedness subject to the debt collection authority. In situations where the recipient of the erroneous payments is also the beneficiary for arrears of pay, the amount of arrears due the individual should be offset administratively by the erroneous payments received by the individual. In situations where there has been an erroneous payment to an individual who is not entitled to it, and another individual is entitled to the retiree's arrears of pay, payment of the amount due as arrears should be made to the appropriate payee, regardless of whether collection has been made from the recipient of the erroneous pay.

300106. Questionable Date of Death

A. When the date of death is shown as a "found date," the Military Department concerned verifies whether an autopsy was performed. If so, use the date of death determined by the coroner. If two dates are shown, such as member dies between 2300, June 10, 1976, and 0400, June 11, 1976, use the earlier date since that was the last date member was known to be alive. If neither is available, obtain a statement from one or more disinterested persons attesting to the last known date that the member was alive. When this statement is received, settle the arrears through submission to the Defense Office of Hearings and Appeals.

B. In claims involving missing persons, provided there is no evidence to the contrary, assume the date of death to be the presumed date established by state court decree.

C. If evidence exists that a retiree died on a particular date several years before the date of presumptive death declared by a state court, arrears of pay are payable only through the earlier date of suspected death.

D. A judicial decree is not necessary to establish RSFPP or SBP annuity payments if a person has been missing for more than 30 days and a determination by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) is made that presumes the member to be deceased (see paragraph 330206 and paragraph 420212 of this volume).

300107. Doubtful Claims. Cases involving questions of fact or law cannot be paid without approval of the Defense Office of Hearings and Appeals (DOHA).

A. These include cases when:

1. Doubt exists as to the amount or validity of the claim.
2. Doubt exists as to the person or persons properly entitled to the payment.

B. Notify claimant that claim has been forwarded to DOHA for approval of settlement.

300108. Six-Year Statute of Limitations

A. Title 31, United States Code, section 3702(b) (reference (er)), limits the time for filing of claims against the United States to 6 years, effective July 2, 1975. A claim that accrued before July 2, 1969, was barred if it had not been received by the GAO before July 2, 1975. Claims which accrued on or after July 1, 1965, were not barred if they were received by the GAO before July 2, 1975.

B. Effective June 15, 1989, the GAO ruled that claims may be filed with either the individual federal agency or with GAO within 6 years after the time the claim accrued or the claim is forever barred. Since the transfer of certain functions from GAO to OMB effective June 30, 1996, claims are filed with the Department of Defense.

300109. Three-Year Rule. When the person entitled to arrears of pay has not submitted a claim and cannot be located within 3 years after the retiree's death, payment is made to the person or persons in the same class of entitlement, or in the absence of anyone in the same class, next in order of precedence.

300110. Death of Mentally Incompetent Retiree. If retired pay was waived in favor of VA compensation, but compensation was withheld because the retiree's estate exceeded $1,500, contact the Department of Veterans Affairs to ascertain periods and reasons for non-payment of VA compensation and verify whether withdrawal of the waiver was made by guardian or trustee before the retiree's death. See section 1201 of this volume regarding withdrawal of waiver. Note: Non-payment of compensation could occur at any time from the effective date of VA waiver through the month of death and is not limited to the month of death.

3002 DEATH GRATUITY

300201. General

A. Death gratuity may be payable when the retiree's death occurs on or after January 1, 1957, and during the 120-day period which begins the day after release from active duty or active duty for training. The Department of Veterans Affairs must certify entitlement to death gratuity.

B. Death gratuity is not payable for a member who retires for non-Regular service (age and service) unless the member was on active duty the day before retirement.

300202. Definitions

A. Basic pay. The monthly rate of active duty pay to which the deceased retiree was entitled on the last day of active duty or active and inactive duty training.

B. Additional pays. Special and incentive pays (including proficiency and hostile fire pay).

300203. Amount Payable

A. Deaths before August 2, 1990:

1. The amount payable is active duty basic pay for 6 months plus additional pays. Do not include allowances in the computation.

2. The amount payable cannot be less than $800 nor more than $3,000.

3. If applicable, include a 25-percent increase in basic pay in computing the amount of death gratuity. The increase in basic pay is authorized to personnel serving on a naval vessel in foreign waters who are retained beyond their active duty obligation because their services are essential to public interest.

B. Deaths on or after August 2, 1990. The amount payable is $6,000.

C. Do not collect debts from death gratuity payments.

300204. Eligible Beneficiaries. Payment of a death gratuity is made to or in behalf of the deceased retiree's living survivors in this order:

A. Spouse. A man or woman is considered to be the spouse if legally married to the retiree on the date of the retiree's death. A waiver by a lawful spouse of the statutory right to death gratuity is without force or effect.

B. Children in Equal Shares. The term children includes (regardless of age or marital status):

1. Legitimate child

2. Legally adopted child

3. Stepchild, if such child is a member of the deceased member's household

4. Illegitimate child (See subparagraph 300207.A.4.,below.)

C. Designated Relatives. The retiree must have designated the relatives in writing before death. Authorized designations may be only one or both of the retiree's parents, brothers or sisters, or any combination thereof, including those of half-blood and those through adoption. In the absence of a written designation on file, or any evidence to the contrary, it is deemed that a designation has not been made.

D. Parents or Persons in Loco Parentis. In equal shares.

E. Brothers and Sisters. This includes those of half-blood and those through adoption in equal shares. Should a survivor die before receiving the amount to which entitled, the amount is paid to the then living survivor or survivors next in order of precedence. If there are no survivors, death gratuity is not payable to any other person.

300205. Determinations Affecting Entitlement

A. Death as Lawful Punishment. No death gratuity is payable in the case of a retiree whose death is the result of a lawful punishment for a crime or military offense, except when such death was inflicted by any hostile force with which the Armed Forces of the United States was engaged in armed conflict.

B. Member Killed by Beneficiary. No death gratuity is payable to a beneficiary or survivor who kills a retiree, unless there is evidence that clearly absolves the beneficiary of any felonious intent.

300206. Erroneous Payment. An erroneous payment of death gratuity is one made to a person clearly not entitled to that payment because of administrative error, rather than because of statements of record made by the retiree.

A. Make a second payment to the rightful beneficiary when the error resulted from improper maintenance of records or administrative negligence. Do not delay this payment pending recovery of the erroneous payment from the ineligible recipient.

B. Do not make a second payment of death gratuity to a different person if the original payment was based on statements of record made by the retiree, and the government has no reason to doubt the beneficiary's status was as stated.

300207. Documentary Evidence

A. In some cases, the beneficiary must furnish proof of relationship:

1. Lawful Spouse. Documentation may be required to substantiate the marriage or proof of termination of prior marriages entered into by the beneficiary or deceased retiree.

2. Legally Adopted Child. A copy of adoption papers.

3. Stepchild. Information to prove that the child was a member of the deceased member's household.

4. Illegitimate Child. Documentation is required as proof that the retiree was the parent of the child, or a copy of the court order which ordered the parent to contribute to the child's support.

5. Designated Relative:

a. Documentary evidence that any marriage entered into by the deceased retiree has been terminated and a notarized statement that there are no living children.

b. Persons in loco parentis must furnish satisfactory evidence of the relationship as deemed necessary by the Military Department concerned.

B. Payments for minor children must be supported by custodianship documents or court orders of guardianship appointment.

3003 TAXABLE INCOME

300301. Taxability of Arrears of Retired Pay. Arrears of retired pay due the deceased retiree at time of death are taxable to the beneficiary who receives payment if they were taxable to the retiree. See Chapter 24 of this volume. The tax liability is computed in accordance with the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended (reference (es)). The arrears of retired pay are not subject to federal income tax withholding.

300302. Taxability of Death Gratuity. Death gratuity payments are exempt from taxation.

300303. Issuance of TD Form W-2P. If no arrears of retired pay are paid, the retired pay activity issues one TD Form W-2P (Statement for Recipients of Annuities, Pensions, or Retired Pay) in the decedent's name. If arrears of retired pay are paid, an additional TD Form W-2P is issued to each beneficiary to whom the arrears were paid.

CHAPTER 31DEATH OF SURVIVOR ANNUITANT*3101 ARREARS OF ANNUITY

This chapter refers to the settlement of the arrears of annuity where the annuitant is a spouse with no eligible child annuitant, the last remaining child annuitant, or a natural person with an insurable interest. Arrears of annuity may result from checks not having been negotiated before the annuitant's death or failure of Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) to establish and make payment of an annuity to which entitlement exists. Payment of the arrears of the annuity under RSFPP, SBP, and MIW provision of the SBP law is made in accordance with the law applicable to the estate of the deceased annuitant or settled as described in paragraphs 310302 and 310303, below.

3102 DOCUMENTATION

To settle the arrears of annuity, the listed documentation must be on file:

310201. Copy of death certificate. A notification of death from any source (next of kin, post office, or neighbor) is sufficient to suspend future payment of the annuity.

310202. A written claim over the signature and address of the claimant or of the claimant's authorized agent or attorney.

310203. Evidence (affidavit, court order, or letters testamentary) of authority to act as the executor, administrator, personal representative, or other fiduciary of the deceased annuitant; evidence of an agent or attorney's right to act for the claimant.

310204. Proof of recoupment of outstanding payments. All outstanding checks or direct deposits (not negotiated before the annuitant's death or forwarded past the date of entitlement) or the proceeds thereof must be returned to the DFAS-Denver Center before a settlement of arrears of annuity may be made.

3103 PAYMENT OF THE ARREARS

The annuity is not prorated for the month of annuitant's death. Entitlement stops as of the last day of the month before the date of the annuitant's death. When all documentation is received, payment of the arrears is made to the executor, administrator, fiduciary of the estate, or claimants pursuant to the small estate statutes of the state of domicile of the annuitant, provided the claimant submits the statutorily required proof under the law of that state, together with copies of the state small estate statute.

310301. Any indebtedness resulting from the overpayment of the annuity (for example, overlap of SBP and DIC, payment made beyond date of entitlement or miscalculations) must be liquidated before arrears of the annuity can be settled. Debts of the member, other than for delinquent costs for RSFPP or SBP, may not be offset against the arrears of the annuity.

310302. If no executor, administrator, or fiduciary has been or will be appointed by the court, or if for any reason the claim is questionable, send such claim to the DFAS Denver Center.

310303. A claim for arrears of annuity must be filed the within the 6-year statute of limitation restriction. However, when the person otherwise entitled to payment has not submitted a claim and cannot be located within 3 years after the death of the annuitant, a claim made by other than the executor, administrator, or fiduciary may be settled by the DFAS Denver Center.

3104 TAXABILITY

The retired pay activity issues one or more TD Forms W-2P (Statement for Recipients of Annuities, Pensions, or Retired Pay) in case of deceased annuitants. If arrears of annuity are not paid, the retired pay activity issues one TD Form W-2P in the decedent's name. If arrears of annuity are paid, an additional TD Form W-2P is issued to each claimant to whom the arrears were paid.

CHAPTER 32RECOVERY OF PAYMENTS MADE TO A FINANCIAL ORGANIZATION*3201 ACCOUNTABILITY OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTION FOR DIRECT DEPOSIT PAYMENTS

320101. When, because of death of the retiree or annuitant, a financial institution received one or more direct deposit payments that should have been returned to the appropriate finance center, that institution is accountable for the total amount of any such payment.

320102. If, however, the financial institution:

A. Is unable to recover the total amount due from the decedent's account or from the individual who has withdrawn the funds from the decedent's account, and

B. Had no knowledge of the death of the retiree or annuitant at the time of deposit and withdrawal, its liability will not exceed the amount available in the recipient's account and the amount recovered by it, plus the lesser of:

1. The amount not recovered, or
2. An amount equal to the credit payments received by it within 45 days after the death of the retiree or annuitant.

3202 EXAMPLES OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTION ACCOUNTABILITY

The following shows the accountability of a financial institution to the appropriate DFAS Center under different circumstances, assuming paragraph 320102, above, applies:

	A	B	C	D
Total Amount of Payments Received (Note)	$800	$800	$800	$800
Recovered & Returned	-0-	300	600	750
Remaining Due	$800	$500	$200	$ 50
Amount for Which Financial Organization Remains Accountable	$200	$200	$200	$ 50

NOTE: Assume four payments of $200 each were received by the financial institution after the death of the retiree or annuitant, one of which was received within 45 days after the death.

3203 LIABILITY OF DISBURSING OFFICER

The accountability of the financial institution does not affect the liability of the disbursing officer for any amounts not recovered. The disbursing officer may be relieved of liability for amounts not recovered when the officer has shown that he or she did not know and could not have known of a retiree's or annuitant's death prior to making payments after the date of death.

CHAPTER 33

RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN (RSFPP) – APPLICATION OF PLAN3301 BACKGROUND

Public Law 83-239 (reference (et)) authorizes a voluntary survivorship annuity plan under which members of the Uniformed Services may provide an annuity for their spouses and/or eligible dependent children after the member's death in retirement. This legislation was first known as the Uniformed Services Contingency Option Act of 1953 (USCOA) (reference (et)). It was amended and renamed the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (RSFPP) by Public Law 87-381 (reference (eu)). Public Law 90-485 (reference (ev)), introduced several new statutory amendments that became effective November 1, 1968. Public Law 92-425 (reference (ew)), terminated RSFPP for members retired on or after that date and created the Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) as covered in Chapters 42 through 57 of this volume. On September 30, 1978, Public Law 95-397 (reference (ex)) was enacted with provisions affecting certain annuities. A provision in Public Law 98-94 (reference (aj)) provided for rounding annuities. Public Law 98-525 (reference (ej)), authorized annuity payments under certain circumstances where the participating member is missing.

3302 SPECIALIZED TERMS

330201. Annuitant. A widow, widower, or child entitled to benefits based on a deceased retiree's participation in the RSFPP.

330202. Change in Family Status. Change in a retiree's immediate family resulting from death, divorce, annulment, remarriage; or the birth or adoption of a child.

330203. Child. A member's child who is living on the date of retirement and who meets any of these requirements:

A. Natural Child. Under 18 years of age and unmarried.

1. More than 18 years of age, unmarried, and incapable of self-support because of being mentally defective or physically incapacitated, if that condition existed before reaching age 18.

2. At least 18, but under 23 years of age and unmarried, pursuing a full-time course of study or training in a high school, trade school, technical or vocational institute, junior college, college, university, or comparable recognized educational institution. This applies only if the member retired on or after November 1, 1968.

B. Step-Child. Under 18 years of age and unmarried, and dependent on the member for more than one-half of his or her support, or meeting the requirements of subparagraphs 330203.A.1 or A.2, above.

C. Legally Adopted. Under 18 years of age and unmarried, or meeting the requirements of subparagraphs 330203.A.1 or A.2, above.

330204. Cost and Conversion Tables. Tables prescribed by the Board of Actuaries (tables of percentage reduction of retired pay and conversion tables under the RSFPP/USCOA showing the factors for computation of costs).

330205. Declination. Election not wanted.

330206. Determination of Presumed Death. A determination by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned that a participating member is presumed dead, where the member's retired or retainer pay has been suspended and the member has been missing at least 30 days under circumstances that lead to a reasonable conclusion that the member is dead.

330207. Election in Effect. Valid election existing on the date of retirement.

330208. Eligible Spouse. The lawful wife or husband of a member at the time of retirement.

330209. Extrapolation. Method of determining the reduction factor for option 1, 1 with 4, and 3 with 4 when the member's wife is more than 25 years younger than the member. (Special computation is necessary only for members who became eligible for retired pay before November 1, 1968.)

330210. Fractional Amount. That portion of reduced retired pay to be paid in monthly annuities for members retired before November 1, 1968.

330211. In-Fact Dependent. Stepchild who is dependent on the member for more than half of his or her support.

330212. Modification. A change in percentage of the amount of retired pay under any option, or a change in option(s) elected.

330213. Multiple Option. Combination of options 1 and 2, with or without option 4.

330214. Option. A choice by the member to provide an annuity for his or her dependents. (See paragraph 340103 of this volume for a definition of each option.)

330215. Plan. Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (formerly called the Uniformed Services Contingency Option Act) (reference (et)).

330216. Reduced Retired Pay. Retired pay remaining after the cost of participation has been deducted.

330217. Reduction Factor. Four-digit decimal fraction used to compute monthly RSFPP cost.

330218. Revocation. Cancellation of a previous election.

330219. Single Option. Election of options 1, 2, or 3 with or without option 4.

330220. Withdrawal. Voluntary termination of a member's participation in the plan.

3303 MEMBERS ELIGIBLE TO ELECT UNDER THE PLAN

330301. All members of the Uniformed Services, including all Components and members thereof, who retired with pay before September 21, 1972.

330302. Personnel on the Emergency Officer's Retired List (EORL).

330303. Reserve members not on active duty who were in an active status (participating in Reserve training) as distinguished from those in an inactive status (on the retired Reserve list).

330304. Members of the Reserve Components of the Uniformed Services who were in an inactive status and who had completed 20 years of satisfactory service on November 1, 1953.

3304 MEMBERS INELIGIBLE TO ELECT UNDER THE PLAN

330401. Members on the retired Reserve list without pay who did not complete the requirements to receive retired pay.

330402. Cadets serving at the United States Military Academy, the United States Air Force Academy, or the Coast Guard Academy; and 330403. Midshipmen.

3305 GENERAL PROVISIONS

330501. All elections were effective on date of retirement or November 1, 1953, whichever was later.

330502. An election by any member who had not yet retired on September 21, 1972, was automatically voided on that date.

330503. Members already retired on September 21, 1972, who had coverage under the RSFPP, had three choices:

- A. Convert from RSFPP to the Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP); or
- B. Retain RSFPP and also elect coverage under SBP to the extent that combination of the two annuities did not exceed monthly gross retired pay; or
- C. Retain RSFPP and decline coverage under SBP.

CHAPTER 34

RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN
ELECTION AND WITHDRAWALS3401 ELECTION340101. General Provisions

A. Effective November 1, 1953, elections under the USCOA had to be signed, witnessed, and submitted to the appropriate official before completion of 18 years of service for pay purposes. A change to a previous election did not become effective until 5 years after the date of its execution. If a member retired before the expiration of 5 years, the terms of the most recent valid election more than 5 years old became effective. A previous election could be revoked but did not become effective for 5 years, and if a member retired in the meantime, the revocation had no effect. Under options 1, 2, and 3, the premiums paid from retired pay continued for the retiree's life even if beneficiaries became ineligible through age, divorce, or death. However, option 4 combined with one of those options provided that no further deductions be made from retired pay after the loss of all eligible beneficiaries. Dependents acquired after retirement were not eligible to become beneficiaries. Revocations which became effective were irrevocable. Annuities payable were based on one-half, one-quarter, or one-eighth of the reduced retired pay. Reduced retired pay was the remainder after deduction for the cost of the USCOA. A member could elect separate options to provide for a spouse and children; however, the combined annuities could not exceed one-half of the member's retired pay.

B. Effective October 4, 1961, the name of the program was changed from USCOA to the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (RSFPP). Cost Tables changed for all retirements on or after that date. The reduction for options 3 and 4 became the same as the reduction for option 1 with 4. The age of the youngest child had no effect on the reduction for option 3 if it was combined with option 4. Retired members were permitted to withdraw from the RSFPP where continued participation would cause extreme hardship and violate equity and good conscience. A change to, or revocation of, a previous election became effective 3 years after execution of the revocation or change. If a member was granted retired pay before the 3-year period ended, the change or revocation had no effect and the prior election remained valid. A revocation is superseded by an election change.

C. Effective November 1, 1968, a withdrawal could be requested any time and became effective on the first day of the seventh month after the application is made. The amount of the annuity could be reduced as low as one-eighth of retired pay or $25, whichever is greater. The reduction became effective on the first day of the seventh month after application is made. Elections were made before completing 19 years of service. If the election was made after completing 19 years, it became effective 2 years before date of retirement. Changes or revocations to prior elections became effective 2 years after execution of change or revocation. Members who did not include option 4 in their initial elections had until September 1, 1969, to purchase this option.

D. Effective November 1, 1968, the eligibility age of a surviving child was extended to age 23 when the child was pursuing a full-time course of study or training in a recognized educational institution. A child remains a potentially eligible beneficiary between ages 18 and 23, whether or not attending college or training, unless the retiree specifically requested that the child be dropped as an eligible beneficiary. Under option 2 (coverage for children only), a retiree could request that a child over 18 (except any child incapable of self-support because of mental or physical disability existing before age 18) be declared an ineligible beneficiary. A retiree who elected option 3 but who, on the date of retirement (1) had no eligible child, had the protection changed to option 1 (coverage for spouse only) or (2) had no eligible spouse, had the protection changed to option 2 (coverage for children only). Birth certificates were required for spouse and youngest child for option 3. When a retiree has option 3 (both spouse and children), and the spouse became ineligible through death or divorce (after retirement), protection would continue for eligible children at no cost to the retiree. Full retired pay is restored the month after the death or divorce of the spouse. The member could elect an annuity based on either a specific dollar amount or a percentage of gross retired pay. The total annuity, however, could not be greater than 50 percent nor less than 12-1/2 percent of the gross retired pay entitlement at the time of retirement. In no case could the annuity be less than $25.

340102. Time of Election. Election to participate in RSFPP had to be made within specific time limitations based on provisions of law in effect at the time of election. (See Tables 34-1 through 34-4 of this volume.)

A. Elections had to be made before completion of 19 years of service for members who became entitled to retired pay on or after August 13, 1968, after making an election between October 4, 1961 and August 12, 1968.

B. Members who filed an election before August 13, 1968, could submit a written application to the Military Service concerned requesting that the election remain under the time-of-election provision by November 1, 1969. That is, the election was made before completing 18 years of service or 3 years before retirement.

340103. Valid Options. Members could elect one of three basic options, or a combination of two, to determine the RSFPP coverage desired for their beneficiaries. Supplement option 4, combined with any of the basic options, permits discontinuance of collection of costs when there are no longer any eligible beneficiaries.

A. Option 1 provides an annuity payable to or on behalf of a member's widow or widower. The annuity is payable until the death or remarriage of the beneficiary.

B. Option 2 provides an annuity payable to or on behalf of children as described in paragraph 330203 of this volume. The annuity is payable until no eligible beneficiaries or children survive.

C. Option 3 provides annuity payable to or on behalf of the widow or widower and children. The annuity is paid to the widow or widower until death or remarriage and, thereafter, is divided in equal shares to or on behalf of the surviving eligible children. The member also may allocate a part of this option to surviving children of a previous marriage. The allotted amount may not exceed the equitable share for which such children would be eligible after the remarriage or death of the widow or widower.

D. Multiple Option. A combination of options 1 and 2 provides separate annuity checks for the member's widow or widower and child or children. Each annuity is payable until its respective annuitants are no longer eligible. The cost is determined separately for each annuity. The only combination permitted is option 1 and 2. Combinations of options 1 and 3, 2 and 3, or 1, 2, and 3 are improper. When options 1 and 2 are elected, and there ceases to be an eligible beneficiary under one of the options, the costs under that option terminate (if option 4 is in effect). If multiple options were elected, the total amount of the combined annuities could not exceed one-half or 50 percent of member's reduced retired pay.

E. Option 4. This supplemental option permits discontinuance of the collection of annuity costs from retired pay beginning with the first day of the month after that in which there are no eligible beneficiaries. Election of option 4 permits the retiree to withdraw from the plan. (See section 3402, below.)

1. Optional Election of Option 4. A member retiring before August 13, 1968, did not have to choose option 4. However, cost of coverage continues during the member's lifetime even though the beneficiary no longer exists. Public Law 90-485 (reference (ev)) permitted a member who failed to elect option 4 and who had no eligible beneficiaries on August 13, 1968, to elect option 4. To be valid, the election had to be postmarked before September 1, 1969. The election was effective the first day of the month after postmark date. For cost adjustment, see Chapter 36 of this volume.

2. Mandatory Inclusion of Option 4. Members retiring on or after November 1, 1968, who elected to participate in the plan, had to purchase option 4.

340104. Amount of Annuity

A. Before November 1, 1968, a member could elect an annuity based on one-half, one-fourth, or one-eighth of the reduced retired pay.

B. On or after November 1, 1968, a member could elect either a specified dollar amount or a percentage of his or her total monthly retired pay award, but not both. The total annuity elected (whether a percent or a dollar amount) could not be more than 50 percent, nor less than 12-1/2 percent of the gross retired pay at retirement and, in no case, less than $25. If, at the member's retirement, the annuity amount elected was greater than 50 percent or less than 12-1/2 percent, it was adjusted down to 50 percent or up to 12-1/2 percent as appropriate. Members who became entitled to retired pay on or after November 1, 1968, but who had elected before November 1, 1968, were considered as having elected an annuity at 50 percent, 25 percent, or 12-1/2 percent of total retired pay rather than reduced retired pay.

340105. Ineligible or Non-Existent Beneficiary at Time of Retirement. When, on the effective date of retirement, there was no eligible beneficiary under the option elected, the election was ineffective and there were no deductions for cost of the annuity. Verification was made that there were no eligible beneficiaries. When option 3 or multiple option were elected, and a beneficiary changed by the time of retirement, the member's cost for coverage was adjusted. (See Chapter 36 of this volume.)

340106. Documentary Evidence of Election

A. The election of options under the RSFPP form was used to make an initial election, decline election coverage, modify or revoke a prior election, or change the designation of a beneficiary. All forms had to be signed and notarized or attested to by an officer. A copy of the form furnished by the retiree is valid for RSFPP purposes (if otherwise proper and timely) if the original cannot be located.

B. In the absence of a signed copy of RSFPP election, secondary evidence (including punchcard data that indicates the amount of the option and the time of execution) may be considered as evidence of an election. However, any determination of the validity of an election on the basis of secondary evidence depends upon the particular facts for the individual case, the nature of the secondary evidence, and the degree of certainty of the evidence to establish the facts.

C. An election made by a power of attorney for any member, competent or incompetent, is not valid.

D. If an election is found to be void for any reason except fraud or willful intent of the member, the member may make a corrected election at any time within 90 days after notification in writing. The corrected election is effective as of the date of the void election.

340107. Validity of Documentary Evidence. A valid election must be signed, witnessed, and delivered to the member's appropriate official not later than midnight on the day in which member completed 18 or 19 years of service. On some election forms, it is difficult to determine the date received by finance center officials. If the date of receipt by an official is not shown, consider the date of attestation as the receipt date. If no date is shown, use the postmark date as date of receipt. If there is no postmark date, use the date of receipt by the finance center activity, as stamped on the election.

340108. Mentally Incompetent Members

A. Whenever a member, because of mental incompetence, was incapable of making an election within the time limitations prescribed by the plan, the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) made an election on behalf of the member upon a request from the spouse or, if there was no spouse, by or on behalf of the child or children of the member.

B. A member later determined to be mentally competent may, within 180 days after such determination, change or revoke the election made on his or her behalf. This change or revocation is effective on the date of the member's request for such change or revocation. Do not refund deductions previously made for premiums for coverage.

340109. Correction of Records. A member whose records have been corrected by the Secretary of the Military Service concerned may participate in the RSFPP as stipulated on the correction of records directive. The Secretary concerned also has the authority to correct an election, or change an option or a revocation, if the Secretary considers it necessary to correct an administrative error.

340110. Temporary Disability Retired List (TDRL)

A. Any member who was on the TDRL who elected one or more of the annuities specified in the plan, and who later was removed from the list for any reason other than permanent retirement, was entitled to a refund of cost over the cost of term insurance.

B. An election made by a member who was transferred from TDRL to PDRL continued in effect.

340111. Members Retiring Under 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)). Coverage for members of the Reserve Components, who would have accumulated enough service to be eligible for retired pay at age 60, had certain stipulations.

A. Before October 4, 1961, members must have elected under the plan before completion of 18 years of service. Modification or revocation after attaining age 55 would be valid only if it was submitted at least 5 years before retirement.

B. From October 4, 1961, through October 31, 1968, members must have elected under the plan before completion of 18 years of service. Modifications or revocations would be valid only if submitted at least 3 years before retirement.

C. From November 1, 1968, through September 20, 1972, members must have elected under the plan before their 58th birthday. Elections, modifications, or revocations submitted after age 58 would be valid only if made and submitted at least 2 years before retirement.

3402 WITHDRAWALS

340201. General Provisions. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) may, upon application by the retired member, allow him or her to withdraw completely from participation. An approved withdrawal is not effective earlier than the first day of the seventh month beginning after the date application is received by the DFAS-Cleveland Center.

A. A member, who retired before November 1, 1968, must have elected option 4 to be eligible to withdraw from participation in the plan (see subparagraph 340103.E, above).

B. Members who retired on or after November 1, 1968, with automatic option 4, were automatically eligible to request withdrawal from the plan.

C. A request to withdraw from the plan is irrevocable, and a retired member who withdraws may never again participate in the plan.

Example: A retiree withdraws from the RSFPP (options 3 and 4) effective 7 months after retirement. Records were later corrected to show that the member elected options 1 and 2 more than 2 years before retirement. On this basis, the premium for coverage between the retirement date and the withdrawal date may be adjusted. The correction of records, however, does not void the withdrawal from the program.

D. Premiums for coverage continue unless a member submits a request to withdraw and an indebtedness accrues after retired pay is waived. RSFPP participants, who want to terminate their coverage when they waive retired pay to increase their civil service annuity, specifically must request withdrawal from the plan.

ELECTING OPTIONS ON OR BEFORE OCTOBER 31, 1953

	If a member's status was	then the member
1	an active member with less than 18 years of service	could have elected before completion of 18 years of service or November 1, 1954, whichever was later.
2	an active member with less than 18 years of service who is retired for physical disability before 18 years of service	could have made an election at time of retirement, and not later than 30 days after retirement date.
3	an active member who had completed more than 18 years of service for basic pay	could have elected within 1 year after the effective date of Public Law 83-239 (effective November 1, 1953).
4	already retired	could have elected before April 30, 1954.
5	an active member in status of missing, missing in action, interned in a neutral country, captured, beleaguered or besieged because of military operations and unable to make an election before completing 18 years of service for basic pay purposes	could have made election within 6 months after return to the jurisdiction of the Uniformed Service.

	2 an active member with less than 18 years of service for basic pay purposes who is retired for physical disability before 18 years	could have made an election at time of retirement, and not later than 30 days after retirement.
	3 an active member who completed more than 18 years of service from November 1, 1953 through April 30, 1954	could have made the election before midnight of April 30, 1954.
	4 an active member who completed more than 18 years of service from May 1, 1954 through October 3, 1961	could have made the election before midnight of November 1, 1954.

	If a member's status was	then the member
1	an active member with less than 18 years of service for basic pay purposes	must have made an election before completing 18 years of service or 3 years before retirement. If such election was not changed or revoked, it became effective immediately upon later retirement.
2	active member retired for physical disability and awarded retired pay on or after October 4, 1961 and before completion of 18 years of service (and had not already made an election before October 4, 1961)	could have made an election at time of retirement. If not made earlier, not later than 30 days after retirement.
3	an active member who completed more than 18 years of service for basic pay purposes during this period	could have made an election after completing 18 years of service if he or she had failed or declined to make an election before that time, but must have made the election at least 3 years before the date the member became entitled to receive retired pay.
4	changed whereby retired pay was granted retroactively, and member was otherwise eligible to make an election	could have made the election within 90 days after receiving notice that such pay had been granted.
5	missing, interned in a neutral country, assigned to isolated station, captured by hostile force, or beleaguered or besieged upon completing 18 years of service for basic pay purposes	Could have made the election within 1 year after member ceased to be assigned to that station or returned to the jurisdiction of the Military Service, and such election immediately became effective.

2	active member who completed more than 19 years of service for pay purposes	must have made an election before 19 years of service was completed, or 2 years before retirement.
3	Missing, interned in a neutral country, assigned to isolated station, captured by hostile force, or beleaguered or besieged upon completing 19 years of service for basic pay purposes	could have made an election to become effective immediately, within 1 year after member ceased to be assigned to that station or returned to the jurisdiction of the Armed Forces.

NOTE: No retired member may elect coverage under Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (RSFPP) after September 20, 1972.

Table 34-4. Electing Options Between November 1, 1968 and September 20, 1972

CHAPTER 35

RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN – BENEFICIARIES3501 ELIGIBLE BENEFICIARIES

Eligible beneficiaries for RSFPP annuities are:

350101. Spouse of the member on the date the member is retired or becomes entitled to retired pay, or, if the member was already retired or entitled to retired pay on November 1, 1953, the spouse on that date.

350102. Children of the member who:

A. Are unmarried and under 18 years of age.

B. Are more than 18 years of age, unmarried, and incapable of self-support because of being mentally defective or physically incapacitated, if that condition existed before they reached age 18.

C. Are at least 18 but under 23 years of age, and pursuing a full-time course of study or training (applies only to children of members who retired on or after November 1, 1968). This study may be in a high school, trade school, technical or vocational institute, junior college, college, university, or comparable recognized educational institution (a child is considered to be pursuing a full-time course of study or training during an interval between school years that does not exceed 150 days if the child demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) that the child has a bona fide intention of resuming or continuing to pursue a full-time course of study or training in a recognized educational institution immediately after the interval). For the purpose of this subsection, a child who is at least 18 but less than 23 years of age, and is not pursuing a course of study or training, is considered an eligible beneficiary unless the member applies to the Secretary concerned to have such child considered not to be an eligible beneficiary.

D. Are legitimate or adopted children of the member, or step-children dependent upon the member for their support.

E. Are living on the date when the member is retired or becomes entitled to retired pay or, if the member was already retired or entitled to retired pay on November 1, 1953, living on that date.

F. Have been adopted by a third person before the parent-member's death. A child loses his or her eligibility for an annuity under the plan under this condition. However, the eligibility is not affected if the child is adopted by a third person after the parent-member's death.

3502 DESIGNATING BENEFICIARIES

350201. When submitting an election, the member must furnish the birth dates of the named beneficiaries as applicable to the option(s) elected to provide information for computing annuity costs.

350202. A member without dependents may designate beneficiaries when making an election; however, the designation is not effective unless he or she has eligible dependents at retirement.

350203. A member may have a different lawful spouse at the time of retirement from the lawful spouse at the time of election. The lawful spouse at the time of retirement is the spouse eligible for an annuity. Divorce of the member after retirement removes the former spouse as a prospective annuitant.

Example: The member's records were corrected in December 1955 to show retirement in 1952. The member divorced on November 4, 1955 and remarried November 12, 1955. Thus, the former spouse ceases to be an eligible annuitance. In addition, since the second spouse was not the spouse on November 1, 1953, she or he also is not an eligible beneficiary.

3503 SUBSTANTIATING EVIDENCE REGARDING DEPENDENCY AND AGE OF DEPENDENT

The age of the beneficiaries and/or dependents must be substantiated by birth certificates or other competent evidence. When conflicting statements on birth dates exist, the ones made in earlier life have less margin for error than those made in later years. Give earlier records more probative value in determining RSFPP costs.

350301. Proof of Spouse's and Children's Dates of Birth. Acceptable evidence may include one copy of any of the listed items in the sequence shown:

- A. Copy of birth certificate (primary evidence)
- B. Baptismal or other church records
- C. Hospital record of birth
- D. Sworn statement of attending doctor or midwife
- E. Certified abstract or photostat of baby book or family bible
- F. Affidavits from two persons knowing date of birth (Affiants' ages, relationship, and basis for stated facts must be given)

G. Affidavit from either parent or member

H. Passport

I. School records

J. Census Report (Note: The Bureau of Census will furnish this information upon request of the widow or widower. This costs a minimum of $4.00 and takes about 4 to 6 weeks to obtain. Address request to:

US Department of Commerce
Bureau of the Census
Personal Census Service Branch
Pittsburg, KS 66762

K. Information obtained from the Immigration and Naturalization Service may be acceptable as primary evidence for establishing a date of birth.

350302. Proof of Parentage

A. Adopted Children. Member must furnish certified copy of the decree of adoption.

B. Stepchild. A statement, signed by the member, stating that the stepchild is "in fact" dependent upon the member for more than half of his or her support will suffice. This statement need not be attested to or notarized.

350303. Child Incapable of Self-Support. The member must submit a certificate by the attending physician or an appropriate official of a hospital or institution for a child 18 years of age or over and unmarried who is incapable of self-support because of mental defect or physical incapacity. This certificate must state the basis for the physician's or the hospital's or institution official's conclusion. Further, a physician or appropriate official of a hospital or institution must certify that such condition existed before the child's 18th birthday. This certificate will be required at least once every 2 years after the annuity becomes payable, except in a case where medical prognosis indicates that recovery is impossible.

3504 EVIDENCE OF MARRIAGE

Evidence of the legality of a marriage is required only when there are apparent discrepancies regarding previous marriages. In such cases, marriage certificates and/or evidence of dissolution of previous marriages are required.

3505 COMMON-LAW MARRIAGES

A common-law marriage has the same recognition as a ceremonial statutory marriage when the parties live in a state where the marriage is recognized. The status of common-law marriages can be changed by the state legislature or by court decisions. Refer all cases involving common-law marriage to the responsible DFAS Center legal office.

CHAPTER 36

RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN – COST OF COVERAGE3601 GENERAL PROVISION

The cost of RSFPP coverage for the option or options elected is computed based on age of the member and beneficiaries and rate of retired pay in effect on date of retirement or effective date of election, whichever is later. Exclude cost-of-living increases effective on date of retirement. The cost remains the same regardless of future pay increases or decreases.

3602 CONTINUANCE OR DISCONTINUANCE OF COST BASED ON OPTIONS ELECTED

360201. For members who withdraw, the reduction ends effective the first day of the seventh month after the date the application for withdrawal is received. (See section 3402 of this volume.)

360202. When option 4 was not elected with options 1, 2, or 3 (retirements before November 1, 1968), premiums for coverage continue even though all beneficiaries die before the retiree or are ineligible to receive annuity benefits.

360203. When option 4 (automatic after October 31, 1968), is combined with options 1, 2, or 3, premiums for coverage end on the first day of the month after the month in which there are no eligible beneficiaries.

360204. When option 3 is elected (retirements on or after November 1, 1968), premiums for coverage end on last day of month that the spouse becomes an ineligible beneficiary. Eligible children remain covered at no cost to the member.

3603 REDUCTION OF RETIRED PAY FOR COST OF COVERAGE

360301. The RSFPP reduction in retired pay was computed on cost tables in effect on the date of retirement or date of election, whichever is later. The cost tables were published as Tables of Percentage Reduction of Retired Pay under the RSFPP and are available at the DFAS-Cleveland Center.

360302. If the member had no eligible dependents under the option or options elected on date of retirement, no reduction was made in retired pay.

360303. An adjustment could have been made in the reduction of retired pay upon finding an administrative error or a mistake of fact.

360304. If a member elected option 3, with or without option 4, but on the date of retirement:

A. Had no children eligible for the annuity, premiums were computed as though the member elected option 1 with or without option 4.

B. Had no spouse eligible for the annuity, premiums were computed as though member elected option 2 with or without option 4.

360305. If member elected multiple options (option 1 and option 2) but on date of retirement:

A. Had no spouse eligible for the annuity, premiums were computed as though member elected option 2 or option 2 with 4 only.

B. Had no children eligible for the annuity, premiums were computed as though member elected option 1 or option 1 with 4 only.

360306. A member who retired before November 1, 1968, had until September 1, 1969, to add option 4 to a previous election. (See subparagraph 340103.E.1 of this volume.) The additional premium was effective the first day of the month in which the original RSFPP election became effective. The retiree had to pay the additional premium which would have been deducted from retired pay if he or she had first elected option 4, plus interest. The interest was not deductible from taxable income. If undue hardship or financial burden resulted, payment could have been made:

A. In 2 to 12 monthly installments when the monthly amounts involved were $25 or less, or

B. In 2 to 36 monthly installments when the monthly amounts exceeded $25.

360307. No amounts by which retired pay was reduced before the election of option 4 were refunded to, or credited on behalf of, the retiree by virtue of an application to include option 4.

3604 EFFECTIVE DATE OF REDUCTION

360401. The effective date of reduction is the date of retirement or date of election, whichever is later.

360402. For members who retired and died during the same month, the premium deduction was made only from date of retirement through date of death.

3605 PAYMENT OF COST DURING NON-RECEIPT OF RETIRED PAY

360501. The RSFPP premium that otherwise would be withheld from retired pay must be deposited by direct remittance to the DFAS-Cleveland Center. Deposits are due on the effective date of coverage. For example, if the member retired June 1, the first payment is due on June 1 for period June 1-30.

360502. The retired pay activity informs the retiree of the amount and date when deposits are to be made.

360503. If a total VA waiver is in effect, the retiree may authorize Department of Veterans Affairs to withhold the premium from the VA benefits. See the DoD/VA Memorandum of Understanding, June 13, 1985, at Appendix G of this volume.

360504. Payments for RSFPP premiums for retirees recalled to active duty for more than 30 days may be paid by a class U allotment. This allotment is stopped upon release from active duty. See Volume 7A, Chapters 41 and 42 of this Regulation (reference (ey)).

360505. If deposits are not made within 30 days of the due date, the DFAS-Cleveland Center informs the retiree of the delinquency and advises him or her that beneficiaries cannot be paid an annuity under the plan until all delinquent premiums, plus interest at the rate applicable for the delinquent period, is paid. The notification of delinquency advises the retiree that 15 additional days have been granted in which to remit the deposit and, if the arrears are not deposited within that period, the retiree will be charged interest to include the first day of delinquency. In no case will the expiration date of the 15 days exceed a date later than 45 days from the date the deposit was due. Compute interest monthly on the interest rate applicable for the delinquent period. Withhold any arrears, with compound interest, if the retiree later receives retired pay.

3606 TEMPORARY DISABILITY RETIRED LIST (TDRL)

360601. The RSFPP coverage terminates when the retiree is removed from the TDRL for reasons other than transfer to the Permanent Disability Retired List.

360602. For members who remain on the TDRL for 5 full years, premiums and coverage cease at the end of the 5-year period. If the retiree dies after the 5-year period, no benefits are payable.

3607 CALCULATION FOR DELINQUENT PREMIUMS

360701. RSFPP interest rates are:

Effective Date	Annual Rate	Monthly Rate
Nov 1, 1953	3.00%	.00247
Jan 1, 1961	3.25%	.00267
Jan 1, 1966	3.75%	.00307
Jan 1, 1970	4.25%	.00348
Mar 1, 1975	6.00%	.00487

360702. For delinquent accounts, calculate the total cost plus interest by multiplying the monthly cost by the compound interest factor shown opposite the total number of payments due on the appropriate RSFPP compound interest Tables 1 through 5. (See Appendices B through F.)

360703. These following examples show how to compute interest when intermittent payments have been received. The computations are as of the 30th of each month on the basis that past due amounts were received after 45 days elapsed.

Examples

Date	Delinquent Amount	Monthly Premium	Amount Received	Amount Applied to Pay Premium Current/Month	Amount Applied To Delinquent Amount	Interest	Balance Due
Nov 30	$476.16	$20.00	-0-	-0- / -0-	476.16 x .00487 =	2.32	$498.48
Dec 31	498.48	20.00	$60.00	$20.00 / $40.00	458.48 x .00487 =	2.23	460.71
Jan 31	460.71	20.00	$20.00	$20.00 / -0-	460.71 x .00487 =	2.24	462.95
Feb 28	462.95	20.00	-0-	-0- / -0-	462.95 x .00487 =	2.25	485.20
Mar 31	485.20	20.00	$40.00	$20.00 / $20.00	465.20 x .00487 =	2.27	476.47

3608 AGE FACTOR

360801. Calculate the age of the member and beneficiaries as of their nearest birthday on the day of the member's retirement, or the effective date of election, whichever was later. Round 6 months or more to the next full year.

- A. Option 1- Member and spouse
- B. Option 2- Member and youngest child
- C. Option 3- Member, spouse, and youngest child

360802. Age Adjustments

A. For a female member, adjust her age and the age of her husband. Subtract 5 years from her actual age; add 5 years to his actual age. If the actual age or adjusted age of the member is over 90, consider the actual or adjusted age to be 90.

B. If the member's age and the wife's age are the same, use the table for "wife older by 0 years." This applies to Table of Percentage Reduction of Retired Pay Under RSFPP before November 1, 1968.

C. If the member's wife is more than 15 years older than the member, consider the difference to be exactly 15 years.

D. If a member's wife is more than 25 years younger than member, find the reduction factor using extrapolation. If a member's husband is more than 25 years younger than the member, see the Table of Percentage Reduction of Retired Pay Under RSFPP before November 1, 1968.

E. If a child is over 17-1/2 years of age, but less than 18, consider the age to be 17 for cost computation before November 1, 1968. Consider the age to be 18 for cost computation on or after November 1, 1968.

F. If child is less than 6 months old, consider the age to be 0.

G. If child is exactly 6 months old, consider the age to be 1 year.

H. If youngest child is 18 or older and physically or mentally incapacitated (because of disability which existed before age 18), base the cost on factor for child aged 17.

3609 CALCULATING COST FOR SINGLE OPTION

360901. Retirements before November 1, 1968

Annuities of one-half of reduced retired pay:

Basic Data for Examples

Date of Retirement	August 1, 1966
Member born January 15, 1916	Age 51 (nearest age)
Wife born February 27, 1918	Age 48
Difference between ages	3 years
Youngest child born August 15, 1954	Age 12
Member's gross retired pay entitlement	$884.03

MEMBER	WIFE	YOUNGEST CHILD
66-08-01	66-08-01	66-08-01
16-01-15	18-02-27	54-08-15
50-06-16	48-05-04	11-11-16
or	or	or
51 years	48 years	12 years

A. Example 1: A member retired with 20 years of service and elected option 1 with option 4 to provide his widow with an annuity of one-half of his reduced retired pay.

1. Using the appropriate table (Table of Percentage Reduction of Retired Pay Under RSFPP, April 1966, with 20 years of service), find the member's age (51) in the extreme left column headed "Age" and the difference between the member's age and his wife's age (member older than wife by 3 years) at the top of the table. The percentage reduction factor is located in the column headed by the difference in age on the line with the member's age. (0.1232)

Option 1-4 and Option 3-4-One-Half

Age	Retired Member Older than Dependent Wife by:
-	25	4	3	2_____
49
50
51_____				.1232

2. Multiply the member's gross retired pay by the reduction factor. This gives the monthly deduction to be made from the member's retired pay.

Gross retired pay	$884.03
Reduction factor	x 0.1232
Monthly deduction from retired pay	$108.91

B. Example 2: A member retired with 20 years of service and elected option 2 with option 4 for one-half of member's reduced retired pay.

1. Under the table (April 1966) with more than 20 years of service, for option 2 with option 4 for one-half, find the member's age (51) in the extreme left column headed "Age" and the child's age (12) along the top of the table. The reduction factor is in the column headed by the child's age on the line with the member's age (0.0133).

Option 2-4-One-Half

Age	Age of Child at Retirement
-	1	11	12	13 _____
51	_____ .0133

2. Multiply the member's gross retired pay by the reduction factor. This gives the monthly deduction to be made from member's retired pay.

Gross retired pay	$884.03
Reduction factor	x 0.0133
Monthly deduction from retired pay	$11.76

C. Example 3: A member retired with 20 years of service and elected option 3 for one-half of member's reduced retired pay.

1. Using the table for option 1 find the member's age (51) in the extreme left column headed "Age" and the difference between the member's age and his wife's age (member older than wife by 3 years) along the top of the table. The reduction factor is in the column headed by the difference in age on the line with the member's age. Use Table for January 1, 1966, for retirement on or after January 1, 1966, with more than 20 completed years of service.

Option 1-One-Half

Age	Retired Member Older than Dependent Wife by:
-	Years 25 _____	4	3	2	1
50
51	_____ .1137

2. From the lower part of the same table, select the multiplier appearing below the age of the youngest child.

Age of Child	0	11	12
Multiplier			1.001

3. Multiply the reduction factor for an annuity of one-half for option 1 by the multiplier based on age of youngest child.

$$0.1137 \times 1.001 = 0.1138$$

4. Multiply the member's gross retired pay by the reduction factor. This gives the monthly deduction to be made from member's retired pay.

Gross retired pay	$884.03
Reduction factor	x 0.1138
Monthly deduction from retired pay	$100.60

NOTE: When the youngest child is at least 13 years old, use only the factor for option 1. (The multiplier based on the age of the youngest child is 1.000.)

5. Annuities of one-quarter or one-half of reduced retired pay. Use conversion tables to convert the percentage reduction factor for an annuity of one-half of the reduced retired pay. Locate the first three digits of the one-half reduction factor in the extreme left column of the appropriate conversion table. The column is titled RF one-half (i.e., Reduction Factor for one-half of reduced retired pay). The fourth digit of the reduction factor for an annuity of one-half appears at the top of one of the succeeding columns. Find converted reduction factor in the column headed by the fourth digit in the reduction factor for one-half on the line opposite the first three digits. For example: Reduction factor for one-half is .1232 and member wants to provide an annuity of one-quarter. The reduction factor is .0656.

360902. Retirements November 1, 1968 Through September 20, 1972. Cost is now based on 12-1/2, 25, or 50 percent of full, rather than reduced, retired pay. Figure the amount of the annuity before computing the cost of coverage per month.

Example: A member aged 41 retired with more than 19 years of service after November 1, 1968. The member elected option 2 with 4 to provide the child, age 2, with 50 percent of total retired pay:

Gross Retired Pay	$547.86
Percentage	x .50
Annuity Payable per month	$273.93
*Reduction Factor	x .0434
Cost 11.888562 or	$11.89

*Obtained from actuarial cost table according to the member's age, child's age, option elected, percentage factor and type of retirement.

3610 CALCULATING COST FOR MULTIPLE OPTIONS

361001. November 1, 1953 - October 3, 1961. Public Law 83-239 (reference (et)), required the cost for multiple options to be computed by an actuarial equivalent method using, as a basis, appropriate actuarial tables selected by the DoD Board of Actuaries. Use these steps to compute cost:

A. For each one-quarter option chosen, find the reduction factor for the corresponding one-half option. For each one-eighth option chosen, find the reduction factor for the corresponding one-quarter option. There will be two factors, one for the option 1 portion and another for the option 2 portion.

B. For each factor in Step A, find the complement by subtracting the factor from 1.0000.

C. Obtain the product of the complements by multiplying them together. Obtain their sum by adding them together.

D. Divide the product by the sum and carry the answer to six decimal places.

E. Multiply the factor from Step D by the gross monthly retired pay and round off to dollars and cents. This is the member's monthly reduced retired pay for each option chosen.

F. Find the cost of each option by multiplying the answer found in Step E by the quotient of the reduction factor for the option divided by its complements.

Example: A member, age 50, retired for physical disability on August 1, 1961:

- a. Wife's age is 48
- b. Youngest child's age is 8
- c. Gross monthly retired pay is $452.62

The member combines option 1 for one-quarter reduced retired pay with option 2-4 for one-eighth reduced retired pay.

STEP 1. Determine reduction factors:

Option 1 - 1/4 same factor as for option 1, $1/2 = .1688$

Option 2-4 - 1/8 same factor as for option 2-4, $1/4 = .0196$

STEP 2. Determine complements of reduction factors:

$$\text{Option 1 - } 1.0000 - .1688 = .8312$$

$$\text{Option 2-4 - } 1.0000 - .0196 = .9804$$

STEP 3. Multiply and then add complements:

$$.8312 \times .9804 = .81490848 \text{ (product)}$$

$$.8312 + .9804 = 1.8116 \text{ (sum)}$$

STEP 4. Divide product by sum:

$$.81490848 \div 1.8116 = .449828$$

STEP 5. Multiply gross monthly retired pay by the answer in Step 4:

$$$452.62 \times .449828 = $203.60$$

STEP 6:

a. Divide reduction factors (Step 1) by complements (Step 2):

$$\text{Option 1 - } .1688 \div .8312 = .203079$$

$$\text{Option 2-4 - } .0196 \div .9804 = .019991$$

b. Figure cost of each option by multiplying product in Step 5 by each quotient in Step 6:

$$\text{Option 1- } $203.60 \times .203079 = $41.35$$

$$\text{Option 2-4- } $203.60 \times .019991 = $ 4.07$$

STEP 7. Determine total reduced retired pay by multiplying answer in Step 5 times 2:

$$2 \times $203.60 = $407.20$$

Note: Annuity for each option is: (See subparagraph 370502.A of this volume.)

$$\text{Option 1 - } 1/4 \times $407.20 = $101.80$$

$$\text{Option 2-4- } 1/8 \times $407.20 = $ 50.90$$

361002. October 4, 1961-October 31, 1968. The cost is computed by multiplying the reduction factor elected by gross retired pay. Use conversion tables to determine reduction factor when the member elects annuity of one-quarter or one-eighth of reduced retired pay instead of one-half as shown in paragraph 360902, above.

Example: A member, age 46, retired for physical disability on December 16, 1965, with less than 18 years of service for pay purposes. Table of Percentage Reduction of Retired Pay-April 1962.

- a. Wife's age is 43
- b. Youngest child's age is 13
- c. Gross monthly retired pay is $814.95. Elected option 1 with 4 for one-quarter combined with option 2 with 4 for one-quarter. Reduction Factor:

Option 1-4 for $\frac{1}{2}$ = .1504; factor for $\frac{1}{4}$ is .0813

Option 2-4 for $\frac{1}{2}$ = .0109; factor for $\frac{1}{4}$ is .0055

	Retired Pay	Cost	Reduced Retired Pay	Annuity Payable
Option 1	$$814.95 \times .0813 =$	$66.25	$$748.70 \times \frac{1}{4} =$	$187.18 *
Option 2	$$814.95 \times .0055 =$	$4.48	$$810.47 \times \frac{1}{4} =$	$202.62

* (See subparagraph 370502.B of this volume.)

361003. November 1, 1968 - September 20, 1972. Public Law 90-485 (reference (ev)), again changed the method for computing coverage premiums. The premium is based on the amount of annuity payable. The annuity payable is specified as either a dollar amount or a percentage of retired pay, but not both. Multiply the reduction factor for the annuity elected by the monthly annuity payable for each option.

Example: A member, age 52, retired for years of service on July 31, 1970, with more than 19 years of service for basic pay purposes.

- a. Wife's age is 51
- b. Youngest child is 17
- c. Monthly gross retired pay award is $1,082.34

The member elected option 1 with option 4 for one-quarter combined with option 2 with option 4 for 1/4.

	Retired Pay	Annuity Payable
Option 1-4	$1,082.34 x 25% or 1/4 =	$270.59 *
Option 2-4	$1,082.34 x 25% or 1/4 =	$270.59 annuity payable monthly
Option 1-4	$270.59 x .2561 factor (Cost Table D, opt#1)	$69.30 cost of coverage
Option 2-4	$270.59 x .0253 factor (Cost Table D, opt#2)	$6.85 cost of coverage

* (See subparagraph 370502.B of this volume.)

3611 TAXABILITY OF COST

For federal income tax purposes, the cost of RSFPP coverage is excluded from taxable income on TD Form W-2P. A refund of premiums resulting from administrative error, correction of records, late receipt of withdrawal request, or youngest child attaining maximum age is taxable income to the retiree.

3612 INCOME EXCLUSION

The retiree will receive an income exclusion for the amount of the direct remittance for cost of coverage upon returning to a pay status. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will exclude the amount of the direct remittance from the taxable income on TD Form W-2P. See section 3605 of this volume for payment of cost during non-receipt of retired pay.

CHAPTER 37RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN – ANNUITY AMOUNTS*3701 GENERAL

370101. An annuity payable under the RSFPP is not assignable or subject to execution, levy, attachment, or garnishment-except for child support or alimony or to collect a debt caused by an overpayment described in Chapter 38, paragraph 3801. A debt to the United States or its instrumentalities incurred by the annuitant may be offset from the annuity. The annuity may be paid to a trustee in bankruptcy pursuant to the order of a bankruptcy court in a proceeding under Chapter 13 of the Bankruptcy Code, 11 U.S.C. (reference (dg)), since such proceeding is voluntary.

370102. Annuities payable are in addition to any pension or other payment to which the beneficiaries may now or later be entitled by law, and may not be considered as income under any law administered by the Department of Veterans Affairs except when the annuitant is entitled to DIC as a parent of a veteran.

370103. See Table 37-1 for general provisions affecting annuity payments.

370104. For settlement of arrears of annuities, see Chapter 31.

3702 EFFECTIVE DATE OF ANNUITY

370201. Each annuity payable normally accrues as of the first day of the month in which the member dies. If the Secretary concerned makes a determination that a participating member is presumed dead, the annuity accrues from the first day of the month in which retired or retainer pay was suspended on the basis of the member's missing status. When a member elects coverage for spouse and children (Option 3), an annuity is payable to eligible children on the first day of the month in which the widow or widower becomes an ineligible annuitant. For the child who is at least age 18 and attending a recognized educational institution (see Chapter 35, subparagraph 350102.C), the annuity accrues:

A. As of the first day of the month in which the retired member dies, if the eligible child's 18th birthday occurs in the same or a preceding month.

B. As of the first day of the month in which the child's 18th birthday occurs if the retired member died in the preceding month.

C. As of the first day of the month in which the child becomes or again becomes eligible if that child's 18th birthday and the retired member's death occurred in a preceding month or months.

370202. The first payment of the annuity cannot be made until a completed application is received. If a properly completed application is received, first payment must be made not later than the 15th of the month after the month in which the retired member dies, nor later than the 15th of the month after the month in which the Secretary concerned has made a determination that the member is presumed dead. Payments are made in equal monthly installments thereafter as long as entitlement exists.

370203. No annuity accrues or is paid for the month in which all annuitants lose eligibility.

370204. If a member retires and dies during the same month, the annuity is payable for the full month.

3703 ANNUITY PAYMENTS

Upon official notification of death or Secretarial determination that a participating member is presumed dead, annuity accounts are established in accordance with the provisions of the election made by or on behalf of the member. A completed DD Form 768 (Application for Annuity Under RSFPP) validates the annuity account. Payment of annuity is barred when the member is retired for disability before completing 19 years of service (18 years of service before October 1968) if beneficiaries are eligible for VA Dependency and Indemnity Compensation. For payments for a representative payee of an annuitant, see Chapter 46, subparagraph 460103.C.

3704 CLAIMS FOR ANNUITY

The claim for annuity payments must be properly completed and signed by the person or persons authorized to receive annuity.

370401. An individual holding a valid power of attorney may complete (including the signature element) and file the annuity application form on behalf of an annuitant provided payments are to be made directly to the annuitant and provided further that the annuitant has not been determined to be incompetent of managing his or her own affairs by a state court, physician or psychologist. (See Chapter 46, paragraph 460103) An annuitant whose application is signed with an "X" must be witnessed (two disinterested persons) or notarized or countersigned by the person holding power of attorney. A copy of the power of attorney and explanation why the annuitant required assistance must be submitted with the annuity application.

370402. A claim signed by a legal representative must be accompanied by a copy of the court order of appointment.

370403. A claim signed by the custodian of a minor child or children must be accompanied by a document evidencing custodianship.

370404. A doubtful claim must be submitted to the United States General Accounting Office (GAO) for certification before payment.

370405. When a claim is not received within 6 years, the case is closed. If a claim is received later, the case is reopened.

3705 ANNUITY AMOUNTS

370501. Single Option

A. Retirement before Nov 1, 1968. The monthly annuity payable, as elected by the retiree, is one-eighth, one-quarter, or one-half of the retiree's reduced retired pay as computed on the date of retirement or effective date of election, whichever is later.

B. Retirements from Nov 1, 1968 through Sep 20, 1972. The monthly annuity payable as elected by the retiree is:

1. One-eighth, one-quarter, or one-half of the retiree's gross retired pay on date of retirement; or
2. A specific dollar amount of not more than 50 percent nor less than 12-1/2 percent of the retiree's gross retired pay on date of retirement, but in no case less than $25.

370502. Multiple Options

A. Retirements before Nov 1, 1968. The monthly annuity payable for each option, as elected by the retiree, is one-eighth or one-quarter of the retiree's total reduced retired pay as computed on the date of retirement or effective date of election, whichever is later. The combined amount of annuities cannot exceed 50 percent of the retiree's total reduced retired pay.

B. Retirements from Nov 1, 1968 through Sep 20, 1972. The monthly annuity payable for each option, as elected by the retiree, is:

1. One-eighth or one-quarter of the retiree's gross retired pay on date of retirement; or
2. A specific dollar amount of not more than 25 percent nor less than 12-1/2 percent of the retiree's gross retired pay on date of retirement, but in no case less than $25.

370503. Public Law 98-94 (reference (aj)). This statute provides that all monthly annuities to which a survivor becomes entitled on or after Oct 1, 1983, if not a multiple of $1, are rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. Annuities to which survivors were entitled on Sep 30, 1983, were not rounded until there was an adjustment made in accordance with 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)); then, and with each subsequent adjustment, the amount as adjusted, if not a multiple of $1, is rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. All subsequent adjustments are based on the rounded amount.

3706 PAYMENTS TO WIDOW OR WIDOWER

For unique conditions affecting entitlement of annuity payments to widow or widower, see Table 37-2 for decisions of the Comptroller General.

3707 PAYMENT TO CHILDREN

370701. Annuities for a minor child or children are paid to the legal guardian, or if there is no legal guardian, to the natural parent who has care, custody, and control of the child or children as the custodian, or to a representative payee of the child or children.

370702. Annuities may be paid direct to the child when the law governing the state of residence stipulates the child to be majority age. The child then is considered an adult for annuity payment purposes, and a custodian or legal fiduciary is not required. See Appendix H for age of majority.

370703. The annuity is payable in equal shares to or in behalf of all eligible children. The annuity entitlement terminates when the youngest child becomes an ineligible annuitant.

370704. For unique conditions affecting entitlement and payment of annuities for a child or children, see Table 37-3 for decisions of the Comptroller General.

3708 COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT

370801. Annuities payable on Sep 30, 1978, to a spouse or child of a member who died on or before Mar 20, 1974, were increased by 66.1 percent effective Oct 1, 1978. The 66.1 percent increase was the percentage change in retired and retainer pay authorized by 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)) from Sep 21, 1972 to Sep 30, 1978.

370802. Whenever retired pay is increased through a cost-of-living adjustment, each annuity payable on the day before the effective date of that increase to a spouse or child or a member who dies on or before Mar 20, 1974, are increased at the same time by the same percentage. Beginning Oct 1, 1983, after each cost-of-living adjustment the annuity as adjusted, if not a multiple of $1, is rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. All subsequent adjustments are based on the rounded amount.

COMPTROLLER GENERAL DECISIONS - ANNUITY PAYMENTS, GENERAL
Decision Number	Synopsis
1. 35 Comp Gen 12 41 Comp Gen 500	Unpaid Cost for Coverage. Any unpaid RSFPP cost at time of a retiree's death, including nonpayment of direct remittance or erroneous computation of cost, must be collected before payment of any annuities.
2. 34 Comp Gen 664	Retired Pay Status Relinquished. Personnel who relinquish retired status (either voluntarily or involuntarily) are not permitted to pay RSFPP costs to entitle beneficiaries to annuities.
3. 43 Comp Gen 125	Effective Date of Payment. Annuity payments are paid under provisions of the RSFPP law as amended effective Oct 4, 1961, even though the election was made on Oct 4, 1961, before the hour in which the President signed the bill which amended the law.
4. 34 Comp Gen 151 38 Comp Gen 146	Annuity Payment Adjustments. Annuity payments must be adjusted on the basis of proper retired pay at the time the election became effective as though the member had actually been receiving such pay at that time. This applies to elections by members who elected while in a "saved pay" status, who later elected and received pay under the Career Compensation Act (CCA) retroactive to Oct 1, 1949.
5. MS Comp Gen B-156862, Jun 30, 1965	Failure to Submit Valid Election Form. After a member's death a copy of the RSFPP election is found in his personal effects. If it is not attested or notarized, and neither the original nor duplicate is located, it cannot be established that the member made an election. On the basis of information available, no annuity is payable.
6. 43 Comp Gen 418	Allocations of Annuity. The allocation of annuity payable under option 3 between the present spouse and the children of a former marriage applies to elections made before and after the Oct 4, 1961 RSFPP amendment. Public Law 90-485, Aug 13, 1968.
7. MS Comp Gen B-139217, Jun 29, 1959, Aug 12, 1960	Withholding Annuity to Satisfy Members Indebtedness. Annuity payments may be withheld to satisfy the member's indebtedness for overpayment of retired pay since the annuitant is under no obligation to the United States. However, the annuitant may voluntarily agree to repay the indebtedness by withholding from the annuity.
8. 39 Comp Gen 481 MS Comp Gen B-141131, Dec 30, 1959	Valid Intent of Member to Elect Spouse and Child Coverage. Both the spouse and children are covered when it can be established that the member intended to cover the children listed on the election certificate even though the election was checked to show spouse only.
9. 65 Comp Gen 621	Annuity payments should not be made payable to an agent acting under power of attorney when the annuitant is mentally incompetent even if a state statute had preserved the validity of a power of attorney executed before the annuitant was declared to be incompetent.
10. 66 Comp Gen 340	In the absence of a determination of incompetence made by a state court, physician, or psychologist that an annuitant is incapable of managing his or her own affairs, payments may be made directly to the annuitant. An individual, in accordance with a valid power of attorney, may assist the annuitant in completing and filing the annuity application form. (65 Comp Gen 621, clarified).

Table 37-1. Comptroller General Decisions - Annuity Payments, General

COMPTROLLER GENERAL DECISIONS – ANNUITY PAYMENTS, WIDOW OR WIDOWER
Decision Number	Synopsis
1. MS Comp Gen B-158906, Jun 7, 1966	Validity of Annuitant's Marriage to the Member. Evidence must be of record to establish that a former marriage was legally ended. No annuity payments are authorized to be paid until legal proceedings are instituted to determine the validity of the marriage.
2. 44 Comp Gen 480	Foreign Divorce. The State of New York does not recognize a foreign divorce unless both parties appear personally or through authorized counsel in the country where the foreign divorce is obtained.
3. 43 Comp Gen 567	Foreign Divorce. A member's marriage to a woman who had previously obtained an illegal foreign divorce is not valid for annuity payment purposes.
4. MS Comp Gen B-154387, Jul 16, 1964	Interlocutory Decree of Divorce. An interlocutory decree does not end a marriage. A foreign divorce in the interim period is not valid. The final divorce decree terminates the marriage.
5. 42 Comp Gen 112	Divorce and Later Remarriage to Same Spouse. A spouse who divorces the member after retirement terminates eligibility for annuity. A later remarriage of the same people to each other does not reinstate eligibility to the annuity, even though deductions from pay are continued under terms of the member's election.
6. 38 Comp Gen 208	Annuity Elections at Time of Correction of Records. A member is regarded as having been in a retired status on Nov 1, 1953, effective date of the RSFPP law, if after that date a Correction of Records retired the member retroactive to a date before Nov 1, 1953. A spouse whom the member married after Nov 1, 1953 is not entitled to annuity since he or she was not the spouse on Nov 1, 1953.

Table 37-2. Comptroller General Decisions - Annuity Payments, Widow or Widower

COMPTROLLER GENERAL DECISIONS – ANNUITY PAYMENTS, CHILD OR CHILDREN
Decision Number	Synopsis
1. 47 Comp Gen 270	Custodianship of Minor Child. Payment of RSFPP annuity may be made to a natural parent having care and custody of minor child or children, without the appointment of a legal guardian, even though such payments might eventually exceed the sum of $1,000.
2. 35 Comp Gen 521	Custodianship of Minor Children. Payment can also be made to an adopting parent, as custodian of minor child since all rights and duties were acquired with the adoption.
3. 47 Comp Gen 371	Child Physically Incapacitated. A chiropractor's statement attesting to a child's physical incapacity is sufficient to substantiate eligibility as a beneficiary under RSFPP.
4. 48 Comp Gen 167	Ineligible Child. Child born May 1, 1950, became eligible for annuity benefits on May 1, 1968. Payment for month of April 1968 is proper.
5. MS Comp Gen B-160876, Apr 18, 1967	Incapacitated Child. An incapacitated child does not have to meet that condition as of member's retirement date of Nov 1, 1953, if later (as required by DoDD #1332.17, section 102c) to qualify as an eligible RSFPP beneficiary. Also, proof of continued incapacitation of a child annuitant is required at least every 2 years after age 18.
6. MS Comp Gen B-158411, Mar 10, 1966	Mentally Incapacitated Child. Mentally incapacitated child who married and whose marriage was annulled is considered unmarried and an eligible contingent beneficiary.
7. 44 Comp Gen 280	Unmarried Child. The term "unmarried child" is defined as not having a husband or wife at time of member's retirement, and without regard to the fact that the child may have been previously married.
8. MS Comp Gen B-131677, Jun 3, 1957	Legitimate Child. Children born from illegal marriage (one spouse not legally divorced from prior marriage) may be considered legitimate children for RSFPP annuity payments.
9. MS Comp Gen B-132012, Jun 17, 1957	Clarification of Election Fraction. A member who elected option 2 with both 1/2 and 1/8 factors checked, who failed to clarify the fraction desired, and who later stated a wish not to participate in the plan, must be assumed to have elected the minimum of 1/8 rate.
10. 36 Comp Gen 325	Adoption of Child. Child of deceased retired member receiving annuity under option 2 who is adopted after death of a retired member, is entitled to continue receiving the annuity. An adoption before death of retired member, or divorce from wife in which member elected option covering stepchild constitutes basis for terminating reduction of retired pay if option 4 included, and likewise voids entitlement to annuity upon later death of retiree.
11. 35 Comp Gen 521	Amendatory Birth Certificate. Amendatory birth certificate along with statement on election form is normally sufficient to substantiate date of birth and claimed relationship of adopted child.
12. 62 Comp Gen 193	Incapacitated Annuitant. Annuity payable to an incapacitated annuitant may not be suspended unless annuitant is capable of earning amounts sufficient for own particular personal needs through substantial and sustainable gainful employment. Advance written notice will be made prior to suspension and annuitant shall be given the opportunity to submit rebutting evidence.
13. 62 Comp Gen 302	Incapacitated Annuitant – Reinstatement of Annuity - Payment to Third Parties. An annuity may be reinstated upon the recurrence of original disabling condition. Annuity payments to incapacitated adult can be made to third parties only if appointed as guardian by court or under valid power of attorney. Power of attorney executed by mentally incapacitated annuitant may be invalid, even in absence of formal adjudication of incompetence. If annuitant suffering from mental illness has not been adjudged incompetent, and is considered by psychiatrist to be competent to manage annuity properly for personal maintenance, annuity may be paid directly to annuitant. If annuity cannot be paid directly to annuitant or properly paid to third party, annuity should accrue to annuitant's account until annuitant recovers or until guardian is appointed by court.

Table 37-3. Comptroller General Decisions - Annuity Payments, Child or Children

CHAPTER 38RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN – ANNUITY OVERPAYMENTS*3801 CAUSES OF OVERPAYMENTS

Overpayments in retiree annuity payments may be caused by one or more of the following situations:

380101. Failure of the annuitant, custodian, or guardian to notify the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) of:

- A. Remarriage of the annuitant, before age 60 or death
- B. Youngest child reaching age 18
- C. Marriage or death of a child annuitant
- D. Recovery of an incapacitated child
- E. Termination of student status

380102. Erroneous computation

380103. Correction of member's military records

380104. Concurrent payment of RSFPP annuity and DIC if the RSFPP was payable based on the service of a member who retired for disability before completing 18 years of service after October 5, 1961, or before completing 19 years of service after November 1, 1968.

380105. A secretarial determination that a member is alive after the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) previously determined that the member was presumed dead. The member is liable for any indebtedness created where the annuity payments were made based on the presumption of such member's death. The member's indebtedness cannot be considered for waiver under 10 U.S.C. 2774 or 1442 (reference (c)). If the member dies before those payments are fully recovered, the annuitant may be liable for the indebtedness if the annuitant was the recipient of the annuity payments made under the presumption of death. (See Chapter 28, Table 28-1, of this volume for collection of indebtedness from retired or retainer pay.)

3802 RECOVERY OF OVERPAYMENTS

Upon discovery of an overpayment, start recovery action immediately. Advise the annuitant of the debt and the method in which the overpayment is being, or may be, recovered.

3803 METHOD OF RECOVERY

The debt resulting from an annuity overpayment shall be liquidated by one of the following methods.

380301. Direct remittance to the DFAS-Denver Center

380302. Reduction by the DFAS-Denver Center of later RSFPP annuity payments, or withholding of future annuity payments until debt has been liquidated.

3804 WAIVER OF INDEBTEDNESS

When applicable, the DFAS-Denver Center advises the annuitant of the right to request a waiver of indebtedness.

380401. Recovery of an overpayment of the RSFPP annuity is not required if, in the judgment of the DFAS Director, or the Director's designee, there was no fault by the person to whom the amount was erroneously paid and recovery would be contrary to the purpose of the plan or against equity and good conscience. Proof of hardship is not required if the waiver otherwise is in order. Suspension of collection action may be authorized on receipt of a waiver request. Refund of an amount withheld before receipt of a request for waiver is not authorized. When a waiver is granted, refund amounts collected after receipt of the waiver request.

380402. Failure to withhold the cost of coverage from retired pay of a member cannot be considered an overpayment of annuity to a designated beneficiary to authorize waiver of recovery of the overpayment.

380403. RSFPP annuitants who obtain a correction of records for entitlement to additional survivorship annuity under a second election may not retain the benefits of the original election. A correction made under 10 U.S.C. 1552 (reference (c)), except when procured by fraud, is final and conclusive on all officers of the United States. Recovery of overpayments that occur in these instances may not be waived under 10 U.S.C. 1442 (reference (c)). Repayment may be made over a reasonable period of time as determined by the retired pay activity.

CHAPTER 39

RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN - ANNUITY TERMINATIONS AND REINSTATEMENTS3901 TERMINATIONS

390101. Time of Termination. Entitlement to the RSFPP annuity terminates as of the end of the month that precedes the month in which eligibility ceases.

390102. Reasons for Termination. Terminate RSFPP annuity upon:

A. Death of Widow or Widower. Terminate payments the last day of the month that precedes the month in which widow or widower dies. If children are involved, see section 3902, below.

B. Remarriage of Widow or Widower Before Age 60. Terminate payments the last day of the month that precedes the month in which widow or widower, younger than age 60, remarries. If children are involved, see paragraph 390202, below.

C. Loss of Eligibility by Child Annuitant. Reasons for loss are:

1. Youngest child reaching age 18 and not incapable of self-support (applicable to children of members who retired before November 1, 1968).

2. Youngest child reaching age 18 and not pursuing a full-time course of study nor incapable of self-support (applicable to children of members retiring on or after November 1, 1968).

3. Youngest child who is pursuing full-time course of study, reaches age 23 and is not incapable of self-support (applicable to children of members who retired on or after November 1, 1968).

4. Marriage or death of child annuitant.

5. Recovery of an incapacitated child over age 18. Annuity may be suspended if the annuitant becomes independently capable of earning amounts sufficient for his or her own particular personal needs through substantial and sustainable gainful employment. The annuitant will receive advance written notice from DFAS prior to suspension. The annuitant will be given an opportunity to submit rebutting evidence. The annuity may be reinstated (see subparagraph 390202.B, below).

6. Termination of student status of a child over age 18, under age 23 (applicable only to retirees who retired on or after November 1, 1968).

7. Reinstatement to widow or widower of annuity previously terminated.

D. Secretarial Determination. Terminate payments the last day of the month preceding the month in which the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) determines that a participating member previously presumed to be dead is now alive.

390103. Due and Unpaid Annuity. If, on death of the annuitant, an amount remains payable to the annuitant, but is unpaid because the annuity checks were not negotiated or because payments had not been established, the account is settled in accordance with Chapter 31 of this volume. There is no designated beneficiary for settlement of arrears of an annuity.

3902 REINSTATEMENTS

390201. Remarriage Terminated by Death of Spouse and/or Remarriage of Widow or Widower Before Age 60 Terminated by Divorce. The annuity is not reinstated.

390202. Reinstatement of Annuities on Behalf of Children

A. If an annuity was terminated because of the death or remarriage of the widow or widower before age 60, and the member's election also included coverage for children, reestablish the full annuity in equal shares in favor of the eligible children (see Chapter 37). The effective date is the first day of the month in which the death or remarriage of the widow or widower occurred.

B. An annuity to an incapacitated child over 18 years of age may be reinstated upon either a recurrence of the original disability that rendered the annuitant incapable of self-support or upon receipt of evidence from the annuitant that, although engaged in substantial and sustainable gainful employment, wages are not sufficient to cover his or her particular needs.

390203. Termination of Remarriage by Annulment

A. Annulment of a "Void" Marriage:

1. The annuity may not be reinstated for any period earlier than the date of separation after the discovery that the marriage was void.

2. The annuity may not be reinstated for any period in which annuity payments were made on behalf of children under option 3 (when notice is received that the widow or widower's remarriage was void, payment to the children under option 3 is suspended pending resolution of the issues involved).

3. In the absence of a judicial decree terminating the marriage as void, the case must be sent to the Defense Office of Hearings and Appeals for decision.

B. Annulment of a "Voidable" Marriage. The annuity may not be reinstated when a voidable marriage is annulled.

390204. Reinstatement of Annuities Terminated Before Oct 1, 1978 Because of Remarriage of Widow or Widower After Age 60. If the annuity was terminated because of remarriage, and the widow or widower was 60 years of age or older, the annuity may be reinstated not earlier than October 1, 1978. The annuity will be increased by cost-of-living adjustments, if appropriate, in accordance with paragraph 370802 of this volume.

RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN – CERTIFICATES OF ELIGIBILITY AND REPORT OF EXISTENCE4001 ANNUAL CERTIFICATE OF ELIGIBILITY

400101. Purpose. The certificate validates the continued eligibility of annuitants, whether widow or widower, or eligible children. A widow or widower must remain unmarried for continued eligibility. Children must meet prescribed criteria contained in paragraph 350102 of this volume.

400102. Frequency of Certification

A. Annually. A certificate of eligibility must be sent to the DFAS-Denver Center each year by a:

1. Widow or widower of any age. The form must be signed by the widow or widower. If he or she is incompetent, the form must be signed by the legal fiduciary.

2. Custodian or legal fiduciary for minor children.

B. Biennially. A medical certification must be submitted every 2 years for any incapacitated child over 18 years of age, unless a medical prognosis indicates that the disability is permanent.

C. Other. A student between ages of 18 and 23 must provide evidence of intent to continue study or training at a recognized educational institution. The certificate is required for the school semester or other period in which the school year is divided.

1. Payments to students continue during any interval between school years that does not exceed 150 days if the students have demonstrated to the satisfaction of the DFAS-Denver Center that they have a bona fide intention of starting, resuming, or continuing a full-time course of study or training in a recognized educational institution immediately after that interval.

2. An eligible student annuitant under the RSFPP who is properly enrolled in a recognized educational institution employing the usual quarter or semester system, and who becomes ill or requires non-elective surgery during the school term, retains the student status for the rest of that term.

400103. Failure to Return Certificate of Eligibility. The annuity payment is suspended if the annuitant, custodian, or legal fiduciary fails to furnish the certificate as required. Payments will be restarted only after receiving satisfactory proof of eligibility.

4002 REPORT OF EXISTENCE (ROE)

400201. Purpose. The ROE fulfills the requirement for proof of existence for:

A. Annuitants who receive payments through foreign postal channels. Annuity checks mailed to an APO, FPO, or a finance officer or disbursing officer at an overseas address, do not require submission of a report of existence.

NOTE: Do not mail checks to an annuitant living in currency blocked countries. See Appendix A for a list of blocked countries.

B. Mentally incompetent annuitants who receive payments through a legal fiduciary.

C. Annuitants whose payments are sent to a third party, other than a financial institution for negotiation under a power of attorney.

400202. When Required. An ROE is required on a "1 month behind" basis for those annuitants that meet the criteria of subparagraphs 400201.B. and C., above, and semiannually for annuitants identified in subparagraph 400201.A., above. Receipt of the certificate within the above prescribed time frame after issuance of the annuity check verifies the annuitant's existence. Under no circumstances may the ROE be signed by other than the annuitant, custodian, or legal fiduciary.

400203. Failure to Return Report of Existence. The annuity payment is suspended if the annuitant, custodian, or legal fiduciary fails to return the ROE as required. Payments will be restarted only after receiving satisfactory proof of existence.

CHAPTER 41

RETIRED SERVICEMAN'S FAMILY PROTECTION PLAN – TAXABILITY OF ANNUITIES4101 FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Annuities paid under the RSFPP are taxable for federal income tax purposes. Refunds for coverage premiums are taxable income to the annuitant. The refund of premiums may result from administrative error, corrections of record, late receipt of withdrawal request, or youngest child attaining age 18. See Table 52-1 for exceptions on the taxability of the annuities.

4102 FEDERAL INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING (FITW)

410201. General Provisions. RSFPP annuity payments are subject to FITW. An annuitant has the right to elect no withholding. In the absence of such an election, or if the annuitant does not otherwise submit a withholding certificate, the DFAS-Denver Center will withhold on a "married-three exemptions" basis. The annuitant may use TD Form W-4P or any substitute form furnished by the payer.

410202. Notice Requirements. The DFAS-Denver Center must advise the annuitant of the withholding requirement, and the right to elect "no withholding," when making the first payment to the annuitant. Thereafter, the DFAS-Denver Center must send an annual notice to the annuitant of the right to elect no withholding, to revoke an election, or to submit a new withholding certificate. An annuitant also may submit a withholding certificate at any time to elect no withholding, revoke such election, or request any rate of withholding.

410203. One-Time Payments. RSFPP annuity payments, other than the regular monthly entitlement, are subject to FITW at the rate of 20 percent unless the annuitant has elected no withholding.

4103 INCOME EXCLUSION

410301. The annuitant may exclude from gross income:

A. Premiums for coverage deducted from retired pay before January 1, 1966, not previously excluded from the member's retired pay.

B. The amount of direct remittance for any RSFPP premiums not previously excluded from the member's retired pay.

410302. In addition, the annuitant may exclude from the RSFPP annuity gross income an amount, not to exceed $5,000, if the member retired on disability and dies prior to attaining retirement age. Reference Public Law 89-365 (reference (ez)).

4104 ADJUSTMENT TO TAXABLE ANNUITIES

Reserved

4105 FEDERAL ESTATE TAX

The value of the annuity at the time of the member's death may be subject to federal estate tax if any portion of the cost was paid by direct remittance, or if the value of the annuity exceeds the amount that may be excluded from the gross estate. The DFAS may furnish the annuitant the current annuity amount and/or a summary of annual payments, and total cost paid (separate totals for deductions and direct remittances). For a computation of the amount of an annuity that will be subject to the tax, if any, the executor of the member's estate may write:

Internal Revenue Service
Chief, Estate and Gift Tax Branch
Attn: CC:IND:E
1111 Constitution Avenue, NW
Washington DC 20224

4106 STATE TAXATION

Whether RSFPP annuities are subject to state inheritance or income tax and the method of calculating such tax depend upon the laws of the state concerned. However, the TD Form W-2P information is furnished to the appropriate state tax authority.

4107 FURTHER TAX INFORMATION

Survivors should be advised that further information concerning taxation of RSFPP annuities may be obtained from the District Director of Internal Revenue or the state tax authority.

CHAPTER 42

SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN (SBP) – APPLICATION OF THE PLAN4201 PURPOSE

420101. SBP establishes a survivor benefit program for military personnel in retirement to complement the survivor benefits under social security laws. This Plan gives all pre-September 21, 1972, Uniformed Service retirees and those who retire on or after September 21, 1972, an opportunity to leave part of their retired pay to their survivors at a reasonable cost. Under this Plan, a member who retired before September 21, 1972 and who had previously elected to participate in the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (RSFPP) had the option to retain or cancel the RSFPP coverage when electing to participate in the SBP.

420102. The Plan provides, without cost, a minimum guarantee to a widow of a member who died before March 21, 1974. (See Chapter 51.) A surviving spouse of a member who died before November 1, 1953, is entitled to an annuity which may be in addition to the annuity payable under the minimum income annuity provisions.

420103. The Plan includes survivor benefits for the surviving spouse, dependent child or former spouse of a member who dies on active duty under certain circumstances, or to a member eligible to provide a Reserve Component annuity but who dies before notification of retirement eligibility under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)), or during the 90-day period following notification of retirement eligibility if member had not made an election.

420104. The Plan provides for annuity payments under a determination by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) that a participating member is presumed dead.

420105. Under a Supplemental SBP program, a member who has maximum annuity coverage for spouse or former spouse also may provide a Supplemental SBP annuity in increments of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent of the base amount. The Supplemental SBP annuity begins on the first day of the month after the annuitant becomes age 62 or the day SBP annuity becomes payable, whichever is later.

4202 SPECIALIZED TERMS

420201. Annuitant. A person named by or on behalf of the retiree who is eligible for annuity payments under the Plan.

420202. Base Amount. The money amount selected by the member, with the concurrence of the member's spouse if required under, 10 U.S.C. 1448(a)(3) (reference (c)), or the amount selected on behalf of a member by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, on which the annuity is based. This amount may range from $300 minimum up to full gross retired pay entitlement. If the member's gross pay is less than $300 per month, full gross pay must be designated as the base amount. The base amount is adjusted consistent with cost-of-living increases in retired pay. If, upon advancement or change from TDRL to PDRL, gross retired pay is reduced to less than the current base amount, the member's new base amount is the new full gross retired pay entitlement. A member may not designate different base amounts between the spouse and the children.

420203. Beneficiary. A spouse and/or child(ren) of the retiree; a former spouse or former spouse and children; a natural person with an insurable interest in the life of the retiree who is designated to receive coverage under the plan.

420204. Change in Coverage. An action taken because of a change in the member's family status which requires a change in beneficiaries.

420205. Change in Election. An authorized change in the type of beneficiary eligible for survivor coverage because of a change in the retiree's family status.

420206. Common-Law Marriage. Marriage as defined by pertinent state law. (See section 3505 of this volume.)

420207. Cost of Coverage. The cost for coverage under the plan paid by deductions from retired pay or by direct remittance when member is not receiving retired pay.

420208. Cost Refund. The difference between cost paid by the member and the recalculated cost of the annuity after Dependency and Indemnity Compensation reduction.

420209. Date of Receipt. The day of receipt of an election or election change by the office administering payment of retired pay. The postmarked date of an election may be considered as date of receipt when the validity of such election might be prejudiced because of a limited time factor.

420210. Declination. Member with eligible beneficiaries declines to elect any type of survivor coverage under this plan.

420211. Dependency and Indemnity Compensation Offset. Reduction from SBP annuity due to compensation entitlement from the Department of Veterans Affairs to the widow or widower of a member who dies after December 31, 1956, from a service-connected or comparable disability.

420212. Determination of Presumed Death. The determination by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) that a participating member is presumed dead where the member's retired or retainer pay has been suspended or would have been suspended had the member been in a receipt of pay and the member has been missing at least 30 days under circumstances which lead to a reasonable conclusion that the member is dead.

420213. Former Spouse. The surviving former husband or wife of a person who is eligible to participate in the plan.

420214. Maximum Level. Full, gross retired pay used as a base amount for coverage.

420215. Minimum Income Widow. Any person who on September 21, 1972, was or during the period beginning on September 22, 1972, and ending on March 20, 1974, became a widow of a person who was entitled to retired or retainer pay when he died. This individual must meet the eligibility criteria in paragraphs 510101-510104 of this volume.

420216. Missing Status. A member missing, missing in action, interned in a foreign country, captured, beleaguered, besieged by hostile force, or detained in a foreign country against his or her will.

420217. Natural Person With an Insurable Interest. A person who has a reasonable and lawful expectation of pecuniary benefits from the continued life of the participating member. See Chapter 44 of this volume.

420218. Pre- and Post- September 21, 1972 Retiree. Pre-, a member who retired before September 21, 1972; Post-, a member who retires on or after September 21, 1972.

420219. Plan. The Survivor Benefit Plan or SBP.

420220. Recognized Educational Institute. High school, trade school, technical or vocational institute, junior college, college, university, or comparable recognized educational institute.

420221. Reduced Base Amount. An amount less than the member's full gross retired pay but not less than $300.

420222. Reduction Factor. A four-digit actuarial decimal used to compute the monthly cost for children.

420223. Reserve Component Annuity. An annuity provided by virtue of eligibility under 10 U.S.C. 1448(a)(1)(B) (reference (c)).

420224. Retired Pay. Includes retainer pay.

420225. Social Security Offset. Reduction from SBP annuity due to widow's or widower's social security entitlements based on the member's active service after December 31, 1956.

420226. Standard Annuity. The annuity provided by virtue of eligibility under 10 U.S.C. 1448(a)(1)(A) (reference (c)).

420227. Supplemental Survivor Benefit Plan (SSBP). A supplemental annuity provided to a spouse or former spouse by virtue of eligibility under 10 U.S.C. 1458 (reference (c)).

420228. Surviving Spouse. The widow or widower of a deceased member.

420229. Threshold. This term applies to one of the alternative cost formulas. In the cost formula of 2.5 percent of the first $XXX.XX, plus 10 percent of the remainder of the base amount, the portion of the base amount upon which the member is charged 2.5 percent cost is the threshold. The threshold is indexed. See section 4902 and Table 49-1 of this volume for threshold amounts.

★420230. Consideration for Contract. The total amount of premiums paid by the participant member for the type of SBP selected. Also see definition for cost of coverage in paragraph 420207, above.

4203 ELIGIBLE PARTICIPANTS

Examples of members eligible to participate in the plan are:

420301. A member who retired before September 21, 1972, and elected coverage under the Plan on or before March 20, 1974, if on September 21, 1973, the member had a spouse and/or dependent children or, if not, elected coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest. If, on September 21, 1973, the member had no spouse or dependent children and later marries or acquires dependent children, the member must elect within 1 year from the date of marriage or acquisition of the children in order to participate.

420302. A member who retires on and after September 21, 1972, and does not decline participation in the Plan before the first day of retirement and who:

- A. Has a spouse or dependent children on date of retirement; or
- B. Has no spouse or dependent children on the date of retirement and before retirement elects coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest; or
- C. Has no spouse or dependent children on date of retirement, but later marries or acquires dependent children and elects within 1 year of the date of marriage or acquisition of the children; or,
- D. Has a former spouse and elects to provide coverage for that former spouse before the first day of retirement (on or after September 8, 1982) or elects former spouse coverage as set out in paragraph 430503 of this volume.

420303. A non-Regular (Reserve) member eligible for retirement under 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)) who has applied for such pay.

420304. A Member on the Emergency Officers' Retired List (EORL). Members of the EORL are persons who have served as officers of the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps during World War I, other than officers of the Regular Army, Navy, or Marine Corps and who, during such service, incurred a physical disability in the line of duty and were later awarded retired pay under the Tyson-Fitzgerald Act (reference (fa)). These members are paid retired pay by the Department of Veterans Affairs but the coverage is established and maintained by the DFAS.

420305. A Member on the Temporary Disability Retired List (TDRL). Eligibility ends when the member is removed from TDRL without further entitlement to retired pay. The coverage continues when the member is transferred from TDRL to PDRL. If the member's retired pay is reduced to an amount less than the base amount originally elected, the full retired pay to which the member is entitled thereafter is considered the base amount.

420306. A Mentally Incompetent Member. The plan applies to a mentally incompetent member regardless of date of retirement. If retirement was before September 21, 1972, the Secretary of the Military Department concerned may, upon request, elect survivor coverage that the retiree would have been allowed to elect if the member were competent. The Secretary concerned makes the determination concerning the continuance or discontinuance of the RSFPP coverage when electing into the plan. For members retiring after September 20, 1972, the Secretary concerned, upon request, may act on behalf of the member and elect other than the maximum automatic coverage as provided in section 4301 of this volume. In the absence of an eligible spouse or children, the Secretary concerned may, upon request, elect coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest. The person applying to have an election made is not given preference in designation as the beneficiary.

420307. Retirees After a Record Correction

A. A member whose military record is corrected after September 20, 1972, to show retirement before September 21, 1972, is not automatically covered under the plan. Coverage may be established upon request of the member if the election is received within 18 months from the date of notification of the correction action.

B. A member who retroactively becomes entitled to retired pay on a date after September 20, 1972, is automatically given full coverage, unless the member elects reduced coverage or declines participation before the correction action (date of entitlement).

420308. A member may be eligible to participate under open season provisions in section 4309 of this volume.

CHAPTER 43

SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - ELECTIONS AND ELECTION CHANGES4301 ELECTION

430101. A member who retired before September 21, 1972 had until March 20, 1974 to elect to participate in the Plan. If the member was recalled to active duty before March 20, 1974, and not returned to the retirement list until after March 20, 1974, an election made at the end of the period of extended active duty may be considered valid. A member who retires on or after September 21, 1972 has automatic participation at the maximum level unless he or she elects otherwise before retirement or is ordered to participate in the Plan by a court order. If, on September 21, 1973 (pre-September 21, 1972 retiree), or on date of retirement (post-September 21, 1972 retiree), the member has no spouse or dependent children and later marries or acquires dependent children, the member may participate in the Plan. This election must be received by the Secretary concerned within 1 year of the marriage date or acquisition of the children. A member retiring between September 21, 1972 and March 20, 1973, had a "grace period" for making the final decision concerning this coverage. This member had 180 calendar days after the retirement date to change the automatic full coverage given at retirement if no election otherwise had been made. An election made before September 21, 1972, was null and void as of September 21, 1972, if the member retired on or after September 21, 1972.

430102. Public Law 97-35 (reference (bq)) gave certain eligible members an opportunity to elect or to change SBP coverage from October 1, 1981, through September 30, 1982. See section 4309, below.

430103. Public Law 98-94 (reference (aj)) gave certain participating members a limited opportunity from September 24, 1983, to September 23, 1984, to change SBP coverage from spouse or spouse and child(ren) to coverage for former spouse.

430104. Public Law 101-189 (reference (fb)), as amended, gave certain eligible members an opportunity to elect or change SBP coverage from April 1, 1992, through March 31, 1993. It also allowed members who were providing spouse or former spouse coverage at the maximum level a chance to elect SSBP.

4302 ELECTION OPTION

430201. Base Amount. A member who participates in the SBP must elect a base amount of maximum coverage or reduced coverage. A member must choose maximum coverage if electing SSBP. The base amount at any level is adjusted with each cost-of-living increase after retirement. See section 4901 of this volume.

430202. Coverage. Coverage may be provided for:

- A. Spouse and/or children;

- B. Former spouse or former spouse and children; or
- C. Natural person with an insurable interest (at maximum level of coverage only).

430203. Supplemental SBP Coverage. A member who elects SBP coverage for spouse or former spouse at the maximum level may elect a supplemental spouse annuity for that beneficiary. A member elects a monthly SSBP annuity payable to the beneficiary in increments of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent of the base amount. A member may not elect SSBP if the annuity of the spouse or former spouse will be computed under the social security offset method, 10 U.S.C. 1451(e) (reference (c)). However, the member may elect SSBP as any other member if the right to have annuity computed under the social security offset method is waived.

4303 ELECTION DATA

430301. Elections by the Member. DD Form 1881 (SBP Election Certificate by Existing Retiree), DD Form 1882 (SBP Election Change), DD Form 1883 (SBP Election Certificate), and DD Form 2618 (SBP Open Enrollment Election) when available, are recommended for use by the member. Elections in writing, signed by the member, which contain information necessary for establishing or declining coverage are acceptable. Spousal concurrence of certain elections is required beginning March 1, 1986. A member who anticipates becoming an SBP participant with maximum coverage for spouse or former spouse, must elect SSBP before the day on which the member first becomes a participant in SBP. If, upon becoming a participant in SBP, the member is not providing an annuity for spouse or former spouse at the maximum level, any SSBP election shall be void. If the former spouse election form does not include an election statement signed by the member and the former spouse, a separate election statement is required. In the election statement, the member attests as to whether the former spouse election is pursuant to a court order or a voluntary written agreement. Information concerning content of the written statement and the proper court order appears in paragraph 430503, below.

430302. Deemed Elections Requested By the Former Spouse. On deemed elections, requested by the former spouse or the former spouse's attorney, the request for the Secretary of the Military Department concerned to deem that an election has been made is accompanied by a court order or a statement from the clerk of the court. Information concerning content of the request by the former spouse or the former spouse's attorney and the statement from the clerk of the court, where necessary, appears in paragraph 430503.C, below.

430303. Election Data Requirements. The election data requirements are:

- A. Identification. Member's name, social security number, birth date, and date of retirement.
- B. Base Amount. The election form must indicate full coverage, in lieu of a dollar amount, when maximum coverage is elected. When a reduced base amount is elected, the dollar amount must be indicated on the election form. The reduced base amount must not be less than $300. When retired pay is less than $300, the election form must indicate full coverage.

C. Beneficiary. Show the name, birthdate, and social security number for each beneficiary named.

1. If coverage includes spouse, or former spouse, the member must furnish the date of marriage and divorce (if applicable).

2. When the beneficiary is a natural person with an insurable interest, the address and relationship must be shown. For the natural person with an insurable interest, the member must provide a signed statement to show proof of financial benefit if the person designated is more distantly related than cousin.

3. If the beneficiary designation is for a former spouse, the member must complete a statement signed by the member and the former spouse setting forth whether the election is being made pursuant to a written agreement previously entered into voluntarily by the member as a part of or incident to a proceeding of divorce, dissolution, or annulment and (of so) whether that voluntary written agreement has been incorporated in, or ratified or approved by, a court order.

D. Signature. The member must sign and date the election. Two disinterested persons must witness a document signed by an "X".

NOTE: An election made on behalf of the member through a power of attorney is not valid. Such an election is not binding and is without force or effect of law.

E. Spousal Concurrence. Effective March 1, 1986, a married member is enrolled with spouse coverage on full retired pay at the time of retirement unless that spouse has concurred in writing to another election requested by the member. When the spouse's concurrence is required, the signature indicating concurrence must be corroborated by one or more witnesses. The spouse's concurrence with, or request for, an election other than that requested by the member shall be disregarded. If all requirements for an election needing the spouse's concurrence have not been satisfied prior to retirement, for whatever reason, full spouse costs and coverage will be implemented, regardless of any request by the member to do otherwise. In such cases, when the member has requested any form of child coverage, full spouse and child coverage will be implemented. Any change in SBP election subsequent to retirement will be done through an administrative correction of records. The requirements for spousal concurrence do not affect any obligation or right of the member to provide coverage for a former spouse. If former spouse coverage is elected or deemed, the spouse's concurrence is not required; however, the spouse will be notified of that election, as previously required when spouse coverage was declined. Spousal concurrence is not required in any case if the member establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary concerned that either the spouse's whereabouts cannot be determined or, due to exceptional circumstances, the requirement of the member to seek the spouse's concurrence would be otherwise inappropriate. Exceptional circumstances will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis.

F. SSBP Percentage of Annuity Coverage. A member who elects spouse or former spouse coverage at the maximum level may provide an additional percentage of the base amount in increments of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent. A member may not make an SSBP election if the spouse or former spouse is entitled to annuity computed under the social security offset method, 10 U.S.C. 1451(e) (reference (c)). However, the member may elect SSBP if he or she waives the right to have the annuity computed under the social security offset method

4304 IRREVOCABLE ELECTIONS, CORRECTIONS AND DISCONTINUED PARTICIPATION

430401. An election by a pre-September 21, 1972 retiree on the basis of adequate information concerning the Plan or an election by a post-September 21, 1972 retiree (unless revoked or changed before the first day of retirement) is irrevocable, except under the following circumstances:

A. The member discontinues participation as a totally disabled member under section 4308, below.

B. A mentally incapacitated member later is determined to be mentally competent and revokes or changes the SBP election within 180 days after such determination of judgment.

C. A member, who became an SBP participant between October 19, 1984, and November 8, 1985, elects to withdraw from SBP before November 8, 1986, under the provision of Public Law 99-145, section 711 (reference (fc)).

D. A member retired on March 1, 1986 or later, who elected less than maximum SBP coverage without the spouse's concurrence, and it later is determined by the Secretary concerned that the spouse's concurrence in such election was appropriate.

E. The Secretary concerned revokes an election when necessary to correct an administrative error. Revocation or correction based on administrative error is a prerogative of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned and, except when procured by fraud, is final and conclusive on all officers of the United States.

★F. A member voluntarily terminates SBP coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest (not a former spouse).

430402. The SBP election may be changed as set out in sections 4307 and 4309, below.

4305 ELECTION COVERAGE430501. Spouse and/or Children

A. A member may elect coverage at the maximum level, or at a reduced amount with spouse's concurrence, if required, for:

1. An eligible spouse only
2. An eligible spouse and dependent children
3. Dependent children only

A member with spouse coverage at the maximum level also may elect SSBP coverage.

B. A member who retires on or after September 21, 1972, automatically is covered at the maximum level for spouse and/or dependent children unless the member elects not to participate or to participate at a reduced level before the first day of eligibility to retired pay with the concurrence of the member's spouse, if required. See subparagraph 430501.D., below.

C. A member with an eligible spouse and dependent children on September 21, 1973, (pre-September 21, 1972, retiree) or on date of retirement (post-September 21, 1972, retiree) who:

1. Declines coverage is prohibited from electing into the Plan, except under section 4309, below;
2. Refuses coverage for an eligible spouse, and elects coverage for children only, is prohibited from electing spouse coverage at a later date, except under section 4309, below.
3. Refuses coverage for his or her dependent children, and elects coverage for spouse only, is barred from electing child coverage at a later date.

D. A married member who is eligible to provide SBP may not elect, without the concurrence of his or her spouse, to decline participation in SBP, to provide an annuity for the member's spouse at less than maximum level, or to provide an annuity for a dependent child but not for spouse unless the member establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary concerned that:

1. The spouse's whereabouts cannot be determined; or
2. Due to exceptional circumstances, a requirement that the member seek the spouse's consent would otherwise be inappropriate.

E. A member with dependent children, who was unmarried on September 21, 1973, (pre-September 21, 1972, retiree) or on date of retirement (post-September 21, 1972, retiree), may elect spouse coverage upon marriage regardless of whether coverage was elected for his or her dependent children. A member who is going to elect SBP for his or her spouse at the maximum level simultaneously may elect SSBP coverage.

F. A member with an eligible spouse who did not have dependent children on September 21, 1973, (pre-September 21, 1972, retiree) or on date of retirement (post-September 21, 1972, retiree) later may elect coverage for dependent children.

G. If a member elects to provide an SBP annuity for a former spouse or a former spouse and child and the member has remarried, the member's spouse shall be notified of that election and any SSBP election. The member may make such election without spousal concurrence.

430502. Natural Person With Insurable Interest. An election for a natural person with an insurable interest may be made only when there is no eligible spouse or dependent children. As an exception, a person who is unmarried but who has a dependent child may provide coverage for that child under the insurable interest provision rather than an election for child. For a pre-September 21, 1972, retiree, the Secretary concerned must have received the election by March 20, 1974 and, for the post-September 21, 1972, retiree, before the first day of eligibility for retired pay. A member must elect full coverage when electing for a natural person with an insurable interest.

430503. Former Spouse or Former Spouse and Children. When a member elects former spouse coverage, the member and the former spouse must complete an election statement indicating whether the election is being made pursuant to the requirements of a court order or by a voluntary written agreement. If the member entered into a voluntary written agreement as a part of, or incident to, a proceeding of divorce, dissolution or annulment, the member must indicate on the written statement whether the agreement has been incorporated in, or ratified or approved by, a court order. If the member has a spouse or child, a former spouse election prevents an annuity to that spouse or child (other than the child beneficiary under an election for a former spouse and child). If there is more than one former spouse, the member shall designate which former spouse is to receive the annuity.

A. Upon Retirement. A member who has a former spouse and dependent child when becoming eligible to participate on March 1, 1986, or later may elect former spouse or former spouse and child coverage, provided the child resulted from the member's marriage to that former spouse. A member with former spouse coverage at the maximum level also may elect SSBP coverage. The annuity for the former spouse is provided under the spouse category. If the former spouse election was effective before March 1, 1986, the former spouse annuity was provided under the insurable interest category and child coverage, in conjunction with former spouse coverage, was unavailable. A member participating before March 1, 1986, with former spouse coverage could provide an annuity for a former spouse and child, if such election was made before March 1, 1987, for a member who elected former spouse coverage before November 8, 1985, and not later than November 13, 1987, for the member who elected former spouse coverage November 8, 1985 through February 28, 1986.

NOTE: An annuity for the former spouse first must be provided under the spouse category in order to add child coverage.

B. Following Retirement. A member with spouse or spouse and child coverage may, before September 24, 1984, or within 1 year of date of the decree of divorce, dissolution, or annulment, whichever is later, change that election to provide an annuity to a former spouse or to a former spouse and child. If the member elects to provide former spouse coverage at the maximum level, he or she simultaneously may elect SSBP coverage. A member who has SSBP for spouse and who changes coverage from spouse to former spouse may drop SSBP. If a member had SBP and SSBP coverage for spouse and the member is changing to former spouse coverage, the level of SSBP may be increased. The former spouse beneficiary may not be the former spouse that the member had when he or she became eligible to participate in the Plan. If the SBP election was changed to former spouse coverage and was in effect before March 1, 1986, the annuity was provided under the insurable interest category and child coverage in conjunction with former spouse coverage was unavailable. A member participating in the Plan before March 1, 1986, with former spouse coverage could provide an annuity to a former spouse and child if such election was made before March 1, 1987, for a member who elected former spouse coverage before November 8, 1985, and not later than November 13, 1987, for the member who elected former spouse coverage November 8, 1985 through February 28, 1986.

NOTE: An annuity for the former spouse must first be provided under the spouse category before child coverage may be added. If a member elects coverage for a former spouse who the member acquired after becoming eligible for retired pay, the member and former spouse must have been married at least one year or the former spouse must be the parent of a child or children born of that marriage in order for the former spouse to be an eligible beneficiary. Public Law 99-145 (reference (fc)) allowed SBP participants who had not elected former spouse coverage to elect former spouse coverage during the period November 8, 1985 through November 7, 1986.

C. Deemed Elections. If a member enters, incident to a proceeding of divorce, dissolution, or annulment, into a written agreement to elect an SBP annuity for a former spouse, and such agreement has been incorporated in, or ratified or approved by, a court order, and then the member fails or refuses to make the election, the Secretary concerned may deem an election for the former spouse. The former spouse or the former spouse's attorney makes a written request. The request is acceptable if it refers to, or cites provisions in a court order concerning SBP former spouse coverage, or makes clear by other references to SBP that there is an intent that the coverage be provided to a former spouse. The written request is accompanied by a copy of the court order and/or a statement from the clerk of the court. The court order, regular on its face, must require an SBP election or, incorporate, ratify, or approve the written agreement of the member. If an election is deemed on a case involving a statement from the clerk of the court, the statement from the clerk of the court or other appropriate official must indicate that the agreement has been filed with the court under applicable state law.

★1. The former spouse will provide a certified copy of the court order, regular on its face, which requires such election, or incorporates, ratifies, or approves the written agreement of the member; a statement from the clerk of the court (or other appropriate official) that such agreement has been filed with the court in accordance with applicable state law; or, for a deemed SBP election only, a copy of the court order which requires the SBP election. A court order which requires the member to elect (or to enter into an agreement to elect) SBP for a former spouse or former spouse and child must be issued on or after November 14, 1986. If the member was ordered by a court to elect former spouse coverage before November 14, 1986, a second court order, issued on or after November 14, 1986, enforcing the original order which requires a former spouse election, constitutes a modification of the previous order and establishes a new one-year period during which a request for a deemed election may be filed.

2. The request from the former spouse must have been received by the Secretary concerned before October 1, 1985, or within 1 year of the date of the court order or filing involved, whichever is later. If an election of former spouse coverage was agreed to or ordered by an earlier court order, a subsequent order or modification that merely restates the previous provision and imposes no new obligation on the member does not begin a new 1-year period. A subsequent court order holding a member in contempt of court for failing to fulfill the prior agreement is not the type of court order that can be used to begin a new 1-year period to deem an election.

3. No election may be deemed to have been made which could never have been made by the member concerned.

4. If the request is received from a former spouse and the member still has time remaining during the 1-year period in which to make an election, the member should not yet be considered to have failed to make the election. The member should be notified within 30 days of receipt of the former spouse's request for a deemed election. The member shall be given 60 days from the date of the notice in which to make a voluntary election.

5. A qualifying election shall be deemed no later than the last known day during which the member voluntarily could make the election, or 60 days after the member had been notified, whichever is earlier.

6. If a member dies before making an election, a former spouse's request, which is otherwise qualified, shall be honored even if the date of the request is after the date of the member's death.

7. If a member has more than one former spouse, the first request for a deemed election received with complete documentation shall be the one honored.

430504. SSBP. A member may not be ordered or required to elect (or to enter into an agreement to elect) to provide a spouse or former spouse with a supplemental spouse annuity. Except as provided in subparagraph 430503.C, above, in no case shall a person be deemed to have made an election to provide a supplemental annuity for a spouse or former spouse of such person.

430505. Federal Civil Service Retiree

A. A member with SBP coverage (or SBP and SSBP coverage) who (1) retires under the civil service retirement program, (2) waives military retired pay to combine civilian and military service credits and (3) elects survivor coverage, at any level, under the civil service retirement, has SBP coverage suspended while the waiver is in effect. If the waiver is terminated for any reason, SBP (or SBP and SSBP) coverage resumes concurrent with the resumption of retired pay. The type of coverage and level of participation, as adjusted by any changes in retired pay during the period of waiver, is as first elected. If the retired service member dies while the waiver of military retired pay is in effect, no SBP (or SBP and SSBP) annuity becomes due and payable to either the surviving spouse and/or children.

B. An election in the SBP with concurrent cancellation of previous RSFPP coverage is without force or effect if retired pay previously was waived for civilian retirement and survivor coverage from the civilian annuity was elected.

C. A member who elects SBP coverage, including SSBP coverage, and who does not waive military retired pay for civil service retirement, may have survivor coverage under both retirement plans.

D. A member may waive retired pay in total to receive VA compensation and retire from civil service. The waiver of full retired pay in favor of VA benefits also may be considered as a waiver of retired pay for the purpose of a civil service retirement. A specific waiver of military retired pay for the civilian retirement is not required. The SBP coverage, including SSBP coverage, is suspended if survivor coverage is elected from the civil service annuity.

E. Provisions in subparagraphs 430505.A. and D., above, do not apply to a member who retired under 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)) or retired due to a combat-incurred disability.

F. Death of a federal civil service employee before waiver of military retired pay. The survivor of a federal civil service employee who was awarded retired pay based on any period of military service and who dies before separation from civil service shall receive a survivor annuity computed using military service. The survivor annuity from civil service shall be reduced by any military survivor benefits payable. The survivor may elect not to be covered by this provision, which automatically uses military service credit in computing the federal survivor annuity.

G. Foreign Service and Judiciary Retirements. Except for participation in federal service survivor annuity programs, SBP coverage does not terminate when a member participates in other survivor benefit plans administered by the U.S. Government such as under the Foreign Service or federal judges retirement systems.

4306 COMBINED RSFPP AND SBP COVERAGE

430601. Members participating in RSFPP on or before September 21, 1972, could, before March 20, 1974:

- A. Decline SBP coverage and continue RSFPP, or
- B. Cancel RSFPP in favor of SBP, or
- C. Elect coverage under both Plans.

430602. The commitment concerning the RSFPP participation must have been made at the time of the SBP election. In the absence of such commitment, coverage under both Plans was established and the member was contacted regarding his or her intent on the RSFPP. A member could not cancel RSFPP participation and, at the same time, decline SBP coverage. Cancellation of the RSFPP in favor of SBP was both final and complete. A member having RSFPP coverage under two options could not cancel one option and retain the other.

430603. When electing coverage under both Plans, the member could, within certain limitations, designate the amount of coverage under each Plan. The total of the annuities could not exceed the gross retired pay entitlement on the effective date of the SBP election. The reduced base amount limits had to be maintained and the original RSFPP base amount could not be increased. A member retiring before November 1, 1968, could reduce RSFPP coverage to one-fourth or one-eighth of the gross pay entitlement or reduce RSFPP coverage on date of retirement. A member retiring on or after November 1, 1968, and electing SBP, could reduce the RSFPP annuity by any amount provided the amount was not less than 12-1/2 percent of the retired pay entitlement on the date SBP was elected and the monthly annuity elected was not less than $25.

430604. Cancellation of the RSFPP at the time of election into the SBP did not entitle the member to a refund of the previous RSFPP premiums. Any delinquent premiums under the RSFPP on the date of conversion to SBP continued as debts, subject to interest, until paid.

4307 CHANGES IN ELECTION AND COVERAGE

430701. Later-Acquired Spouse and/or Child. This election must be received within 1 year of the event.

A. A member who is participating with spouse or spouse and child coverage and who does not have an eligible spouse beneficiary may, upon remarriage: resume coverage, increase the level of coverage up to and including full retired pay, or elect not to have spouse coverage resumed. A member who is participating with maximum spouse coverage, but who is not a participant in the SSBP, may elect SSBP upon remarriage. The SSBP election is irrevocable and shall be made within one year after the remarriage.

1. The member may not add child coverage by virtue of this remarriage alone if child coverage was previously bypassed.

2. The level of SBP coverage may not be reduced nor may child coverage be eliminated. The SSBP level of coverage may be increased upon remarriage.

3. SBP elections become effective when the new spouse becomes an eligible beneficiary, and any increase in premium, plus interest, has been paid. When the level of SBP coverage is increased, the member must pay the difference between the present premium and the premium that would have been incurred had the higher level of coverage been elected originally, plus interest. Interest is compounded monthly using a factor equal to the 12th root of 1 plus the annual interest rate used by the DoD Board of Actuaries to calculate the retirement accrual costs. The current compounding factor is 1.00526. Interest is to be compounded monthly on the accumulated difference existing prior to any computation month. If payment of cost plus interest is not completed before spouse becomes an eligible beneficiary, the election becomes null and void and a refund of cost and interest and reinstatement of original election coverage occurs. Cost plus interest will be paid to member's estate should the member die before refund is completed.

4. If a member has spouse or spouse and child coverage and elects not to resume SBP participation for the spouse, the spouse is notified and any SSBP coverage is terminated. An election to terminate spouse coverage is irrevocable. If the member elects to increase the level of spouse coverage to an amount less than full retired pay, the spouse is notified.

B. If, on September 21, 1973, for the pre-September 21, 1972, retiree, or on date of retirement, for the post-September 21, 1972, retiree, the member:

1. Has no eligible beneficiaries and declines to participate, the declination does not prohibit the later election for spouse and/or children; or

2. Has no eligible spouse and elected for children only, he or she may, within 1 year after marriage or remarriage, include the spouse with coverage previously elected for the children.

3. Has no eligible children and elected for spouse only, he or she may, within 1 year of acquisition of children, include the children with coverage previously elected for the spouse.

4. Elects coverage for a former spouse or former spouse and children, or elects coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest, the member may later change the election to spouse and/or children. The member is not required to change the election to spouse and/or children; however, if such a change is made, it permanently terminates the eligibility of the former spouse or the natural person with insurable interest. It is not necessary that maximum level coverage be elected for the spouse and/or children. See paragraph 430703, below, for additional information concerning changes in former spouse coverage.

430702. Change From Spouse or Spouse and Children. A member who elected spouse or spouse and child coverage may terminate that election and provide an SBP annuity for a former spouse or former spouse and child, provided the child resulted from the member's marriage to that former spouse. A member who elects to provide former spouse coverage at the maximum level may elect SSBP coverage. If the member is married when the former spouse election is made, that spouse is notified (See subparagraph 430501.G, above). A former spouse may request that an election be deemed by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee).

A. The Secretary concerned shall notify the former spouse of any changes in election.

B. Changes to a Former Spouse Election

1. If a member was required to elect former spouse coverage by a court order, incident to a proceeding of divorce, dissolution, or annulment, the member may change to spouse or child coverage if the member furnishes, to the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) a certified copy of a court order. The court order, regular on its face, modifies the provisions of all previous court orders relating to the former spouse election so that the member is permitted to change the election. The member certifies to the Secretary concerned that the court order is valid and in effect. These same restrictions apply to the member who elected former spouse coverage pursuant to a written agreement that was incorporated in, or ratified or approved by, a court order.

2. In the case of a written agreement that has not been incorporated or ratified or approved by a court order, the member shall furnish, to the Secretary concerned, a statement (in a format prescribed by that Secretary), signed by the member and the former spouse that evidences the former spouse's agreement to an election change. The member must certify that the statement is current and in effect.

430703. Change to Former Spouse Coverage Under Insurable Interest. Members were allowed to change an election for former spouse coverage under the insurable interest category to former spouse coverage under the spouse category during the period November 8, 1985, through November 7, 1986. A member also could add child coverage to former spouse coverage provided the child was the result of the member's marriage to that former spouse and if member is providing coverage for the former spouse under the spouse category. These election changes apply to elections effective before March 1, 1986.

430704. Changed Retirement Eligibility. If a member elects RCSBP coverage and subsequently becomes eligible for retirement under another law, thereby losing eligibility under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223, (reference (c)), the RCSBP election remains effective until the member actually retires. A member then may make a new election as any other retiring member.

430705. Open Enrollment Periods

A. Public Law 97-35 (reference (bq)) allowed certain members to enroll in the SBP, to increase a reduced level of coverage, or to add spouse coverage to child coverage. The open enrollment period was October 1, 1981, through September 30, 1982. See section 4309, below. Public Law 97-252 (reference (ei)) allowed certain Reservists to participate in an open enrollment period October 1, 1982, through September 30, 1983.

B. See subparagraphs 430503.A., B. and C., above, for open periods under Public Laws 98-94 (reference (aj)), 98-525 (reference (ej)), 99-145 (reference (fc)), and 99-661 (reference (ek)) involving elections for a former spouse. Members who elected SBP (or RCSBP) during the period October 19, 1984, through November 8, 1985 could elect to withdraw November 8, 1985 through November 7, 1986, with a refund of cost plus interest.

C. Public Law 100-180 (reference (fd)) provided an open season withdrawal. A member with spouse or spouse and child coverage who remarried before March 1, 1986, and at a time when that person was a participant in SBP could, with the spouse's consent, withdraw from the Plan. The withdrawal period was March 3, 1988, through March 2, 1989. Premiums and coverage stop on the first day of the month following receipt of the withdrawal request. There is no refund of SBP premiums.

D. Public Laws 101-189 (reference (fb)) and 101-510 (reference (el)) provided an open season April 1, 1992, through March 31, 1993. A member who was not participating in SBP could have elected into the SBP program. A member who elected SBP coverage for spouse or former spouse at the maximum level during open season also could elect SSBP. A member could add spouse coverage or increase the base amount of coverage during open season. A member who already was participating in SBP with maximum coverage for a spouse or former spouse could have elected SSBP during open season.

430706. Mental Incompetency. If a mentally incompetent member later is determined to be mentally competent, he or she may, within 180 days after such determination, change or revoke the SBP, or SBP and SSBP election made on his or her behalf. The change or revocation shall be effective on the date of the member's request.

430707. Correction of Administrative Error. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) may correct any election or any change or revocation of an election when the Secretary considers it necessary to correct an administrative error. See paragraph 420307 of this volume.

4308 DISCONTINUANCE OF PARTICIPATION★430801. Withdrawal by a Totally Disabled Member

★A. Any person who elects to participate in SBP with a service-connected disability rated by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) as totally disabling and is so rated for 10 or more continuous years (or, if so rated for a lesser period, at least 5 years from the date of last discharge or release from active duty) may request to discontinue participation in the Plan by submitting a request to the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee). The initial date for determining the 5- or 10-year period is the effective date of the VA rating of total disability. Validation must be obtained from the VA if not available from the individual.

1. The request for discontinuance must be with the written consent of the beneficiary or beneficiaries under the Plan. Should that beneficiary be a dependent child or children, written consent may be accepted from a parent, stepparent, foster parent, guardian, or an individual appointed by a court of competent jurisdiction.

2. The Secretary concerned shall furnish a written statement of the advantages of participating and the possible disadvantages of discontinuing participation or the provisions of 10 U.S.C. 1452(g) (reference (c)) to each person requesting discontinuance.

3. A person may withdraw the discontinuance request within 30 days of submission to the Secretary concerned.

4. Participation in the Plan and cost of SBP and SSBP coverage is discontinued on the first day of the month after receipt of the request by the Secretary concerned. This provision is effective December 1, 1980.

5. If a member dies after the date that the request for withdrawal has been received by the Secretary concerned, but before the effective date of that request, the beneficiary is entitled to the annuity.

★B. Upon the death of a person who has discontinued participation in the Plan under this section, a refund of SBP and SSBP amounts deducted from retired or retainer pay without interest shall be made to the widow or widower.

★C. Any person who has discontinued participation in the Plan may again elect to participate if the VA reduces the disability rating to less than total and the person applies within 1 year to participate in the Plan and includes the required information determined by the Secretary concerned.

1. Participation in the Plan and reduction in pay is effective the first day of the month after receipt of the application to the Secretary concerned on DD Form 1883 (SBP Election Certificate). Documentation attesting to the less than total disability rating must accompany the application.

2. If the member applies for resumption of participation, but dies before the effective date, the beneficiary is entitled to an annuity on the date the election would have been effective.

3. Resumption of participation shall be limited to the type and level of coverage initially elected allowing for beneficiary changes as otherwise provided for in Chapters 42 through 57.

★430802. Voluntary Termination of Coverage for a Natural Person With an Insurable Interest

A. A member who is participating in SBP with coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest (not a former spouse) voluntarily may terminate his or her participation in SBP. No request for termination is effective before November 1, 1994.

B. If a member is considering termination of an insurable interest coverage, he or she should contact the responsible agent: DFAS-Cleveland Center, or the Military Service Reserve Component Personnel Center for members not yet age 60 (or an appropriately determined office for non-DoD Uniformed Services).

C. A member who is eligible and wants to terminate coverage may send a written request to the responsible agent identified in subparagraph 430802.B., above. The request, signed by the member, must identify the member and state that the member wants to terminate SBP participation. A request for information is not a request to terminate SBP participation.

D. When the responsible agent receives a request from an SBP participant eligible to terminate coverage, the agent will determine whether the request is for information or actually is a request to terminate participation. In either case, the member will be mailed two fact sheets that explain: the procedures for terminating participation; and the advantages and disadvantages of participation and the disadvantages of terminating participation. If the request is determined to be a request for termination, the member will be advised in the cover letter that a request for termination can be withdrawn within 30 days of the date of that letter.

E. No premiums are refunded as a result of terminating coverage. No premiums will be charged after the effective date of termination unless the member had Reserve Component Survivor Benefit Plan (RCSBP) coverage. See paragraph 560305 of this volume for recomputation of the original “add-on” portion of the RCSBP premium when member terminates coverage before age 60.

F. A member who wishes to withdraw the request to terminate participation must notify the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) using a legible, signed written notice to the member’s responsible agent in subparagraph 430802.B., above. The notice must identify the member’s name and social security number and state that the member no longer wants to discontinue SBP participation. If the member withdraws the request to discontinue participation within the prescribed 30-day period, the SBP participation is not terminated. If the withdrawal notice is received after the prescribed date, it has no effect and the member is so notified within 30 days. However, if the member provides proof of the date of the mailing and such date is favorable to honoring the member’s withdrawal request, that date of mailing serves as the date submitted. If the member effectively withdraws a request to discontinue participation, the member is notified within 30 days. If participation already was discontinued, it will be reinstated as if no break in coverage occurred. Any premiums not collected or paid, or premiums that were refunded, will be collected from the member and the member notified of the final action concerning participation.

G. The member may only resume SBP participation by electing coverage for a spouse or dependent child within one year of acquiring a family member.

4309 OPEN ENROLLMENT PERIODS

430901. Eligible members from each Military Service were notified of Public Law 97-35 (reference (bq)), which provided an open enrollment period for SBP from October 1, 1981, through September 30, 1982. Public Law 97-252 (reference (ei)) authorized an open enrollment period for certain Reservists October 1, 1982, through Sep 30, 1983.

A. An eligible member was a member or former member of the Uniformed Services who was entitled to retired or retainer pay on or before August 13, 1981. If a member discontinued participation in the SBP program under provisions of Public Law 96-402 (reference (fe)) for the totally disabled before August 13, 1981, that member could re-enroll during the open enrollment period or resume participation under paragraph 430801, above. The Secretaries of the Military Departments were permitted to make elections on behalf of mentally incompetent members. A member who did not have an eligible beneficiary during the open enrollment period could not elect into SBP later except under subparagraphs 430501.D and E, above. Also, a member who previously did not have an eligible beneficiary to make an election for, could be able to elect coverage for that beneficiary under subparagraphs 430501.D and E.

B. An eligible member could elect to:

1. Enroll in the SBP if not presently participating (an initial election for former spouse coverage could be made from September 8, 1982, through September 30, 1982);
2. Change the current level of coverage to a higher level; and/or
3. Change the current children only coverage to include coverage for spouse. Election information can be accepted in writing rather than on the approved form.

C. A member could only elect or change SBP once during the open enrollment period.

D. The election was effective when received by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned. The postmark of the envelope could be used when beneficial to the member or survivor. An annuity was not payable under the open enrollment election for a period of 2 years. The 2-year waiting or penalty period began on the effective date of the open enrollment election and ended 2 years from that date.

1. If a member died before the end of the 2-year waiting period:

a. The open enrollment election was void and premiums attributed to that election were refunded to or on behalf of the beneficiary(ies) designated in the open enrollment election. If the member had no prior coverage and elected for spouse and children, the total refund was made to the eligible spouse beneficiary. If the eligible spouse beneficiary was no longer living, premiums were refunded without interest, to the remaining eligible beneficiary(ies). If the member had an election in effect before the open enrollment election, the premium was recalculated under the earlier election and deducted from the refund of the premiums due the eligible beneficiary(ies) for the open enrollment election.

b. An annuity was established to the eligible beneficiary(ies) under the terms of the earlier election.

c. If a member made an initial election to provide spouse coverage during the open enrollment period, changed that election made under paragraph 430702, above, during the 2-year waiting period, and died before the end of the 2-year waiting period, no annuity was payable to the former spouse. Premiums attributed to the open enrollment election were refunded to or on behalf of the beneficiary(ies) of that election; premiums attributed to the changed election were refunded to the former spouse. If the member had an election in effect before the open enrollment election, the premium was recalculated under the earlier election and deducted from the refund of premiums due the former spouse.

2. If the beneficiary died during the 2-year period, the premium was suspended on the first day of the month after death. If the member later acquired the same type of beneficiary, but during the 2-year waiting period, the premium was resumed for the remainder of the 2-year period. If the member acquired the beneficiary after the 2-year waiting period, the premium was resumed when the beneficiary became eligible for the annuity. See paragraphs 440101 and 440102 of this volume.

E. A member who wished to cancel RSFPP coverage to coincide with the election of SBP during the open enrollment period had to initiate separate action to withdraw from RSFPP under section 3402 of this volume.

F. The Military Services were not required to notify the beneficiary of a change in the member's election.

G. SBP cost for an open enrollment election was effective on the first day of the month after receipt of the election (by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned at the appropriate DFAS Center), except that costs for an initial election of former spouse coverage were effective February 1, 1983. See Table 45-2.

H. If a member increased the base amount (or level of coverage), the premiums were recalculated on the existing cost factor(s). If the member made an initial election which included children or added spouse coverage, premiums were calculated using cost factors that were based on ages on the date of election.

I. SBP costs were not refunded to a member who was discharged from the TDRL.

J. The cost for spouse coverage paid during the 2-year waiting period are included in any cost refund that results from a DIC award.

430902. Public Law 101-189 (reference (fb)), amended by Public Law 101-510 (reference (el)), provided an open enrollment period from April 1, 1992 through March 31, 1993. A member could make only one open season election. A member with suspended spouse or former spouse coverage could make any election otherwise allowable even if the premium resulting from the open season election was immediately in a suspended status.

A. Non-participants. A member or former member of the Uniformed Services who, on March 31, 1992, was not a participant in the SBP and was entitled to retired pay could elect SBP during the open enrollment period. A member could make an election for spouse, former spouse, spouse/former spouse and child, child only, or a natural person with an insurable interest. If the member elected spouse or former spouse coverage at the maximum level, the member could elect Supplemental SBP.

B. Existing participants:

1. A member with reduced SBP coverage could elect to increase the base amount of coverage.

2. A member could add spouse or former spouse coverage to child coverage. If adding spouse coverage, existing child coverage could not be dropped. An election for former spouse coverage terminated any previous coverage. If adding a former spouse, a member could drop coverage for children. A member could cover former spouse and children; however, the only children eligible were the children of the member-former spouse marriage. Thus, when a member with child coverage elected former spouse and child coverage, any children not the result of the member-former spouse marriage became ineligible and coverage for such children ceased.

3. A member could not change from spouse to former spouse coverage even if the spouse coverage and premium currently were suspended. A member could not change from former spouse to spouse coverage. A member with coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest (including a former spouse covered under the insurable interest category) could not change that election.

4. A member with spouse or former spouse coverage at the maximum level could elect Supplemental SBP.

C. No election could be deemed under the provisions of the open enrollment period.

D. An open enrollment election for a former spouse, by a member who is otherwise under a qualified court order to elect SBP coverage for a former spouse, is later subject to the provisions of that court order. This applies even though the open enrollment election was purely voluntary.

E. The open enrollment election was effective for premium purposes on the first day of the month after the election was received by the Secretary concerned, but not earlier than April 1, 1992. If the date received is prejudicial to the member, the postmark date is considered the date the election was received.

F. The premium for an open season election was established as though the member first became a participant in SBP at the time of election.

G. In addition to the SBP premium for an open enrollment election for spouse or former spouse, there is an additional premium charged on the basis of the number of years the member has been retired. The number of years was determined from the date of initial retirement through the date the election became effective. Months and days less than a full year were ignored. The additional premium percentage was applied to the full base amount or, if the member was previously providing reduced coverage for a spouse or former spouse, to the increase in the base amount over the annuity base amount that previously existed. The premium addition did not apply to any member making an open season election who was currently paying an RSFPP premium for spouse coverage or, who was electing SBP coverage for spouse and who previously participated in SBP but who later withdrew from participation under the provision for totally disabled members. The additional premium percentage charged for an open season election is not refunded when recalculating SBP premium due to DIC award.

H. An open season election became void if the member died before the end of the 2-year survival period beginning on the cost-effective date in subparagraph 430902.E., above, with the exception of the member who made an open enrollment election for a spouse and that spouse was entitled before November 1, 1990, to receive DIC based on a previous marriage to another member. If an open season election was void, the member's election reverted to any previously established coverage.

I. Any premium for the voided open enrollment election is refunded to the member's beneficiary under the open enrollment election. If the beneficiary predeceases the member, there is no refund of premium.

CHAPTER 44

SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - BENEFICIARIES4401 ELIGIBLE BENEFICIARIES

The eligible beneficiaries under the Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) are the spouse and/or dependent children, a former spouse, or a natural person with an insurable interest, providing they meet certain eligibility requirements. The election, if required, must be received within the time period allowed.

440101. Spouse (Including the Spouse of a Common-Law Marriage). The spouse is an eligible beneficiary if he or she is/was:

A. Married to a pre-September 21, 1972, retiree on or before September 21, 1973. The election must have been received before March 21, 1974.

B. Married to a post-September 21, 1972 retiree on date of retirement. Unless the member elects otherwise before retirement, the spouse and/or children are automatically designated as the beneficiaries even though the beneficiary data is not received before date of retirement.

C. Married to a pre-September 21, 1972, retiree after September 21, 1973; or a post-September 21, 1972, retiree after the date of retirement if, on September 21, 1973, or date of retirement, whichever is later, the member has or had no spouse.

D. Married to a pre-September 21, 1972, retiree, or a post-September 21, 1972, retiree and, on September 21, 1973, or date of retirement, whichever is later, the member either had no beneficiaries and elected coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest coverage for a former spouse September 8, 1982, or later, coverage for former spouse and child March 1, 1986, or later. A spouse becomes eligible upon the first anniversary of the marriage or date of birth of the child of that marriage, whichever is earlier, provided the member changed to spouse coverage. A change of election must be received within 1 year of marriage. Until the spouse and/or child becomes eligible, the previously designated class of beneficiary remains in effect.

E. Married to the member, regardless of the date of retirement, after the ineligibility of the spouse previously covered by the Plan provided spouse coverage was resumed. A spouse becomes eligible upon the first anniversary of remarriage or birth of child of that remarriage, whichever is earlier. The member has up to 1 year after remarriage to decide whether to resume spouse coverage.

F. Married to a pre-September 21, 1972, retiree at the time of retirement, divorced, and later remarried to the member, but not married to member during the period September 21, 1972 to March 21, 1974. A spouse becomes eligible upon first anniversary of the remarriage or upon birth of child of that remarriage, whichever is earlier. The election must be received within 1 year of the remarriage.

G. Married to a post-September 21, 1972, retiree at the time of retirement and member elected spouse coverage, divorced, and later remarried to the member. A spouse becomes eligible immediately upon remarriage provided spouse coverage was resumed. The member has up to 1 year after remarriage to decide whether to resume spouse coverage.

H. Married to a pre-September 21, 1972, retiree before March 21, 1974, and member elected spouse coverage, divorced, and later remarried to the member. A spouse becomes eligible immediately upon remarriage provided spouse coverage was resumed. The member has up to 1 year after remarriage to decide whether to resume spouse coverage.

I. Married to a pre-September 21, 1972, retiree after March 21, 1974, or a post-September 21, 1972, retiree after date of retirement, divorced, and later remarried to the member. A spouse becomes eligible upon first anniversary of remarriage or date of the birth of child of that remarriage. The election must be received within 1 year of the remarriage.

J. Married to a member who dies on active duty after: becoming eligible to receive retired pay, qualifying for retired pay except that member has not applied for or been granted that pay; or completing 20 years of active service but before member is eligible to retire as a commissioned officer because the member has not completed 10 years of active commissioned service. However, if the member elected former spouse coverage, or if the member is required under a court order or spousal agreement to elect former spouse coverage, the surviving spouse will not receive the annuity. A surviving spouse (or child) newly eligible upon enactment of section 712 of Public Law 99-145 (reference (fc)), which expanded the active duty death provision, had until October 1, 1988, to apply for such annuity. The annuity was payable March 1, 1986, or the first day after application is received by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, whichever is later.

K. Married to a member who died before September 21, 1972, while serving on active duty. The member must have served on active duty for not less than 20 years and have been entitled to retired or retainer pay or would have been entitled to pay except that member had not applied for or been granted that pay.

440102. Children (Including Children of a Common-Law Marriage). A child is an eligible beneficiary if he or she is:

A. A child of the member who met the eligibility requirements on the date of the initial election for pre-September 21, 1972, retiree; on date of retirement for the post-September 21, 1972, retiree; or, within 1 year of the acquisition of the child after the election or retirement the same as for spouse coverage in paragraph 440101, above. The election must be received by the same date as required for the spouse, excluding a child election in conjunction with a former spouse election.

B. A child of the member and the former spouse if the member elects former spouse and child coverage effective on March 1, 1986, or on the first day of the month after the election change is received by the Secretary concerned, whichever is later. A member who elected former spouse coverage before November 8, 1985, could change to former spouse and child coverage before March 1, 1987, or if former spouse coverage was elected during the period November 8, 1985 through February 28, 1986, no later than November 13, 1987. The change to former spouse and child could only be made if the former spouse coverage was provided under the spouse category.

C. A child of a member who died on active duty provided that the member died on active duty after the same requirements were met as in subparagraph 440101.J, above, and that the member did not elect former spouse coverage or was not required by a spousal agreement to provide former spouse coverage.

D. The child is an eligible beneficiary if:

1. Unmarried.
2. Under age 18, or at least 18 but under 22 and pursuing a full-time course of study in a recognized educational institution.
3. Incapable of self-support because of physical or mental disability which existed before the 18th birthday or incurred before age 22 while pursuing a full-time course of study.
4. An adopted child; stepchild, foster child, grandchild or recognized natural child who lived with the retiree in a regular parent-child relationship; a child under age 18 and serving on active duty in the Uniformed Services, or under age 22 and enrolled in an institution of higher learning under a military subsistence scholarship. In addition, to qualify as a dependent child, a foster child must have resided with the retiree at time of death, received over one-half of his or her support from the retiree and cannot have been cared for under a social agency contract.

NOTE: A child whose 22nd birthday occurs before July 1 or after August 31 of a calendar year is considered to have become 22 years of age on the 1st day of July after that birthday.

E. Child eligibility terminates for school nonattendance. If the child resumes school attendance, eligibility is reinstated. Child eligibility terminates by marriage of the child, regardless of whether the child is an incapacitated child entering into a valid marriage with another incapacitated individual. The termination of a child's marriage by death or divorce does not serve as a basis for reinstating child coverage. An annulment of the child's marriage, however, which renders the marriage void or invalid, or by a judicial decree by a court of competent jurisdiction declaring the marriage void, would serve as a basis for reinstating child coverage.

F. In the case of a member who has served 20 years of active service and who dies on active duty, and the member's spouse is no longer living, the child remains an eligible beneficiary through age 22 if pursuing a full-time course of study in a recognized educational institution.

440103. Spouse and Children. Eligibility requirements are as shown in paragraphs 440101 and 440102, above. The spouse is the primary beneficiary with coverage passing to the children if the spouse remarries before age 55 (age 60, if remarried before November 14, 1986), or dies. Exception: If the annuity is payable because member dies on active duty (See 10 U.S.C. 1448(d) (reference (c))), or the member is eligible to provide RCSBP but dies before notification of eligibility or during the 90-day period after notification (See 10 U.S.C. 1448(f) (reference (c))), eligibility does not pass to the child when a spouse remarries.

440104. Former Spouse or Former Spouse and Child. A former spouse is an eligible beneficiary if:

A. The former spouse is the member's former spouse (at time of retirement) when the member became eligible to participate in the Plan and is elected the beneficiary by the member or through a request to the Secretary of the Military Department concerned to deem an election.

B. The former spouse was not the member's former spouse (at time of retirement) when the member becomes eligible to participate in the Plan, and the prior election is changed pursuant to paragraph 430503 of this volume to provide coverage for the former spouse. A former spouse acquired after member became eligible to participate in the Plan is an eligible beneficiary if married to the member for at least 1 year or the parent of issue of the marriage.

C. If coverage includes child, former spouse is the primary beneficiary with coverage passing to the children if the former spouse remarries before age 55 (age 60, if remarried before November 14, 1986), or dies. The child is an eligible beneficiary provided the conditions in subparagraph 440102.D, above, are met and the child resulted from the member-former spouse marriage.

440105. Natural Person With Insurable Interest. The eligibility requirements are:

A. A person who has a reasonable and lawful expectation of pecuniary benefit from the continued life of the member. This category may include parents, stepparents, grandparents, grandchildren, aunts, uncles, sisters, brothers, half-sisters, half-brothers, dependent or non-dependent child or stepchild, any other person more nearly related than cousin, or

B. Any individual having a reasonable and lawful basis, founded upon the relationship of parties to each other, either pecuniary or of blood or affinity, to expect some benefit or advantage from the continuance of the life of the retiree.

NOTE: Proof of financial benefit from the continuance of the life of the member is required for persons other than those listed in subparagraph 440105.A., above. The legal staff of the supporting Military Service activity may coordinate on the eligibility requirements.

CHAPTER 45

SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - PREMIUMS4501 GENERAL

450101. SBP. The premium for SBP coverage is based on the type of coverage (spouse and/or children, former spouse or former spouse and children, or natural person with an insurable interest) and the base amount, maximum or reduced, as elected by or on behalf of the member. The SBP premium increases at the same time and by the same percentage as do increases for retired or retainer pay.

450102. SSBP. The SSBP premium for spouse or former spouse coverage is added to the SBP premium. The SSBP premium is expressed as a percentage of the base amount, full retired pay. The SSBP premium increases in the same manner as the SBP premium.

4502 PREMIUM/FORMULA

450201. If the SBP coverage is for spouse and child, former spouse and child, or child only, a formula must be applied against the base amount (or base amount times 55 percent before April 1983) to determine the charge for coverage of the children. The age of the youngest child is used to determine the premium; however, if there is an incapacitated child over 18 years of age and there also is a competent child over age 18 but younger than the incapacitated child, then use age 17 to determine the premium. The premium can be determined from the SBP Factor Table available at the DFAS-Denver Center. When the premium cannot be determined from the SBP Factor Table, refer to DFAS-Denver Center procedures.

450202. Before enactment of Public Law 99-145 (reference (fc)), the initial premium was computed on a standard cost formula of 2.5 percent of the first $300 of the base amount, plus 10 percent of the base amount in excess of $300. The "$300" is now referred to as a threshold amount and is subject to two possible indexing provisions.

A. First, a member who becomes a participant on or after March 1, 1986, will have the $300 threshold amount increased by any active duty percentage increase effective October 1, 1985, or later, provided his or her retired pay is based on that active duty basic pay rate. For example, a member retires on March 31, 1986, and retired pay is computed on the active duty basic pay rate in effect on October 1, 1985. The active duty increase was 3 percent. The formula is 2.5 percent of the first $309 ($300 times 3 percent), plus 10 percent of the base amount in excess of $309.

B. Secondly, a member who becomes a participant on or after March 1, 1986, and who receives the benefit of a cost-of-living adjustment in the initial computation of retired pay (and that cost-of-living adjustment is effective on or after October 1, 1985) will have the threshold amount increased by that cost-of-living adjustment percentage. For example, if a member retires on March 31, 1986, with retired pay computed under the October 1985 active duty basic pay rates and adjusted by a December 1985 cost-of-living adjustment increase of 2.4 percent under 10 U.S.C.

1401a (reference (c)), the cost formula is 2.5 percent of the first $316.42 ($300 times 3 percent October 1985 times 2.4 percent December 1985), plus 10 percent of the base amount in excess of $316.42. If a member retires on March 31, 1986, and retired pay is computed on basic pay rates effective before October 1985, but retired pay includes a cost-of-living adjustment of 3.1 percent for December 1985, the formula is 2.5 percent of the first $309.30 ($300 times 3.1 cost-of-living adjustment percentage), plus 10 percent of the base amount in excess of $309.30. On March 1, 1990, the formula for spouse or former spouse coverage is a flat 6.5 percent of the base amount.

C. A member who is entitled to retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 61, disability retirement (reference (c)), or Chapter 1223, non-Regular service retirement (reference (c)), is entitled to use whichever formula is more favorable. If the individual first became a member of a Uniformed Service before March 1, 1990, and is providing spouse coverage and SBP premium exceeds 6.5 percent of the base amount, the SBP premium will be recomputed effective March 1, 1990, on the flat-rate reduction formula of 6.5 percent.

450203. On March 1, 1990, the SBP formula for spouse or former spouse coverage is 6.5 percent of the base amount. A member who is entitled to retired pay under Chapter 61, disability retirement, or Chapter 1223, non-Regular service retirement, 10 U.S.C. (reference (c)) is entitled to whichever formula is more favorable. If the individual first became a member of a Uniformed Service before March 1, 1990, and is providing spouse coverage, and the SBP premium exceeds 6.5 percent of the base amount, that SBP premium was recomputed effective March 1, 1990, on the flat-rate reduction formula of 6.5 percent.

450204. Supplemental SBP coverage became available April 1992. The premium for SSBP is in addition to premium for SBP. The SSBP premium is expressed as a percentage of the base amount. The member elects SSBP coverage in increments of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent of the base amount and the SSBP premium is computed by multiplying the SSBP premium factor based on member's age at election by 1, 2, 3, 4, respectively. The premium rates are for each 5 percent of SSBP coverage. Standard SSBP rates are shown on Table 45-5.

450205. A member who became an SBP participant, increased the base amount of coverage, or elected spouse or former spouse coverage during the open enrollment period April 1, 1992, through March 31, 1993, was subject to an additional premium based on the number of years member had been retired. The open enrollment premium additions are shown on Table 45-6.

4503 COMPUTATION OF PREMIUM

450301. Spouse Only or Former Spouse Only. See Table 45-1, rule 1.

450302. Spouse and Child, Former Spouse and Child, or Children Only. See Table 45-1, rules 2 and 3. The steps to be used in computing the premium are:

A. Compute age of member, spouse and child for spouse and child coverage. Compute the age of member, former spouse and child for former spouse and child coverage. Compute age of member and child for child coverage. If the member has less than 19 years of service, add 5 years to member's age. Note: The SBP Factor Tables, effective April 1, 1983, no longer require this adjustment.

B. Determine the cost factor from SBP Factor Table.

C. Multiply base amount by the factor to determine the child premium. Add the child premium to the spouse (or former spouse) premium.

Example 1: A member retires on July 1, 1985, with 20 or more years of active service. The gross retired pay is $1,000. The member elects maximum coverage for spouse and children. Birthdates are: member-February 2, 1950; spouse-September 2, 1954; child-May 1, 1980.

Step 1. Compute ages. Six months or more is considered a full year.

Member 890701	Spouse 890701	Child 890701
500202	540902	800501
390429	340929	90200
(39)	(35)	(9)

Step 2. Use the SBP Factor Table to locate the combination of a member age 39, spouse 35, and child 9. The resulting factor is .0012.

Step 3. Determine total premium: Compare the spouse premium under the flat-rate formula of 6.5 percent to the spouse premium under the threshold formula, where applicable (see section 4502, above).

Spouse premium:

(Threshold formula)	$1,000.00
	- 337.00	(Table 49-1)
	663.00
	x .10
	66.30
	+ 8.43	($337.00 x .025)
	$ 74.73

(Flat-rate formula)	$1,000.00
	x .065
	$ 65.00	$65.00

Child premium:	$1,000.00
	x .0012
	$ 1.20	+$ 1.20
Total Premium:		$66.20

Example 2: The spouse in Example 1 becomes an ineligible beneficiary on March 3, 1990. Coverage changes to child only. (If the former spouse becomes an ineligible beneficiary, coverage changes to child.)

Step 1. Recompute the ages for member and child.

Member	900304	Child	900304
	500202		800501
	400102		91003
	(40)		(10)

Step 2. Use the SBP Factor Table to locate combination of a member age 40 and child age 10. The resulting factor is .0051.

Step 3. Determine total premium: $$1,000 \times .0051 = \5.13

Example 3a: The member elects spouse and child coverage (Example 1). The spouse becomes an ineligible beneficiary and coverage changes to child only (Example 2). The member remarries on May 14, 1990. The birthdate for the new spouse is October 12, 1955. Coverage reverts to spouse and child on May 14, 1991, unless the member elects not to resume spouse coverage. The new premium for spouse and child is effective on June 1, 1991 (Table 45-3, rule 9 and note 8).

Step 1. Recompute ages for member, spouse, and child.

Member	910514	Spouse	910514	Child	910514
	500202		551012		800501
	410312		350702		110013
	(41)		(36)		(11)

Step 2. Use the SBP Factor Table to locate combination of a member age 41, spouse 36, and child 11. The resulting factor is .0009.

Step 3. Determine the total premium:

Spouse premium:

(Threshold formula)	$1,005.00
	- 338.69	(Table 49-1)
	666.31
	x .10
	66.63
	+ 8.47	($338.69 x .025)
	$ 75.10

(Flat-rate formula)	$1,005.00
	x .065
	$ 65.33	$ 65.33
Child premium:	$1,005.00
	x .0009
	$.90	+ $.90
Total Premium		$ 66.23

Example 3b: The member elects spouse and child coverage (Example 1). The spouse becomes an ineligible beneficiary and coverage changes to child only (Example 2). The member remarries on May 14, 1990. The birthdate for new spouse is October 12, 1955. Coverage would have resumed on spouse and child on May 14, 1991, the first anniversary; however, the spouse becomes the parent of issue by that marriage before the first anniversary. Coverage changes to spouse and child on the date the child is born of that marriage. The new premium is effective the first day of the month following the birth (Table 45-3, rule 9 and note 8). Assume that the child is born March 27, 1991.

Step 1. Recompute ages for member, spouse, and child.

Member	910327	Spouse	910327	Child	910327
	500202		551012		910327
	410125		350515		000000
	(41)		(35)		(0)

Step 2. Use the SBP Factor Table to locate combination of a member age 41, spouse 35, and child 0. The resulting factor is .0037.

Step 3. Determine total premium:

Spouse premium:
(Threshold formula)	$1,005.00
	- 338.69 (Table 49-1)
	666.31
	x .10
	66.63
	+ 8.47	($338.69 x .025)
	$ 75.10
(Flat-rate formula)	$1,005.00
	x .065
	$ 65.33	$65.33

Child premium:	$1,005.00
	x .0037
	$ 3.72	+$ 3.72
Total Premium:		$69.05

Example 4: Same facts as Example 1. The member divorces on April 15, 1990, and coverage changes to child only. See Example 2 for recomputation. The member elects coverage for former spouse and child, and the election is received on June 2, 1990. Coverage for former spouse and child is effective on June 2, 1990, and the premium for the former spouse and child is effective July 1, 1990. Recompute ages on date election is received.

Step 1. Recompute ages.

Member	900602	Former	900602	Child	900602
	500202	Spouse	540902		800501
	400400		350900		100101
	(40)		(36)		(10)

Step 2. Use the SBP Factor Table to locate combination of a member age 40, spouse 36, and child 10. The resulting factor is .0010.

Step 3. Determine the premium as in Example 1.

Example 5: The member has spouse and child coverage (Example 1). The member divorces and coverage changes to child coverage (Example 2). The member elects former spouse and child coverage (Example 4). The member remarries on March 22, 1991, and elects coverage for newly acquired spouse. See Examples 3a and 3b for resuming spouse coverage on the first anniversary or on the birth of a child of the marriage, if married less than 1 year. The premium is recomputed on the date of the event, remarriage or birth, and the premium change is effective the first day of the month after the event. However, if the birth or remarriage occurs on the first day of the month, the premium change is effective that month.

Example 6: The member has spouse and child coverage (Example 1). The member divorces and coverage changes to child coverage as in Example 2. The member elects former spouse or former spouse and child coverage as in Example 5. The member remarries on March 22, 1989, and chooses to elect for newly acquired spouse. The premium and coverage for newly acquired spouse effective as in Examples 3a or 3b.

450303. Former Spouse (Insurable Interest Category) or Natural Person With an Insurable Interest. See Table 45-1, rule 4.

4504 EFFECTIVE DATE OF PREMIUM

See Table 45-2 or 45-3 as applicable.

4505 SUSPENSION, CHANGE, AND TERMINATION OF PREMIUM

★450501. Suspend premiums for spouse or former spouse coverage when there is no longer an eligible beneficiary during any period after:

A. SBP--October 1, 1976;

B. SSBP--April 1, 1992.

Suspend premiums for child coverage when there is no eligible child beneficiary.

450502. If the SBP premium was adjusted or discontinued based on school nonattendance of the child beneficiary, the premium is adjusted retroactively to the first day of the month after the child resumed school attendance.

450503. The premium changes when coverage is:

A. For spouse and children (or former spouse and children) and the last dependent child is no longer an eligible beneficiary. The premium for coverage is changed to spouse (or former spouse) only. See Table 45-3, rule 8.

B. For spouse only and the spouse is no longer eligible. Within 1 year after member's remarriage, the member may:

1. Resume coverage (including SSBP);
2. Elect not to resume spouse coverage (any SSBP terminates);
3. Increase the base amount up to and including full retired pay for spouse or spouse and child coverage (see Table 45-3, rule 6); or
4. Elect SSBP if participation is at the maximum base amount. See Table 45-3, rule 6.

C. For spouse and children (or former spouse and children) and the spouse (or former spouse) is no longer eligible. See Table 45-3, rule 7, for computation of the premium for child coverage. Within 1 year after the member's remarriage, the member has the same options as in subparagraph 450503.B., above. See Table 45-3, rule 9.

D. For spouse before March 21, 1974 (pre-September 21, 1972 retiree), or on date of retirement (post-September 21, 1972 retiree), and the member subsequently divorces and then remarries that former spouse. The premium is effective the first day of the month following the remarriage, unless the remarriage is the first day of the month, then the premium is effective on the date of marriage.

E. Elected for spouse on or after March 21, 1974 (pre-September 21, 1972 retiree) or after date of retirement (post-September 21, 1972 retiree), subsequently divorces and remarries that former spouse. The premium of coverage is resumed the first day of the month following the first anniversary unless the remarriage is the first day of the month, then the premium resumes the first day of the first anniversary.

F. For spouse or spouse and child is changed to coverage for former spouse under paragraph 430703 of this volume. Beginning on the first day of the month after receipt by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned of the change in election, the premium will be calculated as provided in Table 45-3, rule 10. If the member elects SSBP coverage for a former spouse, begin collecting the premium for SSBP.

★G. For retired or retainer pay increases under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c));

1. SBP premiums normally increase at the same time and by the same percentage that retired pay increases by cost-of-living adjustment.

2. When the payment of increased retired pay due to a cost-of-living adjustment is delayed, the increase to SBP premiums will occur at the same time the retired pay is increased rather than the effective date of the cost-of-living increase (or the date that the retired pay would have increased if the member were currently in receipt of retired pay).

450505. See Table 45-4 for other suspension and termination of premium situations.

4506 PAYMENT OF PREMIUM

450601. A member who receives enough retired pay to cover the premiums for SBP and SSBP has those premiums withheld from his or her retired pay. Voluntary allotments may be discontinued to satisfy the premiums for SBP and SSBP coverage (see Chapter 19). Do not treat the reduction in retired pay for the premium of SBP and SSBP coverage as a collection for accounting purposes.

450602. Civil Service Annuitant

A. For any period in which the member is not receiving retired pay because of non-entitlement to or waiver of such pay or the pay received is not enough to cover the total cost of coverage, the member must remit the amount due to the DFAS-Denver Center. Deposits are due on the effective date of coverage. For example, member retires June 1, the first payment is due June 1, for the period June 1-30. A member who waives full retired pay for VA compensation may pay the premium by direct remittance or by deduction from the compensation payments.

B. If the member waives participation in the military survivor benefit program and elects participation in the civil service survivor benefit plan, and the civil service waiver later becomes ineffective for any period for any reason, previous participation in the military survivor benefit program is resumed and military SBP premium is due from the member.

450603. Emergency Officer's Retired List (EORL). A member on the EORL may pay premiums by direct remittance or by deduction from EORL payments.

450604. If a member is recalled to active duty for more than 30 days after a break in service, the member does not pay the premium while on active duty.

450605. The member remains an SBP participant while on active judicial duty and is required to pay the SBP premiums while military retired pay is suspended.

4507 DELINQUENT SBP PREMIUMS

Interest at the rate of 6 percent compounded annually is levied against delinquent SBP premiums. Any delinquent RSFPP premiums existing on date of conversion to the SBP continue, with interest, until paid. Upon the death of a retiree, any delinquency, plus interest, is collected from the annuitant's benefits before payment of any annuity.

★4508 TAXABILITY OF PREMIUMS

For federal income tax purposes, premiums for SBP coverage are excluded from taxable income when they are deducted from the member's retired pay. A member whose pay is subject to tax reporting will, while in a pay status, receive the tax benefit through a reduction in the taxable income reported to the Internal Revenue Service. No reduction against the taxable income can be given for interest paid on the delinquent premiums.

4509 INCOME EXCLUSION

The member will receive an income exclusion for the amount of direct remittance for coverage premiums upon returning to a pay status. The appropriate DFAS Center will exclude the amount of the direct remittance from the taxable income on IRS Form 1099R (Distributions From Pensions, Annuity, Retirement or Profit Sharing Plans, IRAs, Insurance Contracts, etc.) See paragraph 450602, above, for payment of premiums during nonreceipt of retired pay.

COMPUTATION OF SBP PREMIUM ON ESTABLISHMENT
R U L E	A	B
	If beneficiary is	the formula is
1	spouse or former spouse (spouse category)	6.5 percent of the base amount (note 1) or 2.5 percent of the threshold amount (note 2), as adjusted, plus 10 percent of the remaining base amount. If gross retired pay is less than $300, 2.5 percent of gross retired pay.
2	spouse (former spouse-spouse category) and children (notes 3, 4)	Spouse (former spouse) premium determined under rule 1, plus an additional premium for children computed by applying the factor from the SBP Factor Table against the base amount. See section 4503 for examples.
3	children only (notes 3, 4)	to apply the factor shown in the SBP Factor Table, based on the ages of the member and youngest dependent child, against the base amount. See section 4503 for example.
4	natural person with an insurable interest or former spouse (insurable interest category)	10 percent of the member's gross retired pay if the age of the beneficiary is equal to or greater than member's age. If the beneficiary's age is less than member's age, the formula is 10 percent of the member's gross retired pay, plus an additional 5 percent of the gross retired pay for each full 5 years that the beneficiary is younger than member. Six months or more is not counted as an additional year. Total premium may not exceed 40 percent of gross retired pay.

NOTES:

1. The following members are entitled to spouse premium computation under the flat-rate formula of 6.5 percent of the base amount:
 - a. A member who is entitled to retired pay based on disability;
 - b. A member who is entitled to retired pay based on a non-Regular service retirement, 10 U.S.C. 12731; or
 - c. A member who first became a member of a Uniformed Service before March 1, 1990, and who is providing spouse (or former spouse) coverage under the threshold formula at a cost in excess of 6.5 percent of the base amount.
2. The members described in note 1 are entitled to spouse premium computation under the threshold formula if more beneficial than the flat-rate formula of 6.5 percent of the base amount. The threshold portion of the cost formula upon which the member pays 2.5 percent as cost is subject to two possible indexing provisions for those members who become participants March 1, 1986 or later—percentage increases for active duty basic pay rates and cost-of-living adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a, on or after October 1, 1985.
3. Do not recalculate premiums when a child different from the child first established as the youngest child becomes the youngest eligible child.
4. Dependent Child—use age of youngest child. Exception: Use age 17 for an incapacitated child over 18 years of age when there is a competent child also over 18, but younger than the incapacitated child.

NOTES:

1. Member must elect within 1 year of marriage or acquiring dependent children.
2. Compute the child premium using ages of member and youngest child as of date of receipt of election.
3. The child only premium is established and continues until the first of the month following the first anniversary of the marriage. Compute child only premium using ages of member and youngest child on date of receipt of the election. When spouse becomes an eligible beneficiary, child only coverage then is changed to spouse and children coverage. Then compute child premium using ages of member, spouse, and youngest child on the date the spouse becomes an eligible spouse beneficiary.
4. If the first anniversary is on the first day of the month, cost begins that month.
5. If a child is born of that marriage before the first anniversary, the premium for spouse and child coverage is effective the first of the month following the event. If the birth or anniversary is the first day of the month, the premium is charged for that month.
6. The effective date of premium for an election for a former spouse election made from September 8, 1982 through January 31, 1983 is February 1, 1983.

NOTES:

- Member must elect within 1 year of (re)marriage or acquiring dependent child or children.
- Compute premium for additional child using ages of member, spouse, and youngest child as of date of receipt of election.
- Compute premium for child using ages of member and youngest child as of date of receipt of election.
- Child only premium is effective until the first of the month following the first anniversary of the (re)marriage. Compute child only premium using ages of member and youngest child on the date of receipt of the election or on the day after the date spouse eligibility is lost (rules 5 and 8). When spouse becomes an eligible beneficiary, child only coverage is changed to spouse and child coverage. Then compute new child premium using ages of member, spouse, and youngest child on date spouse becomes an eligible spouse beneficiary.
- Compute child only premium using ages of member and youngest child as of the first date following the date the spouse (or former spouse) became an ineligible beneficiary or October 1, 1976, whichever is later. If eligibility was lost the first day of the month, the child only premium begins the following month.
- If member gives exact date of loss of last dependent child, the change in premium is effective the first of the month following date provided. If exact date is not given, use first day of the month after receipt of notification.
- The premium for spouse coverage is effective first day of the month following the birth of child of that marriage if earlier than first anniversary of the marriage.
- If birth or anniversary is the first day of the month, the premium is effective that month.
- Before enactment of Public Law 94-496, October 14, 1976, the deduction for spouse premium continued past the date spouse became an ineligible beneficiary.
- Member must make election within 1 year of the date of a decree of divorce, dissolution, or annulment of marriage to spouse. Election for former spouse only may not be effective before September 24, 1983 (earliest day for premium is October 1, 1983). Election for former spouse and child may not be effective before March 1, 1986 (earliest date for premium is March 1, 1986).
- An election to terminate coverage for a NIP premium must be done in accordance with subparagraph 430701.B; an election to terminate coverage for a former spouse must be done in accordance with subparagraph 430701.B.; an election to terminate coverage for a spouse or spouse and child must be done in accordance with paragraphs 430701 and 430702.

Table 45-4. Suspension and Termination of Premium

NOTES:

1. If the member returns to active duty and is subsequently retired, a new election must be made. Any election in effect while on TDRL is void.
2. A child is no longer an eligible beneficiary when he or she dies, marries, is between age 18 and 22 and not attending school, or has reached age 22 (see note 3).
3. A student whose 22nd birthday occurs before July 1 or after August 31 of any calendar year is considered age 22 on July 1 after that birthday and the premium is discontinued.
4. When the birthday is the first day of the month, the premium terminates the first day of that month.
5. If the member gives exact date of loss of last dependent child, cost is terminated the first of the next month. If exact date is not given, use first day of month after receipt of notification

CHAPTER 46

SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - ANNUITY AMOUNT AND OFFSETS4601 ANNUITY AMOUNT460101. General

A. The SBP, as originally enacted, provided a monthly annuity of 55 percent of the annuity base amount, cost-of-living adjusted, to the eligible spouse or children. The monthly annuity for a natural person with an insurable interest was 55 percent of the amount of the gross retired pay after cost of participation is subtracted. The annuity payable to a spouse was subject to social security offset when the spouse reached age 62.

B. If the former spouse election was effective before March 1, 1986, an annuity is provided under the insurable interest category. The annuity for a former spouse election effective on or after March 1, 1986 (or where coverage was changed to spouse category with former spouse's concurrence), is provided under the spouse category.

C. Effective March 1, 1986, under Public Law 99-145, section 711 (reference (fc)), there is a two-tier annuity benefit system for spouse and former spouse (spouse category) beneficiaries. The social security offset system was eliminated. Effective March 1, 1986, if the spouse or former spouse (spouse category) annuitant is under age 62 when becoming entitled to the annuity, the monthly annuity is 55 percent of the base amount, as adjusted under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)). If the beneficiary is age 62 or older when becoming entitled to the annuity, the monthly annuity is 35 percent of the base amount, as adjusted under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)). Where the annuitant reaches age 62 after becoming entitled to the annuity, the amount of the annuity is reduced to 35 percent of the base amount, as adjusted by 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)), on the first day of the month after the annuitant reaches age 62. The annuity entitlement for a natural person with an insurable interest or former spouse (insurable interest category) remains unchanged.

1. A spouse or former spouse who is an eligible annuitant on October 1, 1985, will receive 55 percent of the base amount, as adjusted under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)), less social security offset or 35 percent of the base amount, as adjusted under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)), whichever is greater. The greater amount becomes payable March 1, 1986 or effective on the first day of the month after the annuitant reaches age 62, whichever is later. There is no subsequent comparison.

2. The eligible spouse or former spouse beneficiary of a member on October 1, 1985, who:

- a. Is a Plan participant,
- b. Is entitled to retired pay,

c. Is qualified for that pay except that member has not applied for or been granted that pay, or

d. Would be eligible for retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223, (reference (c)) but for the fact that member is under age 60, may receive the greater of the two annuity amounts described in subparagraph 460101.C.1., above. The greater annuity amount becomes payable the first month the annuitant would otherwise be entitled to the annuity of 35 percent of the base amount. There is no subsequent comparison.

D. Effective April 1, 1992, a member may provide the spouse or former spouse annuitant with a Supplemental SBP (SSBP) annuity. The SSBP is an additional 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent of the annuity base amount as elected by the member and becomes payable when the annuitant reaches age 62. The SSBP is increased by cost-of-living adjustments similar to SBP.

460102. Eligible Annuitants and Annuity Amounts. Monthly annuities to which a survivor becomes entitled on or after October 1, 1983, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. Annuities to which survivors were entitled on September 30, 1983, shall be rounded when there is an adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)); then, and with each subsequent adjustment, the amount as adjusted, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. All subsequent adjustments shall be based on the rounded amount. SSBP annuities, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1.

A. Spouse or Former Spouse (Spouse Category) Only. See Table 46-1. The SBP annuity for a spouse or former spouse is reduced by any Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC), if the annuity is payable on behalf of the same member. An SSBP annuity is not reduced by DIC.

B. Children Only. If there is more than one eligible child, the annuity is paid in equal shares. The annuity for children is not subject to DIC offset.

C. Spouse and Child or Former Spouse and Child. The annuity is paid to the spouse or former spouse, as long as eligibility exists. If the surviving spouse or former spouse loses eligibility due to death or remarriage before age 55 (age 60, if remarried before November 14, 1986), the annuity is paid to the child annuitants. An election for former spouse and child includes the children that resulted from the member-former spouse marriage. The annuity amount for the spouse or former spouse is shown on Table 46-1. The annuity amount for children is the same as for children only in subparagraph 460102.B, above. If member elects coverage for the spouse and children and the spouse is not eligible under 10 U.S.C. 1447(3)(A) (reference (c)), the spouse qualifies as the eligible annuitant on the birth of a posthumous child of the member's marriage.

D. Former Spouse (Insurable Interest Category) or Natural Person with an Insurable Interest. The annuity is payable only to the former spouse or natural person with an insurable interest as designated by or on behalf of the member. The benefits may not be transferred to another person. The annuity amount is 55 percent of the member's gross retired pay less cost, at the time of member's death. The annuity is not reduced by DIC.

460103. Payment of Annuity

A. The SBP annuity is paid monthly to the eligible annuitant. The SBP payment is effective the first day after the death of the member unless death occurs on the 30th day of a 31-day month. In that case, the annuity starts on the first day of the next month. If a member elected coverage for a former spouse between September 8, 1982 and January 31, 1983, and died before February 1, 1983, the annuity begins February 1, 1983. Annuity payments end effective the last day of the month before the month in which the annuitant becomes ineligible.

1. An annuity for a minor child is paid to the legal guardian or, if there is no legal guardian, to the natural parent who has care, custody, and control of the child as the custodian, or to a representative payee of the child. An annuity may be paid directly to the child when the child is considered to be of majority age under the law in the state of residence. The child then is considered an adult for annuity purposes and a custodian or legal fiduciary is not required. See Appendix H for age of majority by state.

2. When the payment of premiums is in arrears, no annuity may be paid until that debt, with interest (6 percent compounded annually) has been recovered.

3. Debts of a deceased member, other than for delinquent premiums, are not the responsibility of the annuitant and may not be offset involuntarily against the annuity.

4. The annuity is neither assignable nor subject to execution, levy, attachment, or garnishment (except for alimony or child support).

5. Debts to the United States or any of its instrumentalities incurred by the annuitant may be offset from the annuity.

6. The annuity may be paid to a trustee in bankruptcy pursuant to the order of a bankruptcy court in a proceeding under Chapter 13 of the Bankruptcy Code (reference (dg)) since such proceeding is voluntary.

7. An annuity may be paid to a third party on behalf of an incapacitated annuitant only if the third party has been appointed as guardian, custodian, or other fiduciary pursuant to a state court order or has been designated a representative payee under subparagraph 460103.C., below. Otherwise, the annuity may be paid only to the annuitant unless the annuitant has been determined to be incompetent of managing his or her own affairs by a state court, physician or psychologist. If the annuity cannot be paid directly to the annuitant or to a third party, amounts will remain unpaid and credited on account until the annuitant is determined to be competent or until a third party has been properly appointed to receive the annuity on behalf of the annuitant.

8. An eligible survivor who is physically or mentally incapacitated (but who has not been determined to be mentally incompetent by a state court, physician, or psychologist) may accept assistance from a person holding a power of attorney in completing (including the signature element) and filing the annuity application form. Benefit payments must be made payable thereunder directly to the annuitant.

9. If the Secretary of the Military Department concerned determines that a participating member is presumed dead, the annuity accrues from the first day after retired or retainer pay was suspended or would have been suspended had the member been in receipt of pay on the basis that the member is missing.

B. The SSBP annuity begins on the later of:

1. The day on which SBP annuity becomes payable to the spouse or former spouse beneficiary if age 62 or older; or

2. The first day of the month after the month in which the spouse or former spouse beneficiary becomes age 62.

The SSBP annuity is paid monthly. The SSBP terminates effective the first day of the month in which the spouse or former spouse dies or becomes ineligible to receive an SBP annuity (except if ineligible for SBP annuity due to DIC award). SSBP coverage was not available until April 1, 1992, and the earliest effective date for SSBP annuity payment is May 1, 1992.

C. The SBP annuity due a minor, mentally incompetent, or otherwise legally disabled person for whom a guardian or other fiduciary has not been appointed may be paid to a representative payee, who in the judgment of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, is responsible for the care of the annuitant. This includes any SSBP payable to the spouse or former spouse annuitant. The representative payee is required to spend or invest the amount paid on behalf of the annuitant solely for the benefit of the annuitant. The representative payee must certify that SBP (and SSBP, if applicable) payments received on the annuitant's behalf are used for the annuitant's benefit.

1. An annuitant is determined to be incompetent if the Secretary concerned receives an actual determination of incompetency made either by a state court, or by a physician or psychologist. A representative payee will not be established solely on the basis of a letter request from a third party that an annuitant is incapable of handling financial affairs. The annuitant will be notified of actions being taken to make a determination of incompetency and will be provided an opportunity to review the evidence being considered. The annuitant also will have the opportunity to submit additional evidence before a determination is made.

2. If a court order provides for payment of a fee to the representative payee, or if the Secretary concerned determines that payment of a fee is necessary in order to obtain the fiduciary services of a representative payee, a monthly fee will be allowed. In such circumstances, a fee of 4 percent of the monthly SBP annuity will be allowed, unless a court order dictates a lesser fee. In the case of a spouse or former spouse annuitant, the fee will be no more than 4 percent of the adjusted annuity-gross annuity less any DIC or social security offset reduction. Any court order that provides for a fee in excess of 4 percent shall be limited to 4 percent. The representative payee will be notified of the fee percentage allowed. The fee is not a separate payment to be mailed to the representative payee, but can be withheld by the representative payee from the monthly annuity payment. The fee is part of the periodic financial accounting by the representative payee.

3. In cases where it appears necessary to protect the annuitant, the Secretary concerned may require the payee to provide a surety bond in an amount sufficient to protect the interests of the annuitant. The representative payee may pay for such bond(s) out of the SBP annuity. This is part of the periodic financial accounting by the representative payee. The Secretary concerned will determine the amount necessary in surety bond(s) based on the amount of the SBP annuity payable. A surety bond ordinarily will not be required if the representative payee is a close family member or a government or financial institution.

4. The representative payee shall be required to maintain (and, upon request by the Secretary concerned, provide) a periodic accounting of expenditures and investments of amounts paid to the payee. If the representative payee is a close family member or a government or financial institution, a periodic accounting will not be required. In situations where a periodic accounting is required, it ordinarily will be submitted annually, unless the Secretary concerned determines that a more frequent submission is required.

a. Final financial reporting will be required upon: the loss of a beneficiary's eligibility; a change of representative payee; or the determination later that an annuitant is competent to manage financial affairs.

b. Major expenditures (i.e., those in excess of $1,000 or the value of the annuity for one year, whichever is less) from the representative payee's bank account for the annuitant require prior written approval by the Secretary concerned.

c. If the Secretary concerned has evidence to suggest that the annuity funds have been or are being misused by the representative payee, the annuity may be suspended. An investigation will be conducted to determine if a new representative payee should be appointed or if payments may be resumed to the representative payee.

5. The selection of the representative payee will be made on the basis of the individual annuitant's circumstances. Generally, the order of preference for appointing a representative payee is the:

- a. Spouse
- b. Son or daughter or legally adopted son or daughter
- c. Brother or sister
- d. Parents

- e. Head of federal or state institution
- f. Trustee of a private trust
- g. Any other individual whose appointment appears to be in the best interest of the annuitant.

If more than one person or institution requests to be named the representative payee of the annuitant, the Secretary concerned shall determine which applicant is a more appropriate payee.

6. In addition to SBP annuity payments (including payments to Minimum Income Widows covered under Chapter 51 of this volume), annuity payments under USCOA, RSFPP, and RCSBP also may be made to a representative payee.

7. The representative payee will be required to submit Reports of Existence and Certificates of Continued Eligibility as specified in Chapter 50 of this volume.

8. An annuity paid to a person on behalf of an annuitant in accordance with these provisions discharges the obligation of the United States for payment to the annuitant of the amount of the annuity paid.

460104. Provisional Annuity Payments

A. In cases involving delayed receipt of an annuity application, the head of the retired pay activity may authorize that provisional annuity payments for 2 consecutive months provided that all of the following conditions have been met:

- 1. The Military Service verifies that the member is deceased
- 2. The annuitant has been contacted
- 3. The SBP election confirms the beneficiary's identity and eligibility
- 4. The annuity to a child is paid only after the Military Service verifies school attendance for dependent child annuitants age 18 to 22.

B. Upon receipt of the annuity application, there will be an adjustment for the difference between the actual annuity entitlement due and the provisional annuity payments made.

C. Annuity payments will be suspended if a completed annuity application is not received within 60 days of the first provisional payment.

4602 OFFSETS TO THE ANNUITY

460201. When Required. The gross SBP annuity payable to a spouse or former spouse (spouse category) is offset by an award of DIC. The annuity may be further reduced by social security offset. Social security offset was eliminated March 1, 1986. When the two-tier benefit system was established, a grandfather provision allowed certain annuitants to receive annuity computed at 55 percent of the annuity base amount less social security offset if it exceeded 35 percent of the base amount. Where both offsets apply, DIC is applied first.

460202. Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) Offset. The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) determines entitlement to and the amount of the DIC award. DIC rates are listed in Appendix L. DIC rates were based on pay grade of member until January 1, 1993. Effective January 1, 1993, DIC is payable at a flat-rate, cost-of-living adjusted. The survivors of members who died before January 1, 1993 continue to receive DIC rates based on pay grade, if it exceeds the flat-rate. The award is effective the first day of the month in which the retiree dies. The DIC payment begins on the first day of the month after the effective date of the award. The SBP annuity is reduced by the amount of the DIC as of the date on which the DIC payment begins. The DIC offset equals the actual DIC payment the spouse or former spouse receives and it increases each time DIC rates increase. For offset purposes, the DIC entitlement does not include any amount attributable to child entitlement or aid and attendance. Payment of the SBP annuity is not withheld or delayed pending verification of the DIC award if the annuitant signs a statement authorizing the VA to collect any overpayment that results from the overlap of the DIC and SBP payments.

A. Premium Refund Due to DIC Award

1. SBP. When an annuity is reduced due to DIC entitlement, a refund of SBP premium is made based on the difference between the premium actually paid and the premium that would have been needed to provide the annuity payable after the DIC reduction. The refund of premium is computed using the SBP annuity of 55 or 35 percent, whichever is applicable on the effective date of the DIC award. If the annuity is later reduced to 35 percent at age 62, no additional refund is due. If DIC entitlement is lost due to remarriage of the spouse or former spouse, SBP may be reinstated provided the spouse or former spouse repaid, or is repaying in installments, the refund of SBP contributions. When a refund is repaid and annuity begins, no additional refund is authorized if spouse or former spouse again becomes entitled to DIC.

2. SSBP. SSBP premium are not refunded. At age 62 when the SBP annuity amount decreases to 35 percent, SSBP becomes payable at the 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent rate elected by the member whether or not the SBP annuity is or was exceeded by DIC.

B. DIC Equal to or Greater than Annuity. The SBP annuity to the spouse or former spouse ends permanently except under the conditions shown in subparagraph 460202.D., below. The SSBP annuity is not affected. The SBP premium for spouse or former spouse only is refunded to the spouse or former spouse after any annuity debt is liquidated. If the annuitant dies before a refund of SBP premium is made, the refund shall be made to the annuitant's estate. If the spouse or former spouse becomes ineligible through death, the full annuity is paid to the eligible children in equal shares.

C. Sample Computation of Refund. See Tables 46-2, 46-3, and 46-4 for a sample computation of refund. If DIC later exceeds the gross SBP annuity, the SBP annuity to the spouse or former spouse terminates.

D. Reinstatement of SBP Annuity Upon Loss of Entitlement to DIC Because of Remarriage After Age 55

1. If the spouse or former spouse whose SBP annuity entitlement was adjusted under subparagraph 460202.A. or B., above, subsequently loses entitlement to DIC because of remarriage, and the beneficiary is 55 years of age (60 years of age if remarried before November 14, 1986) or more at the time of remarriage, the annuity is reinstated under conditions specified in subparagraph 460202.D.2., below, on the effective date of the loss of DIC entitlement. The annuity is adjusted to reflect all authorized cost-of-living adjustments. If the spouse or former spouse again should become eligible for DIC, a second refund is not authorized if the spouse or former spouse received any annuity payments.

2. The widow(er) or former spouse who loses entitlement to DIC may repay the amount due in either a lump sum or in installments. If repayment is in installments, the installment payments is deducted from the SBP annuity payable. The installment will be 50 percent of the DIC amount or 50 percent of the gross annuity, whichever is less. When annuity is increased by cost-of-living adjustment, the same percentage increase will be applied to the installment deduction. No interest will accrue until the date of the first readjusted annuity payment. Thereafter, interest accumulates on any unrepaid balance at the rate of .534 of 1 percent monthly until the full amount has been repaid. Thus, the remaining debt on the date of each installment deduction will be increased by a factor of 1.00534. This is based on the 12th root of 1 plus the current 6.6 percent annual interest rate used by the DoD Board of Actuaries to determine the retirement accrual cost.

E. Late Award of DIC. When a claim for DIC is not filed within 1 year after the member's death and the spouse received an SBP annuity, no cost refund is made when DIC is later awarded. The effective date of the reduced annuity is the date that the VA receives.

460203. Social Security Offset

A. Social security offset was eliminated on March 1, 1986; however, certain spouse and former spouse annuitants age 62 or over are eligible under the social security offset system, if it provides a larger SBP annuity. Annuitants who are eligible under the grandfather provision include:

1. The spouse annuitant of a member who, on October 1, 1985:
 - a. Is a participant in the plan;

b. Is entitled to retired pay or is qualified for that pay except that member has not applied for or been granted that pay; or

c. Would be eligible for retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)), except member is under age 60.

2. The former spouse annuitant of a member described in subparagraphs 460203.A.1a through c, above, whose divorce from the member became final on or after November 30, 1989.

★B. Before March 1, 1986, spouse annuity was reduced by social security offset based on eligibility for or receipt of social security benefits resulting from a member's active service after December 31, 1956. The SBP annuity was reduced by social security offset based on entitlement to the social security benefits of the mother, or father, or widow(er). Benefits in the social security offset system are computed under the primary insurance amount (PIA) Table Method, a Decoupled (Indexing) Formula Method, or a Transitional Guarantee Savings provision.

1. Under the PIA Table Method, the social security benefit is based upon the PIA which is determined from a schedule that relates the member's average monthly earnings (AME) under social security covered employment to the PIA. See Appendix S for this method which applies to members who attained age 62, became disabled or died before January 1, 1979. If a member in a missing-in-action status later is presumed dead, include in social security benefits only earnings through the year in which the member entered the "missing" status.

2. Under the Decoupled Formula Method (also called the "Indexing Method"), the social security benefit is computed by indexing the member's past earnings, which take into account the change in general wage levels that has occurred during the member's years of service, in proportion to the increase in average wages of all workers. Use this method to determine the member's "average indexed monthly earnings" (AIME). Compute the PIA using portions of the AIME which are multiplied by constant percentages called "bend points" depending on the year of eligibility. This method, which appears in Appendix T, applies to members who reach age 62, become disabled or die after 1978. See subparagraph 460203.B.3 for the exception. If the member was in a missing-in-action status and is later presumed dead, include in social security benefits only the earnings through the year in which the member entered the missing status.

★3. Under the Transitional Guarantee savings provision, which applies to any member who became age 62 during the period January 1, 1979 through December 31, 1983, the social security offset is computed under the Decoupled (Indexing) Method and the Transitional Guarantee formula. The Transitional Guarantee formula is computed using the pre-1979 PIA Table Method, except that earnings in the first year of eligibility and later are not included. The DFAS uses the method that provides the higher social security benefit.

C. A member with SSBP waives the right to have an SBP annuity computed under the social security offset method. The waiver is irrevocable.

460204. Offset to SBP Annuity Because of Social Security Benefits. The offset is based on the member's active military service after December 31, 1956. The reduction factor applies against the total military PIA calculated to member's age 65, unless the annuitant demonstrates that the benefit was reduced because the member was receiving a nondisability social security retirement benefit before age 65. Establish and continue the offset unless evidence is received that makes it improper. The burden is on the survivor to furnish documentation for this purpose. In applying this offset, the annuitant is considered entitled to social security benefits even if he or she has not applied for those benefits. The annuitant also is considered to be entitled, if otherwise eligible, but instead has elected to receive benefits based on his or her personal employment or the employment of some third person.

NOTE: SBP annuity is not reduced by social security offset if the Social Security Administration (SSA) determines that the annuitant is ineligible for benefits.

A. Denial of Benefits. When establishing a social security offset, advise the annuitant to submit a copy of any letter denying social security benefits. Reasons for denial of benefits include, but are not limited to, the following: insufficient credits for a member to qualify for a benefit, administrative denial, and receipt of a governmental pension.

B. Reduction of Benefits

1. A working widow(er)'s social security offset is reduced to the same extent that the full social security benefit is reduced. For example, if a widow loses 80 percent of the full social security benefit as a result of wages or salaries earned and receives only 20 percent of the benefit, the offset is computed by taking 20 percent of the member's benefit based on military earnings times the widow(er)'s offset factor. The social security offset is adjusted on verification of the social security reduction shown on the Annual Report of Earnings letter.

2. If social security payments are reduced because of employment of the widow(er) at any age with only one dependent child under age 16 (or disabled before age 22, while unmarried), the amount of the offset is a ratio computed as follows:

$$\text{Offset} = \frac{\text{Total mother's benefit after SSA reduction}}{\text{Total mother's benefit before SSA reduction}} \times \text{Mother's benefit attributable to military service}$$

The offset is recomputed on receipt of the Annual Report of Earnings letter furnished by the SSA. Significant changes in earnings during a calendar year may be reported to adjust benefits and preclude large overpayments at the end of a calendar year.

3. Offset may be reduced because of work even though no claim has been made for social security benefits.

4. If the deceased member drew nondisability social security retirement (old-age) benefits before age 65, step 16 of Appendices S and T provides for a reduction in the social security offset calculation. The social security offset calculation is not adjusted if the annuitant drew nondisability benefits before age 62.

C. Period of Offset

1. No dependent children. Social security offset begins the first day of the month after the widow, widower, or former spouse reaches age 62 or when the member dies if the annuitant is age 62 or older. The offset percentage factor is computed under subparagraph 460205.A., below.

2. One dependent child. Social Security offset began the first day of the month in which there was only one dependent child remaining. Social Security offset due to receipt of mother's SSA benefit was terminated after February 1986 under Public Law 99-145 (reference (fc)).

460205. Offset Factors

A. Widow, Widower, or Surviving Divorced Spouse's Benefit. The offset percentage factor is permanently fixed based on the survivor's age on the date the annuity starts. If the survivor's age is:

1. Under 62, the offset factor is 82.9 percent of military PIA at age 62 when the offset becomes effective.

2. Between 62 and 65, the offset factor is 100 percent of the military PIA less 19/40 of 1 percent for each month the widow or widower is under 65. See Appendix O for table of computations.

3. Age 65 or over, the offset factor is 100 percent of military PIA.

NOTE: Fractions of a month are not considered in computing the factor for ages 62-65; 6 months or over do not constitute an additional year. Before October 1977, the offset percentage for the widow or widower age 62 or over was computed at 82.5 percent of the PIA.

B. Mother's Benefit. The offset is 75 percent of the PIA based solely on the member's active service. The offset is reduced by any amount not payable by SSA because of the widow's earnings.

460206. Computation of Social Security Offset. See Appendix S for computation of social security offset for members whose eligibility year is before 1979. See Appendix T for computation of social security offset for members whose eligibility year is after 1978. The amount of the social security offset that was effective December 1, 1980, may not exceed 40 percent of the annuity payable to the surviving spouse or former spouse.

460207. Computing Social Security Offset for 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)) Retirees. The member's military earnings are computed on periods of active duty or active duty for training after December 31, 1956. Free wage credits are awarded assuming active duty tours were performed during July, unless information is provided showing actual active duty tours.

A. The member is credited with free wage credits of $300 in any calendar quarter from January 1, 1957, through December 31, 1977, in which active duty or active duty for training wages were paid.

B. The member is credited with free wage credits in $100 increments for each $300 of active duty or active duty for training wages paid after December 31, 1977.

C. Any period of less than 30 continuous days of service performed on or after December 1, 1980, for which the member is entitled to a federal tax refund of the social security tax paid on the income from that service is excluded from the computation for the social security offset.

D. Appendices S and T are applicable for computation of social security offset for 10 U.S.C. 12731 (reference (c)) retirees.

Table 46-1. Annuity for Widow or Widower or Former Spouse (Spouse Category)

NOTES:

1. For a member married to the same spouse at time of retirement and date of death, the statute does not require that an intervening divorce be followed by 1 year of remarriage immediately before date of death.
 - a. If the beneficiary is under age 62 when becoming entitled to the annuity, the monthly annuity shall be 55 percent of the annuity base amount (as adjusted under 10 U.S.C. 1401a). The SBP annuity shall be reduced to 35 percent on the first day of the month after the beneficiary reaches age 62. However, if the beneficiary is eligible to have SBP annuity computed under the old social security offset method, 10 U.S.C. 1451 (e), the more favorable computation is payable. If a member has SSBP coverage, the member was required to waive any annuity computation under the social security offset method and the SSBP annuity of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent of the annuity base amount, as elected by the member and adjusted under 10 U.S.C. 1401a, begins on the first day of the month after the beneficiary becomes age 62.
 - b. If the beneficiary is age 62 or older when becoming entitled to the annuity, the monthly SBP annuity shall be 35 percent of the annuity base amount (as adjusted under 10 U.S.C. 1401a). However, if the beneficiary is eligible to have SBP annuity computed under the old social security offset method, 10 U.S.C. 1451(e), the more favorable computation is payable. If a member has SSBP coverage, the member was required to waive any annuity computation under the social security offset method and the SSBP annuity of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent of the annuity base amount, as elected by the member and adjusted under 10 U.S.C. 1401a.
 - c. Under the social security offset method, 10 U.S.C. 1451(e), a former spouse was entitled to 55 percent less no social security offset, if the divorce from the member became final before November 30, 1989, (date of P.L. 101–189 technical amendment to 10 U.S.C. 1451(e)).
3. Minimum requirement for a marriage is 1 year. A widow(er) previously ineligible to receive an annuity because of a 2-year requirement may now qualify for the annuity. No monetary adjustment is made for persons before October 1, 1976.
4. "Living issue" means the "issue by that marriage" or a child of such marriage who dies shortly after birth (such child's birth is the criterion, not the duration of the child's life).
5. If member is required under a court order or spousal agreement to provide an annuity to a former spouse upon becoming eligible to participate in the Plan or if a member has made an election to provide former spouse annuity, the Secretary concerned may not pay the annuity to the surviving spouse.
6. All SBP monthly annuities to which a survivor becomes entitled on or after October 1, 1983, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. Annuities to which survivors were entitled on September 30, 1983, shall not be rounded until there is an adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a; then the amount, as adjusted, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. All subsequent adjustments shall be based on the rounded amount. SSBP annuities, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1.
7. If the "forgotten widow" is entitled to an SBP or RCSBP annuity resulting from a subsequent marriage to a member, the individual may not receive the two annuities, but must elect in writing which to receive. The annuity for a "forgotten widow" is effective December 1, 1980.
8. Under 10 U.S.C. 1448(d), annuity is payable to the surviving spouse and dependent children of a person who dies on active duty after September 20, 1972, and the former spouse of a person who dies after September 7, 1982. Under 10 U.S.C. 1448(f), annuity is payable to the surviving spouse and dependent children of a person who dies after September 30, 1978, and the former spouse of a person who dies after September 7, 1982.
9. If annuity is computed as 35 percent of the annuity base amount for an annuitant age 62 or older, the social security offset reduction under 10 U.S.C. 1451(e) does not apply.
10. Former spouse annuity applicable only where member dies after September 7, 1982.

NOTES:

1. The DoD Actuary's formula, as approved by the SBP Board, was available for use beginning March 1, 1983. For example: If the cost refund period extends from April 1, 1980 through September 30, 1983, the portion of cost refund for April 1, 1980 through February 28, 1981, is computed using Table 46-2. The portion of the refund for March 1, 1981 through September 30, 1983, is computed on the DoD Actuary's formula. See Table 46-3.
2. Legend: Member is a colonel, first election effective October 1, 1972 for spouse and children. Member died on April 18, 1977. DIC awarded on April 19, 1977.
3. Refund of cost is made for cost of coverage for spouse only.
4. New base amount is computed by dividing the difference of the annuity and DIC award by 55 percent.
5. Interest charges are due to delinquent cost should not be refunded to annuitant.

REFUND OF MONTHLY PREMIUM FOR SBP EFFECTIVE MARCH 1, 1983 (See Note)

All figures should be in month that premium calculation is desired. A change would occur in any month the base amount, DIC, or cost changes. Additionally, the cost formula for spouse and former spouse changed effective March 1, 1990.

1. Month of premium calculation =
2. Actual SBP base amount =
3. Spouse annuity = (.35 or .55) times (2) =
4. DIC amount =
5. Revised spouse annuity = (3) minus (4) =
6. Revised base amount = (5) divided by .35 (or .55) =
7. Calculate N.

For members with cost computed on the 6.5 percent flat-rate reduction formula, skip to (17).

- Step 3. List all applicable cost of living increases which the member received between (or included in) the months listed in steps 1 and 2 as a factor of 1.xxx where xxx is the cost of living increase. For example, the 4.4 percent cost of living increase of March 1981 would be listed as a factor of 1.044.

TABLE 46-4
REFUND OF MONTHLY PREMIUM FOR SBP EFFECTIVE JANUARY 4, 1994 (See Note)
The refund of premiums due a spouse or former spouse is determined using the following defined values:
CBP or Current Basic Premium: The actual current premium amount for the basic SBP spouse coverage elected by the member. This does not include premiums for child coverage, Supplemental SBP premiums, open enrollment premium additions, or any interest charges.
CRP or Current Recalculated Premium: The implied current premium associated with recalculated SBP basic annuity as reduced due to receipt of DIC. This does not include premiums for child coverage, Supplemental SBP premiums, open enrollment premium additions, or any interest charges.
TP or Total Premiums: The Total Premiums paid by the member for basic SBP, including open enrollment premium additions. This does not include any premiums for child coverage, Supplemental SBP premiums, or interest charges. This amount may be obtained from historical pay files pertaining to the member and/or from a file of total spouse premiums to be produced under the Director of Compensation, ODASD (Military Personnel Policy) by the DoD Actuary and the Defense Manpower Data Center in coordination with the DFAS.
PR or Premium Refund: This is the premium refund amount. The premium refund is determined according to the following formula:
$PR = (1 - CRP/CBP) \times TP$
For example: Member is a retired O-5, deceased July 1, 1993. Data is for June 1994.
Retired Pay:	$2,297.00
Current Basic Premium (CBP):	149.31
SBP Spouse Annuity: .55 X 2,297	= 1,263.00
DIC Annuity:	750.00
Recalculated SBP Annuity	1,263.00 - 750.00 = 513.00
Implied Base Amount = $513.00/.55	= 932.73
Current Recalculated Premium (CRP)	= 60.63
Total Premiums (TP) from Data Files	= 10,153.08
Premium Refund (PR) is:
$PR = (1 - 60.63/149.31) \times 10,153.08$
$= (1 - .4060679) \times 10,153.08$
$= .5939321 \times 10,153.08 = 6,030.24$

NOTE: Table 46-4 is effective January 4, 1994 for deaths which occurred on or after January 1, 1993.

CHAPTER 47SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - ANNUITY OVERPAYMENTS*4701 CAUSES OF OVERPAYMENTS

470101. Generally, SBP annuity overpayments are caused by:

A. Failure to reduce annuity by amount of Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) or social security benefits.

B. Nontermination of annuity because of ineligibility.

C. Erroneous computation.

D. Insufficient or untimely information.

E. A determination by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned that a participating member is alive after the Secretary concerned previously determined that the member was presumed dead.

4702 LIABILITY

The annuitant is liable for debts created from the overpayment of an annuity. The member is liable for any indebtedness created where the annuity payments were made based on the presumption of such member's death. The member's indebtedness cannot be considered for waiver under 10 U.S.C. 2774 or 1453 (reference (c)). If the member dies before such payments are fully recovered, the annuitant may be liable for the indebtedness if such annuitant was the recipient of the annuity payments made under the presumption of death. (See Chapter 28, Table 28-1 for the collection of member's indebtedness.)

4703 LIQUIDATION OF DEBT

470301. Upon discovery of an overpayment, advise the annuitant of the debt and the method in which the overpayment is being, or may be, liquidated. The debt may be liquidated by:

A. The annuitant making direct remittance to the DFAS-Denver Center.

B. The annuitant authorizing the Department of Veterans Affairs to reduce DIC and remit the amount collected to the DFAS-Denver Center.

C. The DFAS-Denver Center reducing later SBP annuity payments.

4704 WAIVER OF INDEBTEDNESS

When applicable, the DFAS-Denver Center advises the annuitant of the right to request a waiver of indebtedness. The right to request a waiver does not constitute removal of the responsibility for repayment of the debt.

470401. Recovery of an overpayment of an SBP annuity is not required if, in the judgment of the Secretary of the Military Department concerned (or designee) and the Comptroller General, there was no fault by the person to whom the amount was erroneously paid and recovery would be contrary to the purpose of the plan or against equity and good judgment. DFAS reviews the facts of the case and recommends to the Comptroller General whether the debt should be waived.

470402. Suspension of collection action may be authorized upon receipt of a waiver request. Refund of an amount withheld before receipt of a request for a waiver is not authorized. When a waiver is granted, any amount collected after the receipt of the waiver request is refunded to the annuitant.

CHAPTER 48

SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - ANNUITY TERMINATIONS, REINSTATEMENTS
AND SUSPENSIONS4801 TERMINATIONS

480101. Time of Termination. Entitlement to an SBP or SSBP annuity terminates effective as of the first day of the month in which eligibility is lost. If a determination is made by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned that a participating member is alive after the Secretary concerned previously determined that the member was presumed dead, the annuity is terminated immediately since entitlement exists.

480102. Reasons for Termination. Terminate the SBP annuity when:

A. Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) equals or exceeds the SBP annuity. No annuity is paid to children if the member also provided coverage for children. SSBP annuity may be payable, however, to the spouse or former spouse annuitant age 62 or older.

B. Spouse or former spouse (spouse category) annuitant remarries before age 55 (age 60, if remarried before November 14, 1986), or dies. If the member also provided coverage for children, the full annuity is payable, in equal shares, to the remaining eligible dependent children effective on the first of the month in which the spouse or former spouse dies or remarries.

C. Child or children annuitants lose eligibility because of:

1. Child's attaining age 18 and not pursuing a full-time course of study.
2. Marriage or death of child annuitant.
3. Recovery of an incapacitated child over age 18. An annuity may be suspended if annuitant becomes independently capable of earning amounts sufficient for his or her own particular personal needs through substantial and sustainable gainful employment. The annuitant will receive advance written notice from DFAS-Denver Center prior to suspensions and will be given an opportunity to submit rebutting evidence. An annuity may be reinstated. See paragraph 480204, below.
4. Termination of student status (child over age 18 and under age 22).
5. Reinstatement of spouse or former spouse (spouse category) annuity following divorce or annulment. When only one child loses eligibility, the annuity is redivided among the remaining eligible dependent children in equal shares.

D. Former spouse (insurable interest category) or natural person with an insurable interest dies. The termination is final. There are no provisions for designating a contingent survivor annuitant.

E. A determination by the Secretary concerned that a participating member is alive after the Secretary concerned previously determined that the member was presumed dead.

480103. Due and Unpaid Annuity. If, on the death of the annuitant, an amount remains due to the annuitant, unpaid either because the annuity checks were not negotiated or because the payment had not been established, the account is settled in accordance with Chapter 31 of this volume. There is no designated beneficiary for settlement of arrears of annuity.

4802 REINSTATEMENT OF ANNUITY

480201. Remarriage Terminated by Death of Spouse. Reinstate the annuity effective the first day of the month in which the death occurs. If annuity entitlement from the terminated marriage exists, the spouse or former spouse (spouse category) may not receive both annuities but must elect the one desired. If the spouse or former spouse elects to receive the annuity which had been terminated, update the annuity by any cost-of-living increases which occurred after termination.

480202. Remarriage Terminated by Divorce or Annulment. The annuity normally is reinstated effective the first of the month in which the divorce decree is final. In the case of foreign divorce, annulment, or other questionable information, contact the DFAS-Denver Center legal staff for guidance.

480203. Loss of DIC Entitlement Because of Remarriage After Age 60. The annuity is reinstated effective as of the date of the loss of the DIC entitlement, adjusted to reflect all cost-of-living adjustments. See subparagraph 460202.D of this volume.

480204. Reinstatement of Annuity to Incapacitated Annuitant. An annuity to an incapacitated child over 18 years of age may be reinstated upon the recurrence of the original disability rendering the annuitant incapable of self-support, or if the annuitant furnishes evidence that, although engaged in substantial and sustainable gainful employment, wages are not sufficient to cover his or her particular personal needs.

480205. Child Resumes School Attendance. The child's eligibility for an annuity which is terminated for school nonattendance is reinstated effective the first day of the month that the child resumes school attendance.

480206. Child's Marriage Terminated by Annulment. An annulment of a child's marriage which renders the marriage void or invalid, or by a judicial decree by a court of competent jurisdiction declaring the marriage void, would serve as a basis for reinstating a child's eligibility for annuity prospectively from the date of the judicial decree. The termination of a child's marriage by death or divorce does not serve as a basis for reinstatement of annuity eligibility.

4803 SUSPENSION

480301. Reasons for Suspension

- A. Non-receipt of yearly certificate of eligibility or monthly report of existence (see Chapter 50 of this volume)
- B. Non-receipt of verification of school attendance
- C. Recoupment of the cost of coverage
- D. Adjustment of the annuity due to administrative error

CHAPTER 49SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - COST-OF-LIVING ADJUSTMENT*4901 BASE AMOUNTS

All SBP base amounts are increased by cost-of-living adjustments. The adjustment to the base amount is made at the same time and by the same total percentage that retired or retainer pay is increased. If a member before retirement elects a base amount that is less than full gross pay, the elected base amount is established as the initial base amount regardless of the cost-of-living adjustment that apply to the initial computation of retired pay (excluding RCSBP elections effective July 1, 1986).

4902 THRESHOLD AND PREMIUMS FOR COVERAGE

490201. Before March 1, 1986, initial SBP cost was computed on a standard formula of 2.5 percent of the first $300 of the base amount and 10 percent of the base amount in excess of $300. When retired pay increased by a cost-of-living adjustment under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)), the SBP premium was recomputed under the standard cost formula. Effective December 1, 1980, and beginning with the March 1981 cost-of-living adjustment, the percentage increase applies directly to the premium.

490202. Beginning March 1, 1986, members who elect SBP and have retired pay computed on active duty basic pay rates in effect October 1, 1985, or later, will have initial SBP premium computed using the standard formula described in paragraph 490201, above, except that the $300 threshold amount is indexed by active duty basic pay rates effective October 1, 1985, or later. For example: A member retires on May 1, 1986. Active duty basic pay rates increased by 3 percent effective Oct 1, 1985. The initial SBP premium is computed on 2.5 percent of the first $309 ($300 threshold x 1.03 increase October 1985), plus 10 percent of the base amount in excess of $309. If the member's initial computation of retired pay includes a cost-of-living adjustment effective October 1, 1985, or later, the threshold amount will be adjusted by the same cost-of-living adjustment percentage. After retirement, cost increases on cost-of-living adjustments as in paragraph 490201, above. See Table 49-1 for SBP threshold amounts.

490203. On March 1, 1990, the formula for spouse and former spouse coverage changed to a flat-rate reduction of 6.5 percent of the base amount. An individual who entered a Uniformed Service before March 1, 1990, or a member who is entitled to retired pay under Title 10, United States Code chapter 61 (disability) or chapter 1223 (non-Regular service retirement) (reference (c)) is entitled to use whichever formula is more favorable to the member.

490204. The SSBP premium is a percentage of the base amount. SSBP premiums increase in the same manner as SBP premiums. The member elects SSBP coverage in increments of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent, and the SSBP premium is computed by multiplying the SSBP premium factor (factor rates are for each 5 percent of SSBP coverage) based on member's age at election by 1, 2, 3, or 4, respectively. The SSBP premium rates are shown on Table 45-5.

490205. Members who elect spouse or former spouse coverage, or who increase the base amount of spouse or former spouse coverage during the open enrollment period April 1, 1992, through March 31, 1993, are subject to a premium addition as shown on Table 45-6. The additional premium is based on the number of years member had been retired. The premium addition does not apply to any member making an open season election who currently is paying RSFPP premiums for spouse coverage or who is electing SBP coverage for spouse and previously participated in SBP but later withdrew from participation under the provision for totally disabled members.

4903 ANNUITIES

★490301. Normally, SBP and SSBP annuities increase under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)) at the same time and by the same percentage that retired pay increases by cost-of-living adjustment. EXCEPTION: When the payment of increased retired pay due to a cost-of-living adjustment is delayed by law, the increased annuity due to a cost-of-living adjustment is not delayed.

A. The cost-of-living adjustment applies to the monthly gross annuity amount (that is, before any reductions such as DIC).

B. Annuities that initially were effective on the same day as the cost-of-living adjustment before December 1, 1980 were not entitled to the adjustment as the law required that an annuity be payable on the day before the effective date of the adjustment. Effective December 1, 1980, annuities were recomputed to include the previously denied cost-of-living adjustment; however, no retroactive payment was made for the period before December 1, 1980.

C. In April 1983, costs that normally would have increased by the full cost-of-living adjustment were increased by 3.3 percent (one-half of an assumed cost-of-living adjustment) for members under age 62 effective March 1, 1983. Costs increased by 3.9 percent for members age 62 or older on March 1, 1983, or any age if retired for disability. All base amounts for computing SBP annuity increased by 3.9 percent. See paragraph 080454 of this volume.

★490302. See paragraph 510202 of this volume regarding cost-of-living adjustments for Minimum Income Widow annuities.

CHAPTER 50

SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN – CERTIFICATE OF ELIGIBILITY AND REPORT OF EXISTENCE5001 ANNUAL CERTIFICATE OF ELIGIBILITY

500101. Purpose. The certificate validates continued eligibility of annuitants, whether eligible spouse, former spouse (spouse category), or children. The spouse, former spouse, and child must meet eligibility requirements in section 4401 of this volume.

500102. Frequency of Certification

A. Annually. Each year the eligible spouse, former spouse (spouse category), or custodian or legal fiduciary for a minor child must submit a certificate of eligibility to the DFAS-Denver Center.

B. Biennially. Every 2 years a medical certification must be submitted to the DFAS-Denver Center for an incapacitated child over 18 years of age, unless medical prognosis indicates the disability is permanent.

C. Other. A student between the ages of 18 and 22 must submit evidence of intent to continue study or training at a recognized educational institution. The certificate is required for the school semester or other period in which the school year is divided.

1. Payments to students continue during any interval between school years that does not exceed 150 days if those students demonstrate, to the satisfaction of the DFAS-Denver Center, that they have a bona fide intention of resuming or continuing a full-time course of study or training in a recognized educational institution immediately after that interval.

2. An eligible student annuitant under SBP properly enrolled in a recognized educational institution employing the usual quarter or semester system, who becomes ill or requires non-elective surgery during the school term, retains his or her student status for the rest of that term.

500103. Failure to Furnish Certificate. Annuity payments are suspended if the annuitant, custodian, or legal fiduciary fails to furnish the certificate as required. Payments are restarted only after receiving satisfactory proof of eligibility.

5002 REPORT OF EXISTENCE (ROE)

500201. Purpose. The ROE fulfills the requirement for report of existence for:

A. Annuitants who receive payment through foreign postal channels. The ROE is not required when the payment is addressed to a United States Consulate, American Embassy, military attache', or FPO or APO address. NOTE: Do not mail checks to an annuitant living in currency-blocked countries. See Appendix A for a list of blocked countries.

B. Mentally incompetent annuitants who receive payments through a third party.

C. Annuitants whose payments are sent to a third party, other than a financial institution for negotiation under a power of attorney.

500202. Frequency. An ROE is required on a "1 month behind" basis for those annuitants that meet the criteria of subparagraphs 500201.B and C, above, and semi-annually for annuitants in subparagraph 500201.A, above. The term "1 month behind," as defined in Appendix K, means a member's acknowledgement of the receipt of a check would permit the release of the check for the next month. Receipt of the certificate within the above-prescribed time frames after issuance of the annuity check verifies the annuitant's existence. Under no circumstances may the ROE be signed by other than the annuitant, custodian, or legal fiduciary.

500203. Failure to Return Report of Existence. Annuity payments are suspended if the annuitant, custodian, or legal fiduciary fails to return the ROE as required. Payments are restarted only after receiving satisfactory proof of existence.

CHAPTER 51SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - MINIMUM INCOME WIDOW*5101 ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

510101. An annuity under the minimum income widow provision of the SBP law (see paragraph 420102 of this volume) is payable to widows receiving a Spanish-American War pension without regard to income. The annuity is payable to all other widow's who meet all of the following conditions.

A. The widow is not otherwise entitled to an annuity under other provisions of the Plan or to Dependency and Indemnity Compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs.

B. The widow is eligible for a widow's non-service-connected death pension from the Department of Veterans Affairs under 38 U.S.C., Chapter 15, subchapter III (reference (ar)).

C. The widow has annual income from all sources (including amount of RSFPP annuity entitlement but excluding amount of VA pension), as determined by the Department of Veterans Affairs, that is less than the annual income rate in Appendix R. If the widow previously was denied an annuity because of income in excess of income limitations, entitlement may exist upon notice from the widow or from the Department of Veterans Affairs that her current yearly income, as determined by the Department of Veterans Affairs, is less than the income limitation. The annuitant is not entitled to a monetary adjustment for periods before October 1, 1976.

D. The widow is a person who, on September 21, 1972, was--or during the period beginning on September 22, 1972, and ending on March 20, 1974, became--a widow of a person who was entitled to retired or retainer pay when he died. Remarriage by the widow bars entitlement to an annuity under this provision of law unless the remarriage is terminated by an annulment. If there are questions as to whether an annuity should be reinstated after an annulment, refer the matter to the appropriate legal office.

NOTE: DD Form 1885 (Survivor Benefit Plan-Minimum Income Claim) and DD Form 1895 (Request for Veterans Administration Pension and Annual Income Information) have been approved for use in administering the minimum income widow annuity under Public Law 92-425 (reference (ew)) and 38 U.S.C. 1503 (reference (ar)).

5102 AMOUNT OF ANNUITY

The maximum annuity payable is shown in Appendix R. The Department of Veterans Affairs determines the yearly entitlement and advises the DFAS. This amount is prorated by the DFAS-Denver Center and is paid on a monthly basis.

510201. The annuity of a widow receiving a Spanish-American War pension is reduced by the amount of any RSFPP which may be payable.

510202. The amount of the annuity is neither rounded nor increased to reflect retired pay cost-of-living adjustments. However, the annual income rates (Appendix R) shall be increased by the same amount and shall have the same effective date whenever there is an increase in the limitation on annual income for the purposes of eligibility for pension benefits under 38 U.S.C. 1541(b) (reference (ar)).

510203. There is no social security offset against the annuity.

510204. The annuity is subject to federal income tax.

510205. The annuity is neither assignable nor subject to execution, levy, attachment, or garnishment (except for alimony or child support).

5103 EFFECTIVE DATE OF ENTITLEMENT

The effective date of entitlement is the date that the SBP law was enacted (September 21, 1972) or the date on which the requirements of law are met, whichever is later, subject to the 6-year statute of limitations.

5104 ANNUITANT - MENTALLY OR PHYSICALLY INCAPACITATED

510401. If, for any reason, a minimum income widow is mentally or physically incapable of applying for or negotiating the payment of the annuity, a court-appointed guardian may act on her behalf. If no guardian has been or will be appointed, the person having care, custody, and control of the incapacitated annuitant is authorized to act on her behalf.

510402. A report of existence is required when the annuitant receives payments through foreign postal channels or through a third party if the annuitant is incapacitated. See paragraph 500201 of this volume.

510403. The yearly certificate of continued eligibility is not required.

5105 CHANGES AND TERMINATION

Changes in the amount of the annuity payable or termination of the annuity must be in accordance with the effective date of change or termination as shown by the Department of Veterans Affairs. If termination is due to death of the annuitant, entitlement ceases as of the first day of the month in which death occurs. Any amounts which are due and payable at the time of annuitant's death may, on receipt of a properly executed and documented claim, be paid to the widow's estate.

5106 REOPENED CLAIM

The DFAS-Denver Center will reestablish an annuity that has been temporarily suspended because of the widow's excessive income or net worth as of the first day of the month in which the widow meets the income level for an annuity as determined by the Department of Veterans Affairs. Notification of any change in income is the widow's responsibility.

5107 CAUSES OF OVERPAYMENT

510701. The widow's minimum income annuity was not timely terminated when her annual income exceeded the applicable rates shown in Appendix R.

510702. Erroneous computation.

510703. Insufficient or untimely information.

5108 LIABILITY

510801. The annuitant is liable for debts caused by overpayment of the annuity. The annuity may not be used as an offset against an indebtedness incurred by the member. The debt may be liquidated by:

A. The annuitant by making direct remittance to the DFAS-Denver Center.

B. The annuitant authorizing the Department of Veterans Affairs to reduce the pension under 38 U.S.C., Chapter 15, subchapter III (reference (ar)), and remitting the amount collected to the DFAS-Denver Center.

C. The DFAS-Denver Center by reducing later annuity payments to minimum income widows.

5109 WAIVER OF INDEBTEDNESS

The request for waiver consideration is handled under the provisions of 10 U.S.C. 1453 (reference (c)). See section 4704 of this volume.

CHAPTER 52

SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - TAXABILITY OF ANNUITIES5201 FEDERAL INCOME TAX

SBP annuities are taxable for federal income tax purposes. A refund of cost resulting from an administrative error, correction of records, or the awarding of DIC is taxable to the annuitant. The member's retired pay tax status has no bearing on the taxability of the annuity or the refund of cost. See Table 52-1 for exceptions on the taxability of the annuities.

5202 FEDERAL INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING (FITW)

520201. General Provisions. SBP annuity payments are income subject to FITW. An annuitant has the right to elect that no tax be withheld. In the absence of such an election, or if the annuitant does not otherwise submit a withholding certificate, the DFAS-Denver Center will withhold on the basis of "married, three exemptions." The annuitant may use TD Form W-4P or any substitute form furnished by the payer.

520202. Notice Requirements. The DFAS-Denver Center must advise the annuitant of the withholding requirement, and the right to elect that no tax be withheld, when making the first payment to the annuitant. Thereafter, the DFAS-Denver Center must provide annual notice to the annuitant of the right to elect no withholding, revoke an election or submit a new withholding certificate. An annuitant also may submit a withholding certificate at any time to elect no withholding, revoke such election, or request any rate of withholding.

520203. One-Time Payments

A. SBP Cost Refunds. Cost refunds, a "non-periodic distribution," are subject to FITW at the rate of 10 percent unless the annuitant has elected no withholding. The annuitant has the right to make a FITW election on this refund separately from any election already in operation for all other SBP annuity payments.

B. Other. SBP annuity payments, other than the regular monthly entitlement, and other than the cost refunds above, are subject to FITW at the rate of 28 percent unless the annuitant has elected no withholding.

5203 INCOME EXCLUSION

520301. Consideration for Contract. The SBP annuitant is entitled to an income exclusion when, upon death of the participant member, the "consideration for contract" has been excluded in whole from the member's gross income.

After December 31, 1965, the member's survivor who is receiving the annuity may exclude from gross income such annuity payments received until the total exclusion equals the portion of the “consideration of contract” not previously excluded from the member’s taxable income. The DFAS-Denver Center will accomplish the applicable direct reduction in taxable income for the annuitant and report the residual amount as taxable income on the annuitant’s Form 1099-R.

Example: When a member died on January 1, 1995, $1000 of the total “consideration for contract” had not yet been excluded from the member’s non-disability retired pay. For 1995, DFAS would have reported the taxable annuity less $1000, and this reported residual amount would have been used by the surviving spouse in his or her income tax computation for the calendar year.

★520302. Disabled Member’s Death Before Normal Retirement Age. In addition to the income exclusion allowed for “consideration for the contract,” the survivor of a member who retired because of a physical disability resulting from military service and died after September 20, 1972, but before August 21, 1996, before reaching normal “retirement age,” may exclude an aggregate of $5,000 from taxable income on income tax returns. The survivor includes amounts in excess of $5,000 in gross income. The DFAS-Denver Center should, upon request, provide the effective date of premiums, the total premiums paid (showing separate totals for deductions and direct remittances), the effective date, and amount of annuity.

★520303. Direct Cost Payments. The tax-free benefit on SBP premiums is not available to members who waived military retired pay to receive disability compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs (see paragraph 450602 of this volume). Instead, upon the member’s death, annuity paid to the member’s survivor will be exempt from federal income tax until the amount excluded equals the total of the member’s direct cost payments.

5204 ADJUSTMENT TO TAXABLE ANNUITY

Reserved

★5205 FEDERAL ESTATE TAX

The value of the annuity at the time of the member’s death may be subject to federal estate tax if any portion of the cost was paid by direct remittance, or if the value of the annuity exceeds the amount that may be excluded from the gross estate. The DFAS may furnish the annuitant the current annuity amount and/or a summary of annual payments, and total cost paid (separate totals for deductions and direct remittances). For a computation of the amount of an annuity that will be subject to the tax, if any, the executor of the member’s estate may write to:

Internal Revenue Service
Chief, Estate and Gift Tax Branch
Attn: CC:DOM:PSI:4 RM 5431
1111 Constitution Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20224

Commercial Telephone (202) 622-3090

5206 STATE TAXATION

The Form 1099-R information is furnished to the appropriate state tax authority whether SBP annuities are subject to state inheritance or income tax and the method of calculating such tax depend upon the laws of the state concerned.

5207 FURTHER TAX INFORMATION

Survivors should be advised that they may obtain further information concerning taxation of SBP annuities from the cognizant District Director of Internal Revenue or the cognizant state tax authority.

CHAPTER 53

RESERVE COMPONENT SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN (RCSBP) – APPLICATION OF PLAN5301 PURPOSE

The RCSBP extends eligibility to the survivor benefit program to Reserve Component members who would be eligible to receive retired pay at age 60. The Plan allows members to leave a portion of their retired pay to survivors.

5302 SPECIALIZED TERMS

530201. Base Amount. The amount of monthly retired pay to which a member would be entitled:

A. On date of death, if the member died before age 60 and elected the immediate annuity option, or died after age 60 with an immediate or a deferred annuity option; or

B. Upon age 60, if member died before age 60 and elected the deferred annuity option; or

C. Any lesser amount of pay designated by the member before the end of the 90-day period beginning on the date the member receives the 20-year notification of eligibility for retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)), with the concurrence of the spouse of the member, if required, but not less than $300. If full retired pay is less than $300, full retired pay must be designated by the member.

530202. Date of Receipt of Election for RCSBP. The date of the receipt of the election by the member's records custodian, or the date of postmark on the envelope in which the election was received by the records custodian when the member's election intent may be prejudiced.

530203. Date of Retirement. The first day the member is entitled to draw pay or the first day the member would have received pay if alive at age 60.

530204. Eligible for Retired Pay. The date the member receives notice of eligibility for retired pay at age 60.

530205. Entitled Member. A person who is age 60 and is entitled to receive retired pay.

530206. Member. Current and former Reserve Component personnel who have completed 20 years of qualifying federal service.

530207. RCSBP or Plan. The Reserve Component Survivor Benefit Plan.

530208. Reserve Components. The following is a listing of the Reserve Components:

- A. Army National Guard of the United States
- B. U.S. Army Reserve
- C. U.S. Naval Reserve
- D. U.S. Marine Corps Reserve
- E. Air National Guard of the United States
- F. U.S. Air Force Reserve
- G. U.S. Coast Guard Reserve
- H. Army National Guard
- I. Air National Guard
- J. Navy Militia.

530209. Retirement-Eligible Member or Eligible Member. A member who becomes eligible for retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)), upon completion of 20 years of satisfactory service.

530210. SBP. The Survivor Benefit Plan for members of the Uniformed Services.

NOTE: SBP (see Chapters 42 through 52 of this volume) and RCSBP share many of the same terms. Terms that are not defined specifically in this paragraph are defined in section 4202 of this volume.

530211. Supplemental Survivor Benefit Plan (SSBP). This is a supplemental annuity paid to a spouse or former spouse by virtue of eligibility under 10 U.S.C. 1458 (reference (c)). The SSBP for Reserve Component SBP participants sometime is referred to as RC-SSBP.

5303 ELIGIBLE PARTICIPANTS

The following members are eligible to participate in the Plan in one of the following coverage categories: spouse, spouse and child, child, or natural person with an insurable interest. Members who became eligible to participate in the Plan on September 8, 1982, or later, may elect former spouse coverage. Members who became eligible to participate on March 1, 1986, or later, may elect former spouse and child coverage.

CHAPTER 54

RESERVE COMPONENT SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN – ELECTION AND ELECTION CHANGES5401 ELECTION

540101. Any member who was eligible for retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)) on September 30, 1978, but who was under age 60, or who received by June 30, 1979, a notification of completion of the years of service required for eligibility of such retired pay, had until September 30, 1979 to make an RCSBP election. Public Law 96-107 (reference (ff)) extended the period to elect participation in the RCSBP. Any member who met the service requirement, but not the age, before September 30, 1978, had through March 31, 1980 to elect RCSBP, to decline RCSBP or to revoke a previous RCSBP election. A member who declined RCSBP or revoked a previous RCSBP election retained eligibility to participate in the SBP at age 60.

540102. Any member who is notified of his or her completion of the years of service required for retired pay eligibility under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)) may elect to participate in the Plan before the end of a 90-day period that begins on the date of such notification. A member who does not participate before the end of the 90-day period remains eligible to participate in the SBP at age 60.

540103. Any Reserve member in receipt of retired pay on August 13, 1981 was eligible to participate in the SBP or to increase RCSBP coverage during the open enrollment period October 1, 1981 through September 30, 1982.

540104. Any Reserve member who was entitled to retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)), but not yet age 60 on August 13, 1981, was eligible for the open enrollment period October 1, 1982 through September 30, 1983.

540105. Any Reserve member who has a former spouse and dependent child when becoming eligible to participate in the Plan on March 1, 1986, or later, may elect former spouse or former spouse and child coverage, provided the child is the result of the member-former spouse marriage. If the member elected former spouse coverage between September 8, 1982 and February 28, 1986, that former spouse coverage is under the insurable interest category and the election does not include children.

540106. Any Reserve member participating in the Plan with spouse or spouse and child coverage could have changed that election between September 24, 1983 and September 23, 1984, or within 1 year of the date of divorce, dissolution or annulment, whichever is later, to provide an annuity to a former spouse (elections March 1, 1986, or later, may be for former spouse or former spouse and child).

540107. Any member who became a participant between October 19, 1984, and November 8, 1985, could have withdrawn from the Plan between November 8, 1985, and November 7, 1986, except those participating with former spouse coverage on the basis of a deemed election.

540108. Any member who made a former spouse election before November 8, 1985, could have changed that election between November 8, 1985, and November 7, 1986, to provide coverage for former spouse and child provided the child was the result of the member-former spouse marriage.

540109. Any member who elected former spouse coverage before November 8, 1985, could have, with the concurrence of the former spouse, changed that election from former spouse (insurable interest category) to former spouse (spouse category). Such election had to be made between November 8, 1985 and November 7, 1986.

540110. Any member who was a participant before November 8, 1985, and who did not elect former spouse coverage, could have elected former spouse coverage between November 8, 1985 and November 7, 1986.

540111. Any member who, before November 8, 1985, elected former spouse coverage could have changed the election to former spouse and child coverage not later than March 1, 1987. Any member who elected former spouse coverage between November 8, 1985 and February 28, 1986, could have changed the election to former spouse and child coverage not later than November 13, 1987.

540112. Effective April 1, 1992, members who are providing spouse or former spouse coverage at the maximum level may elect Supplemental SBP coverage. A member who anticipates becoming an RCSBP participant with maximum coverage for spouse or former spouse, and who wants Supplemental SBP coverage, must elect RC-SSBP before the day on which the member first becomes a participant in the Plan. If, upon becoming a participant in the Plan, the member is not providing an annuity for spouse or former spouse at the maximum level, any RC-SSBP election shall be void. Certain eligible members were given an opportunity from April 1, 1992 through March 31, 1993, to elect RCSBP, RC-SSBP coverage, or to change RCSBP coverage.

5402 ELECTION DATA

540201. The modified version of DD Form 1883 (Survivor Benefit Plan Election Certificate) and DD Form 1882 (Survivor Benefit Plan Election Change (when available)), are recommended for use by the member. However, any election is acceptable provided it is in writing, contains the information necessary to establish or decline coverage, and is signed by the member. Spousal concurrence of certain elections, however, is required beginning March 1, 1986. A former spouse election by the member will be accompanied by a written statement setting forth whether the election is made pursuant to a voluntary, written agreement previously entered into by the member as a part of, or incident to, a proceeding of divorce, dissolution, or annulment and, if so, whether such agreement has been incorporated in, or ratified or approved by a court order. On a deemed former spouse election, the Secretary of the Military Department concerned receives a written request, in a manner prescribed by the Secretary, and a copy of the court order, regular on its face, which incorporates, ratifies, or approves the voluntary, written agreement of such person or a statement from the clerk of the court (or other appropriate official) that such agreement has been filed with the court in accordance with applicable state law. The election should show:

A. Identification. Member's name, social security number, date of birth, and date of retirement.

B. Base Amount. A member who participates in the Plan elects a base amount of maximum or reduced coverage. Effective July 1, 1986, a member who receives a 20-year notification of eligibility, and who elects to participate in RCSBP, must elect to cover:

1. One hundred percent of retired pay; or
2. A percentage of retired pay which is less than 100 percent, but which is greater than or equal to $300 when computed against the amount of retired pay which would be payable as of the effective date of the election; or
3. A given dollar amount which is greater than or equal to $300, but less than 100 percent of retired pay.

If a member's full retired pay, computed as of the effective date of the election, is less than $300, he or she must elect to cover 100 percent of retired pay. If the member elects to cover a dollar amount which is greater than 100 percent of his or her retired pay, as computed on the effective date of the election, the election will be considered to be for 100 percent of retired pay. Any dollar election will be converted to a percentage of retired pay as of the effective date of the election. A member making this election should be advised that his or her election will be converted to a percentage of retired pay as would be payable if he or she were 60 years of age on the date the RCSBP election becomes effective and will be based on that same percentage of retired pay regardless of the changes in the retired pay that may occur as a result of pay rate increases, additional points accumulated, or promotion or longevity step increases.

C. Annuity Option. In addition to Option A, Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP), the member has two survivor annuity options, Options B and C.

1. Option A. The member defers a survivor annuity election or declines coverage until age 60. There is no coverage for the years between becoming eligible for retirement and reaching age 60. If the member dies before reaching age 60, no survivor annuity is payable. At age 60, the member may elect to participate in SBP as any other member becoming entitled to retired pay.

2. Option B. The member elects to provide a deferred survivor annuity that begins on the date that would have been the member's 60th birthday, or on the day after the member's death, whichever is later.

3. Option C. The member elects to provide an immediate survivor annuity beginning on the day after the member's death, whether before or after age 60.

D. Coverage. A member may elect coverage for:

1. Spouse and/or children;
2. Former spouse or former spouse and children; or
3. Natural person with an insurable interest (at maximum level of coverage only).

E. Beneficiary. Show the name, birthdate, and social security number for each beneficiary named. If coverage includes spouse, the member must furnish the date of marriage. When the beneficiary is a natural person with an insurable interest, the address and relationship must be shown. For the natural person with an insurable interest, the member must provide a signed statement to show proof of financial benefit if the person designated is more distantly related than cousin.

F. Signature. The member must sign and date the election. Two disinterested persons must witness a document signed by an "X."

NOTE: An election made on behalf of the member through a power of attorney is not valid. Such an election is not binding and is without force or effect of law.

G. Spousal Concurrence. Effective March 1, 1986, a married member who elects RCSBP coverage for less than maximum coverage for the spouse, when the member becomes eligible to participate, must obtain the concurrence of the spouse in writing. If former spouse coverage is elected or deemed, the spouse's concurrence is not required; however, the spouse is notified of the former spouse coverage. (See paragraph 430305 of this volume if spousal concurrence is required.) If the member chooses to defer the SBP decision to age 60; that is, elects Option A, spousal concurrence is not required.

H. SSBP Percentage of Annuity Coverage. A member who elects spouse or former spouse coverage at the maximum level may provide an additional percentage of the base amount in increments of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent. A member may not make an SSBP election if the spouse or former spouse is entitled to annuity computed under the social security offset method (see 10 U.S.C. 1451(e) (reference (c))). However, the member may elect SSBP if he or she waives the right to have annuity computed under the social security offset method.

5403 IRREVOCABLE ELECTIONS AND DISCONTINUED PARTICIPATION

540301. Elections filed during the 90-day period are irrevocable unless revoked before the expiration of the 90-day period, except under the following circumstances:

- A. The election was revoked before March 31, 1980.
- B. The member discontinues participation as a totally disabled member as described in section 4308 of this volume.
- C. The mentally incapacitated member later is determined to be mentally competent and revokes or changes the RCSBP election within 180 days after such determination of judgment.
- D. The member, who elected to participate between October 19, 1984, and November 8, 1985, elected to withdraw from RCSBP before November 8, 1986, under section 711 of Public Law 99-145 (reference (fc)).
- E. The member elected less than maximum coverage without spousal concurrence and it later is determined by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned that spousal concurrence was appropriate.
- F. The Secretary concerned revokes an election when necessary to correct an administrative error. Revocation or correction based on administrative error is a Secretarial prerogative and, except when procured by fraud, is final and conclusive on all officers of the United States.
- G. The SBP election may be changed to and from former spouse coverage shown in sections 4307 and 5405 of this volume.
- H. Changed retirement eligibility. See section 5405 of this volume.
- ★I. The member voluntarily terminates RCSBP coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest (not a former spouse).

5404 ELECTION COVERAGE540401. Spouse and/or Children

A. A member may elect coverage at the maximum level or at a reduced amount for an eligible spouse, spouse and children, or dependent children only. Spousal concurrence is required on elections for less than maximum spouse coverage. A member with maximum spouse coverage may also elect SSBP coverage.

B. When a member declines coverage for eligible spouse and children beneficiaries, the member is prohibited from later electing in to the Plan except under section 4309 (open enrollment) or section 5405 (changed retirement eligibility). When a member refuses coverage for only one class of eligible beneficiary, apply the same exceptions contained in sections 4309 and 5405 of this volume.

540402. Former Spouse or Former Spouse and Child. A former spouse election prevents an annuity to the member's spouse and child (other than a child beneficiary under a former spouse and child election). The spouse is notified of the member's election for the former spouse. A former spouse or former spouse and child election may be made:

A. When the member becomes eligible to participate. A member who has a former spouse and dependent child when becoming eligible to participate on or after March 1, 1986, may elect former spouse or former spouse and child coverage provided the child is the result of the member-former spouse marriage. The coverage is provided under the spouse category. A former spouse election effective before March 1, 1986 provides coverage under the insurable interest category and the election could not include child coverage. If member elects former spouse coverage at the maximum level under the spouse category, the member also may elect SSBP.

B. After the member becomes eligible to participate but before member meets age and service requirements. A member who elected spouse or spouse and child coverage may, before September 24, 1984, or within 1 year of the date of the decree of divorce, dissolution, or annulment, whichever is later, change that election to provide an annuity to a former spouse or to a former spouse and child. The former spouse is not eligible if he or she was the former spouse that the member had when the member became eligible to participate in the Plan. If the former spouse coverage was in effect before March 1, 1986, the annuity was provided under the insurable interest category and child coverage in conjunction with former spouse coverage was unavailable. A member who elected former spouse coverage before November 8, 1985, may provide annuity for a former spouse and child if that election was made before March 1, 1987. Also, a member who elected former spouse coverage between November 8, 1985 and February 28, 1986, could have provided an annuity for a former spouse and child if that election was made not later than November 13, 1987.

NOTE: An annuity for the former spouse first must be provided under the spouse category before child coverage may be added. A member who elects former spouse coverage at the maximum level under the spouse category may elect SSBP for the former spouse.

C. When the member meets age and service requirements. The former spouse election is considered under the SBP and SSBP program.

D. By the Secretary of the Military Department concerned upon the receipt of a request from the former spouse that an election be deemed for the former spouse. The provisions shown in section 4305 of this volume for deemed former spouse elections under SBP and SSBP apply to RCSBP.

540403. Natural Person With Insurable Interest. An election for a natural person with insurable interest may be made only when there is no eligible spouse or dependent child(ren). There are two exceptions: a person who is unmarried but who has a dependent child may provide coverage for that child under the insurable interest provision; and former spouse elections made between September 8, 1982, and February 28, 1986. A member elects gross retired pay as the base amount under an election for a natural person with an insurable interest.

5405 CHANGES IN ELECTION AND COVERAGE

540501. Later-Acquired Spouse and/or Child. This election must be received within 1 year of the event.

A. If a member has no eligible beneficiary at the end of the 90-day period to elect, or on March 31, 1980, whichever is later, and the member declines to participate, the member later may elect for an eligible class of beneficiary.

B. If a member elects RCSBP spouse coverage and the spouse becomes an ineligible beneficiary through death or divorce, the member may resume spouse coverage upon remarriage.

C. If a member with spouse or spouse and child coverage loses the spouse beneficiary, the member may upon remarriage: resume coverage, increase the level of coverage up to and including full retired pay, or elect not to resume spouse coverage. A member who provides spouse coverage at the maximum level, but who is not a participant in the SSBP, may elect SSBP upon remarriage. The SSBP election is irrevocable and shall be made within one year of the remarriage.

1. The member may not add child coverage by virtue of this marriage alone if child coverage previously was bypassed.

2. The level of RCSBP coverage may not be reduced nor may child coverage be eliminated. The RC-SSBP level may be increased upon remarriage.

3. If the member elects not to resume spouse coverage or provides coverage at less than the maximum level, the spouse is notified.

D. If a member has former spouse or former spouse and child coverage, he or she may later elect RCSBP and SSBP coverage for the newly-acquired spouse and/or child.

E. If a member has insurable interest coverage, he or she may elect coverage for the newly-acquired spouse and/or child.

540502. Change From Spouse or Spouse and Child

A. A member may terminate his or her election and provide an annuity for a former spouse or former spouse and child provided the child is the result of the member-former spouse marriage. See paragraph 430702 and section 5405 of this volume. A member who elects to provide former spouse coverage at the maximum level may include Supplemental SBP coverage.

B. The former spouse may request that the Secretary of the Military Department concerned deem an election for the former spouse.

540503. Change to Former Spouse Election and Coverage

A. A member who has a former spouse and dependent child when becoming eligible to participate in the Plan on or after March 1, 1986, may elect former spouse or former spouse and child coverage, provided the child is the result of the member-former spouse marriage. If the member elected former spouse coverage between September 8, 1982, and February 28, 1986, that coverage is under the insurable interest category and the election does not include children. A member who elects former spouse coverage at the maximum level may elect Supplemental SBP coverage.

B. A member participating in the Plan with spouse or spouse and child coverage could change that election between September 24, 1983 and September 23, 1984, or within 1 year of the date of divorce, dissolution, or annulment, whichever is later, to provide an annuity to a former spouse. (NOTE: Elections made on or after March 1, 1986 or later may be for former spouse or former spouse and child.)

C. A member enters into a voluntary written agreement, incident to a proceeding of divorce, dissolution, or annulment, to elect former spouse coverage and the agreement has been incorporated in, or ratified or approved by, a court order or a member is required by a court order to make an RCSBP election, and the member fails or refuses to make the election, the Secretary concerned may deem an election.

1. The former spouse or the former spouse's attorney requests, in writing, that the Secretary concerned deem an election for former spouse coverage. The former spouse's request must be received before October 1, 1985 or within 1 year of the date of the court order involved, whichever is later.

2. Deemed elections for RC-SSBP coverage operate under the same rules for SBP except that no RC-SSBP elections may be required by court order. Deemed RC-SSBP elections may be made only in instances where there is a voluntary written agreement to elect made by the member and such agreement is properly incorporated in a court order or filed with the court of appropriate jurisdiction. An election may not be deemed for RC-SSBP before April 1, 1992.

D. A member who, before November 8, 1985, made a former spouse election could have changed that election between November 8, 1985, and November 7, 1986, to provide coverage for former spouse and child, provided the child was the result of the member-former spouse marriage.

E. A member who elected former spouse coverage before November 8, 1985, could have, with the concurrence of the former spouse, changed that election from former spouse (insurable interest category) to former spouse (spouse category). That election had to be made between November 8, 1985, and November 7, 1986.

F. A member who, before November 8, 1985, elected former spouse coverage, could have changed the election to former spouse and child coverage not later than March 1, 1987. Any member who elected former spouse coverage between November 8, 1985, and February 28, 1986, had to change the election to former spouse and child coverage not later than November 13, 1987.

540504. Changed Retirement Eligibility. If a member elects RCSBP coverage and subsequently becomes eligible for retirement under another law, thereby losing eligibility under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)), the RCSBP and RC-SSBP elections remain effective until the member actually retires. A member may then make a new election including a Supplemental SBP annuity election as any other retiring member.

540505. Open Enrollment Periods

A. Public Law 97-35 (reference (bq)), allowed members entitled to retired pay to enroll in SBP, increase a reduced level of coverage, or add spouse coverage to child coverage between October 1, 1981, and September 30, 1982. See section 4309 of this volume for restrictions.

B. Public Law 97-252 (reference (ei)), September 8, 1982, authorized an open enrollment period for Reserve Component members who, on August 13, 1981, would have been entitled to retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)) but for the fact that they had not reached age 60 on August 13, 1981. Open enrollment extended from October 1, 1982 through September 30, 1983.

1. Members could have enrolled in RCSBP, increased a reduced level of coverage, or added spouse coverage to child coverage. Election information was acceptable in writing rather than on the approved form.

2. There was no authority for eligible members to change the annuity option from immediate to deferred.

3. Elections made by eligible members were effective when received by the Secretary concerned, but not earlier than October 1, 1982.

4. A member could have elected former spouse coverage during the open season. The member could have elected coverage for a former spouse which the member had when becoming eligible to participate in the Plan between October 1, 1982 and September 30, 1983.

5. A member with suspended spouse coverage under RCSBP could have increased the level of coverage.

C. See section 4305 of this volume for open enrollment periods under Public Laws 98-94 (reference (aj)), 98-525 (reference (ej)), 99-145 (reference (fc)), and 99-661 (reference (ek)) involving elections for a former spouse. Members who elected RCSBP coverage between October 19, 1984, and November 8, 1985, could have elected to withdraw between November 8, 1985, and November 7, 1986, with a refund of any cost plus interest.

D. Certain members were eligible to withdraw from the Plan between March 3, 1988, and March 2, 1989. Under Public Law 100-180 (reference (fd)), a member with spouse or spouse and child coverage who remarried before March 1, 1986, could, with the spouse's concurrence, withdraw from the Plan. There was no refund of cost.

E. Public Laws 101-189 (reference (fb)) and 101-510 (reference (el)) provided an open season between April 1, 1992, and March 31, 1993. A member who was not currently participating in RCSBP could have elected RCSBP. A member who made an open season election for RCSBP coverage for spouse or former spouse at the maximum level could have elected RC-SSBP. A member could have added spouse coverage or increased the base amount of coverage during that open season. A member who already was providing spouse or former spouse coverage at the maximum level could have added Supplemental SBP coverage during that open season.

540506. The SBP Open-Season. The open-season restrictions in section 4309 of this volume apply to RCSBP open-season elections unless otherwise specified above.

CHAPTER 55

RESERVE COMPONENT SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - BENEFICIARIES5501 ELIGIBLE BENEFICIARIES

Eligible beneficiaries under the RCSBP include: spouse, spouse and child, child, former spouse, former spouse and child, or natural person with an insurable interest.

550101. Spouse (including the spouse of a common-law marriage). The spouse is an eligible beneficiary if:

A. Married to the member on the date that the member became eligible to participate in the Plan, and married to the member when the member died.

B. Married to the member after the date that the member became eligible to participate in the Plan (that is, married after the member completed the years of service required for retired pay), married to the member at least 1 year before the member's death, and married to the member when the member died. An election must be received within 1 year of the remarriage.

C. Married to the member after the date that the member became eligible to participate in the Plan and married to the member for less than 1 year before member's death, but is a parent of a living child from that marriage. Election must be received within 1 year of the remarriage.

D. Married to a member who:

1. Was entitled to participate in the RCSBP on or after October 1, 1978;

2. Was deceased on or after October 1, 1978;

3. Was unable to exercise an election option due to the necessary actions to implement RCSBP; and

4. Had not executed a statement of intent to participate in the RCSBP and provide a deferred annuity effective on the 60th anniversary of the member's birth or on the date following the date of death, whichever is later; or had declined to participate. In instances of eligible surviving spouse and children, the surviving spouse is the only eligible beneficiary.

5. Married to a member who is eligible to provide a Reserve Component annuity and who dies:

a. Before being notified of completion of the years of service required for eligibility of retired pay for non-Regular service retirement; or

b. During the 90-day period beginning on the date member receives notification of retirement eligibility, if member had not made an RCSBP election. The surviving spouse (or eligible child) of a member described above who died during the period of September 30, 1978, through October 1, 1985, had until October 1, 1988, to apply for the annuity. Such annuity is payable March 1, 1986, or the first day of the month after the application is made, whichever is later.

550102. Children (including children of a common-law marriage)

A. Children of a member who elected child coverage when he or she initially became eligible to participate in the Plan.

B. Children of a member who elected child coverage after initially becoming eligible to participate in the Plan. Election must be received within 1 year of acquiring such class of beneficiary.

C. Children of a member who died before being notified of retirement eligibility or during the 90-day period immediately following such notification.

D. Children of a member described in subparagraph 550101.D.4., above, if there is no eligible surviving spouse.

550103. Spouse and Children. Eligibility requirements are shown as in paragraphs 550101, and 550102, above. The spouse is the primary beneficiary with eligibility passing to the children if the spouse remarries before age 55 or dies.

550104. Former Spouse or Former Spouse and Children

A. The former spouse is an eligible beneficiary if he or she:

1. Is the member's former spouse when the member becomes eligible to participate in the Plan and is elected beneficiary by the member or is deemed as the beneficiary by the Secretary concerned upon request by the former spouse.

2. Was not the member's former spouse when the member became eligible to participate in the Plan and a prior election is changed to provide coverage for the former spouse. A former spouse acquired after a member became eligible to participate in the Plan is an eligible beneficiary if married to the member for at least 1 year or if the former spouse is a parent of a child born of the marriage.

B. If coverage is provided for the former spouse and children, the former spouse is the primary beneficiary with eligibility passing to the child(ren) if the former spouse remarries before age 55 or dies. Only the child(ren) who resulted from the marriage to the former spouse are eligible beneficiaries.

C. The former spouse for whom coverage is provided under the insurable interest category remains an eligible beneficiary following a remarriage, unless the remarriage is to the member who is providing the former spouse coverage.

550105. Natural Person With Insurable Interest. The natural person with an insurable interest is an eligible beneficiary if member elected:

A. A person who has a reasonable and lawful expectation of pecuniary benefit from the continued life of the member. This may include parents, stepparents, grandparents, grandchildren, aunts, uncles, sisters, brothers, half-sisters, half-brothers, dependent or non-dependent child or step-child, any other person more nearly related than cousin, or

B. Any individual having a reasonable and lawful basis, founded upon the relationship of parties to each other, either pecuniary or of blood or affinity, to expect some benefit or advantage from the continuance of the life of the retiree.

NOTE: Proof of financial benefit from the continuance of the life of the member is required for other than persons listed in subparagraph 550105.A, above. The legal staff of the supporting Military Service activity may coordinate on the eligibility requirements.

CHAPTER 56

RESERVE COMPONENT SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN - PREMIUM5601 GENERAL

560101. RCSBP. The cost of providing RCSBP coverage under the immediate or deferred annuity option is not subsidized by the government but is shared by members and beneficiaries who potentially will benefit from the coverage. The cost to the retiree is in the form of an additional deduction from his or her retired pay beyond the standard SBP cost. The RCSBP, unlike SBP, requires a reduction in the survivor annuity. That deduction begins when the member meets the age and service requirements even though member may delay application for retirement, or, in the event of the member's death before age 60, when the survivor begins to receive an annuity which is reduced due to RCSBP coverage. The premium increases at the same time and by the same percentage that retired pay increases by cost-of-living adjustments.

560102. RC-SSBP. The premium for RC-SSBP coverage for spouse or former spouse is added to the RCSBP premium. The Supplemental SBP premium is expressed as a percentage of the base amount (full retired pay). Once the RC-SSBP deduction is established from retired pay, the premium shall be increased by cost-of-living adjustments at the same time and in the same manner as the RCSBP premium.

5602 FACTOR TABLES

560201. The original RCSBP factor tables, developed under contract, were applicable to members who elected RCSBP and who retired or died before January 1, 1980. Members age 59 years, 6 months or more, were considered age 60. Effective December 1, 1984, these pre-1980 factors were changed to the January 1, 1980 factors with a save-pay clause that limited the factor to the pre-1980 factor. The tables were separated by:

- A. Annuity Option-Immediate or Deferred
- B. Type of Beneficiary
- C. Male or Female Member
- D. Differences Between the Ages of the Member and the Beneficiary
(In some instances)
- E. Male or Female Beneficiary for Insurable Interest Person

560202. The Office of the DoD Actuary created new RCSBP factor tables in 1979 to reflect military specific death rates, to include remarriage and divorce rates and to incorporate dynamic actuarial assumptions. The new factors, which became effective January 1, 1980, affected members who elected RCSBP and who retired or died on or after January 1, 1980. The tables were built on a “years younger or older than member” concept. The ages at the nearest birthday to date of election receipt were used. When ages expressed in years are the same, the table is determined by comparing months and days.

A. The child-only tables were later added and were effective on January 1, 1980.

B. Under the January 1, 1980 cost factor tables, ages 59 years, 6 months or more were rounded down to age 59 instead of age 60. The premium computed using age 60 is the same as the standard SBP premium. Separate tables for members age 59 years, 6 months or more (but less than 60) later were developed and became effective on January 1, 1980.

C. The RCSBP premium is the SBP premium for the same class(es) of beneficiary plus an actuarial change (add-on premium) for the RCSBP deferred or immediate annuity option.

560203. In December 1984, RCSBP factors were revised to show the SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium as not related to gender.

560204. Effective March 1, 1986, the FY 1986 DoD Authorization Act (reference (fc)) eliminated the social security offset system, established a two-tier benefit system for annuitants, and significantly changed the initial calculation of the SBP premium. As a result, there are two sets of RCSBP factors: one set for the social security offset system (revised due to changes in economic assumptions) and one set for the two-tier benefit system. Neither set of factors includes the built-in SBP premiums. The calculated SBP premium plus the Reserve add-on premium equals the RCSBP premium. The two sets of RCSBP factors apply to existing and future RCSBP participants on and after July 1, 1986.

560205. On March 1, 1990, the threshold formula for computing the SBP premium was replaced with a flat-rate reduction formula of 6.5 percent of the base amount. Members who retire under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)) (non-Regular service retirement) remain eligible for whichever cost formula is more advantageous to the member.

560206. Supplemental SBP coverage became effective on April 1, 1992. The premium for RC-SSBP is in addition to the member’s RCSBP premium. The SSBP premium is expressed as a percentage of the base amount. The member elects SSBP coverage in increments of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent of the base amount. SSBP premium factors applicable to each 5 percent increment are shown in Table 56-2 for members who elected an immediate annuity under RCSBP and Table 56-3 for members who elected a deferred annuity under RCSBP.

560207. The premium additions for open season election, Table 45-6, do not apply to the RCSBP. The premiums for RCSBP open season elections, however, will be computed in two parts. The first part is the premium for the RCSBP open season election. The second part of the premium is an additional charge for the previously-existing RCSBP coverage. This second part is defined as the RCSBP premium applicable to member’s original election minus the RCSBP premium applicable to that earlier election using the ages of the member and beneficiaries on their birthday anniversaries nearest the date the new election becomes effective. All premium rates for this computation are based on the current factor table.

5603 CALCULATION OF PREMIUM

560301. The RCSBP premium consists of an SBP premium and an RCSBP or reserve add-on premium.

A. SBP Premium. The initial, standard SBP cost formula, before Public Law 99-145, was 2.5 percent of the first $300 of the base amount, plus 10 percent of the base amount in excess of $300. The $300 in the formula that became effective on March 1, 1986, is referred to as the threshold, or low-cost amount. The threshold amount is subject to two possible indexing provisions including active duty increases and cost-of-living adjustments associated with the pay tables used to calculate that member's retired pay. Effective March 1, 1990, the formula for spouse or former spouse coverage changed to a flat-rate reduction formula of 6.5 percent of the base amount. An individual who entered a Uniformed Service before March 1, 1990, or a member who is entitled to retired pay Chapter 61 (disability), or chapter 1223 (non-Regular service retirement) under Title 10, United States Code (reference (c)) is entitled to use whichever formula is more favorable to the member.

B. Reserve Add-on Premium. The Reserve add-on premium depends on the type of beneficiary elected, the annuity option elected, and the applicable method of annuity computation. As the anticipated benefits under the social security offset system are higher, the cost factors and the associated premiums are higher. The social security offset system is still applicable to the survivors of members who, on October 1, 1985, had attained sufficient service so as to be eligible for retired pay under 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)), but for the fact of being under 60 years of age.

560302. The member elects a given dollar amount or a percentage of retired pay as the base amount. Any dollar election is converted to a percentage of gross retired pay as of the effective (date of election to guarantee full indexing in proportion to member's retired pay). If the given dollar amount exceeds 100 percent of the member's retired pay on the effective date of election, the base amount is 100 percent of the monthly retired pay. If the given dollar amount is less than 100 percent of gross retired pay but greater than $300 when computed against the retired pay, use the ratio against the gross retired pay entitlement at age 60, assuming member has met age and service requirements. Table 56-1 is a worksheet for use in conjunction with the RCSBP factor tables effective July 1, 1986.

Example:

Member's age at election =	52
Member's elected monthly base amount =	$300.00
Member's estimated current monthly retired pay =	$1000.00
Ratio =	$300/1000 = .3$

Eight years later:

Member's monthly retired pay at age 60 =	$2000
Member's base amount at age 60 =	$.3 \times $2000 = \600.00

560303. Premium Examples. Examples follow for spouse or former spouse, spouse and child or former spouse and child, child, or insurable interest person. The premium for former spouse or former spouse and child is the same computation as the spouse or spouse and child premium if coverage for the former spouse is provided under the spouse category vice the insurable interest category.

A. Spouse Premium. Member lives to age 60. The threshold amount associated with the pay table used to compute member's pay is $321. The SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium could be computed March 1, 1990 on the flat-rate reduction formula of 6.5 percent of the base amount for comparison. The SBP premium is based on whichever cost formula that produced the lesser cost. The member's election provides an immediate annuity option for spouse only.

Method:	Offset
Type:	Immediate annuity

B. Spouse and Child Premium. Same facts as subparagraph 560303.A, above, except the member's election provides a deferred annuity option for spouse and child--both beneficiaries are still eligible. Subparagraph 560303.B(1), below, covers the premium for spouse and child coverage when the spouse is no longer eligible; subparagraph B(2), below covers the premium for spouse and child coverage when the child is no longer eligible on the date that member meets age and service requirements.

560304. The SSBP premiums for spouse or former spouse coverage are added to RCSBP premiums. The SSBP premium factors depend on the type of RCSBP annuity option elected by member, immediate or deferred. See Table 56-2 (Reserve Component Immediate Supplemental Spouse Annuity Premium Rates) and Table 56-3 (Reserve Component Deferred Supplemental Spouse Annuity Premium Rates). The member elects SSBP coverage in increments of 5, 10, 15, or 20 percent of the base amount. The SSBP premium factors shown on the tables apply to each 5 percent of the base amount member elects. The SSBP premium is computed by multiplying the SSBP premium factor from either the immediate or the deferred SSBP table, based respectively on the member's age on the birthday nearest the date the election first becomes effective, by 1, 2, 3, or 4.

★560305. An RCSBP participant who voluntarily terminates coverage for a natural person with an insurable interest (not a former spouse) will pay the Reserve add-on premium for the lifetime of the member. However, if the member terminates the coverage before age 60, the add-on premium is pro-rated. Multiply the original (add-on) factor by the number of full months during which the member had coverage, dividing the result by the number of full months the member would have had coverage if coverage had not terminated before age 60. The result, rounded to 4 decimal places, shall serve as the member's pro-rated (add-on) factor.

5604 INITIAL PREMIUM AND EFFECTIVE DATE

560401. If a member has eligible beneficiaries, RCSBP and any SSBP premium begins on the first day of the month after member meets the age and service requirements for 10 U.S.C., Chapter 1223 (reference (c)) retirement. If the member meets the age and service requirements on the first day of the month, the premium is effective that month. If the member specifies a retirement date which is after the date member meets age and service requirements, or if the member delays application for retirement, the premium is retroactive to the date mentioned in the previous sentence(s).

Exception: Child beneficiary--If the member elects child coverage and the child is no longer eligible, the Reserve add-on premium portion of the RCSBP premium, for pre-age 60 coverage, begins on the same date that cost begins for an eligible beneficiary.

560402. If a member who elected RCSBP dies before the age and service requirements are met, the Reserve add-on premium for the pre-age 60 coverage begins with the immediate or deferred annuity as an actuarial reduction of that annuity.

560403. In some instances, a member may change the type of coverage before premiums begin. Among the election changes, such as those included below, the initial premium is effective on the first day of the month after member meets age and service requirements (or, if member meets age and service requirements on the first day of the month, the premium is effective that month).

A. A member has no spouse beneficiary and acquires a spouse beneficiary effective before the member meets age and service requirements. The spouse may be covered under the SSBP program.

B. A member has child coverage and later acquires a spouse beneficiary before the date member meets age and service requirements. The spouse may be covered under the SSBP program.

C. A member has no child beneficiary and later elects child coverage within 1 year of acquiring a child which is before the member meets age and service requirements.

D. Coverage changes from former spouse or former spouse and child to spouse or spouse and child coverage effective before the member meets age and service requirements. Previous SSBP coverage now covers the spouse.

E. Member has no coverage or coverage is changed to former spouse under a deemed election by the Secretary concerned. The former spouse may be covered under SSBP.

F. Member has insurable interest coverage and acquires a spouse and/or child before the date member meets age and service requirements. The spouse may be covered under the SSBP.

5605 SUSPENSION, TERMINATION, REINSTATEMENT, AND CHANGE OF PREMIUM

560501. Suspension

A. Spouse

1. Spouse dies. The premium is suspended the first day of the month following the spouse's death.

2. Spouse and member divorce. The premium is suspended the first day of the month following the divorce.

B. Child. No premium suspension situations.

C. Former Spouse (spouse category). Former spouse remarries before age 55. The RCSBP premium is suspended on the first day of the month following the remarriage.

D. Natural Person with an Insurable Interest or Former Spouse (insurable interest category). No premium suspension situations.

560502. Termination

A. Spouse. If the member loses a spouse beneficiary, remarries, and elects not to resume spouse coverage, any premium terminates as of the first day of the month following the receipt of member's election.

B. Last Dependent Child:

1. Child dies before age 22 while still eligible. The RCSBP premium terminates on the first day of the month following the death of the last dependent child.

2. Child marries. The SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium terminates on the first day of the month after the marriage of the last dependent child.

3. Child discontinues full-time school attendance. The SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium terminates the first day of the month after the last dependent child discontinues school attendance. If the exact date is unknown, the SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium is discontinued on the first day of the month after receipt of the notification from the member.

C. Former spouse (either category) or natural person with an insurable interest. The premium terminates the first day of the month following the death of the former spouse or natural person with an insurable interest.

★D. Natural Person With an Insurable Interest (not a former spouse). The member will pay the Reserve add-on premium for the lifetime of the member. The Reserve add-on premium is recomputed under paragraph 560305, above, when a member terminates coverage before age 60. Any SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium terminates effective the first day of the month after member terminates coverage.

560503. Reinstatement

A. Spouse. If the member resumes spouse coverage upon remarriage and the member has met age and service requirements, the premium is effective on the first day of the month after the anniversary date or the birth of a child of that marriage, whichever is earlier. If the anniversary or birth date is the first day of the month, the premium is effective with that month. If the spouse is immediately eligible upon remarriage, the premium is effective the first day of the month after the remarriage. If remarriage occurred on the first day of the month, the premium is effective in the month of remarriage. If member previously elected SSBP coverage, SSBP is reinstated upon remarriage. The level of any previously elected SSBP coverage may not be reduced. The level of SSBP coverage may be increased or SSBP may be added.

B. Child

1. Child resumes school attendance. The SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium is reinstated on the first day of the month after the child resumes school attendance.

2. Child's marriage is terminated by an annulment which renders the marriage void or invalid, or terminated by a judicial decree by a court of competent jurisdiction declaring the marriage void. The SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium would be reinstated effective the date the SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium was terminated by the marriage. The termination of the child's marriage by death of the child's spouse or by divorce does not serve as a basis for reinstatement of child coverage.

3. Member acquires another child following a period where all existing children are no longer eligible, the full RCSBP premium is reinstated on the first day of the month following the date member acquires the child. The SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium is recomputed using the age of the youngest child (child only coverage).

C. Former spouse (spouse category). If the former spouse's remarriage is terminated by death of the spouse, annulment, or divorce, RCSBP and SSBP premiums resume on the first day of the month after the marriage is so terminated.

D. Former spouse (insurable interest category) or natural person with an insurable interest. No premium reinstatement situations.

560504. Premium Changes

A. Spouse

1. If a member loses a spouse beneficiary, remarries, and elects to increase the level of coverage, the member pays the difference between any SBP premiums incurred and any SBP premiums that would have been incurred if the new level of participation had been elected originally, including interest. The difference in premiums is remitted before the spouse becomes an eligible beneficiary. The SSBP election is made within one year of the remarriage. SSBP premiums start as of the date the spouse becomes an eligible beneficiary or on the date age and service requirements are met, whichever is later. The SSBP premium is computed using member's age at the time of SSBP election.

2. If a member has spouse and child coverage, and loses the spouse beneficiary, the premium changes from a spouse RCSBP premium to a child RCSBP premium on the first day of the month after spouse eligibility is lost. Any SSBP premium is suspended on the date the RCSBP premium changes. The RCSBP eligible child premium equals SBP child premium plus a Reserve portion of premium. If the child is ineligible, only the Reserve add-on premium portion of the RCSBP premium is charged.

3. If coverage changes from former spouse or former spouse and child to spouse or spouse and child after member meets age and service requirements, the RCSBP premium is computed using member's age as 60 which is the same premium as SBP. The Supplemental SBP premium is associated with RC-SSBP tables.

4. RC-SSBP Tables 56-2 and 56-3 show factors for members over age 60 because a member over age 60 may have RCSBP without Supplemental SBP, divorce and later elect SBP former spouse coverage and elect Supplemental SBP. An RC-SSBP annuity is a percentage of the base amount less the Reserve add-on premium.

5. If member has child coverage and later acquires a spouse beneficiary after the member meets the age and service requirements, the RCSBP premium for the child is changed to an SBP premium for spouse and child. If the spouse later becomes ineligible, the RCSBP is charged for child coverage. If the child becomes ineligible, SBP spouse premium is charged.

B. Child. If child coverage is added to spouse coverage within 1 year of acquiring the child, the premium is recomputed on the first day of the month after member meets age and service requirements or on the first day of the month after member's child election is received by the Secretary concerned. An election effective before member meets age and service requirements is considered RCSBP.

C. Former Spouse

1. If the member has former spouse and child coverage and the former spouse dies or remarries, the premium changes as in subparagraph 560504.A.2., above.

2. If coverage changes from spouse or spouse and child to former spouse or former spouse and child, the change in premium is effective on the first day of the month after member meets the age and service requirements or the first day of the month after the election is received by the Secretary concerned, whichever is later. An election effective after the member meets age and service requirements is considered SBP.

3. The premium for a former spouse under a deemed election by the Secretary concerned is effective on the first day of the month after the later of:

- a. The member's retirement date;
- b. The first day member could have voluntarily made such an election; or
- c. The date of the court order involved.

560505. Other Changes, Suspension, or Terminations of Premium

A. If a member is declared mentally incompetent, later adjudged competent and elects to change the RCSBP or RC-SSBP election, the premium changes the first day of the month following the receipt of the election.

★B. RC-SBP and RC-SSBP premiums increase at the same time and by the same percentage as retired pay cost-of-living adjustments. When the payment of a cost-of-living adjustment is delayed by law, the increase in premiums will be applied at the same time that payment of increased retired pay is payable.

C. If a member is recalled to active duty for more than 30 days, the premium is suspended effective the first day that member returns to active duty.

D. The premium is charged through the date of a member's death.

NOTES:

1. The SBP premium portion of the RCSBP should be treated the same as SBP only. The threshold used in the SBP calculation should be the one relating to the basic pay scale used in the calculation of the member's retired pay. See Table 49-1 for SBP threshold amount.
2. When calculating the Reserve add-on premium portion of the RCSBP premium, several things should be noted. Make sure you use the table that relates to the correct method, type, and option. Spouse or former spouse and child factors are the same as spouse or former spouse only factors when both spouse or former spouse and child are still eligible. If the spouse or former spouse becomes ineligible, the factor switches to child only even if the child is no longer eligible. The Reserve add-on premium for child never terminates.

Table 56-3. Reserve-Component Deferred Supplemental Spouse Annuity Premium Rates - Each 5%

CHAPTER 57

RESERVE COMPONENT SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN – ANNUITY AMOUNT AND OFFSETS5701 ANNUITY AMOUNT570101. General

A. The amount of RCSBP annuity payable to a surviving spouse or former spouse (spouse category) beneficiary is computed in the same manner as SBP except the base amount is reduced by the Reserve add-on premium portion of the RCSBP premium before applying the 35 or 55 percent multiplier. The SBP premium portion of the RCSBP premium is not subtracted from the base amount in determining the annuity amount. The RC-SSBP annuity is computed as the base amount reduced by the Reserve add-on premium portion of the RCSBP premium times the 5 to 20 percent multiplier elected by the member. The monthly annuity for a dependent child is computed on the base amount less the Reserve add-on premium, times 55 percent. The monthly annuity for a natural person with an insurable interest or a former spouse (insurable interest category) is computed on the base amount less the entire RCSBP premium, SBP premium and Reserve add-on premium, times 55 percent.

1. Immediate Annuity Option. If the member dies before age 60 with immediate annuity option, the initial annuity amount payable is computed on the basis of what the member's retired pay would have been on the date of member's death using the basic pay rates on that date.

2. Deferred Annuity Option. If the member dies before age 60 with the deferred annuity option, the initial annuity amount payable is computed on the basis of the retired pay the member would have received had that member lived to age 60 and become entitled to receive retired pay.

B. Public Law 99-145, Section 711 (reference (fc)), establishes a two-tier benefit system for annuitants and eliminates the social security offset system. Effective March 1, 1986, the spouse or former spouse (spouse category) beneficiary who is under age 62 receives a monthly annuity that is computed on the base amount, cost-of-living adjusted, less the Reserve add-on premium, times 55 percent. If the spouse or former spouse is age 62 or more when becoming entitled to the annuity, or the first day of the month after the spouse or former spouse reaches age 62, the monthly annuity is computed on the base amount, cost-of-living adjusted, less the Reserve add-on premium, times 35 percent. However, the eligible spouse or former spouse annuitant on October 1, 1985, or the eligible spouse or former spouse beneficiary of a member on October 1, 1985, who is qualified for that pay except that member has not applied for or been granted that pay, may receive annuity at the 55 percent rate less social security offset, if it is more favorable. There is no subsequent comparison.

C. Effective April 1, 1992, a member may provide the spouse or former spouse (spouse category) annuitant with RC-SSBP coverage. The Supplemental SBP annuity is an additional percentage of the annuity base amount less the Reserve add-on premium portion of the RCSBP premium elected by the member. The RC-SSBP annuity becomes payable when the annuity is reduced at age 62. Supplemental SBP annuity increases by cost-of-living adjustments similar to RCSBP.

570102. Eligible Annuitants and Amounts. Monthly RCSBP and RC-SSBP annuities, if not a multiple of $1, shall be rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. Annuities to which survivors were entitled on September 30, 1983, were rounded with the next cost-of-living adjustment. Then, and with each later cost-of-living adjustment, the annuity is rounded to the next lower multiple of $1. After rounding, RCSBP and RC-SSBP annuities are combined for payment.

A. Spouse or Former Spouse (Spouse Category). See Table 46-1. Generally, however, the RCSBP annuity is somewhat less than 55 or 35 percent, depending on the Reserve add-on premium which is deducted in determining the annuity amount. The RCSBP annuity for a spouse or former spouse is reduced by a Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) award payable on behalf of the same deceased retired member. The RC-SSBP annuity like the RCSBP annuity is somewhat less than the 5 to 20 percent elected by member. The RC-SSBP annuity is not reduced by DIC.

B. Children Only. If there is more than one eligible child, the annuity is paid in equal shares. The annuity for children is not subject to DIC offset.

C. Spouse and Child or Former Spouse and Child. The annuity is paid to the spouse or former spouse, as long as eligibility exists. If the surviving spouse or former spouse loses eligibility due to death or remarriage before age 55 (age 60, if remarriage is before November 14, 1986), the annuity is paid to the child annuitants. An election for former spouse and child includes the children that resulted from the member-former spouse marriage only. If the member elects coverage for the spouse and children and the spouse is not eligible under 10 U.S.C. 1447(3)(a) (reference (c)), the spouse qualifies as the eligible annuitant on the birthdate of a posthumous child of the marriage.

D. Former Spouse (Insurable Interest Category) or Natural Person With an Insurable Interest. The annuity is payable only to the former spouse or natural person with an insurable interest as designated by or on behalf of the member. The benefits may not be transferred to another person. The annuity is not reduced by DIC.

570103. Payment of Annuity. See paragraph 460103 of this volume. The provisions in subparagraph 460103.C for making annuity payments to representative payees also apply to the RC-SBP program.

5702 OFFSETS TO THE ANNUITY

570201. Offsets. See paragraphs 460201 through 460207 of this volume.

NOTE: The information in Chapters 47 through 50, and 52 of this volume, excluding the minimum income annuitant material, applies to the RCSBP annuitant.

★5703 TAXABILITY OF ANNUITY

570301. The provisions of Chapter 52 of this volume regarding the taxability of annuities also apply to annuities under RCSBP.

REFUND OF MONTHLY RCSBP PREMIUM (See Note)

All figures should be in month that premium calculation is desired. A change would occur in any month where the base amount, DIC, or cost changes. Additionally, the cost formula for the SBP portion on spouse or former spouse coverage changed effective March 1, 1990.

CHAPTER 58VICTIMS OF ABUSE-RETIREMENT-ELIGIBLE MEMBERS*5801 BACKGROUND

Public Law 102-484, section 653 (reference (fh)) authorizes various benefits for the spouses and former spouses of retirement-eligible members who lose eligibility for retired pay as a result of misconduct involving abuse of dependents. Generally, the spouses and former spouses are provided the same rights and benefits that they would have had if there had been no abuse and the member had retired under normal circumstances.

5802 DEFINITIONS

580201. The definitions in 10 U.S.C. 1408 (reference (c)), Former Spouse Payments From Retired Pay, which are found in Chapter 29 of this volume, apply to this chapter unless otherwise noted.

580202. Dependent Child. Dependent child means an unmarried legitimate child, including an adopted child or stepchild of the member or former member who is:

A. Under 18 years of age;

B. Incapable of self-support because of a mental or physical incapacity that existed before becoming 18 years of age and is dependent on the member or former member for over one-half of the child's support; or

C. Enrolled in a full-time course of study in an institution of higher education recognized by the Secretary of Defense for these purposes, under 23 years of age and dependent on the member or former member for over one-half of the child's support.

5803 ELIGIBILITY

580301. The DFAS will pay the eligible spouse or former spouse under the following conditions:

A. A court order stipulates (in the same manner applicable to division of property) the payment of an amount from the disposable retired pay of a member or former member to the spouse or former spouse. The court order must satisfy the requirements of 10 U.S.C. 1408(a)(2) (reference (c)). Generally, the court order must be a final decree of divorce, dissolution, annulment, or legal separation issued by a court, or a court-ordered, ratified, or approved property settlement incident to such a decree; and it must specifically provide for the payment of an amount, expressed in dollars or as a percentage of disposable retired pay, from the disposable retired pay of a member to the spouse or former spouse of that member.

B. A member or former member, while a member of the Armed Forces and after becoming eligible to be retired from the Armed Forces on the basis of years of service, has eligibility to receive retired pay terminated as a result of misconduct while a member involving abuse of the spouse or dependent child. The eligibility of the member to receive retired pay as determined by the Secretary concerned is considered terminated effective upon the approval of the court-martial sentence terminating retired pay eligibility; and

C. The spouse or former spouse

1. Was the victim of the abuse and was married to the member or former member at the time of that abuse; or

2. Is a natural or adopted parent of a dependent child of the member or former member who was the victim of the abuse; and

D. The spouse or former spouse to whom payments are to be made was married to the member for a period of 10 years or more during which the member performed at least 10 years of service creditable in determining the member's eligibility for retired pay.

E. If the punishment that results in the termination of eligibility to receive retired pay is later remitted, set aside, or mitigated to a punishment that does not result in termination of eligibility, benefits to the eligible dependent under this chapter that are based on the punishment so vacated, set aside, or mitigated shall cease. Such benefits cease effective on the first day of the first month after the month the Secretary of the Military Department concerned notifies the recipient, in writing, that benefits cease. The recipient may not be required to repay the benefits received before that effective date, excluding any erroneous payments.

5804 APPLICATION FOR PAYMENT

An eligible spouse or former spouse must apply for payment from the supporting DFAS Center, in the same manner as an application for former spouse payments from retired pay, set out in Chapter 29 of this volume.

5805 METHOD OF PAYMENT

580501. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned shall determine and certify the amount of the monthly retired pay that the member or former member would have been entitled to receive as of that date of certification (that is, including any cost-of-living increases to retired pay through the date of certification):

A. If the member or former member's eligibility for retired pay had not been terminated; and

B. If, in the case of a member or former member not in receipt of retired pay immediately before that termination of eligibility for retired pay, the member or former member had retired on the effective date of that termination of eligibility.

580502. When certifying retired pay of a member separated for misconduct involving abuse of a dependent, the Secretary concerned shall ignore reductions in grade and forfeitures of pay or retired pay resulting from the administrative separation or court-martial resulting from the misconduct.

580503. The amount certified by the Secretary concerned shall be deemed to be the disposable retired pay of the member for the purposes of this provision. The total amount payable under this provision may not exceed 50 percent of such disposable retired pay.

580504. A court order may provide that, whenever retired pay is increased under 10 U.S.C. 1401a (reference (c)) (or any other provision of law), the amount payable under the court order to the spouse or former spouse of a member or former member shall be increased at the same time and by the percent by which retired pay would have increased if the member or former member were receiving retired pay.

580505. Payments shall not be made more frequently than once a month.

580506. The effective date for computing retired pay shall be the date that the sentence terminating eligibility for retired pay is approved by the appropriate official.

580507. Payments terminate under the terms of the applicable court order, but not later than the date of the death of the member or former member or the date of death of the spouse or former spouse to whom payments are being made, whichever occurs first.

580508. Payments made to an eligible spouse on the basis of being the natural or adopted parent of a dependent child who was the victim of abuse shall not cease solely because the dependent child is no longer considered a dependent child; that is, payment requires only that the child was dependent at the time of the abuse, and not necessarily at the time of payment.

580509. If a former spouse who is receiving payments under these conditions marries again after the payments begin, his or her eligibility to receive further payments terminates on the date of the marriage. In the event of termination of that marriage by death, annulment or divorce, payments resume as of the first day of the month in which the marriage is terminated. The monthly amount shall be the amount that would have been paid if the continuity of the payments had not been interrupted by the marriage.

580510. Payments shall be made from funds in the Department of Defense Military Retirement Trust Fund.

580511. A spouse or former spouse, while receiving payments under this chapter, is entitled to medical, dental, commissary, exchange, and other benefits as though the member or former member were entitled to retired pay.

580512. A dependent child, who was a member of the household of the member or former member at the time of the misconduct, is entitled to medical, dental, commissary, exchange and other benefits as though the member or former member were entitled to retired pay.

580513. No payments under this chapter accrue for periods before October 23, 1992.

580514. Tax liability for payments under this chapter is the responsibility of the spouse or former spouse who receives the payments.

CHAPTER 59

★VICTIMS OF ABUSE - NON-RETIREMENT ELIGIBLE MEMBERS
(Transitional Compensation)5901 GENERAL

This chapter covers transitional compensation to abused dependents of non-retirement eligible members of the Armed Forces for up to 3 years. Chapter 58 of this volume identifies benefits for spouses and former spouses of retirement-eligible members who lose eligibility for retired pay as a result of misconduct involving abuse of dependents.

590101. Definitions

A. Dependent-Abuse Offense. A criminal offense defined by 10 U.S.C. 801-940 (reference (c)) or other criminal code applicable to the jurisdiction where the act of abuse is committed. Crimes that may qualify as "dependent-abuse offenses" are ones such as sexual assault, rape, sodomy, assault, battery, murder, and manslaughter. This is not an exhaustive or exclusive listing of dependent-abuse offenses.

B. Punitive or Other Adverse Action. An action in which a member of the Armed Forces on active duty more than 30 days is:

1. Convicted of a dependent-abuse offense and whose conviction results in separation from active duty under a court-martial sentence or forfeiture of all pay and allowances under a court-martial sentence; or

2. Administratively separated from active duty under applicable Military Service regulations if the basis for separation includes a dependent-abuse offense.

C. Cohabitation. The spouse or former spouse residing in the same household as the former member after punitive or other adverse action is executed.

D. Dependent Child. An unmarried child, including an adopted child or a stepchild, who is residing with the member at the time of the dependent-abuse which results in the separation of the former member and who is:

1. Under age 18;

2. Age 18 or older and incapable of self-support due to a mental or physical incapacity that existed before age 18 and who is (or, when a punitive or other adverse action was carried out on the member, was) dependent on the member for over one-half of the child's support; or

3. Age 18 or older, but less than age 23, enrolled in a full-time course of study in an institution of higher learning approved by the Secretary of Defense and who is (or, when a punitive or other adverse action was carried out on the member, was) dependent on the member for over one-half of the child's support.

E. Spouse or Former Spouse. The individual who:

1. Is married to the member or former member at the time of the commission of the dependent-abuse offense resulting in separation;

2. Does not cohabit with the member or former member after the punitive or other adverse action; and

3. Was not an active participant in the conduct constituting the dependent-abuse offense.

590102. Eligibility for Transitional Compensation Payment. The dependents of a member who separates on or after November 30, 1993, are eligible for transitional compensation payments. Payments begin on or after December 1, 1993, for qualified dependents. If a recipient is incapable of handling his or her own affairs, payments are made only to court-appointed guardian. In the case of a dependent child under 18 years of age, payments are made only to a court-appointed guardian or a natural parent (who is not a spouse of the member), if the natural parent legally has custody of the dependent child.

A. Spouse or Former Spouse. In the case of a separation from active duty under punitive or other adverse action, payments are made to the person who was the member's spouse at the time of the offense. The spouse or former spouse does not have to be the victim in order to receive transitional compensation. If the spouse or former spouse is ineligible for transitional compensation because of remarriage, cohabitation, or active participation in the abuse, payments are made to each dependent child who does not reside in the same household as the spouse, former spouse, or former member. If there is no eligible spouse for reasons other than those listed in the preceding sentence (e.g., the member was not married or the spouse died), compensation is paid to the dependent children of the member who do not reside in the household of the member.

B. Dependent Child. A dependent child's eligibility is determined as of the date on which the member is convicted of the dependent-abuse offense or the date on which the member is administratively separated. The dependent children receiving the transitional compensation payments cannot live in the same household as the former member or the remarried former spouse.

590103. Commencement and Duration of Payment

A. Payment of transitional compensation begins on the date that:

1. The court-martial sentence was approved by the person acting under 10 U.S.C. 860(c) (reference (c)) if the member has been convicted by a court-martial for a dependent-abuse offense and the court-martial sentence as approved includes a dismissal, dishonorable discharge, or bad conduct discharge; or

2. Separation action was initiated by the commander under regulations of the Secretary concerned, if administratively separated.

B. Payments are made for a period of 36 months. EXCEPTION: If, as of the starting date of payment, the unserved portion of the member's obligated active duty service is less than 36 months, the duration of payment is the greater of the unserved portion or 12 months. For enlisted members, the "obligated active duty service" is the time remaining on their term of enlistment. For officers, the "obligated active duty service" is indefinite unless the officer has a date of separation established, in which case it is the time remaining until the date of separation.

590104. Amount of Payment

A. A spouse or former spouse receives transitional compensation at the same rate as monthly Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) under 38 U.S.C. 1311(a)(1) (reference (ar)).

DIC Rate	Effective Date
$769	December 1, 1993
790	December 1, 1994
810	December 1, 1995
833	December 1, 1996

B. If the spouse or former spouse has custody of a dependent child or children of the member, transitional compensation is increased for each child by an amount equal to the monthly DIC amount payable for dependent children under 38 U.S.C. 1311(b) (reference (ar)).

DIC Rate	Effective Date
$150	October 1, 1993
200	October 1, 1994
205	December 1, 1995
211	December 1, 1996

C. If transitional compensation is payable only to dependent children, transitional compensation is paid in equal shares in an amount equal to the monthly DIC amount payable for dependent children under 38 U.S.C. 1313 (reference (ar)).

	DIC Child Rate Eff December 1, 1993	DIC Child Rate Eff December 1, 1994	DIC Child Rate Eff December 1, 1995
1 child	$327	$336	$334
2 children	471	484	496
3 children	610	627	643
Over 3	610 + $120 for each child over 3	627 + $123 for each child over 3	643 + $126 for each child over 3

DIC Child Rate
Eff December 1, 1996

1 child	$354
2 children	510
3 children	662
Over 3	$662 + $130 for each child over 3

D. Payments will be prorated for months when payments start or stop in the middle of a month.

E. When paying multiple children and the payment amount does not divide equally, the youngest child shall receive the odd cent(s).

F. Arrears of compensation, in the event of the death of a spouse or dependent child, will not be paid.

590105. Forfeiture Provisions

A. The transitional compensation payable to the spouse or former spouse is forfeited as a result of:

1. Cohabitation. A punitive or other adverse action has been executed and the former member resides in the same household as the spouse or former spouse or child who is receiving the compensation. Compensation terminates as of the date the former member begins residing in that household. Any compensation paid before the member resides in the household shall not be recouped. Once terminated for cohabitation, the payments do not resume.

2. Remarriage. The former spouse who is receiving the compensation remarries. Compensation terminates effective as of the date of the former spouse's remarriage. Payments do not resume if the remarriage is terminated. If the payments to the former spouse terminate due to remarriage and there is a dependent child who is not living in the same household as the former spouse or member, payments shall be made to the eligible dependent child.

3. Active Participation. If the victim was a dependent child, and the spouse has been found by competent authority designated by the Secretary concerned to have been an active participant in the conduct constituting the criminal offense, or to have actively aided or abetted the member in such conduct against that dependent child, the spouse may not be paid transitional compensation. Dependent children living with the spouse also will not receive payment.

B. Annual Certification. The spouse certifies annually to the DFAS-Denver Center that he or she has not remarried and has not been cohabiting with the offender. The form to be used is a Certificate of Eligibility (COE). The spouse must notify the DFAS-Denver Center within 30 days of the date of remarriage or the date the member begins residing in the same household as the spouse or former spouse or dependent child. Dependent children annually will certify that they are not cohabiting with the offender or ineligible spouse via the COE process. If the COE is not received within 60 days of date of COE, payments will be suspended until verification of eligibility is received.

590106. Effect of Military Pay Continuation. Transitional compensation is not payable when a member's court-martial sentence, which includes a dismissal, dishonorable discharge, or bad conduct discharge, is remitted, set aside, or mitigated to a lesser punishment that does not include such punishment; or, the administrative separation is disapproved. Any payment of transitional compensation that has started shall stop effective the first day of the month after the Secretary of the Military Department concerned notifies the recipient in writing that payment shall cease for such reason. The recipient is not required to repay transitional compensation received before the effective date of cessation, excluding erroneous payments.

590107. Multiple Benefits. A spouse or former spouse may not receive both payments of transitional compensation and payments under 10 U.S.C. 1408(h) (reference (c)) of benefits for spouses and former spouses of retirement-eligible members who lost eligibility for retired pay as a result of misconduct involving abuse of dependents. See Chapter 58 of this volume. The spouse or former spouse must elect which benefit he or she chooses to receive.

590108. Effective Date. Transitional compensation provisions apply to members who, on or after November 30, 1993, separate from active duty under a court-martial sentence resulting from a dependent-abuse offense; who separate from active duty for administrative reasons if the basis for separation includes a dependent-abuse offense; or who are sentenced to forfeiture of all pay and allowances by a court-martial which has convicted the member of a dependent-abuse offense.

A. Transitional compensation is payable to dependents who qualify on or after December 1, 1993, for periods on or after December 1, 1993.

B. If payments for the period December 1, 1993, through the expiration of member's active obligated service (ETS) represent less than 12 months, payments continue until the 12 month minimum period is met.

590109. Applications. An individual requests transitional compensation through a Military Service representative. The Military Service representative approves payment, provides the O&M fund cite, and forwards the application to the DFAS at:

APPENDIX GCOPY*MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION AND THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE*RETIRED PAY AND SURVIVOR ANNUITIES*ARTICLE I*INTRODUCTION

1-1 Purpose. The Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) establishes administrative procedures and assigns responsibilities for the purpose of making timely, accurate, and complete payments of (or deductions from) military retired pay, survivor annuities and specified veterans' benefits. This guidance conforms with pertinent statutory authorities and Comptroller General decisions. The procedures improve coordination between the Veterans Administration (VA) and the Department of Defense (DoD), and minimize benefit overpayments. It supersedes the DoD/VA MOU of July 1969 with the change of September 1976 and the Memorandum of Record of March 11, 1974.

1-2 General. A retired member of the Armed Forces may receive VA compensation payments. To become eligible for VA payments, the member must waive retired pay, or retainer pay, in the amount payable by the VA. The individual's application for VA benefits on VA Form 21-526 or 21-526e constitutes an election of waiver in the absence of a written statement to the contrary. Or, the waiver may be accomplished by executing section I of VA Form 21-651. The Military Service shall accept the award action by the VA as certification. The VA shall provide the Military Service with documentation upon specific request. Legislative increases will be transmitted to the Military Service in the format contained in the attachment. A legislative increase refers to the rates of VA compensation, pension, or Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) specified in the periodic changes to 38 U.S.C. Chapters 11, 13, and 15.

ARTICLE IIRESPONSIBILITIES

2-1 Responsibilities of VA. The VA shall:

A. Transmit new and revised pay data in the attached format for retired personnel to the Military Services from the VA Data Processing Center (DPC) in Hines, Illinois, using a mutually agreed upon means. This data will be transmitted upon completion of each VA processing cycle, normally twice weekly.

B. Transmit the VA award change data to arrive at the Military Services no later than the 18th calendar day of the month in which the VA amount is to be entered as a reduction in the Military Service account. Accept the Military Service's effective date for VA transaction received by the Military Service after the 18th calendar day of the current month.

C. Ensure that all VA legislative rate transactions are furnished to the Military Service not later than 90 days following the date of the public law authorizing the legislative increase. This shall include those accounts reported by the Military Services to the VA Central Office (VACO) 45 days following the date of the public law authorizing the legislative increase.

D. Recoup any overpayments that result from a legislative increase, when the Military Service is notified of the rate change more than 90 days following the date of the public law authorizing the legislative increase.

E. Ensure that VA improved pension awards (authorized under Public Law 96-385; October 7, 1980) payable concurrently with retired pay are not included in the automated data exchange.

F. Take corrective action on all data input transactions originated by VA, that are rejected by the Military Services due to a validity test discrepancy.

G. Recoup overpayments resulting from VA initial, reopened, and increased awards paid prior to the actual reduction in the Military Service account, provided the Military Service made the reduction on a timely basis upon receipt of the VA award transaction.

H. Ensure the availability of resources to support the interchange of data.

I. Furnish the Military Services with replacement tapes within 48 hours after notification by the Military Services of defective tapes.

2-2 Responsibilities of DoD. The Military Services shall:

A. Process all data received from the VA DPC since the last retired pay file update.

B. Accept the VA effective date as the Military Service effective date of VA award or change provided the transaction is received on a timely basis, is identified as a valid legislative change, or constitutes a decrease in the VA award.

(1) If the effective date of a decreased VA award is earlier than the current activity month, the Military Service shall make the required adjustment.

(2) If the effective date of an initial award of VA benefits to a regular retired officer employed by the Federal Government is earlier than the current activity month, the Military Service will make the adjustment.

(3) If the effective date of an increased VA award that is not a legislative change is earlier than the current activity month, the Military Service shall effect the new amount in the current accounting month and notify the appropriate VA Regional Office (VARO) of the discrepancy. This same procedure will be followed when processing initial awards other than subsection 2-2B.(2), above.

C. Process initial, reopened and increased VA award transactions in the Military Service activity month in which the transaction is received. If the effective date is in a prior month, the Military Service will effect the change in the current activity month and notify the assigned VARO of the discrepancy.

D. Recoup on all transactions with valid effective dates received on or before the 18th calendar day of each month, but processed with a Military Service effective date of the following month.

E. Contact the assigned VARO for resolution of transactions which fail to pass the Military Services' edit and validation routines. The Military Services shall provide sufficient data to identify the transaction and explain why it was rejected.

F. Notify the VA field stations to update the VA records in all VA total waiver cases, when entitlement to retired or retainer pay is terminated or an inactive account (total waiver of retired or retainer pay) is reestablished because of an increase to a rate exceeding the VA compensation.

G. Furnish the assigned VARO with a certification of gross retired or retainer pay and effective dates for the previous two years upon receipt of a transaction that shows VA benefits exceed retired or retainer pay.

H. Ensure resources are available to support the data interchange.

I. Report to the VACO in VARO sequence those accounts not updated by the legislative increase not later than 45 days following the receipt of legislative increase data from the VA DPC.

J. Recoup any overpayments that may result from a legislative increase when notified by the VA within 90 days of the date of the public law authorizing the legislative increase.

K. Notify the VA point of contact within 24 hours of receipt of a defective tape from the VA.

ARTICLE IIIPROCEDURES

3-1 VA Improved Pension Payable Concurrently With Retired or Retainer Pay under Public Law 96-385 of October 7, 1980.

A. The VA shall:

(1) Identify retiree accounts that no longer require a waiver of retired or retainer pay.

(2) Notify the Military Service of those retirees who elect to discontinue VA pension payments under prior law to receive an Improved Pension.

(3) Furnish the documentation required by the Military Service for adjusting or resuming retired or retainer pay.

B. The Military Service shall:

(1) Accept the VA effective date (not earlier than October 1, 1980) for payment of retired or retainer pay previously waived when the effective date of Improved Pension payment is a retroactive date.

(2) Adjust retired or retainer pay to reflect payment concurrently with VA Improved Pension.

(3) Furnish the requesting VARO a statement of gross retired or retainer pay rates required for determining the rate of Improved Pension payable.

3-2 Fiduciary Cases. When a retired member who waived retired pay in favor of VA compensation has become incompetent, the trustee or guardian may request withdrawal of a previously executed waiver and restoration of retired pay. The processing will be as follows:

A. When VA receives the restoration request first, it will terminate VA benefits and forward the request to the appropriate Military Service finance center with a cover letter furnishing the date of termination of VA benefits. The receiving Military Service will restore retired pay and return a copy of the letter to the VA, annotated with the amount of the restored pay and the effective date of the restoration. The effective date will be the first day of the month following the month of the termination of VA benefits.

B. When the Military Service finance center receives the restoration request first, it will forward the request to the assigned VARO with a cover letter indicating the monthly gross retired pay. Upon receipt by the VARO, the procedure above will be followed.

3-3 Guaranteed Minimum Income to Widows of Military Retirees.

A. On receipt of a minimum income annuity claim, the Military Service shall:

(1) Prepare a DD Form 1895, Request for Veterans Administration Pension and Annual Income Information, and forward an original and one copy with a copy of DD Form 1885, Survivor Benefit Plan - Minimum Income Claim, to the VARO servicing the widow's pension claim.

(2) Complete the upper right identification data block and lines B and C of the "Eligibility Determination" block, and indicate on line 3 of the DD Form 1895 the effective date of annuity payments, if entitlement is determined.

(3) Suspend the payment and promptly notify the assigned VARO of the death or remarriage of the annuitant, when prior VA notification has not been received.

(4) Initiate the payments. Or, when there is no entitlement, notify the claimant of the reason for ineligibility upon receipt of a complete and authenticated DD Form 1895 from the VA.

(5) Adjust, or discontinue, the Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) annuity upon receipt of subsequent notification of the adjustment in the widow's annual income for VA purposes before SBP or upon receipt of a termination notice from the VA.

(6) Schedule reductions in future annuity payments and notify the annuitant when SBP overpayments are detected.

(7) Request authorization from the annuitant for collection from future VA pension payments, when DoD payments are not available for such offset.

B. The VARO shall:

(1) Confirm the claimant's entitlement to a VA pension, complete items 1 and 2, and lines D and E of the "Eligibility Determination" block, authenticate, and return the original DD Form 1895 to the appropriate Military Service finance center.

(2) Retain a copy of the DD Forms 1885 and 1895.

(3) Notify the appropriate Military Service on subsequent adjustments to the widow's annual income for VA purposes before SBP or termination of the widow's pension due to death, remarriage, or other reason. The notification shall include the effective date of the VA action, reason and type of action (i.e., pension termination, adjustment, etc.) and the adjusted VA payment.

(4) Effect the collection of SBP overpayments in monthly amount that the annuitant agrees to and forward the collections with identifying listings to the appropriate Military Services.

3-4 DIC Award to Surviving Spouse.

A. Upon death of the retiree who has an eligible spouse beneficiary, the Military Service shall:

(1) Notify the VARO of the retiree's death and furnish the amount of SBP annuity payable.

(2) Request the amount and the effective date of DIC award on behalf of the widow(er) only.

(3) Inform the retiree's annuitant that the SBP annuity will be paid in the full amount due. But, if DIC is awarded, the DIC payment shall be reduced by the amount needed to offset any intervening SBP overpayment. Obtain a statement signed by the annuitant agreeing with the conditions for SBP payment and forward it to VA.

(4) Pay the full SBP annuity amount. If DIC payments are made, pay only the amount by which the SBP entitlement exceeds the DIC award.

(5) Furnish the VARO with a statement of the amount (if any) to be recouped from DIC with the annuitant's signed authorization for withholding to satisfy an existing SBP overpayment created by the DIC and SBP overlap. If no recoupment is required, a negative statement will be furnished to the VARO.

(6) Enter the current, basic DIC award amount as a reduction to the SBP annuity.

B. The VA shall:

(1) Research files to associate SBP notices with pertinent files regarding the annuitant.

(2) Upon receipt of the SBP award, query the VA Beneficiary Identification and Records Locator Subsystem (BIRLS) to determine whether there is a current VA claim file. When no current file exists, a VA claim file will be established, containing sufficient information to alert the VARO to a DIC-SBP payment overlap should DIC be awarded later to the annuitant.

(3) Access SBP payment files on the award of DIC payments; and when an overlap exists, offset the initial DIC payment by the amount necessary to recoup any SBP overpayment.

(4) Contact the appropriate Military Service to request the amount of SBP payment to be withheld from the DIC award and furnish the DIC effective date and amount awarded.

(5) Forward a check in the amount of the recoupment with the information necessary for adjusting the SBP payments to the Military Service.

(6) Furnish the DIC rate changes, or late awards for basic DIC rates only, to the Military Service.

3-5 SBP Premium Payments by Retirees Receiving Emergency Officers Retired List (EORL) or Pension/ Compensation Payments.

A. The Military Services shall:

(1) Forward retiree requests for payments of SBP premiums by VA deductions from EORL or compensation payments to the servicing VARO. A retiree's request must provide for collection of the current SBP premium payable and future adjustments in the amount due to cost-of-living or other changes requiring a premium adjustment. Requests will not require retroactive reductions by the VA without prior agreement.

(2) Notify VA of any necessary adjustment to the premium amount.

B. The VA shall:

(1) Deduct premium the first of the month specified in the election.

(2) Process the requested deduction and forward monthly checks and listing (identifying retirees by name, social security number, and the amount of deduction) to the appropriate Military Service.

3-6 File Development and Maintenance.

A. DoD standard data elements and codes, as published in DoD Manual 5000.12-M, will be used, when available and applicable.

B. Comparable data edit and validation routines will be maintained by the VA and the Military Services.

ARTICLE IV

EFFECTIVE DATE, MODIFICATION, AND TERMINATION

4-1 Duration. The memorandum becomes effective on the date of the last signature. Either party may propose amendments to this MOU, but both must agree for amendments to take effect. Either party may terminate the MOU upon 30 days written notice to the other party.

APPENDIX KREPORTS OF EXISTENCE

1. The requirement for reports of existence (ROE) frequently is questioned by retired members or management officials not familiar with the retired payroll system. The requirement is based on the fact that retired pay is payable only during the lifetime of the retired member and unless otherwise authorized by law or regulation. The check must be issued with the retired member as payee. As early as 1931, the General Accounting Office recognized that certain controls over the issuance and delivery of retired pay checks were necessary for protection of government funds.

2. Checks may be issued to a person or institution other than the retired member only under these conditions:

a. When the retiree has been declared mentally incompetent and a trustee, guardian, or fiduciary has been appointed to manage the financial affairs of the retiree.

b. Under Treasury Department regulations providing for the checks to be made payable to a financial institution, or for the issuance of composite checks and electronic fund transfer of payments where several members have designated the same financial institution for deposit of their retired pay checks.

Under subparagraph 2.a., above, a monthly ROE must be filed by the fiduciary. Under subparagraph 2.b., above, Treasury Department regulations place responsibility on the financial institution that funds deposited after the death of the member will be returned.

3. For checks mailed to retirees within the United States, the Comptroller General of the United States relies on the US Postal Service not to deliver checks after the death of the payee. The check envelope carries a notice to the Postmaster that if the addressee is deceased, the check must be returned to the sender. Also, "Retired pay payable only during the life of the payee," is printed on all retired pay checks under the object for which drawn. During the lifetime of the retired member, a further control against fraudulently endorsed and cashed checks is provided by the member's notifying the retired pay activity of non-receipt or a lost check. This control no longer applies after the death of the member. Without the precautions cited above, checks could continue to be cashed either fraudulently or in the mistaken belief of entitlement.

4. In addition to ROEs from fiduciaries, monthly reports are required from members whose checks are delivered through foreign postal systems. However, many members living in a foreign country receive these checks in person at United States military activities, embassies, or consulates, or report their existence to such activities monthly before deposit of their check into a foreign mail system.

5. This is a chronology of Comptroller General decisions showing the changes in control requirements:

a. A-3531, Apr 6, 1931. The Comptroller General established a policy to provide full protection to the government in payment of retired pay. In this letter, the Comptroller General required that this certification be signed by the proper administrative officer and attached to the retirement pay voucher, roll or schedule:

"I certify that each person to whom retirement pay is paid and not under guardianship or committee has reported over his bona-fide signature within the last 12 months his residence; that each person known to have given a power of attorney to endorse his checks for pay has reported on the last day or thereafter to which he is paid over his bona-fide signature: that reports as to the continued existence of each person paid who is under guardianship or in the custody of a committee, or whose estate is under control of a conservator has been received from the guardian, committee or conservator on or subsequent to the last day for which payment is made, and that each person residing in the foreign country or was traveling from his permanent residence as reported to this department has reported over his bona-fide signature on the last day or thereafter to which he is paid."

b. A-3551, June 29, 1931. The Comptroller General permitted Navy members living in China to send ROEs to the Navy Purchasing Office (NPO) in Shanghai, and checks were sent in bulk, to the NPO Shanghai for delivery to the members. However, the Comptroller General required that the ROEs should be forwarded to the Retired Pay Department each month by the NPO.

c. A-3551, Dec 3, 1932. The Comptroller General approved the application of the June 29, 1931 decision cited above to Fleet reservists and retired members living in the Philippine Islands to have their checks delivered via the Commandant of the 16th Naval District.

d. A-3551, Dec 15, 1932. The Comptroller General agreed that the procedure for bulk mailing of checks described in A-3551, June 29, 1931, could also be applied to Guam. This decision extended the concept that a third party could control ROEs. The checks were sent to the Governor of Guam rather than to a Navy activity.

e. A-3551, Feb 10, 1933. The Comptroller General agreed to extension of the procedure cited in the previous decisions to the Governor of American Samoa and to the Commandant of the 14th Naval District (Hawaii). However, permission to use the procedure using American consuls was denied. The decision stated in part:

"With respect to alleged hardships suffered by men residing in foreign countries generally, it would appear that the requirement of the initial certificate may have entailed a slight inconvenience due to its transmission to and receipt by the paying officer, and thereafter mailing of the check to the payee, but it would seem that if said requirement had been and is being properly complied with on the last day of each month, checks should be regularly received by the payee at monthly intervals. But irrespective of any inconvenience incident to the mailing of the certificate, the practice of mailing checks to third persons generally, including American consuls, for individuals residing abroad in their consular districts is unsound in that it increases possibility of loss and no substantial reason is apparent why the procedure should now be extended. These men receiving substantial bounty from the Treasury of the United States and reasonable regulations for the purpose of guarding against losses to the government should not be further waived or relinquished for their individual benefit or convenience."

f. A-3551, Aug 21, 1933. The Comptroller General agreed to alteration of the paying officer's certificate of the monthly payroll. The revised certification follows with additions underlined and deletions bracketed:

"I certify that each person to whom retirement pay is paid and not under guardianship or committee has reported over his bona-fide signature within the last 12 months his residence; that each person known to have given power of attorney to endorse his checks for pay or whose check is mailed to a bank has reported on the last day or thereafter to which he is paid over bona-fide signature; that reports as to the continued existence of each person paid who is under guardianship, or in the custody of a committee or whose estate is under the control of a conservator (has) have been received from the guardian, committee, or conservator on or subsequent to the last day for which payment is made, and that each person residing or traveling in a foreign country (or who was traveling from his permanent residence as reported to this department) has reported over his bona-fide signature on the last day or thereafter to which he is paid."

g. A-3551, Oct 24, 1946. It was proposed that a procedure be authorized whereby a member's acknowledgment (ROE) of the receipt of a check would permit the release of the check for the next month (a 1-month-behind basis). The Comptroller General ruled:

"While it is fully appreciated that there may be cases where the delayed delivery of a retirement check may cause personal hardship, less effective measures than those above outlined would not, in the opinion of this office, fully protect the interests of the United States. Accordingly, permission for the adoption of the proposal. . . for mailing of retirement pay checks is withheld."

h. A-3551, Mar 9, 1951. The annual ROE for retired members having their checks mailed to a home address within the United States was eliminated. The Comptroller General approved a proposal to:

(1) Print "Retired Pay payable only during the life of the payee" under "object for which drawn" on the checks; and

(2) Print a notice on the envelopes being used that would direct postal employees not to forward the contents to addresses other than those shown and directing that delivery not be made where payee is deceased, but to return the letter to the issuing office. With further recognition that postal employees in the United States would respect such procedures, the Comptroller General eliminated the annual report requirement for accounts meeting the above requirements.

i. A-3551, Feb 3, 1964. The Comptroller General ruled that ROEs were not required if a payment is made payable to a member:

(1) Who is traveling outside the United States and the check is mailed to a bank or residence in the United States.

(2) Who lives in The Philippines and has checks mailed to a bank in the United States.

The Comptroller General also indicated ROEs would not be required if the check were made payable to a bank or financial institution:

"There is no objection to the issuance of retired pay checks payable to a bank for credit to the account of the retired officer of the Army who has made assignment thereof if the check carries an appropriate legend to the effect that the check is payable only during the life of the retired officer and that the check is not subject to deposit in a joint account in which the retired officer is named and the bank is appropriately notified that crediting the check to a joint account will be at its risk."

This same letter indicated that if allotments of retired pay are authorized by regulation, there is no objection to permitting an allotment of a member's retired pay in favor of a bank if the same check legend (payable only during the lifetime of the retired officer) and notice to the bank (not to be deposited to a joint account), mentioned above are observed.

(j.) 44 Comp Gen 208. In response to a request that reports be obtained on a "1-month-behind" basis (previously proposed in 1946), the Comptroller General agreed that technological improvements in methods of payment, record keeping and communications made such procedure acceptable. The system should work:

"A report would be enclosed with each check with instructions to complete and return it. Thus, reports of existence would still be required on a monthly basis, but there would be an after-the-fact verification of the member's existence, which would eliminate the delay in release of checks, reduce handling costs, simplify procedures, and the maximum overpayment which could result would be 1 month's retired pay."

(k.) 53 Comp Gen 75. The Comptroller General authorized that composite retired pay checks in favor of a financial institution could be made where a group of retired members had all designated the same financial institution as an address for their retired pay checks. This authorization was tentative and subject to the issuance of Treasury regulations which require the financial institution to return to the retired pay activity any deposits made to retired members after date of death.

(l.) B-206129, June 28, 1982. The Comptroller General agreed the furnishing of ROEs by military retirees and survivor annuitants whose checks are mailed to a foreign address and delivered through foreign postal channels may be changed to semiannual reporting from the current "1-month-behind" reporting requirement.

Note:

1. DIC is payable at a flat rate as increased by cost-of-living adjustments, when a veteran dies on or after January 1, 1993. An additional amount may be payable if the veteran was receiving a service-connected disability compensation (or would have but for the receipt of retired or retainer pay) for at least 8 years immediately preceding death. If a veteran dies before January 1, 1993, DIC is payable based on the pay grade of the veteran; however, effective January 1, 1993, DIC is payable at the flat rate of $750 (including $165, if applicable) if it is more favorable than the DIC amount based on veteran's pay grade.

Flat Rate	Additional	Effective Date
$769	$169	December 1, 1993
$790	$173	December 1, 1994
★$810	$177	December 1, 1995

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION AND DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

Memorandum of Understanding on the Survivor Benefit Plan

(Public Law 92-425)

GENERAL

This Memorandum of Understanding establishes the procedures to be used by the Military Services and the Social Security Administration to obtain social security covered military earnings for use in adjudicating survivor annuities payable by the Department of Defense pursuant to Public Law 92-425, September 21, 1972.

ANNUITY REDUCTION

Conditions under which a survivor annuity payable by the Department of Defense shall be reduced are set forth in Title 10, United States Code, Chapter 73, Section 1451.

PROCEDURES

1. The Military Services shall request from the Social Security Administration, social security earnings that are attributable to active military service on an “as needed basis” only. The agreement covering the type of services and the estimated cost of furnishing these services are contained in the attached Social Security Form SSA-1034, Agreement Covering Reimbursable Services. DD Form 1947, Request for Social Security Covered Military Earnings Information, shall be used for this purpose. The member’s name, social security number, job number, period for which data are needed, and the employer identification number(s) shall be completed by the requesting military Finance Center. Entries on the DD Form 1947 may be typed or handwritten.

2. The Social Security Administration shall use Form OAR-1009 and/or Form OAR-1009a, Earnings Record Transcription, to record social security covered military earnings that are attributable to military service. Data furnished should relate to the period of request as shown on DD Form 1947. When data are not of record for the period or a portion thereof, the symbol “N/R” (no record) shall be entered. Entries on the Form OAR-1009, and Form OAR-1009a may be typed or handwritten. The Social Security Administration shall validate the DD Form 1947, Form OAR-1009, and Form OAR-1009a, by entry of their stamp. The requested information is attached, Social Security Administration per (identification of Social Security Administration employee). The Form OAR-1009 or Form OAR-1009a will be attached to DD Form 1947 and mailed to the preindicated service. The Social Security Administration will accept a maximum of 200 search requests per month for all Services on a 4-6 weeks processing schedule. A maximum of an additional 200 requests will be handled on an available time basis. Since no priority can be assigned to these additional requests, at least 8-12 weeks will be allowed for processing.

3. The “Remarks” block of DD Form 1947 may be used by the Military Services or the Social Security Administration. Any information or comments which may be useful in the data exchange may be entered in this block.

APPENDIX S

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFSET to SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN
(Eligibility Year Before 1979)

Worksheet for calculating social security offset for members whose eligibility year is before 1979 and whose offset year is 1979 or later.

Definitions:

1. Member is the retired military person.
2. Starting Year is 1957 or the year the member joined the Service, whichever is later.
3. Ending Year is the year the member turned or would have turned age 65.
4. Eligibility Year is the year in which the member turned age 62 or the year the member died, whichever is earlier.
5. Not applicable.
6. Elapsed Years:
 - a. For a male who turned or would have turned age 62 in 1975 or later and all female members, is equal to the number of years obtained by subtracting (the later of 1951 or the year the member turned age 22) from (the year the member turned or would have turned age 62).
 - b. For a male member who turned or would have turned age 62 in 1973 or 1974, is equal to 24.
 - c. For a male member who turned or would have turned age 62 before 1973, is equal to the number of years obtained by subtracting 1951 from the year the member turned or would have turned age 65.
7. Offset Year is the year the offset goes into effect.
8. Free Wage Credits are gratuitous wage credits that must be included in calculating the SBP offset. For years 1957 through 1977, credit $300 for each calendar quarter in which he or she received any basic pay for active duty or active duty for training. For 1978 and later, credit increments of $100 up to a maximum of $1,200 per calendar year. The $100 increments are granted for each $300 of reported wages as follows: (1) No credit for wages less than $300. (2) One credit ($100) if wages are between $300 and $600. (3) Two credits ($200) if wages are between $600 and $900. (4) And so on up to a maximum of $1,200 per calendar year.

Step 1

Calculate: Eligibility Year =
Starting Year =
Ending Year =
Elapsed Years =
Offset Year =

(If Eligibility Year is 1979 or later, this worksheet should not be used.)

Step 2

List every year from the starting year to the ending year in Column (A).
NOTE: See definitions of 'starting' and 'ending.'

Step 3

Record member's active duty pay in column (B).
Record zero for all remaining years through the 'ending year.'

Step 4

Calculate and record free wage credits in column (C).

Step 5

Add columns (B) and (C) and record in column (D). Round to nearest dollar (round $.50 up).

Step 6

List maximum FICA wages in column (E). See Appendix M for maximum FICA wages.

Step 7

Record in column (F) the lesser of column (D) or column (E).

Step 8

Not applicable.

Step 9

Not applicable.

Step 10

- (a) Compute $n = \text{elapsed years} - 5$
 - (b) Cross out all but highest n values in column (F)
 - (c) Total remaining n values
- If n is zero or less, the Social Security Offset is zero.

Step 11

- (a) Months = $(n) \times 12$ = _____
- (b) Member's AME = $\frac{\text{Step 10(c)}}{\text{Step 11(a)}}$ = _____ (round down to nearest dollar)

Step 12

Determine the member's AME PIA from the attached table I.

(a) If the AME from Step 11(b) is less than the minimum average monthly wage listed in table I ($76), then:

$$\begin{aligned} \text{Member's AME PIA} &= \frac{\text{Step 11(b)}}{$76 \text{ (table I minimum AME)}} \times $121.80 \text{ (table I PIA for minimum AME)} \\ &= \underline{\hspace{2cm}} \\ &\quad \text{(Round \textbf{up} to the nearest dime)} \end{aligned}$$

(b) Otherwise, read the member's AME PIA directly from: table I = _____

Step 13

List Social Security CPI's from June 1979 up to and including offset year. (If CPI is 9.9% list it as 1.099.) If the time of offset is before the Social Security CPI release date then assume that the CPI in the offset year is zero. Multiply these values together to obtain one value. Round to 3 decimals.

Step 14

Member's AME PIA = Step 12 times Step 13 = _____
(round up to nearest dime)

Step 15

If widow and one child:

Social Security offset = Step 14 times .75 = _____
(round up to nearest dime)

Step 16

Social Security offset = Step 14 times factor defined below = $ _____.
(round value down to nearest dollar)

FACTOR SELECTION

(1) If the widow does not provide evidence from the Social Security Administration that the decedent was in receipt of nondisability Social Security benefits prior to age 65, select the spouse age-related reduction factor from the following chart and use in formula.

SPOUSE AGE-RELATED REDUCTION FACTOR

Spouse Age	Factor for Offset	Spouse Age	Factor for Offset	Spouse Age	Factor for Offset
65 & over	1.00000	64 yrs, 0 mo	.94300	63 yrs 0 mo	.88600
64 yrs, 11 mos	.99525	63 yrs, 11 mos	.93825	62 yrs, 11 mos	.88125
64 yrs, 10 mos	.99050	63 yrs, 10 mos	.93350	62 yrs, 10 mos	.87650
64 yrs, 9 mos	.98575	63 yrs, 9 mos	.92875	62 yrs, 9 mos	.87175
64 yrs, 8 mos	.98100	63 yrs, 8 mos	.92400	62 yrs, 8 mos	.86700
64 yrs, 7 mos	.97625	63 yrs, 7 mos	.91925	62 yrs, 7 mos	.86225
64 yrs, 6 mos	.97150	63 yrs, 6 mos	.91450	62 yrs, 6 mos	.85750
64 yrs, 5 mos	.96675	63 yrs, 5 mos	.90975	62 yrs, 5 mos	.85275
64 yrs, 4 mos	.96200	63 yrs, 4 mos	.90500	62 yrs, 4 mos	.84800
64 yrs, 3 mos	.95725	63 yrs, 3 mos	.90025	62 yrs, 3 mos	.84325
64 yrs, 2 mos	.95250	63 yrs, 2 mos	.89550	62 yrs, 2 mos	.83850
64 yrs, 1 mo	.94775	63 yrs, 1 mo	.89075	62 yrs, 1 mo	.83375
				62 yrs, 0 mo	.82900

(2) If the widow provides evidence from the Social Security Administration (SSA) that the decedent was in receipt of non-disability Social Security benefits prior to age 65, calculate the decedent's reduction factor using one of the following methods and information supplied by SSA:

(a) divide the actual benefit payable (DMBA) by the death PIA. If decedent lived to age 65 or older, this data must be for a month subsequent to the January following the date of death.

(b) if data is not available for (a), determine the number of months (M) for which the decedent received a reduced benefit prior to age 65. Calculate, to five digits, the factor using the following formula:

$$\text{factor} = (1.0) \text{ minus } (M/180)$$

$$\text{example: 3 months early} = (1.0) - (3/180) = .98333$$

(c) insert answer from (a) or (b) here.

(d) insert the greater of .825 or (c) here.

(e) insert factor obtained in Step 16(1) above here.

(f) insert lesser of (d) or (e) here and use in formula.

Step 17

(a) Net monthly SBP annuity before Social Security offset but after all other reductions = _____

(b) .4 times Step 17(a) = _____
(round down to nearest dime)

(c) Total from either Step 15 or Step 16 = _____

(d) Social Security offset equals lesser of Step 17(c) or Step 17 (b) = _____

APPENDIX T

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFSETtoSURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN

(Eligibility Year 1979 or Later)

Work sheet for calculating social security offset for members whose eligibility year is after 1978.

Definitions:

1. Member is the retired military person.
2. Starting Year is 1957 or the year the member joined the Military Service, whichever is later.
3. Ending Year is the year the member turned or would have turned age 65.
4. Eligibility Year is the year in which the member turned age 62 or the year the member died, whichever is earlier.
5. Indexing Year is equal to the eligibility year minus two.
6. Elapsed Years is equal to the number of years obtained by subtracting (the later of 1951 or the year the member turned age 22) from (the year the member turned or would have turned age 62). If the member was born in 1929 or later, this will equal 40.
7. Offset Year is the year the offset goes into effect.
8. Free Wage Credits are gratuitous wage credits that must be included in calculating the SBP offset. For years 1957 through 1977, credit $300 for each calendar quarter in which he or she received any basic pay for active duty or active duty for training. For 1978 and later, credit increments of $100 up to a maximum of $1,200 per calendar year. The $100 increments are granted for each $300 of reported wages as follows:
 - a. No Credit for wages less than $300.
 - b. One credit ($100) if wages are between $300 and $600.
 - c. Two credits ($200) if wages are between $600 and $900.
 - d. And so on up to a maximum of $1,200 per calendar year.

9. Indexing Factors are derived by dividing the average wage of the indexing year by the average wage in the specific year. For all years greater than and including the indexing year, the indexing factors equal one.

10. Bend Points are the Social Security bend points associated with the eligibility year.

Step 1

Calculate: Eligibility Year =
Starting Year =
Ending Year =
Elapsed Years =
Offset Year =

(If Eligibility Year is 1978 or earlier, this worksheet should not be used.)

Step 2

List every year from the starting year to the ending year in Column (A).

NOTE: See definitions of 'starting' and 'ending.'

Step 3

Record member's active duty pay in column (B).

Record zero for all remaining years through the 'ending year.'

Step 4

Calculate and record free wage credits in column (C).

Step 5

Add columns (B) and (C) and record in column (D). Round to nearest dollar (round $.50 up).

Step 6

List maximum FICA wages in column (E). See Appendix M for maximum FICA wages.

Step 7

Record in column (F) the lesser of column (D) or column (E).

Step 8

Calculate and record the indexing factors in column (G).

Step 9

Multiply column (F) by column (G) and record in column (H).

Step 10

- (a) Compute $n = \text{elapsed years} - 5$
- (b) Cross out all but highest n values in column (H)
- (c) Total remaining n values. If n is zero or less, the Social Security Offset is zero.

Step 11

- (a) $\text{Months} = (n) \times 12$ = _____
- (b) Member's AIME = $\frac{\text{Step 10(c)}}{\text{Step 11(a)}}$ = _____ (round down to nearest dollar)

Step 12

Place bend point one in following formula where 'A' appears and bend point two in formula where 'B' appears.

$$\begin{array}{rcl}
 .90 \text{ times } \underline{A} \text{ of } \underline{\text{AIME}} & = & $ \underline{\hspace{2cm}} \\
 .32 \text{ times AIME over } \underline{A} \text{ through } \underline{B} & & $ \underline{\hspace{2cm}} \\
 .15 \text{ times AIME over } \underline{B} & = & $ \underline{\hspace{2cm}} \\
 \text{(round down to the nearest dime) Total} & = & $ \underline{\hspace{2cm}} \end{array}$$

Step 13

List Social Security CPI's from eligibility year up to and including offset year. (If CPI is 9.9% list it as 1.099.) If the eligibility year equals the offset year, only one CPI will be listed. If the time of offset is before the Social Security CPI release date then assume that the CPI in the offset year is zero. Multiply these values together to obtain one value. Round to 3 decimals.

Step 14

- (a) Member's AIME PIA = $\text{Step 12 times Step 13}$ = \$ _____ (round down to the nearest dime)

Step 15

If widow and one child:

$$\text{Social Security offset} = \text{Step 14 times } .75 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$$

(round down to nearest dollar)

Step 16

$$\text{Social Security offset} = \text{Step 14 factor defined below} = $ \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$$

(round value down to nearest dollar)

FACTOR SELECTION

(1) If the widow does not provide evidence from the Social Security Administration (SSA) that the decedent was in receipt of nondisability Social Security benefits prior to age 65, select the spouse age-related reduction factor from the following chart and use in formula.

SPOUSE AGE-RELATED REDUCTION FACTOR

Spouse Age	Factor for Offset	Spouse Age	Factor for Offset	Spouse Age	Factor for Offset
65 & over	1.00000	64 yrs, 0 mo	.94300	63 yrs, 0 mo	.88600
64 yrs, 11 mos	.99525	63 yrs, 11 mos	.93825	62 yrs, 11 mos	.88125
64 yrs, 10 mos	.99050	63 yrs, 10 mos	.93350	62 yrs, 10 mos	.87650
64 yrs, 9 mos	.98575	63 yrs, 9 mos	.92875	62 yrs, 9 mos	.87175
64 yrs, 8 mos	.98100	63 yrs, 8 mos	.92400	62 yrs, 8 mos	.86700
64 yrs, 7 mos	.97625	63 yrs, 7 mos	.91925	62 yrs, 7 mos	.86225
64 yrs, 6 mos	.97150	63 yrs, 6 mos	.91450	62 yrs, 6 mos	.85750
64 yrs, 5 mos	.96675	63 yrs, 5 mos	.90975	62 yrs, 5 mos	.85275
64 yrs, 4 mos	.96200	63 yrs, 4 mos	.90500	62 yrs, 4 mos	.84800
64 yrs, 3 mos	.95725	63 yrs, 3 mos	.90025	62 yrs, 3 mos	.84325
64 yrs, 2 mos	.95250	63 yrs, 2 mos	.89550	62 yrs, 2 mos	.83850
64 yrs, 1 mo	.94775	63 yrs, 1 mos	.89075	62 yrs, 1 mo	.83375
				62 yrs, 0 mo	.82900

(2) If the widow does provide evidence from the SSA that the decedent was in receipt of non-disability Social Security benefits prior to age 65, calculate the decedent's reduction factor using one of the following methods and information supplied by SSA:

(a) divide the actual benefit payable (DMBA) by the death PIA. If decedent lived to age 65 or older, this data must be for a month subsequent to the January following the date of death.

(b) if data is not available for (a), determine the number of months (M) for which the decedent received a reduced benefit prior to age 65. Calculate, to five digits, the factor using the following formula:

$$\text{factor} = (1.0) \text{ minus } (M/180)$$

$$\text{example: 3 months early} = (1.0) \text{ minus } (3/180) = .98333$$

(c) insert answer from (a) or (b) here.

(d) insert the greater of .825 or (c) here.

(e) insert factor obtained in Step 16(1) above here.

(f) insert lesser of (d) or (e) here and use in formula.

Step 17

(a) Net monthly SBP annuity before Social Security offset but after all other reductions = _____

(b) .4 times Step 17(a) = _____
(round down to nearest dime)

(c) Total from either Step 15 or Step 16 = _____

(d) Social Security offset equals lesser of Step 17(c) or Step 17 (b) = _____

APPENDIX V

INTERAGENCY AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE
DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS AND THE DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE
MILITARY RETIRED PAY

I. INTRODUCTION

A. Purpose: This Interagency Agreement establishes responsibilities for the purpose of allowing the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to collect, by administrative offset from veterans benefit compensation, amounts owed by retired military personnel to the Department of Defense (DoD) for participation in the Retired Serviceman's Family Protection Plan (RSFPP) or the Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP).

B. General: Public Law 99-576, October 28, 1986, as amended, 38 U.S.C. 3101, permits collection of amounts owed DoD for costs of participating in RSFPP or SBP from VA compensation or pension in accordance with the procedures prescribed in 31 U.S.C. 3716.

II. RESPONSIBILITIESA. Department of Defense:

1. The Deputy Comptroller (Management Systems)/Director Financial Services Policy shall be responsible for executing this Interagency Agreement.

2. The Military Services shall:

(a) Determine the amount of indebtedness for each member.

(b) Ensure any collection action is conducted in accordance with the procedures prescribed in 31 U.S.C. 3711-3720, as amended, and DoD regulations for administrative offset.

(c) Answer all inquiries from the retiree regarding the indebtedness.

(d) Certify to VA that due process procedures, in accordance with 31 U.S.C. 3716, have been completed for each member and that each member has been notified that his or her VA compensation or pension is to be withheld.

(e) Certify to VA that the military service (a) has attempted to collect the debt; (b) has been unable to collect the debt; and (c) has determined that the debt is not collectable from amounts payable by the military to the veteran or that the veteran is not receiving any payment from the military service.

(f) Request VA to offset the total debt amount from the veteran's compensation or pension.

(g) Credit any payment collected to the DoD Military Retirement Fund under Chapter 74 of Title 10 in accordance with 38 U.S.C., Section 3101(c)(4).

(h) Refund any amounts overcollected directly to the member.

B. Department of Veterans Affairs:

1. The Chief, Benefits Payment Policy Division, Financial Management Service (047F2), Department of Affairs shall be responsible for:

(a) Computing the maximum amount to be collected from the veteran's compensation or pension.

(b) Complying with the provisions of 38 CFR, 1, 912a and initiating collection action against the veteran's compensation or pension, and return the funds collected to the appropriate military service for crediting to the Military Retirement Fund.

III. TERMS OF IMPLEMENTATION

A. Effective Date: This agreement will become effective upon the signature of both parties.

B. Amendment or Cancellation: This agreement may be revised or amended by the signature approval of the signatories hereto or by their successors. Cancellation may be made upon 60 days written notice to either party or their successors, to the other.

APPENDIX WLETTER-INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE TAX LEVY

The IRS has sent us the attached Notice of Levy on Wages, Salary, and Other Income (IRS Form 668-W). Under current rules, this is a one-time levy against your retired pay to collect delinquent federal taxes. Please read the IRS Form 668-W carefully as it may be advisable to discuss it with your attorney or other tax adviser.

If you have been awarded the Medal of Honor, you are exempt from levy, and you should, as soon as possible, send us a copy of the citation awarding you the Medal of Honor to prevent the levy of your retired pay.

Current tax law protects a part of your retired pay from levy. You should complete the attached form and return it to us within five working days to claim your partial exemption. If we do not receive the completed form, we will compute your exemption for you, using the exemption for a married person filing separately with no other exemptions. Please note that the exemptions you claimed for tax withholding purposes are NOT the same and we will not use them to compute your exemption from levy.

We will deduct the levy from your (month/year) retired pay check. This is a one-time levy under current IRS rules; we will advise you if the IRS requests levy of any further retired pay checks. So long as future levies are for the same tax debt, you will not need to provide us further exemption information. We will use the information we have on file from this levy to compute future payments to the IRS.

If you have any questions concerning the levy itself, please contact the IRS office which issued it.

FOREWORD

This Volume of the "Department of Defense Financial Management Regulation" is issued under the authority of DoD Instruction 7000.14, "DoD Financial Management Policy and Procedures," dated November 15, 1992. It governs financial management by establishing and enforcing requirements, principles, standards, systems, procedures, and practices necessary to comply with financial management statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to the Department of Defense. It directs financial management requirements, systems, and functions for all appropriated, working capital, revolving, and trust fund activities. In addition, it directs statutory and regulatory financial reporting requirements.

Military Pay Policy and Procedures is divided into three volumes: Volume 7A, "Military Pay Policy and Procedures Active Duty and Reserve Pay," Volume 7B, "Military Pay Policy and Procedures for Retired Pay," and Volume 7C, "Special Military Pay/Personnel Programs and Operating Procedures." This Volume, Volume 7C, describes policies and procedures for various unique military payment programs.

This Volume of the Regulation applies to the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Military Departments, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Combatant Commands, the Inspector General of the Department of Defense, the Defense Agencies, and the DoD Field Activities (hereafter referred to collectively as "DoD Components").

This Volume of the Regulation is effective immediately and is mandatory for use by all DoD Components. Heads of DoD Components shall ensure that it is adhered to in day-to-day operations and in the design, modification, and maintenance of their Component's financial management and reporting system or systems. The Heads of DoD Components shall not issue supplementary directives/regulations without the prior written approval of the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller).

The reporting requirements in this Regulation are exempt from licensing in accordance with paragraph E.4.f. of DoD 8910.1-M, "DoD Procedures for Management of Information Requirements," November 1986.

Recommended changes to and requests for deviations from or exceptions to the provisions of this Volume of the Regulation should be forwarded through appropriate chain of command channels along with specific justification, to:

Office of the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller)
Office of the Deputy Chief Financial Officer (Financial Commerce)
1100 Defense Pentagon
Washington, DC 20301-1100

All 15 volumes of the Financial Management Regulation are available on the Internet at: <http://www.dtic.mil/comptroller/fmr/>. Printed or CD-Rom copies of the Regulation may be ordered through the Internet Homepage or directly from the Defense Automated Printing Service, at 1401 S. Fern Street, Arlington, VA 22202, or by telephone at (703) 607-5212.

CHAPTER 1SPECIAL AND VOLUNTARY SEPARATION PAYMENT PROCEDURES

(NOTE: Concurrent with the publication of this chapter, Volume 12, Chapter 17, “Military Special Separation Benefit and Voluntary Separation Incentive Programs” will be cancelled.)

0101 GENERAL PROVISIONS

010101. Purpose. This chapter provides procedures for the administration and payment of the special separation benefits programs to mid-career service members of the Military Services in over strength inventories. Special separation benefits (SSB) and voluntary separation incentives (VSI) are authorized in Title 10, United States Code, sections 1174a and 1175.

010102. Applicability and Scope. This chapter applies to each Defense Finance and Accounting Service (DFAS) Center that maintains a military pay system, each Military Service personnel activity, the Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC), and all eligible members of the Military Services.

010103. Policy. The VSI/SSB programs provide two alternative incentive payments and benefit options, each with a requirement for affiliation with the Ready Reserve of a Reserve component. Service members who are approved for the voluntary separation incentive programs have the option to receive either a VSI or an SSB.

010104. Responsibilities

A. Service Member's Personnel Activity. The member's servicing active duty personnel activity is the primary coordinating activity responsible for the overall administration of these programs. Each activity approves a separation with entitlement to a VSI or an SSB, and advises the appropriate DFAS Center through normal personnel/finance communications media. The personnel activity also notifies the appropriate DFAS Center immediately if there are any changes which would affect payment.

B. VSI Recipient's Reserve Personnel Activity. The VSI recipient's Reserve personnel activity must notify the DFAS-Cleveland Center (see subparagraph 010202.B.3 for the address) in the event that the member is transferred from the Ready Reserve to the Standby Reserve or the Retired Reserve, through fault considered to be within the control of the member. This notification is necessary to stop any remaining VSI installments.

C. Service Member's Original DFAS Center. The member's original servicing DFAS Center will record the initial VSI/SSB payment, as well as process any correction or change authorized by the personnel activity. The applicable DFAS Center sends all corrections or changes made to a member's initial VSI/SSB payment to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, within 30 days after the account has been corrected. The member's original servicing DFAS Center is the primary source for information concerning the initial VSI/SSB payment, as well as general guidance concerning VSI/SSB payment procedures. Each DFAS Center is responsible for keeping the DFAS-Cleveland Center informed of any changes to a member's account.

D. DFAS-Cleveland Center. The DFAS-Cleveland Center is the central site location for all VSI annual payments. The member's original servicing DFAS Center transfers VSI accounts to the DFAS-Cleveland Center following the initial payment. Once the account is transferred, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will provide customer service support for VSI recipients and become the primary source for VSI account assistance and maintenance. As such, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will maintain a VSI telephone "hot line" and a customer service unit that is responsive to the needs of the VSI recipient. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will maintain the VSI account until all annual installments are paid, or until the death of the VSI member recipient.

E. DFAS-Denver Center. The DFAS-Denver Center is the central site location for all VSI annual beneficiary payments. Following the death of a VSI recipient, the DFAS-Denver Center will provide customer service support for designated beneficiaries and be the primary source for VSI member beneficiary account assistance and maintenance.

F. Defense Manpower Data Center. The DMDC will maintain a personnel data base that identifies and tracks participation in the VSI/SSB programs. Because of the requirement for Reserve affiliation, the DMDC will provide advice of Reserve participation to the DFAS-Cleveland Center.

G. Department of Defense Board of Actuaries. The DoD Board of Actuaries (hereinafter referred to as the "Board") shall:

1. Determine an amount which is the total present value, as of January 1, 1993, of the future benefits payable to persons who separate under VSI prior to January 1, 1993. The Board also shall determine an amortization schedule for liquidating the original unfunded liability of the "Fund." (The "Fund" is classified as a trust fund and has been designated as account number 97X8335, "Voluntary Separation Incentive Fund." This Fund will consist of both a receipt and an expenditure account.)

2. Determine an amount which is the total present value, as of September 30, 1995, of the future benefits payable to persons who separate under VSI after December 31, 1992.

3. For each fiscal year after fiscal year 1996, carry out an actuarial valuation for the Fund and determine any new unfunded liabilities arising from gains and losses to the Fund. The Board also shall determine an amortization schedule for liquidating these new unfunded liabilities. For the upcoming fiscal years, the Board will determine, in sufficient time as to be included in the fiscal year's budget requests, the amount of Department of Defense contributions to the Fund necessary to comply with the amortization schedules for the Fund's original and new unfunded liabilities.

0102 REQUIREMENTS AND PAYMENTS PROCEDURES010201. General Administrative Requirements

A. Eligibility for VSI/SSB. The Secretary concerned may offer a member of the Armed Forces the opportunity to apply for VSI/SSB if the member meets the administrative requirements found in DoDFMR Vol. 7A, Chapter 35.

B. Application for VSI/SSB. Service members meeting the eligibility criteria described above may request, and subsequently enter into, a written agreement with the Secretary concerned to separate from active duty and accept an appointment or enlistment in, or transfer to, the Ready Reserve of a Reserve component.

C. Approval for VSI/SSB. Eligible service members will not automatically be entitled to receive VSI/SSB based solely on their request. The Secretary concerned will review all applications for special and voluntary separation benefits and approve only those consistent with the needs of the Military Department concerned.

010202. Payment Processing

A. VSI/SSB Personnel Support. The servicing personnel activity will provide Service members who are approved for special voluntary separation benefits with guidance and counseling necessary to complete the separation process. The personnel activity will complete all documentation necessary to support the initial VSI/SSB payment.

B. VSI payments

1. Upon separation, the Service member will complete a DD Form 2058 (State of Legal Residence Certificate) and IRS Form W-4 (Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate). Members who wish to designate beneficiaries must complete a VSI Beneficiary Designation Form.

2. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will send annual VSI payments to the VSI recipient's bank via electronic funds transfer (EFT). The Service member should complete SF 1199-A to establish EFT payments. If an SF 1199-A is not available, the VSI recipient must submit the financial institution's routing transit number and a canceled check or deposit slip, that shows his/her account number and bank address.

3. The Service member's servicing personnel activity will submit completed forms to:

Defense Finance and Accounting Service
Cleveland Center (Code FRCBC)
1240 East Ninth Street
Cleveland, OH 44199-2056

4. The Service member's original servicing DFAS Center will close out the member's active duty pay account and record the initial VSI payment. That DFAS Center will send information needed to establish the VSI account, via file transfer, to the DFAS-Cleveland Center within 30 days after the active duty pay account is closed. However, whenever a member has identified him/herself as a VSI recipient, but no record was transferred to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, the member's original servicing DFAS Center immediately will initiate efforts to confirm VSI status and provide either the required account information, or VSI account denial, to the DFAS-Cleveland Center within two workdays after a member's status has been confirmed. If any DFAS Center changes or corrects a member's status, e.g., a member previously identified as a VSI separate corrected to a SSB separate, that Center must notify the DFAS-Cleveland Center immediately with a telephone call and follow up with a facsimile document authorizing the change.

5. After the initial payment, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will issue all subsequent annual payments on the anniversary of the member's separation. In the event that the anniversary date falls on a weekend or holiday, make the payment according to the same rules followed for regular active duty paydays.

C. SSB Payments. The member's original servicing DFAS Center will make all SSB payments. The respective Center will close out the member's active duty pay account, record the SSB payment, and send information concerning the SSB account to the DFAS-Cleveland Center within 30 days after the active duty account was closed.

D. Withholding Requirements

1. Federal Income Tax Withholding (FITW)

a. Initial VSI and SSB Payments. Withhold FITW at the applicable flat rate percentage of the gross payment. All SSB and initial VSI payments are included with the member's other taxable pay amounts during that calendar year and reported via the IRS Form W-2 in January of the following calendar year.

b. Annual VSI Payments. Withhold FITW from annual VSI payments based upon the annual Percentage Method of Withholding Table. A valid IRS Form W-4 is required to compute the proper withholding amount under this method. If the member does not submit an IRS Form W-4, compute the tax withholding as if the member is single, with no withholding exemptions. All anniversary payments are produced by the DFAS-Cleveland Center and reported to the member via IRS Form W-2 in January of the calendar year following the payment.

2. State Income Tax Withholding (SITW). All VSI and SSB payments are subject to State withholding for residents of states which have entered into an agreement with the Secretary of the Treasury. State withholding and reporting for the SSB and initial VSI payment is based on the member's legal residence at the time of separation from active duty (see DoDFMR Volume 7A, paragraph 440106C, for those states which have entered into this agreement). For VSI anniversary payments, withhold State income tax based upon the State of legal residence claimed on DD Form 2058 or, if no new DD Form 2058 is submitted, withhold State income tax based upon the State of legal residence claimed on the member's DD Form 2058 on file at separation.

3. The DFAS Center will not withhold FICA or any other payroll taxes from VSI and SSB payments.

0103 DEBT COLLECTION PROCEDURES

010301. General. VSI/SSB payments are subject to offset for debt collection. When a Service member is released from active duty with debts due the United States, offset from the initial VSI/SSB entitlement the amount of the debt. In the case of VSI, if the debt is greater than the initial payment, the remaining debt may be collected from subsequent installments. Collections are made according to the administrative offset provisions contained in 31 U.S.C. 3716. The collection of debts from VSI/SSB payments must be consistent with standard debt collection procedures and policies.

010302. Debt Collection

A. VSI Overpayment

1. Overpayment of Initial VSI installment. The DFAS Center that paid the Initial VSI payment will pursue collection action using "out of service" debt collection procedures. If the VSI account has already been transferred to the DFAS-Cleveland VSI pay system, notify the DFAS-Cleveland Center, Code FRCBC, within five days with the correct payment information. If debt collection actions prove unsuccessful, follow the provisions of paragraph 010302.C.2. below.

2. VSI Anniversary Overpayment. A debt incurred as a result of an anniversary overpayment, is pursued as an "out of service" debt by the DFAS-Cleveland Center. If the debt cannot be collected through these procedures, offset the amount owed from subsequent installment payments. This offset will include any applicable interest, administrative, and/or penalty charges.

B. SSB Overpayment. The Service member's original servicing DFAS Center will treat a debt incurred as a result of overpayment of SSB entitlement, as an "out of service" debt. Pursue overpayment according to standard debt collection procedures.

C. Active Duty Debts

1. Amounts due the United States should be offset against the initial VSI/SSB payment at the time of the member's separation. The member's original servicing DFAS Center will pursue any uncollectible amounts using "out of service" debt collection procedures.

2. The DFAS-DE Center will retain debts for VSI recipients as long as collection efforts are satisfactory. If collection efforts prove unsuccessful, the servicing DFAS Center will forward the debt to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, Code FRCBC, for administrative offset against the next VSI installment payment. Such debts should be transferred to the DFAS-Cleveland Center no later than 90 days before the next VSI installment payment using a DD Form 139 (Pay Adjustment Authorization). The DD Form 139 must state that due process has been accorded the member. Once offset action has been taken, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will credit the proper military personnel appropriation and notify the applicable DFAS Center of the amounts collected. If the total debt cannot be liquidated from a single VSI anniversary installment, the respective DFAS Center should resubmit the remaining debt for offset, including any applicable interest, administrative and/or penalty charges, until the total debt has been satisfied.

D. Debts from Non-Appropriated Fund Instrumentalities (NAFI). A member's annual VSI installments are available for collection of debts owed to NAFI activities.

1. The NAFI is responsible for providing notification of the existence of the debt and due process to the debtor. The initial NAFI notification to the debtor must include demand for immediate payment in full of the debt.

2. The NAFI must send a DD Form 139 to the DFAS-Cleveland Center to effect collection (see subparagraph 010202.B.3. above for the address). The DD Form 139 must contain the following statement: "Member has been provided due process according to DoDFMR, Volume 7A, subparagraph 500104.A.2."

3. The entire amount of the VSI entitlement is available for offset according to the administrative offset provisions contained in Title 31, United States Code, section 3716.

E. Debts from Non-DoD Federal Agencies. The DMDC will receive and certify all requests for administrative offset from non-DoD Federal agencies. Once certified, the DMDC will send the request, via a DD Form 139 or letter of transmittal, to the member's original servicing DFAS Center. This DFAS Center will satisfy the request by administrative offset of the SSB or initial VSI payment. For VSI payments, once the account is transferred to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, refer any debts to the DFAS-Cleveland Center for offset against future VSI installments.

010303. Garnishments. Garnishment orders remain in effect. Transfer garnishment cases for VSI recipients to the DFAS-Cleveland Center for administration.

0104 BENEFICIARY PAYMENT PROCEDURES

010401. Designation of Beneficiaries

A. Service members may designate beneficiaries to receive VSI installments which remain unpaid after the death of the member.

1. The VSI recipient should make designations using the VSI Beneficiary Designation Form. The VSI recipient may designate different percentages to be received by multiple recipients. In the event percentage elections are not made, divide payments evenly among the designated beneficiaries.

2. The member's servicing personnel activity will administer the form at time of separation. Send the completed form to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, Code FRCBC, within 30 days of the election.

3. After separation, the VSI recipient may change his/her beneficiary information by sending a notarized VSI Beneficiary Designation Form to the DFAS-Cleveland Center.

B. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will maintain beneficiary forms for all VSI accounts until the end of the VSI entitlement period, or until the person's death.

010402. Notification of Death and Beneficiary Claim

A. The DFAS-Cleveland Center requires notification of a VSI recipient's death. Proof of death, such as a civil death certificate, is required. Upon receipt of proper notification and proof of death, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will close out the member's active VSI account and transfer it to the DFAS-Denver Center for beneficiary payment.

B. The DFAS-Denver Center will notify the beneficiary of his/her entitlement to the deceased VSI recipient's future VSI payments. The DFAS-Denver Center must receive a claim by the beneficiary before any payments can be made.

C. No specific form is required for making claim for beneficiary payments. A statement claiming future VSI payments, signed by the beneficiary, and with the beneficiary's social security number, will be sufficient. Beneficiary claims are sent to:

Defense Finance and Accounting Service
Denver Center (DFAS-DE/FRSA)
6760 E. Irvington Place
Denver, CO 80279-6000

010403. Beneficiary Payment

A. The DFAS-Denver Center will make all remaining installments to the designated beneficiaries. If a valid designation was not made or received, distribute payments according to the order of precedence contained in 10 U.S.C. 2771. Continue to make annual installments on the date of the deceased VSI recipient's original anniversary payment date.

B. The DFAS-Denver Center will pay annual installments to the beneficiary for the remainder of the deceased VSI recipient's entitlement period. Payments will be distributed to a beneficiary's estate in the event a beneficiary dies after a VSI recipient's date of death. The DFAS-Denver Center will make such payments according to the laws governing the beneficiary's state of legal residence.

C. Withholding Requirements

1. FITW is based upon the IRS Form W-4P submitted by the recipient. If an IRS Form W-4P is not submitted, the DFAS Center will calculate withholding as for a married person claiming three withholding allowances.

2. State income taxes or FICA will not be withheld from beneficiary payments.

3. The DFAS-Denver Center will issue an IRS Form 1099-R to each beneficiary recipient.

D. The DFAS-Denver Center will not honor garnishment orders against beneficiary payments.

E. Beneficiary payments generally are not subject to offset. For instance, VSI beneficiary payments are not offset even though the beneficiary is entitled to receive Social Security on behalf of the deceased VSI recipient. However, if a beneficiary is indebted to the government, the debt may be collected from VSI installment payments.

010404. Report of Existence. The DFAS-Denver Center will send a report of existence letter annually to each beneficiary.

0105 ACCOUNTING PROCEDURAL GUIDANCE

010501. Purpose. This section prescribes accounting procedures for implementing and administering the SSB and VSI programs.

010502. Financing Sources

A. Special Separation Benefit Program:

1. Special Separation Benefit (SSB) entitlements will be funded from the current Military Personnel appropriation.

2. All obligations for SSB will be recorded separately from other pay and allowances.

B. Voluntary Separation Incentive Program. All Voluntary Separation Incentive (VSI) Program payments made after December 31, 1992, are paid from a "Voluntary Separation Incentive Fund" (hereafter referred to as the "Fund") established by the Department of the Treasury. The Fund is used to accumulate amounts needed to finance liabilities accrued under the VSI Program.

010503. Responsibilities

A. The Office of Deputy Comptroller (Program/Budget), OUSD(C), shall include in Military Personnel Appropriations requests, amounts sufficient to fund SSB/VSI payments and liquidate the unfunded liabilities of the Fund in accordance with amortization schedules determined by the DoD Board of Actuaries.

B. The Military Departments shall deposit amounts annually for liquidation of the original unfunded liability and all other payments due into the VSI Fund according to the amortization schedule provided by the DoD Board of Actuaries and the military department specific "break-outs" determined by the Office of the Deputy Comptroller (Program/Budget).

C. The Defense Finance and Accounting Service shall:

1. Establish appropriate operational procedures to manage fiscal aspects of the SSB program and prepare necessary fiscal reports.

2. Establish appropriate operational procedures to manage fiscal aspects of, account for, invest, and report on the assets of the Fund.

010504. Procedures

A. The Military Departments shall:

1. Deposit required amounts into the Fund (in accordance with subparagraph 010503.B. above) by use of the USA Card-On-line Payment and Collection System (OPAC) or the Standard Form 1081 (Voucher and Schedule of Withdrawals and Credits) citing account 97X8335.1. A copy of Standard Form 1081 will be forwarded by facsimile to DFAS-HQ/AE (FAX (703) 607-2824). Forward this copy no later than three business days prior to the effective date of the transaction.

2. Record obligations in the respective Military Personnel Appropriations annually in amounts equal to those determined by the DoD Board of Actuaries in its amortization schedule. Disbursements from the Military Personnel Appropriation to the Fund will be equal to amounts obligated.

3. Authorize transfer of funds from the Military Personnel Appropriation to the VSI Fund. Report total current liability payments to the VSI Fund annually, using the USA Card, OPAC or an SF 1081, both as a disbursement from the applicable Military Personnel Appropriation (as cited in subparagraph 010504.A.1 above) and as a deposit to the fund. Forward a copy of the SF 1081 to DFAS-HQ/AE by electronic media no later than three business days prior to the end of the month.

4. Submit a memorandum to DFAS-HQ/AE (FAX (703) 607-2824) indicating the estimated initial disbursements to Service members for the next month.

B. The Defense Finance and Accounting Service (DFAS) shall:

1. Make the initial VSI payments from the fund charging account 97X8335.

2. Report collection and disbursement transactions in the monthly Statement of Transactions (DD Form 1329).

3. Ensure applicable transactions are recorded in the appropriate budgetary and proprietary accounts in all military pay and other accounting systems as prescribed in this Regulation.

4. Ensure the Fund is classified as a trust fund and has been designated as account number 97X8335, "Voluntary Separation Incentive Fund." This Fund will consist of both a receipt and an expenditure account.

a. Make deposits to the following Fund receipt accounts as applicable:

(1) 97X8335.1 - Employing Agency Contributions, Voluntary Separation Incentive Fund. Payments from the Military Departments for accrual of future voluntary separation incentive programs.

(2) 97X8335.2 - Earnings of Investments, Voluntary Separation Incentive Fund. Payments of interest by Treasury on Fund investments.

b. Use the following accounts for reporting investment activity within the Fund:

(1) (88)97X8335 - Investment in Treasury Securities (Par), Voluntary Separation Incentive Fund. To record the purchase of Treasury securities in the Fund.

(2) (98)97X8335- Redemption of Treasury Securities (Par), Voluntary Separation Incentive Fund. To record the redemption of Treasury securities.

(3) (75)97X8335 - Unrealized Discount on Treasury Securities. To record unrealized discounts on Treasury securities.

c. Amounts deposited to the above receipt accounts are immediately available to the Fund for investment or payment of Voluntary Separation Incentive benefits. After December 31, 1992, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will make all anniversary payments of benefits payable to persons under this program from the Fund, charging account 97X8335. The DFAS-Cleveland Center must also submit to DFAS-HQ/AE a monthly forecast of anniversary payments. One month's forecast may be submitted each month or else, a twelve month forecast is due annually. In either case, the forecast submission is due no later than three business days prior to the month the disbursements are expected to occur. The DFAS-Denver Center will make anniversary payments to beneficiaries and submit a forecast of beneficiary payments to DFAS-HQ/AE.

d. Perform accounting at the budget activity level, at a minimum. Establish lower level accounts as necessary to meet reporting requirements.

5. Ensure the following VSI and SSB reporting requirements are met:

a. Appropriation Status by Fiscal Year Program and Subaccounts (Acct Rpt (M) 1002). The DFAS will report according to the instructions in Volume 6, Chapter 4 or the Department of Defense Financial Management Regulation (DoD 7000.14-R). DFAS-HQ/AE will submit this report for the Fund expenditure account using Budget Activity 1 for Officers and Budget Activity 2 for Enlisted Personnel, as currently required for DoD Military Personnel Appropriations. Each DFAS Center will submit feeder reports according to the schedule of due dates published by DFAS-HQ/AE. Complete all applicable columns of the report, including disbursements for each budget subactivity.

(1) Special Separation Benefit Program. Report obligations by fiscal program year within Acct Rpt(M)1002 by budget category as a separate line. Use two separate cost categories as shown below:

Special Separation Benefit
(SSB) – Officers
Cost of Personnel

Special Separation Benefit
(SSB) - Enlisted
Cost of Personnel

(2) Voluntary Separation Incentive Program. Report military personnel separated under this program on or after January 1, 1993, separately under account 97X8335 in the Acct Rpt(M)1002 by budget category. Use two separate cost categories as shown below:

Voluntary Separation Incentive
(VSI) – Officers
Cost of Personnel

Voluntary Separation Incentive
(VSI) - Enlisted
Cost of Personnel

b. Report on Budget Execution (SF 133). The DFAS will submit SF 133 for the Fund's receipt and expenditure accounts. Each DFAS Center will submit feeder SF 133 reports on its disbursements by limits established for each Service and for initial, anniversary, and beneficiary payments to DFAS-HQ/AE.

CHAPTER 2MILITARY PAY SYSTEM RECONCILIATIONS*0201 PURPOSE

This chapter describes the requirements and procedures DFAS Centers must follow to ensure the integrity and accountability of the military pay systems under their control.

0202 APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE

This chapter applies to each DFAS Center which maintains a military pay system.

0203 POLICY

The basic tenets of any fiscally responsible pay system include: accurate calculation of entitlements, disbursement only to authorized recipients, and proper summarization and/or reporting of results. To accomplish these objectives, each military pay system must perform periodic reconciliations which verify the validity of the payment and then accurately account for the disbursement. A periodic match between each military pay and corresponding personnel system helps to ensure the propriety of payment to authorized recipients. A gross to net pay reconciliation will provide the checks and balances necessary to verify the accuracy of the system's disbursements and output products.

0204 MILITARY PAYROLL AND PERSONNEL FILE SYSTEM RECONCILIATION

020401. Responsibilities. Each DFAS Center that does not have a shared military pay/personnel database is required to perform a data match and complete reconciliation every two months. The match and reconciliation results must be documented, certified by the applicable DFAS Center Deputy Director for Finance, and retained on file for at least one year.

020402. Requirements. Each military pay/personnel “bump” will match, as a minimum, the following data elements: name, Social Security Number (SSN), pay grade, rank, and if applicable, loss date. Since each DFAS Center interfaces with a unique personnel database, DFAS Centers may supplement the basic reconciliation with additional data elements or do other pay/personnel system integrity checks. Discrepancies resulting from this reconciliation must be resolved before the next systems match is performed.

0205 GROSS TO NET RECONCILIATION

020501. Responsibilities. A gross pay to net pay reconciliation is required monthly to ensure gross payroll entitlements, minus total deductions, equal net disbursements. Each DFAS Center must perform a gross-to-net payroll reconciliation by the end of the calendar month following the payroll month using the data from the month being reconciled. For example, for the payroll period ending March 31, reconciliation must be completed no later than April 30. This reconciliation must be accomplished using a Military Payroll Disbursement Reconciliation Form (figure 2-1). These forms, and all supporting documentation, must remain on file for at least two years.

020502. Requirements. The Military Payroll Disbursement Reconciliation Form will be used by each DFAS Center to document the gross-to-net reconciliation process. Each DFAS Center's Deputy Director for Finance must sign this form. Amounts shown on each line of the form should be the net value of all retroactive adjustments made during the month. In addition, each line entry must have supporting documentation. This supporting documentation may be in the form of military pay system output products, file search products, or computations of various system output products. If line entries are a compilation of more than one output product, the DFAS Center will show how the line entry was computed and exactly where (what output product/report and line item) the figures used in the compilation can be found. This process must be documented. All documentation supporting the form must be kept a minimum of two years.

To ensure uniformity in the reconciliation process, each DFAS Center will use the following line-by-line instructions:

A. Line 1a.(1). Basic Pay. This is the total basic pay credited. It includes any pay forfeited during the month and any increased basic pay earned during a period of service essential to public interests. This amount is net of any absent without leave/unauthorized absence adjustments.

B. Line 1a.(2). BAH. This is the total Basic Allowances for Housing credited during the month.

C. Line 1a.(3). BAS. This is the Basic Allowance for Subsistence total credited during the month.

D. Line 1a.(4). Incentive Pay. This is the total incentive pay credited during the month including: Hazardous Duty Incentive Pay, Aviation Career Incentive Pay, Submarine Duty Pay, Parachute Duty Pay, Flight Deck Duty Pay, Demolition Duty Pay, Experimental Stress Duty Pay, Toxic Fuels Duty Pay, Toxic Pesticides Duty Pay, Dangerous Viruses Lab Duty Pay, and Chemical Munitions Pay.

E. Line 1a.(5). Special Pay. This is the total amount of special pay credited during the month including: Special Pays for Medical, Dental, Veterinarians, and Optometrists; Proficiency and Special Duty Assignment Pay; Hostile Fire or Imminent Danger Pay; Diving Duty Pay; Nuclear-Qualified Officer Pay; Special Pay for Officers Serving in Positions of Unusual Responsibility; Special Pay for Enlisted Members Extending Duty at Designated Overseas Locations; Special Continuation Pay for Aviation Career Officers; Engineering and Scientific Career Continuation Pay; Special Foreign Duty Pay; Special Sea Duty Pay; Special Foreign Language Proficiency Pay; Aviation Retention Bonus Pay; Enlistment/Reenlistment Bonus; and Special Pay for Nurse Corps Officers.

F. Line 1a.(6). Uniform/Clothing Allowances. This is the total clothing, uniform, and equipment allowances credited during the month.

G. Line 1a.(7). Advance Pay. This is the total of Pay and Allowances advanced during the month.

H. Line 1a.(8). FSA. This is the total amount of Family Separation Allowances credited during the month.

I. Line 1a.(9). FSH. This is the total amount of Family Separation Housing credited during the month.

J. Line 1a. (10). OHA. This is the total amount Overseas Housing Allowance credited during the month.

K. Line 1a.(11). COLA. This is the total amount of Cost of Living Allowances credited during the month.

L. Line 1a.(12). Other Entitlements. This is the total of all other entitlements earned during the month. This may include, but is not limited to: Personal Monetary Allowances for qualifying Flag Officers, all types of Separation Pay, Accrued Leave Pay, and Death Gratuities (if applicable).

M. Line 1b. Total Current Month Entitlements. This is the total of lines 1a.(1.) through 1a.(14.) and should represent the total amount of entitlements earned and advanced.

N. Line 1c. Prior Months Unpaid Brought Forward. This is the total amount of all prior months earned but unliquidated entitlements.

O. Line 1d. Gross Entitlements/Credits. This is the total of lines 1b and line 1c. This line represents the Center's total pay liability for that payroll month.

P. Line 2a. (1). Federal Income Taxes. This is the total amount of federal income taxes withheld during the month.

Q. Line 2a. (2). Social Security Taxes. This is the total amount of social security taxes withheld during the month.

R. Line 2a. (2a). Employee's Contribution for Social Security Taxes. This is the total amount of social security taxes applied to employees contribution withheld during the month.

S. Line 2a. (2b). Employer's Contribution for Social Security Taxes. This is the total amount of social security taxes applied to employer's contribution during the month.

T. Line 2a. (3). Medicare Taxes. This is the total amount of Medicare taxes withheld during the month.

U. Line 2a. (3a). Employer's contribution for Medicare Taxes. This is the total amount that the employer contributes to Medicare taxes during the month.

V. Line 2a. (4). State Income Taxes. This is the total amount of state income taxes withheld during the month.

W. Line 2a.(5). Dental Insurance. This is the total amount withheld for dependents dental insurance.

X. Line 2a.(6). SGLI. This is the total amount withheld for Servicemembers' Group Life Insurance.

Y. Line 2a.(7). AFRHTF. This is the total amount withheld from pay for deposit to the Armed Forces Retirement Home Trust Fund (AFRHTF).

Z. Line 2a.(8). Repay Advance Pay. This is the total amount of advance pay repaid during the month.

AA. Line 2a.(9). Bond Allotments. This is the total withheld for Savings Bonds allotments.

BB. Line 2a.(10). Allotments (other). This is the total amount withheld for member allotment payments (other than for savings bonds).

CC. Line 2a.(11). Indebtedness. This is the total amount of member's pay deducted as a result of indebtedness. This does not include indebtedness from garnishment actions or repayment of advance pay.

DD. Line 2a.(12). Garnishment. This is the total amount withheld as a result of garnishment action.

EE. Line 2a.(13). VEAP. This is the total amount withheld for the Veterans Education Assistance Program. MGIB. This is the total amount withheld for the Montgomery GI Bill.

FF. Line 2a.(14). Fines and Forfeitures. This is the total amount of fines and forfeitures withheld during the month. This does not include any amounts to be paid to the AFRHTF.

GG. Line 2a.(15). Other Deductions. This is the total of any other amounts withheld from the member's pay. Other deductions may include, but are not limited to amounts withheld for deposit to the Savings Deposit Program.

HH. Line 2a.(16). Payments. This is the total amount of disbursements reported during the month. This includes mid and end-of-month payrolls, and all transient, casual, partial, one time payments (such as bonuses), and any other local payments posted to the master file during the month.

II. Line 2a.(17). Fines/Forfeitures to Homes. This is the total amount of fines and forfeitures withheld from members pay to be deposited to the AFRHTF.

JJ.. Line 2a(18). Retired Pay Accrual This is the total amount applied to member's accrued retired pay account for the month.

KK. Line 2b. Total Current Month Deductions. This is the total of lines 2a.(1.) through 2a.(18.). This represents the total amount of deductions and payments made for the monthly reporting period.

LL.. Line 2c. Current Month Unpaid Carried Forward. This is the total amount of entitlements earned during the month, plus total amounts carried forward from previous months, minus all deductions, that were not liquidated during the month. This represents the amount that will be carried forward on line 1c. of the reconciliation form for the following month.

MM. Line 2d. Gross deductions. This is the total of lines 2b and 2c. This represents the total amount of deductions, payments, and earned unliquidated entitlements for the month.

NN. The amounts on line 1d and 2d must equal.

CHAPTER 3DISPOSITION OF FORFEITURES AND FINES AS A RESULT OF COURTS-MARTIAL, NONJUDICIAL PUNISHMENT, AND DESERTION0301 PURPOSE

This chapter describes the transfer of certain forfeitures and fines, as a result of courts-martial, nonjudicial punishment, and desertion, to the Armed Forces Retirement Home Trust Fund (AFRHTF).

0302 APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE

This chapter applies to each DFAS Center that maintains a military pay system and to limited duty officers, regular and Reserve warrant officers, and regular and Reserve enlisted members of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps.

0303 GENERAL POLICY

The Armed Forces Retirement Home Board determines, on the basis of the financial needs of the Armed Forces Retirement Home, a percentage of forfeitures and fines adjudged by courts-martial and nonjudicial punishment, and amounts forfeited on account of desertion against limited duty officers, warrant officers, and enlisted members to be transferred to the AFRHTF. The Armed Forces Retirement Home Board has determined that 100 percent of all forfeitures and fines will be transferred to the AFRHTF. Transfer only those amounts which are in excess of any indebtedness to the United States and amounts owed to individuals. For the purposes of this chapter, the term "indebted" or "debt" refers to amounts due from the member for reimbursement to the United States; for example, an amount due the Internal Revenue Service pursuant to a tax levy, which may ordinarily be thought of as a "debt" to the United States, is not a "reimbursement" or "debt" for purposes of this chapter. "The term "amounts owed to individuals" refers to amounts owed from a member's pay by direction of a commanding officer pursuant to Article 139 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice."

0304 PROCEDURES

030401. Transfer of Fines. When a limited duty officer, warrant officer, or enlisted member is sentenced by a court-martial or nonjudicial punishment to pay a fine, the supporting DFAS Center will transfer the amount to the AFRHTF within 30 days from the end of the month in which the fine was collected.

030402. Transfer of Courts-Martial and Nonjudicial Punishment Forfeitures. When a limited duty officer, warrant officer, or enlisted member is sentenced to forfeit all or part of his/her pay, the supporting DFAS Center will transfer the amount to the AFRHTF within 30 days from the end of the month in which the forfeiture is collected. Multiple-month forfeitures, or forfeiture amounts which are collected over two or more months, will be transferred on a monthly basis to the AFRHTF. Do not wait until the entire amount of the forfeiture has been collected before making such transfers. For example: a member is sentenced to forfeiture of pay of $500 per month for 2 months, with the convening authority approving the sentence on November 29. The transfer would be $33.33 ($500 divided by 30 days, times 2 days left in the month) no later than December 30, $500 ($500 divided by 30 days times 30 days) no later than January 30, and $466.67 ($500 divided by 30 days times 28 days left uncollected) no later than March 2, into the AFRHTF.

030403. Transfer of Courts-Martial and Nonjudicial Punishment Forfeitures When Indebted to the Government.

A. Separation from Service not involved. When a limited duty officer, warrant officer, or enlisted member is sentenced to forfeit all or part of his/her pay, and the member is indebted to the government, the supporting DFAS Center will not transfer any amounts to the AFRHTF until all known debts have been established. Any forfeiture amounts exceeding the uncollected indebtedness will be transferred to the AFRHTF. All amounts collected thereafter, not to exceed the total amount of the forfeiture, will be transferred to the AFRHTF. (For example: Member has a forfeiture of $200 per month for 2 months, with outstanding debts totaling $300. Transfer $100 to the Armed Forces Retirement Home Trust Fund only after the first $300 of forfeitures have been collected. Transfer the remaining $300 to the AFRHTF as the debt is collected.)

B. Members are separated from the Service. A forfeiture of a limited duty officer, warrant officer, or enlisted member is not credited to the AFRHTF when the member has unsatisfied indebtedness at date of separation, except as shown in paragraph 030404 below. It remains in the military personnel appropriation. If the total unsatisfied debt at separation is less than the forfeiture, credit the difference between the two to the AFRHTF. The supporting DFAS Center will transfer to the AFRHTF Trust Fund the amounts of the debt that subsequently are collected, not to exceed the total amount of the forfeiture. If the unsatisfied debt at separation is more than the forfeiture, no amounts will be transferred to the AFRHTF at that time. The AFRHTF will receive only those amounts subsequently collected that exceed the difference between the original uncollected debt and the forfeiture amount.

Example 1: If the uncollected indebtedness is $500 and forfeiture is $600, the supporting DFAS Center will transfer the difference of $100 to the AFRHTF. All further collections there will be transferred to the AFRHTF.

Example 2: If the uncollected indebtedness is $800 and forfeiture is $500 at separation, no amounts will be transferred to the AFRHTF at this time. If subsequent collection recovers $700, the first $300 ($800 indebtedness minus $500 forfeiture) collected will be credited to the applicable military personnel appropriation, and the next $400 received will be credited to the AFRHTF.

030404. Indebtedness After Forfeiture Becomes Effective. Debts incurred by a limited duty officer, warrant officer, or enlisted member after a sentence has been executed and before credit of the forfeiture to the AFRHTF, do not affect the disposition of the forfeiture. The forfeiture will be credited to the AFRHTF as if the indebtedness did not exist.

030405. Remission of Indebtedness. If a forfeiture of a limited duty officer, warrant officer, or enlisted member is not credited to the AFRHTF due to outstanding debts, and the unliquidated portion of the debts is thereafter remitted or canceled, the DFAS Center will not credit the forfeiture that equals the amount of indebtedness remitted or canceled to the AFRHTF. It remains in the military personnel appropriation.

030406. Commissioned Officers. The DFAS Center will credit forfeitures and fines of Regular and Reserve commissioned officers (except warrant and limited duty officers), to the appropriation to which the member's pay is properly chargeable.

030407. Forfeitures as a Result of Desertion. When a limited duty officer, warrant officer, or enlisted member is declared a deserter, all pay and allowances that otherwise would accrue to the member if he/she were in a pay status, will be credited to the AFRHTF. Desertion forfeiture periods for the purposes of this paragraph begin on the date the member is declared a deserter and end on the day before the member is placed into another status (separated, return to duty, etc.).

030408. Transfer of Desertion Forfeitures. The DFAS Center will transfer desertion forfeitures according to the procedures in paragraph 030402, above.

CHAPTER 4REIMBURSEMENT OF ADOPTION EXPENSES*0401 PURPOSE

The purpose of this chapter is to describe the procedures necessary to reimburse adoption expenses to qualified members, as authorized by 10 U.S.C. 1052.

0402 APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE

This chapter applies to each DFAS Center that maintains a military pay system, each Military Service personnel activity, and Military Service and active duty members serving on continuous active duty for at least 180 days. This also includes full-time Active Guard/Reserve members on active duty orders for at least 180 days.

0403 POLICY

Service members specified in subsection 0402 above, whose adoption of a child under 18 years of age is finalized on or after December 5, 1991, may be reimbursed a maximum of $2,000 per child for qualified expenses related to the adoption. In the event of multiple adoptions, the maximum reimbursable amount is $5,000 per calendar year. The DFAS-Cleveland Center is responsible for paying all approved adoption reimbursement claims. DFAS-CL instruction 1341.1 contains amplifying information. The member's servicing DFAS Center is responsible for providing primary guidance concerning adoption expense reimbursement procedures. The date the claim form is served on the DFAS-Cleveland Center by certified mail determines the creditable calendar year for adoption expense reimbursement purposes.

0404 ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

040401. Active Duty Requirements. Service members defined in subsection 0402 above, must serve on continuous active duty for at least 180 days. In addition, members are not entitled to reimbursement expenses if they leave active duty before the adoption is final. However, applicants will remain eligible for reimbursement expenses if the adoption is final before leaving active duty, the final claim had been signed and certified by the member's commanding officer, and the claim is submitted to the DFAS-Cleveland Center prior to discharge. Members may request a voluntary extension of assignment beyond their normal expiration of term of service to complete the adoption process.

040402. Periods of Eligibility. An active duty member, who incurs expenses when adopting a child under 18 years of age, must have the adoption finalized on, or after, December 5, 1991. Members must submit a reimbursement request to the DFAS-Cleveland Center not later than one year after completion of an adoption, or within one year from July 29, 1993, whichever is later. However, qualifying members who incurred expenses adopting a child under 18 years of age during the period October 1, 1990, through December 4, 1991, were eligible for reimbursement, provided the member's application was submitted no later than October 23, 1993.

040403. Eligible Members. Adoption expense reimbursements may be paid to married or single members. However, if both parents are Service members (including members of the Coast Guard), only one member may be reimbursed for expenses related to the adoption of the same child.

040404. Qualifying Adoptions. Adoptions that qualify for reimbursement include: a child under the age of 18, intercountry adoptions, and adoptions of children with special needs (see DoD Instruction 1341.9, (reference (g)) for definition of children with special needs). These adoptions qualify only if they are arranged by a qualified adoption agency. A qualified adoption agency means a state or local government agency that has responsibility under state or local law for child placement through adoption, or a nonprofit, voluntary adoption agency that is authorized by state or local law to place children for adoption, or any other source authorized by a state to provide adoption placement, if the adoption is supervised by a court under state or local law. (As used in this Chapter, "state or local" refers to a state or locality in the United States. In addition, "arranged by" means that the appropriated agency played an active role in the planning and/or preparation stages that effectively led to the actual physical change of custody of a child to its adoptive parents.)"

0405 RESPONSIBILITIES

040501. Member Responsibilities.

A. Service members must submit requests for reimbursement for qualifying reimbursement expenses using DD Form 2675 (Reimbursement Request for Adoption Expenses). Forms can be obtained from the member's servicing personnel activity. The member will prepare a separate DD Form 2675 for each qualifying adoption. The completed reimbursement request and substantiating documentation must be submitted to the member's servicing personnel activity, which will review the package for completeness. If the request and documentation appear to be complete, the member's commanding officer or designee will certify the member's eligibility for reimbursement by completing block 30 of the DD Form 2675.

B. If neither the member nor the spouse is able to appear personally at the servicing personnel activity, completed claim requests and certification forms may be mailed to the personnel activity. The spouse of a Service member, who is unable to complete a claims package due to military duty, can sign a claim form under a power of attorney. All claims signed by a spouse must include the power of attorney as a part of the claims package.

C. Service members must substantiate all expenses with documentation, such as receipts marked "PAID", or canceled checks. Reconstruction of expense records is permissible when the original records are unavailable. In addition, the member is responsible for providing the appropriate documentation, which establishes that the adoption is final and that it was arranged by a qualified adoption agency, as defined in paragraph 040404. With respect to documents originating from a state or other authorized adoption agency, copies of those documents must be certified as true copies of the original by the State or adoption agency. If the original document is filed with the court, the member must submit a copy of the adoption order certified by the clerk of courts. These documents will not be returned to the member.

D. In determining whether an adoption of a child in a foreign country is final, a determination made by the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) will be considered conclusive. To document the INS determination, the member should submit a copy of the front and back of the resident alien card ("green card"), or if the green card is unavailable, obtain a letter from the INS which states the status of the child's adoption. If the member has surrendered the green card in order to apply for citizenship for the adopted child, a copy of the Certificate of Citizenship is acceptable.

E. The Service member is responsible for maintaining a file for the reimbursement claim. This file should contain copies of all paperwork related to the claim including the receipts, agency documentation, and court papers associated with the adoption proceedings or court certified copies, until the claim is paid or denied.

F. The Service member will submit only one reimbursement claim per adoption.

040502. Servicing Personnel Activity Responsibilities. The member's servicing personnel activity is the primary coordinating activity and the first point of contact for the reimbursement claim. That office is responsible for maintaining adequate stocks of DD Forms 2675, assisting the member in assembling the proper adoption expense receipts, and providing the member necessary guidance to accurately complete the reimbursement application. When completed, the Personnel Activity will mail the application by certified mail to:

Defense Finance and Accounting Service
Cleveland Center (Code FMA)
1240 East Ninth Street
Cleveland, OH 44199-2055

040503. Servicing DFAS Center. The member's servicing DFAS Center is the primary source for guidance concerning the adoption expense reimbursement program. The following are the DFAS Center primary points of contact:

DFAS-Cleveland Center
(Code FMA)
Commercial: (216) 522-5576/5514
DSN: 580-5576/5514

DFAS-Denver Center (Code FJEP)
Commercial: (303) 676-7145
DSN: 926-7145

DFAS-Indianapolis Center
(Code FFD)
Commercial: (317) 542-3242
DSN: 699-3242

DFAS-Kansas City Center
(Code G)
Commercial: (816) 926-7103
DSN: 465-7103

040504. DFAS-Cleveland Center Responsibilities. The DFAS-Cleveland Center is the central site location for review, certification, and payment of adoption expense reimbursement payments. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will also maintain data on expenditures on a fiscal year basis. Send this data to DFAS-HQ/FM no later than October 31, following each fiscal year.

040505. DFAS-HQ Responsibilities. DFAS-HQ/FM is responsible for overall guidance and promulgation of payment procedures.

040506. Military Services' Adoption Expense Reimbursement Funding Responsibilities. The Military Services provide funding authorization to the DFAS-Cleveland Center by memorandum each fiscal year. The DFAS-Cleveland Center charges the applicable military service provided appropriations according to standard cross-disbursing operating procedures.

0406 ADOPTION REIMBURSEMENT PROCEDURES

040601. Authorized Reimbursable Expenses. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will pay documented, reasonable, and necessary adoption expenses, up to $2000 per adoptive child. Not more than $5000 shall be paid per calendar year to any Service member. In the case of two married Service members (including the Coast Guard), only one member may claim expenses for each adopted child and the couple is limited to the $5,000 per calendar year maximum. The calendar year is determined by the date the claim is received by the DFAS-Cleveland Center for payment. Reasonable and necessary expenses include the following:

A. Public and private agency fees, including adoptive fees charged by an agency in a foreign country.

B. Placement fees, including fees charged adoptive parents for counseling.

C. Legal fees, including court costs, for services that are unavailable to a member of the military services under 10 U.S.C. 1044 or 1044a.

D. Under certain circumstances, some medical expenses for the pre-adoptive child and biological mother.

E. Temporary foster care charges when payment of such charges is required to be made before the adoptive child's placement.

040602. Payment Processing Requirements

A. A separate DD Form 2675 must support each claim.

B. Eligibility for reimbursement is supported by the documentation submitted. If eligibility for reimbursement cannot be determined from the documents provided, or claimed expenses are not properly supported by receipts, the DFAS-Cleveland Center Director will retain the claim and request from the member the necessary information or documentation.

C. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will issue the reimbursement by EFT to the member's EFT account within 30 days of receipt of a properly prepared and supported claim package. A service member without access to an EFT account must submit a request for EFT waiver to receive a check.

D. If the claim is denied, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will send a letter to the member stating this fact. DFAS-Cleveland Center will not return documents to service members.

CHAPTER 5RESERVE TRANSITION BENEFIT PAYMENTS0501 PURPOSE

This chapter describes the Reserve Transition Benefit (RTB) or Reserve Transition Assistance Program (RTAP) payment procedures which include the Reservists' Special Separation Pay (RSSP) and Reservists' Involuntary Separation Pay (RISP).

0502 APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE

This chapter applies to each DFAS Center that maintains a military pay system and to members of the Selected Reserve.

0503 POLICY

Members of the Selected Reserve who are separated during the period from March 11, 1993, through September 30, 1999, are eligible for RTB/RTAP payments upon approval of the Secretary concerned.

0504 ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

050401. RSSP. See DoDFMR, Volume 7A, paragraph 570504, for eligibility requirements.

050402. RISP. See DoDFMR, Volume 7A, paragraph 570505, for eligibility requirements.

0505 PAYMENT PROCEDURES050501. RSSP

A. See DoDFMR, Volume 7A, paragraph 570504B, for payment computation.

B. Original Servicing DFAS Center Payment Responsibilities. The Reserve member's original servicing DFAS Center will pay and record the initial RSSP payment, as well as any correction or change authorized by the servicing personnel activity. This Center is also the primary source of information concerning the initial RSSP payment, as well as general guidance concerning RSSP payment procedures. The Reserve member's original servicing DFAS Center is responsible for keeping the DFAS-Cleveland Center informed of any changes to a RSSP recipient's account. This includes sending all changes or corrections made to an initial RSSP payment to the DFAS-Cleveland Center within 30 days after such corrections or changes are made.

C. DFAS-Cleveland Center Payment responsibilities. The DFAS-Cleveland Center is the central site location for RSSP annual payments. Once the Reserve member's original servicing DFAS Center transfers the account information, the DFAS-Cleveland Center becomes the primary source for RSSP account assistance.

1. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will maintain a RSSP telephone "hot line" and a customer service unit that is responsive to the needs of the RSSP recipient.

2. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will send annual RSSP payments via EFT. The member should complete SF 1199-A to establish EFT payments. If an SF 1199-A is not available, the member must submit a canceled check or deposit slip that shows his/her account number, routing transit number (RTN), and bank address. This information will be sent to:

Defense Finance and Accounting Service
Cleveland Center (Code FRCBC)
1240 East Ninth Street
Cleveland, OH 44199-2056

3. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will maintain the RSSP account until all annual installments are paid or until the death of the RSSP recipient.

D. RSSP Payment Funding Procedures. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will make all anniversary installment payments citing the appropriate selected reserve military personnel appropriation. Payment accounting will be reported per standard cross-service disbursing procedures.

E. In the event of the member's death, no more annual installments will be paid.

050502. RISP. See DoDFMR, Volume 7A, paragraph 570505.B. for payment computation.

050503. Withholding Requirements

A. Federal Income Tax Withholding (FITW)

1. Initial RSSP and RISP Payment. For the initial RSSP and RISP payment, the DFAS Center will withhold based upon the applicable flat rate percentage. The initial RSSP and RISP payments are included with the member's other taxable pay amounts during that calendar year and reported via the IRS Form W-2 in January of the following calendar year.

2. For the annual RSSP payments, the DFAS Center will withhold based upon the annual Percentage Method of Withholding Table. A valid IRS Form W-4 is required to compute the proper withholding amount under this method. If the member does not submit an IRS Form W-4, withhold tax as if the member is single, with no withholding exemptions. All anniversary payments are produced by the DFAS-Cleveland Center and reported to the member via IRS Form W-2 in January of the calendar year following the payment.

B. State Income Tax Withholding (SITW). All RSSP and RISP payments are subject to state withholding for residents of states which have entered into an agreement with the Secretary of the Treasury. State withholding and reporting for the initial RSSP and RISP payment is based upon the member's legal address at the time of transfer to the Retired Reserves or separation date, as applicable (see DoDFMR, Volume 7A, paragraph 440106, for those states which have entered into this agreement). For RSSP anniversary payments, withhold state income tax based upon the state of legal residence claimed on DD Form 2058, or if no DD Form 2058 is submitted, based upon the member's state tax election coded on his/her MMPA at separation or retirement.

C. The DFAS Center will not withhold FICA or any other payroll taxes from RSSP and RISP payments.

0506 DEBT COLLECTION PROCEDURES

050601. General. RSSP/RISP payments are subject to offset for debt collection. Offset from the amount of the RSSP/RISP payment any debts remaining at separation/retirement. In the case of RSSP, if the debt is greater than the initial payment, the remaining debt may be collected from any subsequent installments. Collections are made according to the administrative offset provisions contained in 31 U.S.C.3716

050602. Debt Collection

A. RSSP Overpayment

1. Overpayment of the Initial RSSP Payment. The DFAS-DE Center will pursue collection action against the RSSP recipient. If the RSSP account has been transferred to the DFAS-Cleveland Center RSSP pay system, that Center, Code FRCBC, will be notified of the correct payment information within five days. If debt collection actions prove unsuccessful, follow the provisions of subparagraph 050602.C.1., below. If the debt cannot be satisfied through RSSP offset, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will forward the uncollectible amount to the DFAS-DE Center for collection action. Offset from retired pay will include all appropriate interest, administrative, and/or penalty charges.

2. RSSP Anniversary Overpayments. The DFAS-Cleveland Center will collect RSSP anniversary overpayments as an "out of service" debt. In the event the debt cannot be collected through these procedures, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will offset from any subsequent installment payments. This offset will include all applicable interest, administrative, and/or penalty charges.

B. RISP Overpayments. The Reserve member's servicing DFAS Center will pursue all RISP overpayments according to "out of service" debt procedures.

C. Other DoD Debts

1. RSSP Payments. The Reserve member's original DFAS Center will offset debts against the initial RSSP payment. If debts are established after the initial payment, the RSSP recipient's original servicing DFAS Center will pursue collection using "out of service" debt collection procedures. The RSSP recipient's original servicing DFAS Center will retain the debt as long as collection actions are satisfactory. If collection actions prove unsuccessful, notice of the debt will be forwarded to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, Code FRCBC, for administrative offset against any remaining RSSP installment payment. The debt will be transferred to the DFAS-Cleveland Center no later than 90 days from the next RSSP installment payment using a DD Form 139. Once offset action has been taken, the DFAS-Cleveland Center will credit the proper Military Personnel Appropriation and notify the applicable DFAS Center of the amount collected. If the total debt cannot be liquidated from a single RSSP anniversary installment, the applicable DFAS Center will resubmit the remaining debt for offset until the total debt has been satisfied. If the debt is not satisfied by offset from the last RSSP payment, the RSSP recipient's applicable DFAS Center will collect against their retired pay.

2. RISP Payments. The DFAS Center will offset amounts due the United States against the RISP payment at the time of the Reserve member's separation. If debts are established after RISP payment, pursue the debt using "out of service" debt collection procedures.

D. Debts from non-DoD Federal Agencies. DFAS-Cleveland Center/Code ABA will receive and certify all requests for administrative offset from non-DoD Federal agencies. Once certified, DFAS-Cleveland Center/ABA sends the requests to the Defense Manpower Data Center for locator service. Once the debtor's DFAS Center has been identified, the requests for offset are sent via a letter of transmittal or cartridge to the Reserve member's servicing DFAS Center. This DFAS Center provides the member with a courtesy notice of salary offset beginning and satisfies the request by administrative offset of the RISP or initial RSSP payment. For RSSP payments, once the account is transferred to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, advice of any debts owed to non-DoD Federal agencies will be transmitted to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, Code FRCBC, for offset against any future RSSP installments.

E. Other RISP Offsets

1. Individuals who subsequently receive basic pay, compensation for inactive duty training, or retired or retainer pay under a purely military retirement program, will have such pay or compensation reduced by 75 percent until the total amount withheld equals the RISP entitlement.

2. Service members, who subsequently receive disability compensation from the Department of Veterans Affairs (DVA), will have deducted from such compensation the total amount of RISP. However, there is no reduction if the disability compensation is for a disability incurred or aggravated after the period for which the RISP was paid.

050603. Garnishments. Garnishment orders remain in effect. Garnishment cases for RSSP recipients will be transferred to the DFAS-Cleveland Center for administration.

CHAPTER 6DATA FOR PAYMENT OF RETIRED PERSONNEL0601 PURPOSE

This chapter provides the procedures for the administration and completion of the DD Form 2656 (Data for Payment of Retired Personnel), and DD Form 2656-1 (Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) Election Statement for Former Spouse Coverage).

0602 APPLICABILITY AND SCOPE

The DD Form 2656 and DD Form 2656-1 if appropriate, must be completed by those Service members requesting retirement, members transferring to the Fleet Reserve, Retired Reserve, Inactive Reserve, and former members who qualify to retire under Title 10, United States Code, chapter 1223. This form replaces NAVCOMPT 2272, DA Form 4240, and AF Forms 1266, 1267, and 1268.

0603 RESPONSIBILITIES

060301. DFAS-Cleveland Center Responsibilities. The DFAS-Cleveland Center is the primary source for information and technical guidance concerning the DD Form 2656 and DD Form 2656-1.

060302. Military Service Responsibilities. Each respective personnel activity will provide preretirement counseling to prospective retirees. As part of the counseling process, each personnel activity will ensure that DD Forms 2656 and 2656-1, if appropriate, are properly completed by the prospective retirees. The forms and appropriate documentation will be forwarded to the DFAS-Cleveland Center, Code RO.

060303. Service Member Responsibilities. Members requesting retirement or transfer to the Fleet Reserve, Retired Reserve, Inactive Reserve, and former members who qualify under Title 10, United States Code, Chapter 1223, will complete the DD Form 2656 and DD Form 2656-1, if appropriate. Completion of these forms is necessary to establish the retired/retainer pay account, designate beneficiaries for Survivor Benefit Plan electors, determine Federal tax withholding and establish payee address information.

FOREWORD

This Volume of the "Department of Defense Financial Management Regulation" is issued under the authority of DoD Instruction 7000.14, "DoD Financial Management Policy and Procedures," November 15, 1992. It governs financial management by establishing and enforcing requirements, principles, standards, systems, procedures, and practices necessary to comply with financial management statutory and regulatory requirements applicable to the DoD. It directs financial management requirements, systems, and functions for all appropriated, nonappropriated, working capital, revolving, and trust fund activities. In addition, it directs statutory and regulatory financial reporting requirements.

This Volume of the Regulation applies to the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Military Departments, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Combatant Commands, the Inspector General of the DoD, the Defense Agencies, and the DoD Field Activities (hereafter referred to collectively as "DoD Components").

Heads of DoD Components shall ensure that the provisions of this Volume are adhered to in day-to-day operations. Activities must satisfy their bargaining obligations under Title 5, United States Code, section 71, adhering to policies and procedures contained in this Volume. Unions should be given advance notice of the changes, and the changes ordinarily would not be implemented until bargaining is completed. When changes conflict with existing negotiated agreements, they generally do not apply to covered employees until the agreement expires and the bargaining obligation is fulfilled.

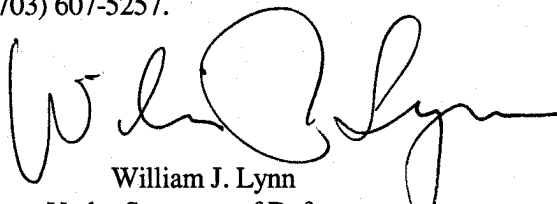

This Volume of the Regulation is effective immediately and is mandatory for use by all DoD Components. The Heads of DoD Components shall not issue supplementary directives or regulations without the prior written approval of the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller).

The reporting requirements contained in this Regulation are exempt from licensing in accordance with paragraph E.4.f. of DoD 8910.1-M, "DoD Procedures for Management of Information Requirements," November 1986.

Forward recommended changes to this Volume of the Regulation through channels to the address below. Submit requests for deviations from or exceptions to specific standards, with justification, to:

Office of the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) Director for Financial Commerce

DEFINITIONS

1. Administrative Offset. The withholding of money payable by the United States to, or held by the United States for a debtor to satisfy a debt the debtor owes the United States. Administrative offset includes offset from salary (pay).
2. Advance of Pay. A single lump-sum payment authorized with each permanent change of station to a post in a foreign area.
3. Allotment. A recurring, specified deduction from pay authorized by a civilian employee to be paid to an allottee.
4. Allottee. A person or institution to whom an allotment is made payable.
5. Allotter. The employee from whose civilian pay the allotment is made.
6. Annuitant. A retired federal employee or his/her survivor who is receiving payments from the Office of Personnel Management.
7. ★ Availability Pay. A premium pay provided for criminal investigators in job series 1811 and 1812, required to work, or be available to work, substantial amounts of unscheduled overtime duty based on the needs of the employing activity.
8. Beneficiary. A person other than a recipient who is entitled to receive all or part of a benefit payment from the federal government.
9. Continental United States (CONUS). The 48 contiguous states and the District of Columbia.
10. Continuation of Pay. Payment made to an employee during an absence from the job due to a traumatic on-the-job injury.
11. Data Element. A named identifier of each of the entities and their attributes that are represented in a database.
12. Data Element Value. Value input into a database that represents the literal representation for a data element.
13. Debt. Any amount of money or any property owed to a DoD Component or another federal agency by any person, organization, or entity except another federal agency. Debts include insured or guaranteed loans and any other amounts due from fees, leases, rents, royalties, services, sales of real or personal property, or overpayments, penalties, damages, interest, fines and forfeitures, and all other claims and similar sources. Delays in processing employee-elected coverage or a change in coverage under federal benefits programs are not normally considered debts if processing delays did not exceed two monthly or four biweekly pay periods. Amounts due a nonappropriated fund instrumentality are not debts owed the United States unless specifically included by this Regulation.

14. Deductions. Monies withheld, by law or voluntarily, from an employee's pay (salary). The three basic types of deductions are:

- a. Those required by law, regulations, or civilian legal decisions;
- b. Those for benefits specifically authorized by law, such as health and life insurance; and
- c. Voluntary, personal allotments to a designated payee.

15. Departmental Reporter. An organizational entity located at a DFAS Center responsible for serving as the focal point for a Military Service when dealing with the Office of Personnel Management and the Thrift Investment Board concerning retirement or Thrift Savings Plan reporting.

16. Deposit Fund Accounts. Expenditure accounts established to account for receipts (a) held in suspense temporarily and later refunded or paid into some other fund of the government, or other entity, or (b) held by the government as banker or agent for others and paid out at the direction of the owner. Such funds are not available for paying salaries, grants, or other expenses of the government. Expenditures are often offset by receipts within this type of fund.

17. Direct Deposit System. A federal government service for employees who authorize the automatic deposit of net pay, travel, and savings allotments to their personal bank account.

18. Disposable Pay. The amount that remains after pay (salary) is reduced by amounts that are:

- a. Required by law to be deducted;
- b. Properly withheld for federal, state, and local income taxes;
- c. Deducted as health insurance premiums;
- d. Deducted as normal retirement contributions; and
- e. Deducted as normal life insurance premiums.

19. DoD Components. The Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Military Departments, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Combatant Commands, the Inspector General of the Department of Defense, the Defense Agencies, and the DoD Field Activities (hereafter referred to collectively as "DoD Components").

20. Due Process. Formal proceedings carried out in accordance with established rules and regulations for the collection of debts due the United States.

21. Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT). A system that provides the authority to debit or credit accounts in financial institutions by electronic means rather than source documents (e.g., paper checks.). Processing typically occurs through the Federal Reserve System and/or the Automated Clearing House (ACH) computer network. EFT transmissions shall be designed to conform to the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) Accredited Standards Committee (ASC) X12 standard.
22. Emergency Medical Technician. A specialist in the technical details of medical treatment responding to an urgent need for assistance requiring immediate action.
23. Employee. An individual appointed to a position in the Department and paid from appropriated, revolving, or trust funds.
24. Entitlement. Legally established benefits available to any person or unit of the federal government meeting eligibility requirements established by law.
25. Federal Agency. Any executive agency as defined by Title 5, United States Code (U.S.C.), section 105 (reference (b)), including the U.S. Postal Service and the Postal Rate Commission; a Military Department as defined by 5 U.S.C. 102 (reference (b)); an agency of the legislative branch, including the U.S. Senate and U.S. House of Representatives; and an agency or court of the judicial branch.
26. Federal Reserve System. Any Federal Reserve District Head Office, Branch, or regional check processing center that processes EFT payments, including Automated Clearing House, for the federal government.
27. Financial Institution. Bank, savings association, or credit union eligible under Title 31, Code of Federal Regulations (C.F.R.), part 210 (reference (c)) to serve as a government depository.
28. Garnishment. A written notification concerning the attachment of monies to satisfy a debt that results in the withholding of a specified amount from the employee's pay (salary) to satisfy a debt.
29. Internal Controls. The manner in which financial, manpower, and property resources are to be controlled and safeguarded by the regular authorization, approval, documentation, recording, reconciling, reporting, and related accounting processes.
30. Leave and Earnings Statement. A document provided to each employee showing gross pay, deductions, and net pay for a pay period and cumulative totals for the year to date, along with leave balances at the end of the pay period.
31. Leave Record. A record showing the amounts of leave earned and used, and the balance available.

32. Lump-Sum Leave Pay. Payment for accumulated annual leave upon separation or change to a nonconvertible leave system.
33. Military Furlough. Absence due to extended active duty for general service with the Armed Forces.
34. Military Leave. An approved absence with pay authorized under 5 U.S.C. 6323 (reference (b)).
35. National Guard. The Army or Air National Guard of a state.
36. National Guard Technician. A federal employee of the National Guard, exclusive of National Guard Bureau employees.
37. Net Pay. The amount of wages, pay, or salary due after all payroll deductions is made.
38. Pay (Salary). Pay and salary have the same meaning. They include basic, premium, and any other authorized pay and allowances other than travel and transportation expenses.
39. Pay Period. A segment of time during which employees perform work and receive pay. For most federal civilian employees, a pay period covers 14 consecutive days, normally beginning on Sunday.
40. Pay Record. The part of each civilian employee's master pay record that contains all transaction information on payments and deductions with an audit trail to the authorizing documents. The pay record includes information such as pay grade, record of payments, all earnings separately identified by type (basic pay, bonuses, danger pay, etc.); allowances; allotments; any other deductions; year-to-date gross earnings; taxable earnings, and taxes withheld.
41. Recipient. A person authorized by a federal agency to receive benefit payments from the federal government.
42. State. A state or territory of the United States, including the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.
43. United States. Unless otherwise qualified, means the 50 states and the District of Columbia.
44. Voluntary Deduction. Deduction from an employee's pay which requires written authorization from the employee to affect withholding.
45. Waiver. The cancellation, forgiveness, or non-recovery of a debt owed by an employee to an agency as permitted or required by law.

CHAPTER 1INTRODUCTION AND OVERALL REQUIREMENTS*0101 INTRODUCTION

010101. Purpose. This chapter prescribes the principles, objectives, and related requirements for DoD civilian employee pay operations and systems. The requirements in this chapter apply to civilian pay systems operated by the Department for employees paid from appropriated, revolving, or trust funds. These requirements apply to the processes related to computing payments for permanent, temporary, full-time, part-time, irregular, and special category employees.

010102. Statutory Authority. The authority of the Department to establish payroll procedures consistent with the requirements of law and regulation is derived from Title 5, United States Code (U.S.C.), chapters 53, 55, and 81 (reference (b)). Responsibilities, duties and liabilities are established by 31 U.S.C., sections 3527, 3528, 3529, and 3541 (reference (d)).

★ 010103. Additional Guidance. The instructions issued by the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) in the Federal Personnel Manual (FPM) were abolished. Several of the supplements were replaced with Operating Manuals that are to be used as guides in the administration of civilian pay and leave. Abolished portions of the FPM should no longer be used.

0102 OVERALL REQUIREMENTS010201. Overview

★ A. As determined by the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller)/Chief Financial Officer, the DoD Components will use the Defense Civilian Pay System (DCPS) and will eliminate their own payroll systems.

★ 1. Any approved unique payroll system shall be integrated or interfaced with other applicable systems, such as the Defense Civilian Personnel Data System, general ledger or an installation-level general accounting system.

★ 2. The Director, Defense Finance and Accounting Service (DFAS) shall approve continued operation of any such unique payroll system.

B. DoD payroll operations and systems shall meet the following objectives:

1. Prompt and accurate payments to all those entitled to be paid, in compliance with appropriate statutes and regulations, with consideration being given to all authorized deductions from gross pay.

2. Prompt accounting for and disposition of, all authorized deductions from gross pay.
3. Proper control over, retention of, and disposition of, all payroll-related documents.
4. Timely preparation of adequate and reliable payroll records to support management purposes; planning, preparing, executing, and reviewing the budget; and internal and external reporting requirements.
5. Effective communication between employing activities and employees on payroll matters in addition to timely, accurate, and responsive customer service action to resolve payroll-related inquiries from employees.
6. Adequate controls over all phases of pay, leave, and allowances.
7. Interface of the payroll function with the general ledger, cost accounting, and personnel functions, with provisions for reconciling common data elements in any separate system to one another.
8. Capability to query current, historical, and/or archived data.
9. Audit trails to permit the tracing of transactions through the payroll system as specified in Volume 1 of this Regulation.
10. Compliance with accounting system development criteria specified in Volume 1 of this Regulation.
11. Compliance with internal control requirements, including data security and prevention of data disclosure, as specified in Volume 1 of this Regulation.
12. Compliance with DoD direction to standardize data elements for cross-functional shareability and integration.

★ 010202. Funds Control

- ★ A. Funds used to pay DoD civilian employees are appropriated by the Congress and apportioned to the Department by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). At least monthly, an estimate of obligations shall be made for the payroll. As the payments are made, estimates shall be adjusted to reflect actual payment data.
- B. Department civilian payroll systems shall be integrated or interfaced with, and fully support, the accounting system. These systems shall consist of detailed accounts and records that are kept as a subsidiary to, or support for, controlling or summary accounts in the general ledger of the accounting system. The payroll systems shall produce required obligation and accrual data needed by the accounting system.

010203. Requirements. The Director, DFAS is responsible for the overall planning and general direction of the pay, leave, and allowance functions and systems. This responsibility necessitates that adequate written procedures are established and implemented; all personnel are adequately trained in their functions; and sufficient controls are installed and management oversight is established and implemented to ensure compliance with payroll system objectives summarized in subparagraph 010201.B. The Director, DFAS shall also ensure that payroll systems meet legal criteria and the requirements below.

A. Payroll procedures shall be:

1. Clearly written and be in accordance with applicable laws, regulations, and legal decisions;
 2. Amended to reflect changes in applicable laws, regulations, and legal decisions;
 3. As uniform as possible throughout the Department;
 4. Distributed to payroll staffs and be available to individual employees as needed to ensure efficient and effective operations; and
- ★ 5. Reflective of clear assignments of responsibility, delegation of authority, and separation of duties for personnel who compute the payroll, certify payments, record payroll data in the accounts, distribute pay, review payroll transactions, and develop, test and maintain supporting computer systems.

B. Personnel engaged in pay, leave, and allowances activities shall:

1. Be adequately trained and kept informed about the requirements of laws, regulations, and legal decisions;
2. Be adequately supervised to help prevent any unauthorized, fraudulent, or other irregular act;
3. Perform operations effectively, efficiently, and economically in accordance with laws, regulations, and legal decisions;
4. Review the operations, including internal controls, on an ongoing basis to ensure such performance; and
5. Identify and resolve inconsistencies in information submitted, processed, and reported during the various payroll cycles.

C. Payroll systems shall be integrated or interfaced with:

1. Personnel systems to obtain current information on which to process pay, leave, and allowances. Additionally, accurate information is needed to help minimize the possibility of fraud, waste, and mismanagement;

2. The general ledger system to provide information to prepare various financial statements;

3. Cost accounting systems to distribute and charge payroll labor cost data to appropriations, jobs, projects, programs, and departments; to help in properly evaluating operations and management; and to support budget conception and development; and

4. Other financial management systems to meet reporting and management objectives.

D. The interfaces discussed in subparagraph 010203.C. shall be used to assist in timely reconciliation of data elements and discrepancies noted between the systems.

E. Transactions recorded in the pay, leave, and allowance records shall be adequately supported by properly authorized documents.

F. Procedures will be in effect to properly back-up data in the event of power failure, equipment malfunction, or other hazards.

G. External audits and internal examinations of payroll operations shall be made by persons not engaged in those operations to determine whether such operations are efficient, effective, and economical and are in accordance with laws, regulations, and legal decisions.

★ H. The frequency with which payrolls must be prepared has considerable bearing upon the cost of carrying out the payroll functions. So that payroll operations may be performed without incurring undue cost, employees' pay shall be computed on a biweekly basis, unless law requires a different time frame. Special payments are prohibited except as addressed in paragraph 080102. Advances of pay are covered in section 0309. All employees will be informed of the designated payday. Pay should be made available to the employees on the day designated as the payday. The payday lag between the close of the pay period and payday shall not exceed 12 calendar days. When a payday falls on a holiday or an 'in lieu of' holiday, the payday will be on the first preceding business day.

I. Savings bonds shall be mailed to the address provided by the employee. All purchased bonds shall be issued biweekly and mailed as soon as possible after payday. Bonds returned by the U.S. Postal Service shall be returned to the disbursing or issuing officer. All bonds shall be kept in a safe or locked fireproof cabinet, pending distribution or return to the disbursing or issuing officer.

010204. Privacy Act Requirements

A. General

1. All Standard Forms (SF) and locally approved forms containing information subject to the Privacy Act of 1974 (reference (e)) should have a Privacy Act statement either incorporated in the body of the document or in a separate statement accompanying each form. When separate, the accompanying statement carries the same number as the form.

2. Whenever agencies ask for personal information, including the Social Security number (SSN) from an employee, that employee must be notified of the following:

- a. The statutory authority for gathering the information;
- b. The purpose for which the information will be used;
- c. The “routine uses” of the information (persons or organizations who normally receive the information); and
- d. The effect on the employee of not supplying the information.

This notification will be contained in the Privacy Act statement.

B. Forms. Whenever personal information is requested from an employee on forms covered by the Act, a copy of the form accompanied by the applicable statement will be given to the employee at the same time as the request for information.

C. Access and Accounting. Employees generally are entitled to have access to their own records under the Privacy Act, as are personnel who need to know the information to carry out their duties. Under specified conditions, certain other persons or agencies may receive information. Employees must be notified of release of information to outside agencies upon request. Agencies responsible for maintaining records must account for information released and requests for change by the employee concerned.

★0103 ELECTRONIC FUNDS TRANSFER (EFT) FOR FEDERAL CIVILIAN SALARY PAYMENTS

010301. General

A. Authority. Public Law 104-134, the Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996 (Act) (reference (e)), requires all Federal payments to be made by electronic funds transfer (EFT), with the exception of tax refunds, beginning January 2, 1999. On September 25, 1998, the Department of the Treasury and its Financial Management Service issued final rule 31 CFR Part 208 (reference (c)), which implements the EFT requirements of the Act.

B. Policy. The Department requires participation in EFT as a condition of employment. The policy covers all categories of DoD personnel including civilians, military, military retirees, and annuitants.

C. Responsibilities

1. Director, DFAS, in conjunction with the Office of the Deputy Chief Financial Officer shall:

a. Publish EFT payment policy and implementing procedures for pay of all DoD civilian personnel.

b. Coordinate the presentation of issues and proposed exceptions in the Department's mandatory EFT policy to the Department of the Treasury for approval.

c. Prepare appropriate reports for submission to the Department of the Treasury.

d. Ensure that DFAS Centers provide periodic reports to DFAS-HQ which reflect EFT participation; and

e. Furnish, to employing organizations at the end of each fiscal year quarter, a listing of DoD employees paid by DFAS who do not participate in EFT.

2. DoD Component Personnel Directors shall:

a. Ensure all civilian employees are informed of the conditions under which participation in the EFT program is required.

b. Promote EFT enrollment. Employing activities will be furnished a report after the end of each fiscal year quarter of employees, by organization, who do not participate in EFT.

3. Directors or Commanders of all DoD Activities shall:

a. Ensure that all personnel are made aware of, and comply with, the mandatory EFT provisions.

b. Monitor EFT participation.

c. Ensure that waivers for all eligible employees are on file.

d. Ensure reimbursements are made to civilian employees who incur charges due to the government's failure to accurately and timely deposit pay in their EFT accounts (see paragraph 010304.); and

e. Provide information for reporting purposes to DFAS Centers when so requested (see paragraph 010305.).

D. Applicability. The mandatory EFT provisions apply to all DoD personnel, including nonappropriated fund (NAF) personnel.

E. Waivers

1. General. Individuals who believe that EFT will cause them a hardship may elect a waiver.

2. Waiver Submission. Waivers will be submitted to the commanding officer or civilian director of the employing activity.

3. Authorized Waivers. In accordance with 31 CFR Part 208.4 (reference (c)), payment by EFT is not required in the following cases:

a. Where an individual determines that payment by EFT would impose a hardship due to a physical or mental disability or a geographic, language, or literacy barrier, or would impose a financial hardship.

b. Where the political, financial, or communications infrastructure in a foreign country does not support payment by EFT.

c. Where the payment is to a recipient within an area designated by the President or an authorized agency administrator as a disaster area. This waiver is limited to payments made within 120 days after this disaster is declared.

d. Where a threat may be posed to national security, the life or physical safety of any individual may be endangered, or a law enforcement action may be compromised.

e. Where the agency does not expect to make more than one payment to the same recipient with a one-year period, i.e., the payment is non-recurring, and the cost of making the payment via EFT exceeds the cost of making the payment by check.

010303. EFT Documentation for Enrollment

A. To enroll in the EFT program, an employee must complete one of the following Direct Deposit authorization forms and submit the form to his or her local Customer Service Representative.

1. SF 1199A (Direct Deposit Sign-Up Form);
2. FMS Form 2231 (FASTSTART Direct Deposit); or
3. DD Form 2762 (Direct Deposit Authorization).

Each form contains detailed instructions for completing the authorization. The SF 1199A has a section that must be completed by the employee's financial institution. FMS Form 2231 and DD Form 2762 do not require approval by a financial institution.

B. The following enrollment sources may be used to support the FMS Form 2231 or DD Form 2762:

1. Canceled check or share draft (micro encoded data on the bottom).
2. Savings or checking account identification card.
3. Department of the Treasury 1099-INT (Statement for Recipients of Interest Income).
4. Bank statement.

NOTE: A combination of sources may be necessary to obtain the required information to start or change EFT enrollment.

010304. Reimbursement of Financial Institution Charges

A. General. Charges by financial institutions resulting from erroneous information provided by the individual or the financial institution to the civilian payroll office are not the liability of the government and will not be reimbursed. Reimbursement is authorized and limited to overdraft charges or minimum balance or average balance charges levied by the financial institution as a result of an administrative or mechanical error on the part of the government which causes pay to be deposited late or in an incorrect manner or amount.

B. Procedures. When charges result from government errors, servicing DFAS Centers will contact the financial institution to explain the error and request charges levied against the account holder be reversed.

1. If the financial institution declines to reverse the charges, government reimbursement of the charges will be made. While the servicing DFAS Center normally absorbs such charges, the DFAS Center reserves the right to charge the applicable agency's operating appropriation for such amounts when the error was caused by information furnished by that agency.

2. Letters will be provided to dishonored check recipients explaining that the dishonored check was caused by government error, not an error on the part of the individual.

010305. Reporting Requirements. The DFAS Centers will periodically report to DFAS-HQ/F on EFT participation. Refer to subparagraph 090205.F. for reporting guidance.

010306. Payments other than EFT

A. The disbursing officer shall mail checks to the non-work address provided by the employee. On an exception basis, checks shall be delivered to designated agents in the employing offices for delivery to the employees at the work locations.

B. In those situations when delivery of paychecks to individuals by designated agents is authorized, persons designated to deliver these paychecks shall not participate in the following activities: preparing, approving, or certifying vouchers and personnel action documents; maintaining the payroll; time and attendance records; and leave records. Each employee shall be known by, or identified to, the person who delivers the employee's paycheck. Paychecks should be handled as few times and by as few people as possible. Checks not delivered within the time specified by the disbursing officer shall be returned to the disbursing or issuing officer. All checks shall be kept in a safe or locked fireproof cabinet, pending distribution or return to the disbursing or issuing officer.

C. If, under extraordinary circumstances, payments must be made in cash, DoD civilian employees shall properly identify themselves and shall acknowledge payment by signing a receipt form when payments are received. Requiring a pay receipt in advance of actual payment shall not be permitted. All payments shall be made only by persons who have been authorized to perform disbursing functions and were not part of the pay computation process.

0104 ESTABLISHMENT AND CONTROL OF EMPLOYEES' PAY RECORDS

010401. Use of SSN for Identification

A. The SSN will be used to identify all employees paid by the Department.

B. The SSN has nine digits, with hyphens as separators before the fourth and sixth digits. Adding a prefix or suffix is not authorized. Only the nine digits are used in internal computer processing; however, the hyphens may be printed on output documents.

C. If an employee is not required to have an SSN, a pseudo SSN shall be used.

010402. Pay Records

★ A. Each employee shall have an individual pay record maintained as part of the master pay record. Normally, only one pay record shall be active at any given time for each authorized position. If more than one pay record is maintained, the rationale must be thoroughly documented and an audit trail maintained between the two pay records. Sufficient information on active pay records shall be retained or be accessible at the civilian payroll office to facilitate local input, payment, and administrative functions.

B. The pay record shall contain all transaction information related to payments and deductions with an audit trail to the authorizing source document. The record shall contain information on hourly, daily, or piece work pay rate; all earnings by type (overtime, night differential, danger pay, etc.) separately identified; all deductions by type (charity, union, health insurance, life insurance, etc.) separately identified; year-to-date wages earned; year-to-date deductions withheld; annual, sick, and any other leave earned; leave taken, lost, or forfeited; excess leave taken; and a settlement of lost or unused leave balances. The pay record shall contain other information, as necessary, for computing pay and preparing reports, as well as being the source for the Leave and Earnings Statement (LES).

C. The master pay record shall contain current month, and, as an integral part thereof or in a separate data file, at least the five preceding months' records readily available for processing and inquiry. Summary information shall be carried forward, longer than six months when required, until new summary records are established. Disposition of pay records shall be done in accordance with the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)).

010403. Payroll Substantiating Document File

★ A. With the centralization of the civilian payroll function, two separate document files will be established and maintained for each employee. One will be located at the civilian payroll office and one with the CSR. All source documents that substantiate the employee's entitlement to compensation, leave, benefits, and authorize or support deductions will be kept in the file folders as indicated in subparagraph 010504.B. The file label will contain the employee's name and SSN and will be maintained in SSN sequence.

B. The civilian payroll office file will contain the following:

1. SF 1150 (Record of Leave Data) and SF 1150-A (Transfer of Leave Records for Leave Recipient Covered by the Voluntary Leave Transfer Program);

2. Voluntary/involuntary DoD/non-DoD indebtedness to the U.S. Government;

3. Voluntary/involuntary tax levies;

★ 4. Bankruptcies, court-ordered garnishments of alimony, child support, and commercial debts are maintained by DFAS-CL/L;

5. Thrift Savings Plan (TSP) loan information;
6. NAF 401k authorization;
7. NAF retroactive TSP election authorization;
8. SF 1190 (Foreign Allowances Application, Grant, and Report);
9. Documentation for all manual pay and leave adjustments;
10. Cash collection vouchers;
11. Physician's allowance authorizations; and
12. Any other documentation to support payments.

C. The civilian payroll office will maintain and safeguard the retirement records (SF 2806, "Individual Retirement Record (CSRS)," SF 3100, "Individual Retirement Record (FERS)," and OPM Form 1514, "Military Deposit Worksheet") in a separate file per instructions in subparagraph 040301.E.

★ D. The employing activity/CSR files will contain the following documentation.

1. Preconversion historical files (all personnel and payroll data of an existing civilian payroll system prior to conversion to another civilian payroll system or a consolidated civilian payroll office);

★ 2. Employment/loan verification requests;

3. Employee deduction information (allotments and net pay distribution; charities; unions; federal, state and local taxes; bonds; and address changes); and

★ 4. The disposition of active and inactive files shall be in accordance with the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)).

★ E. All verified source documents will be placed in the document file not later than the end of the pay period in which the document applies. The folders will remain in an active status during the period the employee's pay account is maintained by the civilian payroll office. Upon the employee's separation or transfer, and after all final payroll transactions have been completed, the folder will be removed from the active file and placed in an inactive file. The disposition of active and inactive files shall be in accordance with the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)).

F. All files (manual and electronic) will be protected in accordance with "For Official Use Only" and Privacy Act (reference (e)) requirements.

010404. Document Control. In order to ensure timely processing of payroll documents and to facilitate audits and reconciliation of individual pay accounts, source documents should be controlled at the retention site. The following procedures are recommended:

- A. Assign a control number to all source documents. The numbering system should facilitate the use of one line entries on the log (e.g., two digits identifying the pay period number and the last digits identifying the document number, beginning with one (1) for each pay cycle);
- B. Identify the type of document or form number;
- C. Record the date received and the clerk to whom routed for processing; and
- D. Record the date processed and logged out for filing.

010405. Personnel Actions

A. The SF 50 (Notification of Personnel Action) is the primary source for payroll and personnel information systems. The content of the SF 50 will form the basis for personnel transactions flowing to payroll via automated personnel/payroll system interfaces.

B. The SF 2809 (Health Benefits Registration Form) and SF 2810 (Notice of Change in Health Benefits Enrollment) are used to start, change, and stop the coverage of health benefits for employees.

C. The Form TSP-1 (TSP Election Form) is used to start, change, and stop deductions for employees. The Form TSP-19 (Transfer of Thrift Savings Plan Information Between Agencies) is used to transfer TSP information between agencies. The civilian payroll office uses the Form TSP-22-R (Loan Payment Allotment Form-Reamortization) to begin deductions for a TSP loan.

010406. Payroll Controls. Appropriate controls must be established over payroll operations that will include, but are not limited to, the items below.

A. Controls that will help ensure the correct, complete, accurate, and properly authorized processing of payroll documents include, but not limited to, the following items.

1. An authorized official must approve in writing or through electronic signature (made by entering designated codes into an automated system under safeguards to prevent unauthorized use) corrections and other adjustments to data in official records, as follows:

a. Records of all changes made after records have been approved or certified must be generated and maintained.

b. Manual corrections on documents made after the documents have been approved or certified must be made in a way that does not obliterate the original entries. Corrections must be initialed and dated by the person making them and must be approved by a designated authorizing official.

c. Automated system changes to data must be made in such a way that an audit trail is maintained to show or provide reference to documents which show the original and new data and the authorization for the change. Such changes must be only on the basis of properly approved documents authorizing the changes.

★ 2. There must be separation of duties among those in the following list. When the size of the organization does not permit separation of all of the duties, the most effective separation feasible under the circumstances must be provided. In order to minimize opportunities for carrying out unauthorized, fraudulent, or otherwise irregular acts, the separation of duties should ensure that no one person performs all phases of a transaction from beginning to end without the intervention of some other person or persons who provide a cross-check:

- a. Certification of payments,
- b. Payroll computation,
- c. Recording of payroll account data,
- d. Distribution of pay,
- e. Review of payroll transactions,
- f. Automated system development,
- g. System testing,
- h. System implementation, and
- i. System maintenance.

3. The following must be restricted to authorized personnel:

- a. Access to personnel, payroll, and disbursement records or data files;
- b. Access to forms used in authorizing special entitlements, allowances, and pay rates; and
- c. Payroll processing equipment and related software.

4. When feasible, employees engaged in civilian payroll functions must not maintain or provide service for their own payroll and personnel records. This internal control shall be incorporated into security system software that governs access to civilian payroll system records. When the size of an office is so small that this is not feasible, employees engaged in payroll activity may only maintain and provide service for their own:

a. Routine deductions, such as withholding exemptions for federal, state, and local tax purposes, and voluntary allotments; and

b. Time and attendance documents under certain circumstances as provided for in paragraph 020404.

5. To detect inappropriate data at the earliest time and to the extent practical, data entered into automated payroll systems must be subjected to computerized edits when entered. Data elements not susceptible to such edits must be edited at the earliest practical time. Inappropriate data detected must be promptly investigated, corrected and, if appropriate, reprocessed. A record of such data, its originator, and its disposition must be generated and maintained.

B. Controls that help ensure that computerized payroll operations process transactions and produce reports accurately, by use of the following and other techniques:

1. Testing computer programs and changes to programs prior to placing them in operation and subsequently testing the various data elements and computational procedures as needed to ensure that they are operating as intended;

2. Certifying acceptance of software changes by the civilian payroll offices;

3. Performing periodic preventive maintenance on hardware, noting and promptly resolving problems; and

4. Including in the programmed instructions such techniques as:

a. Verification of SSNs or other identifying information for employees authorized to be paid against a master list or file of such information for valid current employees;

b. Use of proper authorization codes by authorized payroll employees;

c. Acceptance of data entry from authorized terminals only;

d. Verification of data entry using batch control totals, when applicable; and ★ e. The software in use must ensure that beginning totals plus transaction totals equal ending totals.

010407. Reconciliation with Human Resources Organization

★ A. Reconciliation of common data between the appropriate human resources organization (HRO) and the civilian payroll office must be accomplished every four months. The appropriate HRO reviews the reconciliation and annotates any mismatches it resolves and passes them to the civilian payroll office for its action. The civilian payroll office will ensure that review and necessary corrections are made to the civilian pay database. The civilian payroll office will accomplish the reconciliation within 10 workdays after receipt from the appropriate HRO.

★ B. Based on the predetermined schedule, DCPS will generate and transmit the reconciliation files to the appropriate personnel system host.

0105 CIVILIAN PAYROLL OFFICE DISESTABLISHMENT PROCEDURES

010501. Purpose. These procedures prescribe the responsibilities and actions for DoD civilian payroll operations that are being disestablished in accordance with consolidation initiatives. Refer to section 0603 for procedures concerning mass transfer of employee accounts between existing civilian payroll offices.

010502. Applicability and Scope. These instructions apply to all DoD civilian payroll offices regardless of Component affiliation whose payroll accounts are being transferred to a consolidated civilian payroll operation.

★ 010503. Responsibilities. Responsibility for implementing these procedures lies primarily with the civilian payroll office whose accounts are being transferred. However, there must be close coordination with the civilian payroll office's major command/claimant, the DFAS Center which has responsibility for the closing civilian payroll office, and the consolidated civilian payroll office which will assume responsibility for the transferred accounts. These procedures must be completed within 90 days after the date the payroll accounts are transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office.

010504. Actions Required by the Losing Civilian Payroll Office

★ A. Notify Affected Parties. All parties who are currently receiving support from the civilian payroll office that is to be disestablished must be informed that the existing payroll servicing arrangement is being changed and when that change will occur. It is recommended that these parties be notified well in advance of the transfer, but not later than 30 days prior to the date of the actual transfer. For consolidations occurring overseas, it is recommended that notification be made not later than 45 days prior to the date of actual transfer.

★ 1. The following is a list of affected parties who should be notified of the impending change of the payroll servicing arrangement. Sample letters that may be used for that purpose are shown in Figures 1-1 through 1-12. While the list is intended to be all inclusive, individual civilian payroll offices may have unique customers who are not mentioned. If this situation should occur, the losing civilian payroll office must develop a letter for those customers using one of the sample letters as a basis.

a. The appropriate HRO providing support to the civilian payroll office. The appropriate HRO will be responsible for notifying labor organizations and professional associations. See Figure 1-1.

★ b. Each Internal Revenue Service (IRS) District to which payments for tax levies is submitted. See Figure 1-2. Inform the IRS office that there will be no further annual civilian pay reporting for the losing civilian payroll office EIN. The consolidated civilian payroll office may submit adjustments to prior tax reports. See Figure 1-3.

c. Each state and local taxing authority for which withholding is being made (including those taxing authorities who do not have an agreement with the Department of the Treasury but for whom employees are making tax payments via allotments). See Figure 1-4.

★ d. The National Finance Center (NFC), as the TSP Recordkeeper. Adjustments prior to conversion will be made using the old payroll office number. See Figure 1-5.

e. Each court to which alimony, child support, bankruptcy, and commercial debt payments are being remitted. See Figure 1-6.

f. The supporting Federal Reserve Bank (FRB) and other financial institutions to which remittances are being made. See Figure 1-7.

★ g. The OPM. Adjustments prior to conversion will be made using the old payroll office number. See Figure 1-8.

h. Each NAF Employee Benefit System for whom retirement deductions are being remitted under the Portability of Benefits for Nonappropriated Fund Employees Act of 1990, P.L. 101-508, (reference (e)). See Figure 1-9.

i. Each Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) office for which charitable contributions are being remitted. See Figure 1-10.

★ j. Employees making installment payments by check or money order for indebtedness to the U.S. Government. See Figure 1-11.

★ k. The Defense Manpower Data Center (DMDC) and DFAS-Cleveland Center for salary offsets which will be processed at the consolidated civilian payroll office. See Figure 1-12.

★ 1. Health Benefits Insurance Carriers. Inform insurance carriers by preparing an SF 2811 (Transmittal and Summary Report to Carrier - Federal Employees Health Benefits Program). Attach a system-generated listing, initiated by the civilian payroll office, to the SF 2811 in lieu of individual SFs 2810.

m. Other federal agencies for whom debts are being collected, e.g., Department of Education or Department of Veterans Affairs.

B. Prepare Employee Substantiating Document Files. Although every effort will be made to transfer data through the automated conversion process rather than by transferring hard-copy documents, it will still be necessary to send certain hard-copy documents from the losing civilian payroll office to the consolidated civilian payroll office. In many cases the information may not be contained in the automated files of the losing civilian payroll office and, therefore, would not be a part of the conversion process. In other cases, the documentation is required for legal support for action to be taken by the consolidated civilian payroll office. These hard-copy documents will supplement the automated conversion process and will facilitate the movement of civilian payroll accounts without degradation of timely and accurate payroll service.

1. In order to facilitate the movement of hard-copy documents, the losing civilian payroll office must prepare substantiating document files containing hard-copy documents that must be transmitted to the consolidated civilian payroll office. The files will consist of originals or copies, as appropriate. If the original is forwarded to the consolidated civilian payroll office, the losing civilian payroll office should retain a copy.

★ 2. Substantiating document files may be transmitted in either subject matter or employee sequence, depending on how files are maintained by the losing civilian payroll office. Subject matter files are defined for this purpose as a file maintained for a particular type of document, e.g., bankruptcies.

★ 3. The files will be letter size with the label in the upper left-hand corner. Labels must be either typed or printed legibly. If files are transmitted in subject matter sequence, the subject matter title will be contained in the first line of the upper left corner of the label and the second line will show the losing civilian payroll office name and number. All documents contained in the subject matter file should contain the employee's name and SSN.

★ 4. If files are transmitted in employee sequence, the first line of the label will contain the employee's SSN; the second line will contain the employee's last name, first name, and middle initial in that order; and the third line will show the losing payroll office name and number. The files will be assembled in either SSN sequence within payroll block or straight SSN sequence and sent as one package to arrive at the consolidated civilian payroll office not later than the end of the first week following conversion.

5. Listed below is documentation that must be included in the substantiating document file and transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office:

a. Indebtedness to the U.S. Government. Forward a copy of documentation to support current collections with the unpaid balance of the debt, the appropriation or fund cite to be used, and the remittance address. Examples of indebtedness to the U.S. Government are advance of pay, government property lost or damaged/report of survey, travel collection, health benefits for leave without pay, Office of Workers' Compensation Programs (OWCP) leave buy back, or salary overpayment.

b. Form 668-W (Notice of Levy on Wages, Salary, and Other Income). Forward the original IRS tax levy (voluntary or involuntary) showing the unpaid balance. Any levies received after payroll accounts have been transferred should be forwarded directly to the consolidated civilian payroll office.

c. Court Ordered Bankruptcy. Forward the original court orders and addendums with balance due on the current order. Any court orders received after payroll accounts have been transferred should be forwarded directly to the consolidated civilian payroll office.

★ d. Court Ordered Garnishment. Forward a copy of the most current garnishment for alimony, child support, and/or commercial debt including addendum. If the garnishment was for a set amount, furnish the unpaid balance. Any court orders received after payroll accounts have been transferred should be forwarded in accordance with subparagraph 041202.C.

e. Authorizations of NAF 401k Contributions. Forward a copy of the authorization which supports employee contributions to a NAF 401k plan allowable by the Portability of Benefits for Nonappropriated Fund Employees Act of 1990 (reference (e)).

f. TSP Retroactive Contribution Authorization. Forward a copy of the authorization made by an employee who is currently making retroactive TSP contributions allowable by the Thrift Investment Board under its error correction procedures.

g. SF 1190. Forward a copy of the latest SF 1190 if the data is not included in the automated conversion process. The SF 1190 will be used to support payment of allowances and differentials in foreign areas.

★ h. Form TSP-22 (TSP Loan Payment Allotment Form). Forward a copy of all Forms TSP-22 which support TSP loan information.

i. SF 1150. Forward a copy of the SF 1150 if all leave data is not included in the automated conversion process. The SF 1150 will be produced and leave balances annotated in the remarks section if credit hours, compensatory hours, advance annual or sick leave, restored and/or reinstated leave, and compensatory time off for religious reasons are not included in the automated conversion process. Ensure all absence without pay, home leave, and military leave including leave for law enforcement purposes are annotated on the SF 1150 in blocks 16 through 23.

(1) Compensatory time balances must include the overtime rate of pay at which each occurrence of compensatory time was earned.

(2) Restored/reinstated leave information must include the effective date, the termination date, and the balance of each occurrence.

j. SF 1150A. Forward a copy of the SF 1150A if all donated leave data are not included in the automated conversion process. Information concerning individual donors and balances must be included in order to return unused leave.

k. LES. Forward a copy of the LES used to establish temporary leave balances for recent employee accessions when an SF 1150 has not been received by the losing civilian payroll office.

l. Authorization for Physician's Comparability. Forward a copy of the physician's comparability allowance service agreement (or equivalent) annotated with the unpaid balance.

m. Statement of Annual Annuity Amount for Reemployed Annuitants. Forward a copy of the most recent SF 50 or other documentation that supports the amount of biweekly salary offset for reemployed annuitants.

n. OPM Form 1514. Forward a copy of each OPM Form 1514 with an unpaid balance, a copy of the related SF 2806/3100, and supporting SF 2803/3108 (Application to Make Deposit or Redeposit). Ensure that the copy of OPM Form 1514 forwarded to the consolidated civilian payroll office includes postings for the final pay period paid by the losing civilian payroll office. NOTE: One pay period prior to conversion, forward an advance copy of OPM Form 1514. Ensure that the final OPM Form 1514 is included in the substantiating document file.

o. Form W-5 (Earned Income Credit Advance Payment Certificate). Forward a copy of the Form W-5 to support payment of the advance earned income credit if data is not included in the automated conversion process. If the transfer occurs the last pay period of the year, do not forward. The employee must submit a new Form W-5.

p. Continuation of Pay, Workers' Compensation, and Buy Back of Leave. Forward a copy of the documentation that supports payment of continuation of pay and/or places an employee on workers' compensation if available. Forward copies of the documentation to support buy back of leave.

q. SF 1154 (Public Voucher for Unpaid Compensation Due a Deceased Civilian Employee). Complete and forward an SF 1154 for each deceased employee who has not been officially separated from the payroll system and whose unpaid compensation has not been paid to the beneficiaries. The face of the SF 1154 should be completed only for the block beginning "Amount of unpaid compensation due....". The Summary of "Unpaid Compensation" on the reverse of the SF 1154 must be completed in its entirety. Ensure that any unpaid compensation placed in the deposit fund account is transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office via hard copy check. The consolidated civilian payroll office will make the payment to the beneficiaries using the SF 1154 furnished by the losing civilian payroll office upon receipt of the SF 1153 (Claim for Unpaid Compensation of Deceased Civilian Employee) from the appropriate HRO.

★ r. Unprocessed Documents. The CSR should process documents that have been received, but were not processed prior to the transfer of payroll accounts, to the consolidated civilian payroll office. Processing should be in accordance with procedures established for that CSR.

s. Severance Pay Authorization. Forward a copy of an SF 50 for each employee authorized and receiving severance pay. Annotate the remaining severance pay to be paid and weekly severance amount, if not included in the automated conversion process.

C. Prepare Payroll Office Substantiating Document Files. While the majority of employee-related information will be a data transfer as part of the automated conversion process, historical data to support the summary or civilian payroll office level will not be included. Therefore, it will be necessary to transfer certain documents that support actions taken by the losing civilian payroll office in the past.

1. In order to facilitate the movement of hard-copy documents, the losing civilian payroll office must prepare a civilian payroll office substantiating document file that consists of copies of the original documents. The losing civilian payroll office will retain the original documents in accordance with the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)). This will enable the consolidated civilian payroll office to make future corrections or adjustments as necessary.

★ 2. The files will be letter size with the label in the upper left-hand corner. The first line of the label will contain the applicable calendar year; the second line will show the losing civilian payroll office employer identification number (EIN); and the third line will contain the civilian payroll office name and number. One file for each calendar year will be assembled and sent as one package to the consolidated civilian payroll office as soon as practical, but not later than the end of the first week following conversion.

3. Listed below is the documentation that must be included in the substantiating document file:

a. Form 941 (Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return) and Form 941c (Statement to Correct Information Previously Reported on the Employer's Federal Tax Return). Forward copies of Forms 941 and 941c for the quarters of the current year plus the quarters for the three years prior to transfer to the gaining civilian payroll office;

★ b. Form W-3 (Transmittal of Wage and Tax Statements) and Form W-3c (Transmittal of Corrected Income and Tax Statements). Forward copies of Forms W-3 and

W-3c for the current year of conversion plus the three years prior to conversion for the losing civilian payroll office.

★ c. State and Local Tax Returns. Forward copies of all state and local tax reporting files for the current year and the prior three years; and ★ d. SF 135 (Records Transmittal and Receipt). Furnish copies of the SF 135 with accession number and storage bin number after the files have been forwarded to the National Personnel Records Center (NPRC) for the current and previous six years.

D. Complete Final Pay Period Processing. The losing civilian payroll office must complete processing for the last pay period for which it has responsibility. Completion of these actions will allow employee records to contain the most current information to be included in the automated conversion process.

1. Compute and process final salary and other payments.

a. Prior to processing the final pay period, ensure that all time and attendance reports have been received from employing activities and that all documentation has been received from the appropriate HROs and employees. The losing civilian payroll office will establish and publish cutoff dates for receipt of all documents for this last pay period.

b. Responsibility for special payments will be determined based upon time frames within which the automated conversion process is completed. Payments made after the last payday and before the automated conversion process is accomplished are the responsibility of the losing civilian payroll office. It is crucial that employee records be updated with such payments prior to the automated conversion processing. Payments made after the last payday and after the automated conversion process is accomplished are the responsibility of the consolidated civilian payroll office.

2. Prepare, balance, and distribute final pay period pay, leave, and management reports. Complete pay period processing in accordance with regular biweekly procedures and make final distribution of management reports. It is suggested that these reports be annotated "FINAL" and a short memorandum attached stating these are the last reports to be sent from this civilian payroll office and that future reports will be sent from the consolidated civilian payroll office. Furnish the consolidated civilian payroll office copies of certified documents, e.g., Form 941, state and local tax reports.

3. Produce SFs 2806/3100. Those civilian payroll offices whose automated system maintains and produces SFs 2806/3100 should ensure that these records are produced for the final pay period paid. Fiscal history records should be closed out for the current year, and the service history should reflect the last SF 50 or other applicable documentation.

E. Reconcile and Clear/Remit Deposit Fund Account Balances. Moneys that have been placed in deposit fund accounts pending remittance to the applicable payee must be remitted immediately after the final pay period. These accounts must not contain a balance after payroll accounts have been transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office. Any moneys remaining in these accounts after final remittances have been made must be reconciled and the account cleared. Listed below are types of accounts that may contain balances after completion of final pay period processing along with instructions for the disposition of those balances.

1. State and Local Tax. The disbursing office will remit all state and local taxes that have been withheld from employees, but not paid to the applicable taxing authority regardless of the regular payment schedule. Annotate the payment as “FINAL” and inform the taxing authority that future payments will be forthcoming from the consolidated civilian payroll office. An exception is the civilian payroll office which reports non-payroll type taxes under the same employer identification number as the civilian payroll office. For those, do not mark the remittance as “FINAL.”

2. Savings Bonds. The bond issuing agent or disbursing officer shall remit all savings bond balances in the form of a Treasury check made payable to the disbursing officer (in his/her official capacity) at the consolidated civilian payroll office. Accompanying the check should be a listing or report which contains each employee identified by name, SSN, and the unpaid balance.

3. Indebtedness. Remit all collections that have been made for indebtedness that have other than a biweekly remittance schedule. Annotate the payment as the last one from the losing civilian payroll office and inform the creditor agency that future payments will be forthcoming from the consolidated civilian payroll office.

4. Other Items Not Remitted on a Biweekly Basis. Remit all collections that have been made for items that have other than a biweekly remittance schedule, e.g., monthly allotments. Annotate the payment as “FINAL” and inform the payee that future payments will be forthcoming from the consolidated civilian payroll office.

5. Beneficiary Compensation. Remit unpaid compensation due beneficiaries of deceased employees in the form of a Treasury check made payable to the disbursing officer at the consolidated civilian payroll office. Accompanying the check should be a listing or report containing the deceased employee's name, SSN, and the amount of unpaid compensation due. This information should support the SF 1154 contained in the employee substantiating document file transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office and should be only for those deceased employees who have not been officially separated from the payroll system.

F. Prepare and Remit Quarterly and Annual Reports. Although the final pay period paid by the losing civilian payroll office may not coincide with the last pay period of the quarter or of the pay or leave year, the losing civilian payroll office will prepare reports or submit documentation to the applicable office.

1. Individual Leave Record (or equivalent). Prepare Individual Leave Records (or equivalent) for the year of transfer, if not previously produced. These records will be maintained at the losing payroll office site for research and reference on the part of the consolidated civilian payroll office until the accounting activity is consolidated to a DFAS Operating Location (OPLOC).

2. Individual Pay Record (or equivalent). Prepare the Individual Pay Record (or equivalent) for the year of transfer, if not previously produced. These records will be maintained at the losing payroll office site for research and reference on the part of the consolidated civilian payroll office until the accounting activity is consolidated to an OPLOC.

3. Form 1099-MISC (Miscellaneous Income). Prepare and distribute unissued Form 1099-MISC (or Form W-2) to beneficiaries of deceased employees for whom the SF 1153 has been received. Distribution of the Form 1099-MISC (or Form W-2) to beneficiaries of deceased employees should be made as soon as payment has been made. The Form 1099-MISC will be prepared and submitted to the Social Security Administration (SSA) with the Form 1096 (Annual Summary and Transmittal of U.S. Information Returns). Transfer unpaid beneficiary compensation to the consolidated civilian payroll office in accordance with subparagraph 010504.E.5.

4. Form W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement). The Form W-2 for the current year may not be available when payroll accounts are transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office. Therefore, it will not be possible to print and distribute these tax statements. The civilian payroll office assuming responsibility for the payroll accounts shall print and distribute Forms W-2 at the end of the current tax year using the EIN and address of the losing civilian payroll office. The losing civilian payroll office shall be responsible for undeliverable tax statements except in the case of a complete base closure. In the case of a base closure, the consolidated civilian payroll office shall assume responsibility for undeliverable Forms W-2. See subparagraph 090207.C.1. for additional information.

5. Form 941/941c. Prepare and balance the Form 941 for all wages, deductions, and contributions for the quarter of conversion and prepare Form 941c for prior quarters as necessary. Mail these tax reports as soon as all necessary balancing has been done. Form 941/941c must be filed within the time limits specified in Circular E (reference (h)). Inform the IRS of the gaining civilian payroll office's address and EIN.

6. Federal Tax Reporting. Magnetic tape specifications for the current year may not be available when payroll accounts are transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office. Therefore, it may not be possible to create the year-end tape at the time payroll accounts are transferred. Conversion procedures will contain instructions for preparation and delivery of data files that will be used in creating the magnetic tape.

7. State and Local Annual Tax Reports. Prepare all state and local tax reports for the year of transfer. Taxable wages and year-to-date tax deductions must be balanced for all affected employees and any necessary corrections or adjustments made. Submit all state and local annual tax reports to the applicable taxing authority as soon as they are balanced and reconciled. State and local tax reports must be filed within the time limits specified by the state or local authority.

8. Department of Labor Quarterly Continuation of Pay Report. Prepare the Department of Labor Quarterly Continuation of Pay Report as of the last pay period paid by the losing civilian payroll office. Submit the Department of Labor Quarterly Continuation of Pay Report in accordance with normal distribution instructions as soon as possible after the end of the last pay period paid, but not later than 30 days after the date of the last payday.

9. Report of Work Years and Personnel Costs for DoD Civilian Employment (0197-OPM-AN). Prepare Part C (Leave Earned and Used) of the Report of Work Years and Personnel Costs for DoD Civilian Employment as of the last pay period paid by the losing civilian payroll office. Part C was formerly Part D and has been redesignated for fiscal year 1992. The report should contain leave information for all pay periods paid during the current leave year by the losing civilian payroll office. Submit the Report of Work Years and Personnel Costs for DoD Civilian Employment in accordance with instructions as soon as possible after the end of the last pay period paid, but not later than the regularly scheduled submission date.

10. Report of Personnel and Payroll Outlays by Operating Location (RCS: DD-COMP(A) 1600). Prepare the Report of Personnel and Payroll Outlays by Operating Location as of the last pay period paid by the losing civilian payroll office. The report should contain information from the fourth quarter of the prior calendar year and all pay periods paid prior to the transfer of payroll accounts to the consolidated civilian payroll office. Submit the Report of Personnel and Payroll Outlays by OPLOC in accordance with instructions as soon as possible after the end of the last pay period paid, but not later than the regularly scheduled submission date.

11. Report of Collections for Federal Salary Offset (RCS: DD-COMP(M) 1659). Prepare the Report of Collections for Federal Salary Offset as of the last pay period paid by the losing civilian payroll office. The report should contain all collections made during the month in which the losing civilian payroll office accounts are transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office. Submit the Report of Collections for Federal Salary Offset to the departmental level as soon as possible after the end of the last pay period paid, but not later than the regularly scheduled submission date.

G. Balance, Close Out, and Transfer Retirement Records. All SFs 2806/3100 must be balanced, closed out, and transferred from the losing civilian payroll office. The OPM has agreed to accept all SFs 2806/3100 for the CSRS/FERS as a part of the consolidation initiative. This includes those records being maintained for frozen CSRS accounts and military deposits. Records will only be forwarded to the OPM when the civilian payroll office, the departmental reporter, and the OPM are in balance. Listed below are the tasks that must be accomplished in order to submit the SFs 2806/3100.

1. Resolve Retirement Plan Discrepancies. Employees who have been erroneously placed in an incorrect retirement plan, and whose records have not been adjusted, must have such adjustments completed prior to submitting the records to the OPM. Complete adjustment actions underway to correct the SFs 2806/3100 and correct associated reports such as the SF 2812 (Journal Voucher and Report of Withholdings and Contributions for Health Benefits, Group Life Insurance and Retirement) and Form 941 as necessary. Inform the consolidated civilian payroll office of any changes to previously converted data such as year-to-date Social Security and Medicare wages. In addition, request the appropriate servicing HRO perform a review of employee records to ensure that previously reported retirement plans are correct. Ensure that frozen CSRS accounts have been properly handled in accordance with instructions contained in OPM Operating Manual, the CSRS and FERS Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (i)).

2. Complete SF 2806/3100 Posting. Ensure that the name history, date of birth, SSN, payroll office information, service history, and fiscal history on the SF 2806/3100 are completely posted. The name history and service history must contain all SF 50 data received during the last pay period. The fiscal history calendar year salary deductions for the current pay year must include deductions for the last pay period paid by the losing civilian payroll office. Annotate the last entry of the service history with the following: "Transfer of payroll function to the Defense Civilian Pay System -- (name of consolidated civilian payroll office)." For example, the records for those payroll accounts transferred to the DFAS-Denver Center would read: "Transfer of payroll function to Defense Civilian Pay System - DFAS-Denver Center."

3. Balance SFs 2806/3100. The monetary amount contained on the last posting on the fiscal history accumulative total salary deductions for each hard copy SF 2806/3100 must be in agreement with cumulative retirement deductions for each employee contained in the automated civilian payroll system. Ultimately, this amount must also be in agreement with cumulative amounts agreed upon by the OPM and the departmental level. Discrepancies must be resolved and corrective action taken to adjust either cumulative retirement deductions and/or hard copy SFs 2806/3100.

4. Balance Military Deposit Worksheets. Ensure that all repayments (cash collections or payroll deductions) made for military service credit deposits have been posted to the OPM Form 1514 and the remaining balance reflects accrued interest through the date of the last payment. Ensure that each OPM Form 1514 is supported by, and is in agreement with, the SF 2806 or SF 3100 maintained for that purpose. This SF 2806/3100 is separate and apart from the SF 2806 or SF 3100 maintained for regular retirement. Ensure that all collections have been reported via the SF 2812.

5. Balance TSP Accounts. Amounts reported to the NFC on Form TSP-2 (Thrift Savings Plan Certifications of Transfer of Funds and Journal Voucher) must be in agreement with amounts reported by the disbursing officer to the departmental level. The departmental level will have performed an analysis of the two amounts based on information provided by the disbursing officer and the NFC. The losing civilian payroll office will be responsible for reconciling the difference and making necessary adjustments.

6. Balance SFs 2812. Amounts reported to the OPM on the SF 2812 must be in agreement with amounts reported by the disbursing officer to the departmental level. The departmental level will have performed an analysis of the two amounts based on information provided by the disbursing officer and the OPM. The losing civilian payroll office will be responsible for reconciling the difference and making necessary adjustments. Ensure that all collections have been reported via the SF 2812.

7. Certify SFs 2806/3100. Each SF 2806/3100 must be certified for its accuracy. The certification will begin on the line below the last fiscal entry and will carry the annotation "Deductions and service certified correct." The payroll certifying officer will be responsible for signing the certification.

8. Transmit SFs 2806/3100. All SFs 2806/3100 for CSRS and FERS shall be forwarded to the OPM. This includes those records being maintained for frozen CSRS accounts and military deposits. SF 2807 (Register of Separations and Transfers for CSRS) and SF 3103 (Register of Separations and Transfers for FERS) shall be prepared to forward records to the OPM. A copy of the register shall be provided to the consolidated civilian payroll office. In order to minimize the number of registers submitted to OPM, each register except for the last should contain 100 records. The records will be arranged in alphabetical order within the register. Only the last page of the register should contain page totals, totals brought forward from page..., and accumulated totals to date; therefore, except for the final page of each register, cut off each page just above the "Page Totals" block.

a. Employees who separate or retire before their records are transferred to the OPM will have their SFs 2806/3100 submitted immediately in accordance with standard procedures. They will not be batched with other records submitted to the OPM as part of the transfer of the payroll function. The consolidated civilian payroll office must be informed of the register number that submits this type of record so the number may be annotated on the retirement transmittal submitted to the OPM from the consolidated civilian payroll office for the same employee. This will allow the OPM to combine both submissions into one package.

★ b. SFs 2807 received by a losing civilian payroll office after payroll accounts have been transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office will be returned to the sender. Attach the SF 2807 to a memorandum explaining that the payroll accounts have transferred to the consolidated civilian payroll office and the SFs 2806/3100 must be sent to the OPM. A sample memorandum is at Figure 1-13.

★ 9. Clear OPM Discrepancy Notifications. All outstanding OPM discrepancy notifications must be resolved and returned as soon as possible. The goal is two weeks after the last SF 2806/3100 has been submitted.

★ 10. Microfiche SFs 2806/3100. A permanent record of SFs 2806/3100 must be made in case they are lost or destroyed during submission. Microfiche all SFs 2806/3100 prior to shipment from the losing civilian payroll office. Microfiche must be of a quality acceptable for the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)). Retirement cards are to be filmed in the same order as they appear on the register to OPM. The quality of the product should be reviewed after records are microfiched to ensure the records are legible. Two sets of microfiche must be produced.

One set must be retained as a part of the documents retained by the losing civilian payroll office and one set must be forwarded to the consolidated civilian payroll office.

★ H. Complete In-Process Adjustments. Losing civilian payroll offices may have work in progress that will not be completed prior to the transfer of payroll accounts to the consolidated civilian payroll office. Examples of these types of adjustments would include research and recalculation of retroactive adjustments to pay, leave, and deductions for court cases such as Armitage, et al. v. United States, MSPB and FLRA judgments, arbitrations, grievances, unfair labor practice determinations, and settlement agreements. The consolidated civilian payroll offices will not assume the responsibility for completion of these actions.

1. Adjustments for active employees that have not been updated in the losing civilian payroll office's current payroll system will not be included in data converted for the consolidated civilian payroll office. The losing civilian payroll office must complete the action and inform the consolidated payroll office of the results so that office may take the appropriate action.

2. Inactive employee records will not be converted for the consolidated civilian payroll office. The losing civilian payroll office must complete the in-process adjustment and take appropriate action to ensure the records and reports applicable to that office includes the adjusted amounts. Forward any report which has changed and which was previously included in the payroll office substantiating document files to the consolidated civilian payroll office.

★ I. Maintenance and Disposition of Historical Files

1. The losing civilian payroll office/accounting activity will be responsible for maintenance and disposition of those residual records that are not forwarded to the consolidated civilian payroll office. Records disposition will be in accordance with the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)).

2. Upon consolidation of the accounting activity to an OPLOC, provide microfiched copies of the residual employee pay records (or equivalent), leave records (or equivalent), and time and attendance records (as available) to the consolidated civilian payroll office. The quality of the product should be reviewed after records are microfiched to ensure that records are legible. Microfiched records which are not of an archival quality will not be accepted by the consolidated civilian payroll office.

a. Forward only the residual microfiched records that have not met disposition requirements in accordance with the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)). These records should be in chronological order, by pay block (if applicable) and SSN. For civilian payroll offices using other than the SSN for record sequencing (i.e. employee identification number or name), a listing should be provided, either on microfiche or hard copy, for converting the employee identification number or name to the SSN.

b. Forward either the hard copy or microfiched pay records to the NPRC. For civilian payroll offices using other than the SSN for record sequencing, also forward a copy of the above mentioned listing to the NPRC. Forward to the consolidated civilian payroll office a copy of the SF 135 that accompanied these records to the NPRC.

c. Dispose of remaining records in accordance with local disposition procedures.

d. Employee and payroll substantiating files as specified in subparagraphs 010504.B. and C. may be disposed of in accordance with local disposition procedures since copies or originals of these documents have already been forwarded to the consolidated civilian payroll office.

MEMORANDUM FOR HUMAN RESOURCES OFFICERS

SUBJECT: Change in Payroll Servicing Arrangement

The payroll office located at (local civilian payroll office name and address), Payroll Office Number _____, is scheduled to be consolidated into the (name of consolidated site - Charleston, Denver, or Pensacola) effective with the pay period beginning _____. The Payroll Office Number assigned to the (name of consolidated site) is 97-38-(number).

This memorandum is to notify you officially of the impending change in the payroll servicing arrangement, and to request that you disseminate this information to all affected parties including state unemployment offices. We are particularly interested in ensuring that all labor organizations and other like employee associations be notified well in advance of the change in servicing arrangement and the effective date so they may inform their members. The (name of consolidated site) will be forwarding a “welcome” package to you under separate cover. This package will explain in greater detail the payroll services that will be provided and will also outline changes that you may expect.

It is also requested that you initiate action to change the servicing Payroll Office Number associated with each employee record contained in your automated civilian personnel system. This change is necessary to ensure that automated submissions of entitlement and deduction data are directed to the proper payroll office. The change in servicing Payroll Office Number should be made after completing all transactions for the pay period ending _____, and before initiating the first transaction for the pay period beginning _____. We have established a cut off date of _____ which will be the last date transactions may be received and processed by this payroll office. You are requested to make every effort to honor this date as we must be in a position to complete final pay period processing and prepare for the transfer of payroll files to the consolidated site.

MEMORANDUM FOR FINANCE AND ACCOUNTING OFFICESUBJECT: Return of Individual Retirement Records

The civilian payroll office located at (local civilian payroll office and address), Payroll Office Number _____, has been consolidated into the (name of consolidated site - Charleston, Denver, or Pensacola) effective with the pay period beginning _____.

In addition to the transfer of payroll accounts to the consolidated site, the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) has agreed to accept all Individual Retirement Records for the Civil Service Retirement System and the Federal Employees Retirement System. Therefore, as a result of the consolidation effort and the OPM agreement, it is not possible for this office to accept the retirement records attached to SF 2807 IA XX-XX. The attached SF 2807 is being returned to you without action, and the Individual Retirement Records erroneously forwarded to this office must now be forwarded to the OPM. You should prepare an SF 2807 in the OPM series and forward these records as soon as possible after receipt.

CHAPTER 2

TIME AND ATTENDANCE

0201 INTRODUCTION

020101. Objective. The payroll functional objective for time and attendance is to ensure that the attendance (i.e., presence and absence) of employees is accurately recorded and reported in order to compute pay, leave, and allowances.

020102. Responsibilities

A. Employing Activity's Responsibilities

1. Timekeepers and time and attendance certifiers have been properly trained.

2. Timekeeping and time and attendance certification processing are performed as required by the designated individuals.

3. All required supporting documentation is available for audit purposes.

4. Procedural guidance is clear and adequate to ensure that timekeeping and time and attendance certification is correctly performed.

5. The timekeepers and time and attendance certifiers make every effort to correct errors prior to electronic certification.

★ 6. All errors that were not detected and corrected prior to electronic certification are promptly reported electronically to the civilian payroll office. These errors would include the failure to enter the correct separation date as well as other time and attendance entries.

★ B. Supervisor's Responsibilities

1. Supervisors are responsible for the timely and accurate preparation, certification, and submission of time and attendance. The supervisor may assign checking of daily attendance and posting of time and attendance to a timekeeper. Assignment of these duties to a timekeeper does not relieve the supervisor of the responsibility for the accuracy of the time and attendance to which he or she certifies including that leave is approved and administered in accordance with applicable policies, regulations, instructions, and bargaining agreements. The supervisor should inform the timekeeper when an employee is on any type of leave, or has worked any type of premium work.

2. Normally, timekeeping responsibilities should be assigned to individuals who are aware of employees' attendance and absence each day.

3. Supervisors should ensure that exceptions to the employee's normal tour of duty are recorded timely and accurately.

4. An alternate timekeeper should be appointed to maintain time and attendance during the absence of the primary timekeeper.

C. Timekeeper's Responsibilities

1. Timekeeping is a critical function. Personnel chosen as timekeepers must be competent and responsible. They are responsible for keeping complete and accurate time and attendance reports. If possible, timekeepers should be collocated with the employees whose records they keep.

2. Organizations may designate supervisors or other employees (secretaries, clerk typists, or others) to serve as timekeepers. Timekeepers may be civilian or military personnel.

3. All employees appointed as timekeepers for time and attendance are responsible for:

★ a. Timely and accurate recording of all exceptions to the employee's normal tour of duty.

★ b. Ensuring, when required, that employees have requested exceptions (e.g., leave usage) to their established work schedules or have attested to their actual work schedules. These requests or attestations should be documented in writing or electronically including: a manually completed hard copy (e.g., a signed SF 71 (Application for Leave); or a sign-in, sign-out sheet), a printout of an automated record (e.g., a time and attendance report) with the employee's signature (written or electronic) or initials affirming the correctness of the data, or an automated or electronic record retained on magnetic medium.

★ c. Ensuring that all entries for overtime and compensatory time earned have been approved, and totals are correct before certification.

0202 REQUIREMENTS

020201. Daily Record of Time. For each civilian employee, a daily record of time in pay and nonpay status or piecework completed shall be maintained by a designated timekeeper who takes no part in preparing the payroll or by electromechanical devices, if permitted by local law. When such devices are used, adequate supervisory surveillance shall be maintained to ensure proper and accurate time recording. Timekeepers responsible for time and attendance reports shall have positive knowledge as to the employee's presence and absence before marking the report.

020202. Time Period. The time period shown on time and attendance reports shall correspond to the length of a pay period; i.e., if payment is made for a 2-week period, the time and attendance report shall cover a 2-week period.

020204. Accounting for Time and Leave. The time and attendance data shall reflect a proper and accurate accounting of an employee's actual time and attendance and leave.

020205. Data Element Values. Minimum data element values to be included on time and attendance reports or supporting documentation for each employee are as follows:

- A. Employee name and SSN.
- B. Pay period number or dates.
- ★ C. Number of hours worked by day and in total.
- D. Number of hours of premium work, by type, to which employee is entitled.
- E. Number of credit hours and compensatory time earned.
- F. Number of leave hours (by type), credit hours and compensatory time used.
- ★ G. Dates leave is taken.
- H. Any required supporting documentation for absences, e.g., court orders, SFs 71 or military orders.
- I. Handwritten signature or automated approval code of an authorizing official.
- J. Such other information as may be required in support of operations.

020206. Work Schedules

- ★ A. Basic Work Requirement. The basic work requirement is defined as the number of hours, excluding overtime hours, an employee is required to work or to account for by charging leave. Generally, a full-time employee's basic work requirement is 80 hours in a pay period. The Department of Defense Education Activity (DoDEA) employees in pay plan "TP" (which includes educators, principals and assistant principals) are scheduled to work either full or half days. This includes educators employed in part-time and substitute positions. Attendance and absence must be recorded accordingly. If it is necessary to convert time for teacher personnel to hours, eight hours will be used for a full day and four hours for a half-day. An approved work schedule shall be maintained showing the planned arrival and departure for each day to support the time and attendance report.

★ B. Alternative Work Schedules (AWS). Title 5, United States Code, Chapter 61, subchapter II (reference (b)) made the AWS program permanent in 1985. The program permits a variety of flexible and compressed work schedules.

1. Flexible Work Schedule. Under certain flexible schedules, DoD civilian employees may work longer or shorter hours including credit hours on any given workday without taking leave or being paid overtime, as long as their basic biweekly work requirements are met (5 U.S.C. 6123) (reference (b)). By electing to work hours in excess of their tour of duty, employees may also complete the biweekly basic work requirements in fewer than 10 workdays without being paid overtime or being charged leave for the nonworkdays. This provision does not apply to TP pay plan employees.

★ a. Material variances or deviations as determined by the FWS plan must be approved by the supervisor before the change occurs, if feasible, or promptly after occurring, if not feasible. As part of their approval of the change, supervisors or designees must verify that the dates and amounts of material changes have been recorded in the appropriate time and attendance record.

★ b. In the case of a full-time employee, an 80-hour biweekly work requirement allows an employee to determine his or her own schedule within the limits set by the employing activity. A part-time employee determines his or her own schedule for a biweekly work requirement of less than 80 hours. The following are variations of the flexible work schedule:

(1) Flextime is a flexible work schedule that splits the tour of duty into 2 distinct kinds of time--core hours and flexible hours. Under any flextime schedule, an employee must be at work or on approved absence during core hours and must account for the total number of hours he or she is scheduled to work.

(2) Flexitour is a work schedule in which an employee, having once selected starting and stopping times within the flexible hours, continues to adhere to these times. Further opportunities to select different starting and stopping times may be provided subsequently by the employing activity.

(3) Gliding schedule is a flexible work schedule in which an employee has a basic work requirement of 8 hours in each day and 40 hours in each week. They may select an arrival time each day and may change that arrival time daily as long as it is within the established flexible hours.

(4) Maxiflex is a flexible work schedule that contains core hours on fewer than 10 work days in the biweekly pay period and in which an employee has a basic work requirement of 80 hours for the biweekly pay period (or multiple thereof). The employee may vary the number of hours worked on a given workday or the number of hours each week within the limits established for the organization.

2. Compressed Work Schedule

a. A compressed schedule is a fixed schedule which enables the full-time employee to complete the basic work requirements of 80 hours in fewer than 10 full workdays in each biweekly pay period by increasing the number of hours in the workday. There are no flexible times in a compressed schedule. Employees' times of arrival and departure from work are set, as are the days on which they are to complete the basic work requirement. For employees working under compressed schedules, overtime pay will continue to be paid for work outside the compressed schedule (5 U.S.C. 6121 and 6128) (reference (b)). The two most common compressed schedules are the 4-10 and the 5-4/9 schedules. On the 4-10 schedule, employees work 10 hours a day for 4 days each workweek. On the 5-4/9 schedule, employees work 9 hours a day for 8 days, 8 hours for 1 day, and get 1 day off each pay period. Compressed work schedules are determined either by management or through negotiations with exclusive employee representatives.

b. The recording of absences is treated in the same manner as for employees working a regular or alternative work schedule. However, employees working a compressed work schedule will be charged leave in accordance with their basic work schedule.

★ C. For additional guidance, refer to the OPM Handbook on Alternative Work Schedules (reference (j)).

020207. Approval of Leave. Leave approval may be by handwritten or automated signature. Leave approvals must be in accordance with paragraph 050105.

020208. Overtime and Compensatory Time Earned Authorizations

★ A. An authorized official (preferably the official most knowledgeable of the time worked) will approve any overtime, compensatory time, or holiday work. The approval, which could be documented in writing or electronically, must be retained in accordance with section 0207.

★ B. Approval should be granted before the hours are worked whenever feasible and, when not feasible, as soon as possible after the work has been performed.

C. In granting such approval, care must be taken to distinguish between regular overtime and irregular or occasional overtime in order to properly determine an employee's overtime entitlement.

★ D. Compensatory time earned may be granted for irregular and occasional overtime work only. It is not authorized for regularly scheduled overtime work.

020209. Continuation of Pay (COP)

★ A. An employee who sustains a disabling job-related traumatic injury is entitled to the continuation of regular pay for up to 45 calendar days. See section 0312 for additional information regarding COP.

B. Controls will be established to ensure that employees do not exceed the 45-day limit. COP time will be accounted for as follows:

1. Days are counted on a calendar basis. If an employee is charged COP on Friday and the disability continues through the weekend, he or she is charged COP for Saturday and Sunday. Holidays, weekends, and regular days off following a COP day are counted as COP days. If 1 hour is used to see a physician and 7 hours are worked, it is still counted as 1 COP day. The time and attendance source document will show the actual hours worked in order to give an accurate picture of employee's work record.

2. Unless the injury occurs before the beginning of the workday, time lost on the day of injury should be charged to administrative leave. The period to be charged to COP begins with the first day or shift of disability or medical treatment following the date of injury, provided that the absence began within 45 days after the injury. COP should be charged for weekends and holidays if the medical evidence shows the employee was disabled on the days in question. For example, if the physician indicates that disability will continue only through Saturday for an individual who has Saturday and Sunday off, COP will be charged only through Saturday.

3. If work stoppage occurs for only a portion of a day or shift other than the date of injury, a full day of COP will be counted against the 45-calendar day entitlement, even though the employee is not entitled to COP for the entire day or shift. For example, if an employee who has returned to work uses 3 hours in order to receive physical therapy for the effects of the injury, he or she is entitled to only 3 hours of COP even though 1 full calendar day will be charged against the 45-day limit. If an employee is absent for all or part of the remaining workday, the time loss should be covered by leave, leave without pay (LWOP), absence without leave (AWOL), etc., as appropriate, since absence beyond the time needed to obtain the physical therapy cannot be charged to COP.

4. If the employee is only partially disabled following the injury, and continues to work several hours each workday, each day or partial day of absence from work is chargeable as a full day of COP against the 45-day period.

5. Absences charged to COP and disapproved later by the Department of Labor require conversion to sick or annual leave. If sick or annual leave is not available, COP will be converted to LWOP and reimbursements to the government must be for gross earnings paid while in a COP status. Refer to section 0803 for due process procedures. This collection includes payments made on behalf of the employee and adjustments to the deposit fund accounts by the civilian payroll office.

6. A physician, as necessary, must certify the time the employee takes off due to the injury.

C. Injured employees are permitted to return to duty with lighter jobs or a modification of their own job. When an injured employee returns to duty in an official light-duty status within the first 45 days of disability following an injury, each day or portion of a day in light-duty status will be counted as one day of COP. This also includes any day or portion of a day worked while under injury-related work restrictions imposed by a physician.

020210. Temporary Duty (TDY)

A. When an employee is on TDY, the hours worked and hours of leave will be recorded on the time and attendance document. All time actually spent away from the permanent duty station during the basic workweek will be recorded as time worked or leave taken by the employee's permanent duty station. The travel order will support entries on the time and attendance document for regular time.

B. When an employee is on extended TDY (official government-directed travel of 3 weeks or more in duration), the supervisor may require the employee to submit time and attendance data. Telephone, overnight mail, facsimile machine, or other acceptable means of communication may be used.

0203 TIME AND ATTENDANCE RECORDING

★ 020301. Requirements. Scheduled starting and ending times of the day for each employee or for groups of employees shall be established and recorded. The day an employee's shift begins is designated as the day of work for night and shift differential purposes. These requirements shall be modified for AWS (see subparagraph 020206.B.).

★ 020302. Certification of Absences. Indicated absences shall be initialed or signed by the employee or supported by an approved application for leave. A supervisor may require a medical certificate or other evidence of illness from an employee when granting sick leave. Such certification will be retained by the employing activity in accordance with section 0207.

★ 020303. Verification of Leave Charges. Employees must officially confirm each leave charge, except for administrative leave, AWOL charges, suspension or holiday absences.

020304. Leave Charges. All leave types are charged to the employee either by whole days, whole days or fractional hours.

★ 020305. DoDEA Educator Absences. Absences of DoDEA educators in the TP pay plan shall be recorded in full or half days. When an educator is required to work during any portion of a half-day increment, the educator's time shall be recorded in a duty status for the entire half-day increment. However, an educator who fails to work part of a scheduled increment for unacceptable reasons shall be charged leave or AWOL for the entire increment.

020306. Daylight Saving Time

A. Civilian employees working on a tour of duty when daylight saving time goes into effect are credited with the actual number of hours worked on the tour of duty. The hour lost as a result of the change is charged to annual leave, compensatory time used, credit hour used, or leave without pay, whichever is applicable with the employee's request. Employees may be allowed to work 1 hour beyond the end of their shift.

B. Civilian employees working on a tour of duty when standard time goes into effect are credited with the actual number of hours worked. Any time worked in excess of 8 hours will be paid as overtime and/or compensatory time earned or recorded as credit hours.

★ 020307. Recording Clock. A recording clock may not be used to record time of an employee of an executive department in the District of Columbia. See 5 U.S.C. 6106 (reference (b)).

0204 TIME AND ATTENDANCE CERTIFICATION

020401. Controls. The certification of time and attendance is an authorization for the expenditure of government funds. Each employee's time and attendance report shall be certified correct by the employee's supervisor, acting supervisor, or other designated representative authorized to act as an alternate certifier at the end of the pay period. Certification shall not ordinarily be made earlier than the last workday of a pay period. In some circumstances (such as when a legal holiday falls on a Friday or Monday), it is not practical to operate without an early cutoff. In such cases, additional controls, which shall be demonstrated in the system design, shall be in place and operating. These controls shall ensure that any change in attendance or absence certified by a supervisor that occurs after the cutoff date either is identified and reported before pay computation or is reported for the next pay computation. The employee may initial the corrected entry(ies) or submit an SF 71 for such absence, as appropriate.

020402. Responsibility. All time and attendance reports and other supporting documents shall be reviewed and approved by an authorized official. This official shall be aware of his or her responsibilities for ensuring accuracy of the reports and shall have knowledge of the time worked and absence of employees for whom approval is given.

★ A. Certification of time and attendance documents must be based on knowledge from personal observation, work output, timekeeper verification, from checking data against other independent sources (such as matching starting and ending times of work against sign-in and sign-out sheets or time clock entries), from reliance on other internal controls, or a combination of these. Approving officials must have a reasonable basis for relying on systems of internal control to ensure accuracy and legal compliance when they do not have positive, personal knowledge of the presence and absence of, or other information concerning, employees whose time and attendance documents are being approved. This basis must involve periodic testing of internal controls to ensure that they are working as intended.

B. Approvals shall be made individually for each employee, and a handwritten or automated signature shall be provided for each time and attendance report.

C. A single supervisory signature for a multiple employee report may be made to approve the information recorded for all employees listed on the report. There are three prerequisites for a single signature:

1. The data elements itemized in paragraph 020205. shall appear on the report for each employee listed on the report;

2. Supporting documents required for the information on the report shall be reviewed by the supervisor; and

3. The supervisor shall initial or sign each page of the report and also shall either sign the last page of the report or enter an approval code into an automated system.

D. For computerized ("paperless") time and attendance systems in which time and attendance data is contained in a computer file and displayed on a terminal, a single automated code may be entered by the supervisor to approve the information contained in the file provided that the data elements itemized in paragraph 020205. are contained in the file. The supervisor prior to approving time and attendance data reviews supporting documents or computerized files. A record of changes made to a file, once approved by someone other than the original approving official, is generated and sent to either the original approving official or a designated person other than the one who made the changes.

020403. Delay. Certification of the time and attendance report may not be delayed for the purpose of obtaining the employee's initials or signature for leave when the employee is not available. The employee shall submit a confirming SF 71 upon return to duty.

★ 020404. Maintenance by Employee. Normally, employees may not maintain their own time and attendance reports. The situations in which employees may maintain their own time and attendance recordings are as follows:

- A. The employee is the timekeeper;
- B. Employees work flexible hours outside the hours of the timekeeper and supervisor;
- C. An employee is working alone at a remote site; and
- D. Employees are based at, but are frequently away from, the location of their supervisors and timekeepers during working hours.

To provide reasonable assurance that employees are working when scheduled, supervisors can make occasional telephone calls to employees during the times they are scheduled to work and can determine the reasonableness of work output for the time spent.

★ 020405. Prior Approval. When it is not practical for the supervisor to approve a time and attendance record prior to the receipt of supporting documents, the employee may be paid and a subsequent review performed of the documents by the supervisor.

★ 020406. Exceptions. Exceptions to the general prohibition of employees approving their own time and attendance recordings are intended to apply only when it is not feasible for employees described to have their time and attendance report approved by a supervisor. In such instances, the Component head or designee shall grant an official authorization in writing. These exceptions are:

- A. An employee working alone at a remote site for long periods;

B. Employees are based at, but frequently away from, the location of their supervisors and timekeepers during working hours; and

C. The employee is head of an organization within an agency that has no supervisor on site.

0205 TIME AND ATTENDANCE REPORTING

★ 020501. Methods. Time and attendance (T&A) data must be transmitted to the payroll system, as required, by using positive (100 percent) reporting or exception reporting. Under positive reporting, all T&A data are reported to the payroll system for each employee. Under exception reporting, only exceptions to the employee's scheduled tour of duty are reported to the payroll system. (NOTE: The appropriate function key must be pressed to denote that all exceptions have been reported) When reporting to the payroll system by source data automation (SDA), positive reporting will be required for each employee.

★ 020502. Controls. Regardless of the reporting method, the controls shall ensure that all required T&A information, including current period corrections and prior period adjustments, are properly reviewed and approved by an authorized official and reported timely and accurately.

★ 020503. Generation of a Charge to Annual Leave. If any required T&A data are missing for an employee, the civilian payroll system will generate a charge against the employee's annual leave balance. (NOTE: T&A data are considered missing if (a) under positive reporting, time has not been reported for the employee's entire scheduled tour of duty; or (b) under exception reporting, the appropriate function key has not been pressed to denote that all exceptions have been reported.) If the annual leave balance is not sufficient to support the employee's regularly scheduled tour of duty, the remainder will be charged as shown in Table 5-2. The employee's pay and leave record will be corrected upon submission of the certified time and attendance data.

★ 020504. Source Data Automation (SDA). Refer to section 0209 for information on SDA systems.

0206 ADJUSTMENTS AND CORRECTIONS

020601. Current Period Corrections. Timekeepers will correct errors in data as discussed in subparagraph 020102.C.3.d.

★ 020602. Prior Period Adjustments. If the time and attendance for the current pay period has been processed and a change is required, certified adjusted time and attendance data will be input to the payroll system or forwarded to the civilian payroll office via the CSR. The adjustment will be promptly processed in the employee's pay and/or leave record no later than the pay period following receipt for on-line adjustments.

020603. Electronic Corrections. Electronic corrections for current period corrections and prior period adjustments will be made in accordance with the payroll system's users manual.

0207 RETENTION OF RECORDS

020701. Storage Location. Employing activities shall establish a uniform practice to be followed as to the locations at which the time and attendance reports and related supporting documentation are to be maintained. Time and attendance reports, together with approved applications for leave, overtime approvals, military orders, jury duty certification, etc., may be retained at the timekeepers' offices, or sent to a designated storage location.

020702. Internal Controls. Sufficient internal controls shall be established to prevent unauthorized changes to completed time and attendance reports, regardless of where they are retained.

020703. Retention Period. Time and attendance reports and all other payroll records shall be kept in accordance with records retention requirements as explained in the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)). This schedule requires time and attendance reports and other supporting documents to be kept available for audit or for 6 years, and 3 months, whichever occurs first.

0208 LABOR DISTRIBUTION

020801. Interface with Cost Accounting Systems. Civilian payroll systems shall interface with cost accounting systems, if established, to ensure payroll labor costs are distributed and charged to appropriate cost centers. Organizations that operate a formal cost accounting system shall ensure that costs are reconciled to the labor distribution processes no less frequently than monthly.

★0209 SOURCE DATA AUTOMATION SYSTEMS

020901. Requirements. The requirements for obtaining approval to use an SDA were established by DFAS memorandum of November 10, 1992 (reference (k)). The requirements are:

A. The SDA will not cause the need for, or lead to the development of, a new interface to an existing legacy accounting system.

B. The SDA must provide time and attendance data to DCPS in a timely manner each pay period.

C. The SDA must have the capability to receive data from or transmit data to more than one DCPS civilian payroll office.

D. Only one SDA process will be approved per major claimant/major command/Defense activity. Employees not using the SDA must use either the DCPS on-line time and attendance input system or the DCPS PC-based input system. Effective October 1, 1999, the DCPS PC-based input system will no longer be available.

E. The SDA must have the capability to support supervisory electronic certification of time and attendance, even if the major claimant/major command/Defense activity does not use this capability.

F. The SDA must provide positive acknowledgment of accurate time and attendance prior to payroll processing.

G. Standard DCPS time and attendance codes must be used with the SDA software application.

H. The SDA should support at least 1,000 employees.

I. Use of the SDA must eliminate any need for dual reporting of time and attendance and labor cost data.

020902. SDA Owner Responsibilities. The owner of the SDA is responsible for:

A. Maintaining the SDA software in accordance with DCPS interface specifications.

B. Any Federal Managers' Financial Integrity Act requirement pertaining to the SDA system.

020903. Approval. A request for SDA approval must be routed through the Component's chain of command to Service or Agency Headquarters. If the Service or Agency approves, the request is forwarded to DFAS-HQ for final approval. After approval, contact the Systems Engineering Organization in Pensacola, Florida, to obtain a test schedule and procedures.

CHAPTER 3

PAY ADMINISTRATION0301 GENERAL PROVISIONS030101. Payroll Computation

★ A. Payroll computations shall be based on statutorily authorized entitlements and in accordance with 5 C.F.R. 530, 531, 532, 534, 550, 551, 572, 575, 581, 591, 595, 610 and 630 (reference (l)). These entitlements shall be evidenced by an SF 50 or other approved documents, and a time and attendance report for days actually worked and any leave actually taken during the period.

B. Documents supporting entries made in the pay, leave, and allowance records shall consist of SFs 50 and other personnel documents; certified copies of travel orders; time and attendance reports, including any necessary supporting documents such as sign-in and sign-out registers or SFs 71; authorizations or approvals of overtime when required separately from time and attendance reports; pay adjustment authorizations; and similar official records.

C. Source documents need not be transmitted to the civilian payroll office provided the pay entitlement data in such documents are transmitted to the civilian payroll office and controlled by feedback to ensure consideration of that data in the pay computation process; controls are established to ensure that all data which should be transmitted are transmitted; and source documents and transmittal and control evidence are retained for audit in accordance with the General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)).

D. Civilian payroll personnel shall ensure that payroll data are complete, correct, and accurate. Specifically, civilian payroll office personnel shall ensure that an employee's compensation is consistent with grade, position classification and other individual entitlements (retained grade and pay), and employment location. For example, an employee assigned to stateside duties shall not be paid any foreign area allowances, regardless of authorizing documents. In this example, the human resources organization (HRO) that issued such entitlement documents shall be requested to clarify and/or correct these documents.

E. The pay computation shall be accomplished as soon as possible after the close of the pay period.

F. Pay computations shall be based on the completed time and attendance record maintained for each employee.

★ G. Adequate channels of communication shall exist between the civilian payroll office, the HRO, and the CSR to ensure that all entitlement information is considered in each pay computation. At least every four months, personnel and pay data shall be reconciled and discrepancies corrected promptly. The functional area that entered the incorrect data shall have primary responsibility for reconciling discrepancies in common data. Also see paragraph 010407.

030102. Notification of Changes to Pay. Notification of changes in pay is the responsibility of the HRO servicing the employee. The civilian payroll office shall adequately inform each employee in writing as to the nature and amount of the changes in gross pay from one pay period to the next. This information may be disclosed on an LES in lieu of a separate written advisory. This information shall be in sufficient detail to show total pay, allowances, deductions, and net pay.

030103. Statutory Ceilings on Compensation

A. Limitations on Premium Pay

1. Except as explained below, premium pay (night pay, compensatory pay, overtime pay, premium pay on an annual basis, and pay for Sunday and holiday work), in combination with basic pay, may not cause the total for any pay period for General Schedule (GS) employees to exceed the maximum rate payable for GS-15. No premium payments or compensatory time may be granted to an employee whose rate of basic pay is greater than the maximum rate for GS-15 (5 U.S.C. 5547(a) (reference (b)) and 5 C.F.R. 550.105 (reference (l))). Computation of the biweekly statutory pay limit for 32 U.S.C. (reference (m)) technicians does not include compensatory time worked. Title 32, U.S.C., section 709 (reference (m)) precludes National Guard technicians from being paid overtime; therefore, compensatory time earned by National Guard technicians will not be paid. For General Schedule (GS) employees receiving a geographic adjustment, the Supplementary Salary table will be followed to determine the GS-15, step 10 rate. Employees in occupations and/or locations for which a special rate has been established for the GS-15 are subject to a biweekly limitation equal to the special rate for GS-15, step 10.

★ 2. When the head of an agency, his or her designee, or the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) determines that an emergency exists, the biweekly limitation described in subparagraph 030103.A.1. does not apply to employees who are paid premium pay for work in connection with that emergency. In such situations, the total basic pay and premium pay for most GS employees are limited to the annual rate for GS-15, step 10, for the calendar year. This limit may include locality-based comparability or special salary rates.

★ 3. The biweekly limitation described in subparagraph 030203.A.1. does not apply to overtime pay earned by employees who are nonexempt from the FLSA (reference (n)).

B. Aggregate Limitation on Pay

1. The FEPCA (reference (e)) and 5 C.F.R. 530, subpart B (reference (l)) established a new aggregate limitation on pay. This limitation applies to members of the Senior Executive Service (SES) who previously were covered by an aggregate limitation that was applied on a fiscal year basis under 5 U.S.C. 5383(b)(1) (reference (b)), as well as to most other federal employees. Under 5 U.S.C. 5307 (reference (b)), a covered employee may not receive any allowance, differential, bonus, award, or other payment in any calendar year to the extent such payment, in combination with the employee's basic pay, would exceed the rate payable for Level I of the Executive Schedule at the end of that calendar year. Amounts in excess of that amount generally will be paid at the beginning of the next calendar year. If an employee separates from the federal service, the entire excess amount is payable following a 30-day break in service.

★ 2. The aggregate limitation on pay applies to basic pay, allowances, differentials, bonuses, awards, and other similar cash payments made under 5 U.S.C. 5547 (reference (b)). Some of these payments are made on a one-time basis, and some are paid at the same time and in the same manner as basic pay. The FEPCA (reference (e)) classifies these as "continuing payments" and "noncontinuing payments" respectively. The aggregate limitation on pay does not apply to overtime pay earned by employees who are nonexempt from the FLSA (reference (n)).

3. Under the FEPCA (reference (e)), an agency may not authorize any discretionary continuing payment that would cause the total of all continuing payments at any time to exceed the rate payable for Level I of the Executive Schedule (5 C.F.R. 530.203(c)) (reference (l)). Examples of discretionary continuing payments include retention allowances, supervisory differentials, and physicians' comparability allowances. Nondiscretionary continuing payments (e.g., basic pay, locality-based comparability payments or interim geographic adjustments, cost of living allowances, post differentials, and remote work site allowances) are not subject to this regulatory restriction.

4. Finally, the FEPCA (reference (e)) provides that nondiscretionary continuing payments may not be discontinued or deferred for any period of time in order to make a continuing payment or discretionary continuing payment that would otherwise cause an employee's pay to exceed any of the limitations in these regulations. The FEPCA (reference (e)) also establishes an order of precedence for nondiscretionary continuing payments and any authorized physicians comparability allowance when the total of such payments exceeds the rate then payable for Level I of the Executive Schedule (5 C.F.R. 530.203 (e) and (f)) (reference (l)).

030104. Multiple Appointments. An employee shall not be entitled to receive pay from more than one position for more than an aggregate of 40 hours of work in one calendar week (Sunday through Saturday) (5 U.S.C. 5533a) (reference (b)). Generally, there is no restriction on the number of appointments that a person may hold, only upon the number of hours for which the person may be paid. An individual may be given more than one simultaneous part-time or intermittent appointment, or an employee on leave with pay may accept another federal appointment, so long as pay is not received for more than 40 hours a week (unless the employee is regularly paid for more than 40 hours a week under an authorized alternative work schedule) or from two sources for the same hours. The HROs will notify civilian payroll offices of multiple appointments via an SF 50.

0302 BASIC PAY030201. General Schedule (GS) Employees

A. Basic Pay. Generally, basic pay for these employees means the rate of pay set by the law or an administrative action for the job held before any deductions and exclusive of additional pay of any kind.

B. Pay Computation. Computations will be based on the rates contained in the OPM salary tables.

C. Basic Rates

1. The hourly basic rate is derived by dividing the annual rate by 2,087 with the result adjusted to the nearest cent, counting one-half cent and over as a whole cent.

2. The biweekly rate is derived by multiplying the hourly rate by 80.

3. A daily rate is derived by multiplying the hourly basic rate by the number of daily hours of service.

4. For employees whose pay is monthly or covers one calendar month paid under the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 5505 (reference (b)), the following rules for division of time and computation of pay govern:

a. The pay for one month's pay is one-twelfth of the pay for one year;

b. The pay for one day is one-thirtieth of the pay for one month;

c. The 31st day of a calendar month is ignored in computing pay, except that the pay for one day is forfeited for a day of unauthorized absence on the 31st day of a calendar month;

d. For each day of the month elapsing before entering on duty, the pay for one day is deducted from the first month of pay for the individual.

★ D. Interim Geographic Adjustment (IGA). The IGAs of 8 percent that were authorized for the Consolidated Metropolitan Statistical Areas (CMSA) were discontinued because locality-based comparability payments (see subparagraph 030201.G.), exceeded the 8 percent rate. However, under 5 C.F.R. 531.701 (reference (l)), an IGA will still be taken into consideration when determining continued rates of pay. Refer to Subpart G of 5 C.F.R. (reference (l)) for additional information.

E. Special Higher Minimum Rates for Law Enforcement Officers (LEO) at Grades GS-3 through GS-10. Section 403 of FEPCA (reference (e)) provides LEOs at grades GS-3 through GS-10 worldwide special salary rates, beginning in January 1992. A special salary table number 491 authorized by section 403 of FEPCA, P.L. 101-509 (reference (e)), as amended by P.L. 102-378 (reference (e)), is published by the OPM. The LEOs are entitled to receive the higher of special rates under section 403 of FEPCA or special salary rates under 5 U.S.C. 5305 (reference (b)).

F. Special Pay Adjustment for Law Enforcement Officers (LEO) in Selected Geographic Areas. Section 404 of FEPCA (reference (e)) establishes special pay adjustments of 4, 8, and 16 percent for GS, SES, and senior-level LEOs whose official duty stations are in one of eight designated areas. These special pay adjustments are considered basic pay for retirement, life insurance, premium pay, severance pay, workers' compensation purposes, and for advances in pay. For grades GS-3 through GS-10 only, the rates of basic pay must be used for all other pay administration purposes, except as provided in 5 C.F.R. 531.203(d)(2)(vi) (reference (l)). For all other grades, the rates of basic pay in the General Schedule must be used for all other pay administration purposes. Under 5 U.S.C. 5304(g)(1) (reference (b)), the LEO special pay adjustment, when added to the employee's rate of basic pay under the General Schedule, may not exceed the rate for level IV of the Executive Schedule.

★ G. Locality-Based Comparability Payments. The FEPCA (reference (e)) authorizes the payment of locality pay for GS employees and certain other categories of positions in numerous locality pay areas. Locality pay is considered basic pay for retirement, life insurance, premium pay, advance pay, severance pay, lump-sum leave and workers' compensation purposes. Eligibility is based on where an employee's official duty station, not where he or she lives. Locality pay does not transfer with an employee from one pay zone to another. Employees shall receive whatever rate of pay applies at his or her new duty station. Employees on temporary assignment in a different pay zone shall continue receiving their current salary. Locality pay does not apply overseas, nor in Alaska or Hawaii.

030201. Employees Under the Performance Management and Recognition System (PMRS)

A. On September 30, 1993, P.L. 103-89, Performance Management and Recognition System Termination Act of 1993 (reference (e)), was enacted, thereby terminating the PMRS on October 31, 1993. The provisions of this law apply to all employees who were covered by PMRS on October 31, 1993, and provide for the transition of former PMRS employees into their agency's Performance Management System and the GS pay plan, with its within-grade increases and waiting periods. It also permits agencies to pay current rates of pay, as adjusted by the 1993 final merit increases.

B. In order to identify all employees who are covered by the provisions of this law, the OPM decided to retain the GM pay plan code. The step for all employees using the GM pay plan code will continue to be "00".

C. All GS employees, including those still designated GM after October 31, 1993, will be eligible for within-grade increases according to the waiting periods established in statute. The last PMRS merit increase received, including one for zero dollars, is an equivalent increase for the purpose of calculating and completing the prescribed waiting periods. Within-grade increases have the dollar value of one-ninth of the pay range and employees will have that increase added to their basic pay rate (including an off-step rate) upon completion of the appropriate waiting period, provided performance has been at an acceptable level of competence.

D. Promotion, change to a lower grade, a break in service of more than three days, transfer to another non-DoD agency, or reassignment to a nonsupervisory or nonmanagement position will end an employee's coverage under P.L. 103-89 (reference (e)). At that time, the employee's rate of basic pay will be adjusted to the designated GS step rate that meets or exceeds the current rate of pay, not to exceed step 10.

030202. SES Employees

A. Definition. In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 5381-5385 (reference (b)), SES employees are in positions in the Executive Branch which were formerly classified at GS-16, 17, and 18, and Executive Levels IV or V (or their equivalents) which do not require Senate confirmation. Nonsupervisory positions are not covered unless they carry significant policy-making responsibilities.

B. Rate of Pay. There are six rates of basic pay for SES employees. The minimum rate of basic pay is 120 percent of GS-15, step 1 and the maximum rate is Level IV of the Executive Schedule. These rates may be adjusted by the President when comparability adjustments are made in GS rates under the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 5305 (reference (b)).

030203. Senior Level Positions

A. Definition. Senior Level positions, established by section 102 of the FEPCA (reference (e)), are non-SES positions formerly classified at GS-16, 17, and 18. These positions do not include administrative law judges and board of contract appeals positions that have their own pay schedules.

B. Rate of Pay. These positions are paid under 5 U.S.C. 5376 (reference (b)), which establishes the minimum rate of basic pay at 120 percent of GS-15, step 1 and the maximum rate equal to Level IV of the Executive Schedule. There are no grades or steps under 5 U.S.C. 5376 (reference (b)). Therefore, employees may be paid at any rate between the minimum and maximum rates.

030204. Scientific and Professional Employees

A. Definition. Scientific and professional employees are those in positions above GS-15 who are engaged in research and development positions established under 5 U.S.C. 3104 (reference (b)) and section 102 of the FEPCA (reference (e)).

B. Rate of Pay. These positions are paid under 5 U.S.C. 5376 (reference (b)), which establishes the minimum rate of basic pay at 120 percent of GS-15, step 1 and the maximum rate equal to Level IV of the Executive Schedule. There are no grades or steps under 5 U.S.C. 5376 (reference (b)); therefore, employees may be paid at any rate between the minimum and maximum rates.

030205. Executive Schedule Employees

A. Definition. The Executive Schedule, defined in 5 U.S.C. 5311-5318 (reference (b)), is divided into five pay levels and is the basic pay schedule for senior management positions described in those sections. SES positions are not included.

B. Rate of Pay. The rate of pay is contained in the OPM annual salary tables.

030206. Federal Wage System (FWS) Employees

A. Definition. An FWS employee means an individual who is in a recognized trade or craft, or other skilled mechanical craft, or in an unskilled, semiskilled or skilled manual labor occupation. Included is any other individual, including a foreman or a supervisor, in a position having trade, craft or laboring experience and knowledge as a paramount requirement. These positions are commonly referred to as blue collar, wage grade, or wage board. For consistency, the term FWS will be used throughout this Volume. Pay for these positions is based on the prevailing rates in an area. See Appendix A to Subpart B of Part 532 of 5 C.F.R. (reference (1)). FWS employees are hourly rate employees who receive annual wage adjustments based on a review of comparability pay by wage area. Each area pay scale is divided into five parts or classes: WG (wage grade employee); WL (wage leader employee); WS (wage supervisor); WD (nonsupervisory employees covered by the production facilitating pay plan); and WN (supervisory employees covered by the production facilitating pay plan).

B. Rate of Pay. The rates are adjusted from time to time for comparable work within a local wage area. Basic pay for FWS employees means the scheduled rate of pay plus any night shift or environmental differential.

0303 PREMIUM PAY

★ 030301. Premium pay consists of certain types of pay such as overtime pay, which is discussed in paragraph 030302.; night pay; holiday pay for employees not in receipt of annual premium pay for standby duty; Sunday pay; annual premium pay for regularly scheduled standby duty; annual premium pay for administratively uncontrollable work; availability pay for LEOs; environmental pay for FWS employees; and hazard pay for GS employees. Rates and authorization for these various pays are contained in 5 U.S.C. 5343, 5542, 5544, 5545, 5546a, 5547, and 5549 (reference (b)). Employees, as defined by 5 U.S.C. 5541 (reference (b)), may be paid premium pay as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 5542, 5545(a)-(c), and 5546(a) and (b) (reference (b)) only to the extent that the pay does not cause the aggregate rate of pay for any pay period to exceed the maximum applicable rate for a GS-15. Premium pay cannot be paid to any GS employee whose basic rate of pay equals or exceeds the maximum applicable rate for grade GS-15. Premium pay may be paid to an employee whose basic rate of pay is less than the maximum applicable rate of GS-15 only to the extent that the payment does not cause the total rate of pay for any pay period to exceed the maximum applicable rate for GS-15. The maximum rate does not apply to nonexempt GS employees (see subparagraph 030302.B). Hazard pay is excluded from this limitation. SES employees are not entitled to premium pay under any circumstances. TP pay plan employees are excluded from title 5 (reference (b)) premium pay provisions.

030302. Overtime Pay. Each employing activity shall be responsible for controlling overtime. Supervisors shall ensure that overtime worked is covered by funds targeted for their employing activity. Approval or disapproval of overtime shall be consistent with direction from the Deputy Secretary of Defense (reference (o)). The civilian payroll office shall pay only approved overtime as certified on the time and attendance report. Normally, approval to work overtime shall be made in writing in advance of performing the work.

A. Title 5 Overtime

★ 1. Regularly Scheduled. Title 5, C.F.R., Part 550 (reference (l)) contains provisions on premium pay for overtime. Regular overtime work means overtime work that is scheduled prior to the beginning of an employee's regularly scheduled administrative workweek. For each GS employee whose rate of pay does not exceed a minimum applicable rate for a GS-10, the overtime hourly rate is one and one-half times the employee's hourly rate of pay. For each GS employee whose rate of basic pay exceeds the minimum applicable rate for a GS-10, the overtime hourly rate is one and one-half times the hourly rate of basic pay at the minimum applicable rate for a GS-10 (5 U.S.C. 5542) (reference (b)). Regular overtime is authorized for full-time, part-time, and intermittent GS employees. An intermittent work schedule is appropriate when work is unpredictable and sporadic; therefore, instances of repetitive regularly scheduled overtime should seldom, if ever, occur. Refer to 5 C.F.R. 340.403 (reference (l)).

2. Irregular/Occasional. Irregular or occasional overtime work is overtime work that is not part of an employee's regularly scheduled administrative workweek.

B. FLSA (Nonexempt Employees)

1. For employees paid under 29 U.S.C. 201-219 (FLSA) (reference (n)), entitlement to overtime compensation is determined by calculating of an "hourly regular rate." The "hourly regular rate" of pay for all "nonexempt" employees is computed by adding all includible payments for the week, and then dividing by the total hours of work and paid leave. The Department shall compensate an employee who is nonexempt under the provisions of 5 C.F.R. 551.101 (reference (l)) for all hours of work in excess of 8 a day or 40 in a workweek at a rate equal to one and one-half times the employee's hourly regular rate of pay.

★ 2. Under section 210 of the FEPCA (reference (e)), effective on May 4, 1991, overtime pay computations for nonexempt employees must be made solely in accordance with the FLSA (reference (n)) regulations in 5 C.F.R. 551 (reference (l)), as amended. Agencies are no longer required to compare overtime pay entitlements for nonexempt employees under 5 C.F.R. 550 and 551 (reference (l)) and pay whichever amount is greater. However, entitlements arising prior to May 3, 1991, still must be calculated using the previous rules. Nonexempt employees continue to be covered by the other premium pay provisions of 5 U.S.C., chapter 55, subchapter V (reference (b)) for night, Sunday, or holiday and annual premium pay for regularly scheduled standby duty or administratively uncontrollable overtime (AUO) work. The maximum biweekly and aggregate limitations on title 5 premium pay do not apply to overtime pay earned by employees who are nonexempt from the FLSA (reference (n)).

3. According to 5 U.S.C. 5544(a) (reference (b)), as amended by section 529 of P.L. 101-509 (reference (e)), hours of work (as defined in 5 U.S.C. 5542) (reference (b)) in excess of 8 hours in a day are deemed to be overtime hours for the purposes of section 7 of the FLSA (29 U.S.C. 207) (reference (n)), if the employee is not receiving annual premium pay for regularly scheduled standby duty (5 U.S.C. 5545(c)(1)) (reference (b)) or annual premium pay for AUO work (5 U.S.C. 5545(c)(2) (reference (b)); 5 U.S.C. 5544(a) (reference (b)) for FWS employees). Under the FLSA (reference (n)), such hours are considered overtime hours regardless of the total number of hours of work in the workweek. For example, an employee who works 10 hours on the first day of the workweek and is on LWOP for the remainder of the workweek is entitled to 2 hours of overtime pay under FLSA (reference (n)), even though the employee has worked a total of only 10 hours in the workweek.

★ C. Excluded Employees. SES employees are excluded from premium pay by the provisions of 5 U.S.C. section 5541 (reference (b)). Certain GS and all Executive Schedule employees are also excluded since, under the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 5547 (reference (b)), premium pay may be paid only to the extent that payment does not cause aggregate pay to exceed the maximum rate for GS-15. National Guard technicians are not entitled to premium pay for overtime. Instead, they may earn compensatory time.

D. Callback Overtime. A minimum of two hours of overtime will be paid if an employee is required to return to the place of employment for unscheduled overtime work or to work unscheduled overtime on a nonscheduled workday. If the callback occurs on a holiday during the employee's regular schedule, a minimum of two 2 hours holiday premium pay will be paid. When an FLSA nonexempt employee performs unscheduled overtime work on a day when work was not scheduled for the employee, or for which the employee is required to return to the place of employment, the employee is paid for two hours of work or the actual number of hours worked, whichever is greater. In all cases, the actual time worked will be recorded.

E. Compensatory Time

★ 1. Eligible employees, including FWS employees, can have compensatory time off from their scheduled tour of duty instead of payment for an equal amount of time spent in irregular or occasional overtime work. Those employees whose basic rate of compensation exceeds the maximum applicable rate for grade GS-10 may be required by their employing activity to take compensatory time off instead of overtime pay. The FWS and nonexempt employees may not be required to take compensatory time off instead of being paid overtime pay unless they request compensatory time. See 5 C.F.R. 532.504 and 551.531 (reference (l)) and 5 U.S.C. 5543 (reference (b)).

★ 2. Compensatory time worked must be approved in advance in writing and administered in accordance with paragraph 020208. Compensatory time may not be earned when payment of the extra hours at overtime rates would be improper, as in the case of employees whose pay for any period is limited to the maximum rate payable for a GS-15 (26 Comp. Gen. 750 (1947)) (reference (p)). Compensatory time which may be earned by an employee in any one pay period is limited to the number of hours for which there would otherwise be an entitlement to overtime compensation before reaching the limitation on total pay period earnings (37 Comp. Gen. 362) (reference (p)). The granting of compensatory time off in lieu of overtime pay under 5 U.S.C. 5542 (reference (b)) is not to be administered in opposition to the overtime pay requirements of the FLSA (reference (n)). For the instructions on compensatory time off for nonexempt employees, see 5 C.F.R. 551.531 (reference (l)). For exempt employees, refer to 5 C.F.R. 550.114 (reference (l)).

3. Compensatory time worked cannot be credited to an employee whose basic rate of pay equals or exceeds the maximum rate for grade GS-15. Compensatory time worked in a pay period may be credited to an employee whose basic rate is less than the maximum rate of GS-15 only to the extent that the monetary value of the compensatory time worked does not cause the total rate of pay for that pay period to exceed the maximum applicable rate for GS-15.

4. Exempt GS employees may choose to earn compensatory time in place of payment for an equal amount of time spent in occasional or irregular overtime work. They may not earn compensatory time for regularly scheduled overtime. Compensatory time cannot be earned for holiday work.

★ 5. Compensatory time off must be granted to an exempt employee within a reasonable time after the overtime is worked. The limit for the use of compensatory time off is the end of the 26th pay period after that in which the overtime was worked. The unused compensatory time worked will then be paid at the overtime rate at which it was earned. Compensatory time earned before June 8, 1997, was placed in an “old compensatory time” account on June 7, 1998, and thereafter will be charged only if the employee has insufficient current compensatory time to cover the compensatory time off requested. National Guard employees are not paid for unused compensatory time worked. They must use their compensatory time by the end of the 26th pay period after it is earned or will forfeit that compensatory time.

★ 6. Upon request of a FWS or nonexempt employee, an employing activity may grant compensatory time off from a scheduled tour of duty instead of payment under FLSA for an equal amount of time spent in irregular or occasional overtime work, i.e., overtime work not scheduled in advance of the employee's workweek. However, if an employee fails to use compensatory time before the expiration of the established time period, the employee shall be paid for the overtime work at the FLSA overtime rate in effect at the time it was worked. See 5 C.F.R. 532.504 and 551.531 (reference (l)).

★ 7. Upon request of the employee, the employing activity may grant compensatory time off to a FWS or nonexempt employee on a flexible work schedule under 5 U.S.C. 6122 (reference (b)) instead of payment under 5 C.F.R. 532.504 and 551.501 (reference (l)) for an equal amount of time spent in overtime work, without regard to whether the overtime work was irregular or occasional in nature.

8. Employees on flexible or compressed schedules may earn compensatory time off.

9. When a GS employee takes compensatory time off during his or her scheduled tour of duty which includes night pay, the employee is still entitled to night pay for that time if the employee's scheduled tour of duty is between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. and the employee's leave total is less than 8 hours in a pay period.

10. Compensatory time off may be granted before annual leave is approved except when annual leave would otherwise be forfeited.

★ 11. When an employee separates, dies, or transfers to another DoD Component (e.g., from Army to Navy, or Air Force to the Defense Logistics Agency) or the employee moves to a non-DoD agency (e.g., Army to Department of the Treasury) the losing Component shall pay for any unused compensatory time balances. The balance shall be paid at the overtime rate in effect when the compensatory time was earned. National Guard employees are not paid for unused compensatory time.

★ F. Time Off for Religious Reasons. Employees may earn compensatory time off for religious observances under provisions of 5 U.S.C. 5550a (reference (b)). Time off for religious reasons will be recorded in a special leave account and may be worked either before or after the period of time off. Advance time off for religious reasons should be repaid within a reasonable time. Any time-off balance will not transfer. When an employee separates, dies, or transfers to another DoD Component, any unused time-off balance will be paid, by the losing activity, at the basic hourly rate in effect when the time was worked. If the employee has an unliquidated advance time-off balance at the time of separation, death or transfer, an indebtedness is created. See paragraph 080309 for liquidation of this indebtedness. Compensatory overtime worked in this manner is exempt from maximum pay limitations and all other provisions of overtime and premium pay contained in 5 C.F.R. 550.1001-1002 (reference (l)), 5 U.S.C., chapter 55, subchapter V (reference (b)), and 29 U.S.C. 207 (reference (n)). See section 0511. for additional information regarding compensatory time off for religious reasons.

030303. Night and Shift Differential

★ A. GS Employees. Under 5 U.S.C. 5545(a) (reference (b)), night differential, at the rate of 10 percent of the hourly basic rate, is payable to employees for work between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. if the regular tour of duty includes work during such hours. Accordingly, the hourly basic rate is multiplied by 10 percent, with the result adjusted to the nearest cent, counting one-half cent and over as a whole cent. The hours worked must be part of the regular tour. An employee is entitled to a night differential for a period of paid leave only when the total amount of that leave in a pay period, including both night and day hours, is less than 8 hours. Exceptions to this rule are employees on court leave, military leave including leave for law enforcement and encampment purposes, time off with pay for a holiday, official travel status, administrative leave, compensatory time used, credit hours used, COP, and time off awards. They get night differential when temporarily assigned during the administrative workweek to a daily tour of duty that includes night work (5 C.F.R. 550.121-122) (reference (l)). Night differential is payable for overtime work between the hours of 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. if the overtime is regularly scheduled in advance of the administrative workweek.

★ B. FWS Employees. Under 5 U.S.C. 5343(f) (reference (b)), FWS employees will receive shift differential at the rate of 7.5 percent of their hourly rate for nonovertime work when a majority of scheduled hours occur between 3 p.m. and midnight; or 10 percent of their hourly rate for nonovertime work when the majority of scheduled hours occur between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m. (see the OPM Operating Manual, Federal Wage System, subchapter S8-4c) (reference (q)). An employee may be paid shift differential only when five or more hours of the regularly scheduled 8-hour shift (including meal periods) occur during the hours specified. See 53 Comp. Gen. 814 (1974) (reference (p)). Shift differential also is payable when an employee is:

1. On military leave including leave for law enforcement and encampment purposes.
2. In an official travel status during the hours of the regular shift.
3. On paid leave such as court leave, holiday leave, compensatory time used, COP, time off awards, and administrative leave.
4. Temporarily assigned to a different tour of duty.

C. National Guard Technicians. Army and Air National Guard technicians are not entitled to payment of night differential during periods of overtime work (50 Comp. Gen. 847 (1971)) (reference (p)). National Guard technicians are not entitled to premium pay for overtime. They earn compensatory time.

D. Part-time Employees. Part-time GS employees are eligible for night differential for work performed between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. as part of their regularly scheduled administrative workweek.

E. Intermittent Employees. Intermittent GS employees who have no regularly scheduled tour of duty are not eligible for night differential. These employees are eligible for night differential during temporary assignment to a regular tour of duty with night work.

★ 030304. Sunday Premium Pay. Under 5 U.S.C. 5544 and 5546(a) (reference (b)), additional pay at a rate of 25 percent of the hourly basic rate is payable to full-time employees whose regularly scheduled basic workweek (which does not include overtime hours) includes

Sunday. The additional pay is payable for the entire period of nonovertime service for each daily tour of duty that includes Sunday. Full-time employees as defined in 5 U.S.C. 6301 (reference (b)) who receive basic pay for a period of paid leave or excused absence during that tour of duty are entitled to Sunday premium pay not to exceed October 9, 1997, under 5 U.S.C. 5544 or 5546(a) (reference (b)). Effective October 10, 1997, P.L. 105-61 (reference (e)), prohibited the payment of Sunday premium pay to all employees governmentwide who do not actually perform work on Sunday. Employees who have part-time or intermittent tours of duty are not entitled to Sunday premium pay. The maximum number of hours of Sunday premium pay that an employee can be paid for one Sunday is 16 hours. (This would be for two 8-hour tours: one starting on Saturday night and ending on Sunday morning; and the next tour starting Sunday night and ending on Monday morning.) To calculate, the hourly basic rate is multiplied by 25 percent with the result adjusted to the nearest cent, counting one-half cent and over as a whole cent (see OPM Operating Manual, Federal Wage System, subchapter S8-4e) (reference (q)).

★ A. Flexible Work Schedule. A full-time employee on a flexible work schedule who performs regularly scheduled nonovertime work during a period of duty, a part of which is performed on Sunday, is entitled to Sunday pay for the entire period of duty, not to exceed 8 hours.

★ B. Compressed Work Schedule. A full-time employee on a compressed work schedule who performs nonovertime work during a period of duty, a part of which is performed on Sunday, is entitled to Sunday pay for his or her entire period of duty on that day.

030305. Holiday Premium Pay. In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 5546 (reference (b)), an employee who performs work on a holiday designated by federal statute is entitled to pay at the rate of basic pay plus premium pay at a rate equal to the rate of the basic pay, for that holiday work which is not in excess of the scheduled tour of duty or overtime work as defined by 5 U.S.C. 5542 (reference (b)). An employee required to perform any work on a designated holiday is entitled to pay for at least two hours of holiday work. An employee who performs overtime work as defined by 5 U.S.C. 5542(a) (reference (b)) on a Sunday or a designated holiday is entitled to pay for that overtime work in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 5542 (reference (b)). Premium pay under 5 U.S.C. 5546 (reference (b)) is in addition to the premium pay which may be due for the same work under section 5545(a) and (b) of 5 U.S.C. (reference (b)), which provides premium pay for night work.

A. Flexible Work Schedule. For an employee working a flexible work schedule, holiday pay for nonovertime work is limited to 8 hours in a day. A part-time employee, scheduled to work on a day designated as an "in lieu of" holiday for full-time employees, is not entitled to a premium for work performed on that day.

B. Compressed Work Schedule. For an employee working a compressed work schedule, holiday pay for nonovertime work is limited to the number of hours normally scheduled for that day. A part-time employee, scheduled to work on a day designated as an "in lieu of" holiday for full-time employees, is not entitled to a premium for work performed on that day.

C. GS Employees. GS employees receive their basic pay, including any night differential, for holidays on which they are not required to work. Employees are entitled to additional holiday premium pay for work performed on a holiday not to exceed 8 hours, during the hours of their regularly scheduled tour of duty.

D. FWS Employees. FWS employees who have a regular tour of duty and are not required to work due to a holiday are entitled to the same rate of pay for that day as if they had worked. When work is performed on a holiday, FWS employees are entitled to their basic rate plus premium pay at a rate equal to their basic pay for holiday work which is not more than 8 hours or is not overtime work.

E. Callback. Unscheduled overtime work performed by an employee on a day when work was not scheduled, or for which the employee is required to return to the place of employment, is deemed at least two hours in duration (5 U.S.C. 5542) (reference (b)). If the callback occurs on a holiday during the employee's regular schedule, a minimum of two hours holiday premium pay will be paid. However, the actual time worked shall be recorded for time and attendance purposes. If the employee works more than two hours, the actual number of hours worked will be paid.

030306. Regularly Scheduled Standby Duty Pay. Employees in a position requiring them to remain at, or within the confines of, the station during longer than ordinary periods of duty, a substantial part of which consists of remaining in a standby status rather than performing work, can receive premium pay on an annual basis instead of premium pay provided by other provisions, except for irregular, unscheduled overtime duty in excess of the regularly scheduled weekly tour. Premium pay under 5 C.F.R. 550.141-550.144 (reference (l)) is determined as an appropriate percentage, not in excess of 25 percent, of such part of the rate of basic pay for the position as does not exceed the minimum applicable rate of basic pay for GS-10 (including any applicable locality based comparability payment under 5 U.S.C. 5304 (reference (b)) or similar provision of law, and any applicable special rate of pay under 5 U.S.C. 5304 (reference (b)) or similar provisions of law).

A. Firefighter Positions. Firefighters generally are scheduled for duty six 12-hour days for an average of 72 hours a week or three alternate 24-hour shifts during each administrative workweek. A 60-hour week consisting of five 12-hour days may be established when firefighters are scheduled only during daylight hours. The rate of standby premium pay is determined by the HRO and forwarded to the civilian payroll office via SF 50 data. It is subject to retirement and life insurance deductions. Further guidance regarding firefighters and law enforcement personnel may be found in 5 C.F.R., Part 551 (reference (l)).

B. Other Fire Protection Personnel. Fire chiefs, assistant fire chiefs, fire prevention inspectors, and similar fire protection personnel have basic weekly tours of duty of 40 hours unless duties require substantial amounts of standby time. The rate of standby premium pay is determined by the HRO and forwarded to the civilian payroll office via SF 50 data. Standby premium pay is subject to retirement, TSP, and life insurance deductions.

★ 030307. Administratively Uncontrollable Overtime (AUO) - Annual Premium Pay for Overtime. Premium pay may be paid on an annual basis (except premium pay for regular overtime work, and work at night, on Sundays, and on holidays), when an employee is in a position in which the hours of duty cannot be controlled administratively. The position requires substantial amounts of irregular, unscheduled overtime work, with the employee generally being responsible for recognizing, without supervision, circumstances that require an employee to remain on duty. The circumstances under which payment of AUO is appropriate are extremely limited; in particular, AUO is not appropriate for nonexempt employees. Annual premium pay under 5 U.S.C. 5545(c)(2), as amended (reference (b)), provides that premium pay for administratively uncontrollable overtime is an appropriate percentage (not less than 10 percent nor more than 25 percent) of the employee's rate of basic pay, which includes any interim geographic adjustment, special rate of pay for LEOs, or special pay adjustment for LEOs under section 302, 403, or 404 of FEPCA (reference (e)), a locality-based comparability payment under 5 U.S.C. 5304 (reference (b)), and any applicable special rate of pay under 5 U.S.C. 5305 (reference (b)) or similar provision of law (5 C.F.R. 550.151) (reference (l)). The rate is determined by the HRO and forwarded to the civilian payroll office via the SF 50 data. AUO for law enforcement personnel, which includes the office of special investigations agents, is subject to retirement, and life insurance deductions (5 U.S.C. 8331(3)(D) and 8704(c)(2)) (reference (b)). The AUO for Open Mess/Club Managers is not subject to retirement or life insurance deductions (5 U.S.C. 8331(3)(C) and (D), and 8704(c)(1) and (2)) (reference (b)).

030308. Hazardous Duty and Environmental Differentials

A. Hazardous Duty Pay (HDP)

1. Under 5 U.S.C. 5545(d) and 5548(d) (reference (b)), and 5 C.F.R. 550.901-907 (reference (l)), this entitlement, determined by the HRO, involves additional pay to GS employees for the performance of hazardous duty or duty involving physical hardship. Hazardous duty means a duty performed under conditions in which an accident could result in serious injury or death. Duty involving physical hardship means duty that may not in itself be hazardous, but causes extreme physical discomfort or distress and is not adequately alleviated by protective or mechanical devices, such as duty involving exposure to extreme temperatures for a long period of time, arduous physical exertion, or exposure to fumes, dust, or noise that causes nausea, skin, eye, ear, or nose irritation.

2. The amount of HDP is determined by multiplying the percentage rate authorized for the exposure, found in Appendix A, 5 C.F.R., Part 550, Subpart I (reference (l)), by the employee's hourly rate of pay. That amount is then multiplied by the number of HDP hours to be paid.

★ 3. HDP is not included as part of the employee's basic rate of pay for computation of overtime, holiday pay, Sunday premium, or the amount of retirement, TSP, and life insurance deductions.

4. HDP is paid for all hours in a pay status the day on which the exposure occurs.

5. Payment of HDP is not subject to the limit placed on other premium pay.

6. HDP may not be more than 25 percent of the employee's rate of basic pay.

7. TP pay plan employees are not authorized HDP.

B. Environmental Differential Pay (EDP)

★ 1. Under 5 C.F.R. 532.511 (reference (l)), EDP is included as part of an FWS employee's basic rate of pay for computation of overtime, holiday pay, Sunday premium, and the amount of retirement, TSP, and life insurance deductions. It is not part of basic pay for purposes of lump-sum leave payments and severance pay. The HROs determine the local situation for which EDP is payable and obtain approval from the OPM for additional categories not listed in Appendix J to the OPM Operating Manual, Federal Wage System (reference (q)). TP pay plan employees are not authorized EDP.

2. EDP is payable for actual exposure or for all hours in a pay status. The amount that is payable is determined by multiplying the percentage rate authorized for the exposure by the basic hourly rate of a WG 10, step 2. That amount is then multiplied by the number of EDP hours to be paid.

a. When environmental differential is payable for actual exposure, consider each exposure separately. Hours posted must not exceed the hours of active duty on the day of exposure. If the exposure is less than one hour, a minimum of one hour must be paid. If the exposure is longer than one hour, the actual amount of time exposed is payable in 15 minute increments.

b. When EDP is payable for all hours in a pay status, it will be paid for all regular and overtime hours the employee is in a pay status that day.

★ 030309. Availability Pay. A new form of premium pay called "availability pay" has been provided for LEOs by P.L. 103-329 (reference (e)). Refer to 5 U.S.C. 5545a for additional information. Availability pay applies to LEOs who perform criminal investigative work and are required to work, or be available to work, substantial amounts of unscheduled overtime duty based on the needs of the employing activity. The availability pay provision became effective on the first day of the first pay period beginning on or after October 30, 1994, except implementation was delayed until September 1995, for certain LEOs employed by Inspectors General. The HRO will determine entitlement to availability pay and will authorize payment via an SF 50. The OPM Operating Manual, Guide to Processing Personnel Actions (reference (r)), has specific instructions for completing the SF 50 authorizing availability pay.

★ A. Availability pay is fixed at 25 percent of basic pay (including locality pay). Availability pay will replace AUO pay for covered employees. Standby duty pay and AUO pay may not be paid to an LEO receiving availability pay. Receipt of availability pay does not affect the LEO's entitlement to other types of premium pay based on hours other than unscheduled duty hours. An LEO receiving availability pay, however, may not be paid any other premium pay based on unscheduled duty hours.

★ B. The LEOs receiving availability pay may be compensated only for scheduled overtime hours that are in excess of the first two hours of overtime work on any day containing a part of the LEO's basic 40-hour workweek or for scheduled overtime hours on non-workdays.

★ C. Availability pay shall be treated as part of basic pay only for the following purposes:

- ★
1. Advances in pay under 5 U.S.C. 5524a (reference (b));
 2. Severance pay under 5 U.S.C. 5595(c) (reference (b));
 3. Workers' compensation under 5 U.S.C. 8114(e) (reference (b));
 4. Retirement benefits under 5 U.S.C. 8331(3) (reference (b));
 5. TSP under 5 U.S.C. 8431 (reference (b)); and
 6. Group life insurance under 5 U.S.C. 8704(c) (reference (b)).

★ D. The LEOs receiving availability pay are exempt from the minimum wage and overtime pay provisions of the FLSA (reference (n)).

★ E. Availability pay is subject to garnishment.

★ F. Availability pay shall be used in computing a lump-sum payment for accumulated annual leave under 5 U.S.C 5551 and 5552 (reference (b)).

0304 FOREIGN AND NONFOREIGN DIFFERENTIALS AND ALLOWANCES

★ 030401. Consistent with 5 U.S.C. 5941 (reference (b)) and 5 C.F.R. Part 591 (reference (l)), allowances and differentials payable to employees officially stationed in nonforeign areas and the 50 states are established by the OPM. Under 5 U.S.C. 5921 (reference (b)) and Executive Order No. 10,903 (reference (s)), allowances and differentials payable to employees officially stationed in foreign areas are established by the Secretary of State and published in the Department of State Standardized Regulations (DSSR) (reference (t)). DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)) sets forth the specific rules regarding foreign allowances and differentials for DoD civilian employees. The HROs will notify the civilian payroll office through the interface via SF 50 data when an employee is eligible for a nonforeign differential or allowance. The civilian payroll office will pay foreign differentials and allowances upon receipt through the interface of the SF 1190 (Foreign Allowances Application, Grant, and Report).

030402. Allowances and Differentials in Foreign Areas

★ A. Quarters Allowances. Quarters allowances are intended to reimburse an employee for substantially all costs associated with either temporary or residence quarters whenever government-owned or government-rented quarters are not provided to the employee without charge. See 5 U.S.C. 5923(a)(1) and (2) (reference (b)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ 1. Living Quarters Allowance (LQA). The LQA entitlement is intended to reimburse an employee substantially for rent plus any costs not included in the rent for heat, light, fuel, gas, electricity and water. Employees receiving LQA may not receive the temporary quarters subsistence allowance (TQSA) for the same period of time. The daily rate is derived by dividing the annual amount by the number of days in a calendar year. It is paid for all applicable days in a pay period. The LQA may be paid on a biweekly basis or advanced for a period of not less than three months or of more than one year unless specifically approved by the officer designated to authorize allowances, and shall not exceed:

★ a. The total rent advanced to the lessor, or

★ b. The employee's maximum LQA rate as authorized in the DSSR section 920 (reference (t)).

An exception is the advancement of LQA for employees living in Korea for two years. See DSSR, chapter 100 (reference (t)), 5 U.S.C. 5923(a)(1) and (2) (reference (b)), and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ 2. Temporary Quarters Subsistence Allowance. The TQSA is an allowance granted to an employee for the reasonable cost of temporary quarters, meals and laundry expenses incurred by the employee and/or family members for a period not to exceed 90 days after first arrival at a new post in a foreign area or a period ending with the occupation of residence (permanent) quarters, if earlier; or for a period not to exceed 30 days immediately preceding final departure from the post subsequent to the necessary vacating of residence quarters. The TQSA may continue during periods of official travel which authorize per diem if the head of the agency determines the employee acted responsibly in retaining temporary quarters during the period of travel. A possible extension of up to 60 additional days may be granted in compelling circumstances. The TQSA is authorized during periods when travel per diem is being paid. No post allowance is authorized while an employee is receiving TQSA. Receipts are required for lodging and laundry expenses, and the employee must supply a certified statement of the daily cost of meals. The TQSA is based on the maximum per diem rate for the foreign location found in the DSSR section 925 (reference (t)). Payment of TQSA may be made in advance for up to 30-day increments, in biweekly payments, or upon the completion of the TQSA period upon request of the employee and as authorized by the HRO. Also see DSSR, chapter 100, section 120 (reference (t)), 5 U.S.C. 5923(a)(1) and (2) (reference (b)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

B. Cost of Living Allowance (COLA). The COLA is intended to reimburse an employee for certain excess costs, exclusive of any quarters costs, which result from being officially stationed in a foreign area. See DSSR, chapter 200 (reference (t)) and 5 U.S.C. 5924 (reference (b)).

★ 1. Post Allowance. The post allowance is a cost-of-living allowance granted to an employee officially stationed at a post in a foreign area where the cost-of-living, exclusive of the cost of quarters, is substantially higher than in Washington, D.C. It is intended to reimburse an employee for certain excess costs resulting from being stationed in a foreign area. Post allowance, which is an annual rate, is a percentage amount based on salary, size of family and location of the post. The daily rate is derived by dividing the annual amount by the number of days in a calendar year. It is paid for all applicable days in a pay period. Post allowance is not authorized at the same time an employee is receiving TQSA. Post allowance is included in the computation of lump-sum leave payments upon separation from federal service if separated in the foreign area (Comp. Gen. B-178428, June 28, 1973, reference (p)). See DSSR, chapter 200, section 220 (reference (t)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ 2. Foreign Transfer Allowance. The foreign transfer allowance (FTA) is an allowance for extraordinary, necessary, and reasonable expenses, not otherwise compensated for, incurred by an employee incident to establishing that employee at any post of assignment in a foreign area. The subsistence expense portion of the FTA is intended to reimburse an employee for allowable expenses incurred prior to departure from a post in the United States, its territories, possessions, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, to a post in a foreign area. The miscellaneous expense portion of the FTA payment is $350 or the equivalent of salary for one week, whichever is the lesser amount, for an employee without family, and $700 or the equivalent of salary for two weeks, whichever is the lesser amount, for an employee with family. In any case, the ceiling for reimbursement shall be the salary for a GS-13, step 10. The allowance is authorized within the Department for payment of the miscellaneous expense portion, the lease penalty expense portion, and the subsistence expense portion. The wardrobe expense portion is not authorized for payment within the Department. See DSSR, chapter 200, section 240 (reference (t)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ 3. Home Service Transfer Allowance. The home service transfer allowance is an allowance for extraordinary, necessary, and reasonable expenses, not otherwise compensated for, incurred by an employee in connection with a transfer to a post of assignment in the United States with a certified understanding by the employee to complete 12 months of government service following the effective date of transfer. The allowance is authorized within the Department for payment of the miscellaneous expense portion, the lease penalty expense portion, and the subsistence expense portion. The wardrobe expense portion is not authorized for payment within the Department. See DSSR, chapter 200, section 250 (reference (t)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ 4. Separate Maintenance Allowance. A separate maintenance allowance is an additional cost-of-living allowance paid to assist an employee to maintain a separate household other than at the assigned post for the family or a member of the family. The employee must be compelled or authorized to obtain such quarters for one or more of the following reasons: dangerous, notably unhealthy, or excessively adverse living conditions; for the convenience of the government; or because of special family needs. The rate is determined by the number of dependents maintained elsewhere and is computed and paid as an annual rate. The daily rate is derived by dividing the annual amount by the number of days in a calendar year. It is paid for all applicable days in a pay period. See DSSR, chapter 200, section 260 (reference (t)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ 5. Education Allowance. The education allowance assists the employee with the extraordinary and necessary expenses, not otherwise compensated for, incurred because of service in a foreign area in providing adequate elementary and secondary education for his or her dependents. The allowance is not authorized for payment within the Department. However, reimbursement is authorized for transportation costs of dormitory student dependents of eligible employees between the employee's overseas duty station and the DoD approved school. See DSSR chapter 200, section 270 (reference (t)), 5 U.S.C. 5924 (reference (b)), and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ 6. Education Travel. Educational travel is reimbursement for travel to and from a school in the United States for purposes of attending a full-time course for secondary or college education. Reimbursement will be limited to one annual round trip. An annual trip is defined as one round trip at any time within any one 12-month period. Any portion of the round trip not taken in the 12-month period does not accrue to a subsequent period. See DSSR chapter 200, section 280 (reference (t)), DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)), and 5 U.S.C. 5924 (reference (b)).

★ C. Representation Allowance. Representation allowances are intended to cover allowable items of expenditure by employees, including foreign national employees, whose official positions entail responsibility for establishing and maintaining relationships of value to the United States in foreign countries and by adult family members acting with, or on behalf of, these employees. Examples of allowable items are those of an entertainment or protocol nature, tips and gratuities, purchase of flowers, wreaths, etc., and other representational expenses which the head of an agency may authorize or approve as being a type to promote the interest of the United States. The employee's position first must be designated by the Secretary of Defense as eligible for the allowance. A voucher of expenses incurred will be the basis for payment. See DSSR, chapter 300 (reference (t)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ D. Official Residence Allowance. The defraying of official residence expenses is intended to make possible the operation and maintenance of official residences in which a principal representative can properly represent the United States abroad. Such representation includes extending official (as distinct from personal) hospitality to foreign dignitaries and important visitors, receiving official deputations and callers, and holding requisite and appropriate ceremonies smoothly and with dignity. This representation also includes keeping the residence appropriately staffed and operating. The Secretary of State must designate eligible employees. See DSSR, chapter 400 (reference (t)), 5 U.S.C. 5913 (reference (b)), and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ E. Post Differential. Post differential is established for a location with extraordinarily difficult living conditions, excessive physical hardship, or notably unhealthful conditions affecting the majority of employees officially stationed or detailed at that place. Living costs are not considered in differential determination. Post differential is additional compensation based on an established percentage over basic compensation ranging from 5 to 25 percent. Post differential is subject to Social Security and/or Medicare and federal tax deductions. Employees with tours of duty commencing on or after October 28, 1991, will have post differential excluded from the lump-sum leave payment in accordance with P.L. 102-138 (reference (e)). See DSSR, chapter 500 (reference (t)), 5 U.S.C. 5551 and 5925 (reference (b)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ F. Danger Pay Allowance (DPA). An employee serving in a foreign area may be granted DPA on the basis of civil insurrection, civil war, terrorism or wartime conditions that threaten physical harm or imminent danger to the health or well being of the employee. An additional, but separate, imminent danger pay (IDP) allowance may be granted to civilian employees who accompany U.S. military forces in areas designated by the Department of State as subject to hostile fire or imminent danger. The IDP allowance may be paid only to employees who are on temporary duty or a detail of 42 days or less. See 5 U.S.C. 5928 (reference (b)), DSSR chapter 650 (reference (t)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)).

★ 1. The DPA may not exceed 25 percent of the basic pay of the employee, except that if an employee is granted additional differential pay with respect to an assignment, the sum of the additional differential and any DPA may not exceed 50 percent of the basic pay of the employee. The DPA is paid to full-time employees, temporary employees assigned for four consecutive hours or longer, and part-time and intermittent employees. For part-time regularly scheduled employees and intermittent employees, the DPA shall be computed at the prescribed percentage of basic compensation earned during the applicable period. The DPA is not subject to any ceiling that would provide less than the full percentage rate authorized for the post. The DPA is subject to Social Security and/or Medicare, federal, state, and local tax deductions. Danger pay is not included as part of the lump-sum leave payment. See DSSR chapter 656 (reference (t))

★ 2. On October 1, 1995, the State Department, at the Department's request, added section 652g (reference (t)) to the DSSR. This section authorized the IDP allowance for civilian employees. The State Department authorizes the areas in which civilian employees are eligible to receive IDP. The IDP allowance shall be the same monthly flat rate amount paid to uniformed military personnel. Danger pay authorized under this section will not be paid for periods of time that the employee either receives danger pay authorized under DSSR, chapter 650, section 652f (reference (t)) or post differential that would duplicate political violence credit. The IDP will be calculated as a daily rate and paid on a monthly basis. Daily rates will be determined by dividing the monthly amount by the number of days in a month. This rate will change based on the number of days in a month. For periods of less than a month, an employee is entitled to the daily rate, times the number of days in the month the employee is in the allowance area. The IDP is subject to Social Security and/or Medicare, federal, state, and local tax deductions. The IDP is not included as part of the lump-sum leave payment.

★ G. Tropical Differential. Entitlement to tropical differential is limited to a maximum of 25 percent of the basic pay when authorized for the U.S. employees in Panama. See 35 C.F.R., part 251 (reference (v)).

H. Cuba Benefit Allowance. The Cuba benefit allowance applies to DoD non U.S. citizens, NAF and appropriated fund employees in the area of Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The benefit allowance includes cash allowances (laundry, clothing, meals and transportation). The total pay rate will include the base rate plus the benefit allowance. Premium pay is to be calculated on the base rate only.

★ 030403. Entitlement When Both an Allowance and a Differential Have Been Established. Extra pay from an allowance or a differential each may not exceed 25 percent of the employee's rate of basic pay. When both an allowance and a differential have been authorized, the total pay for the allowance and the differential may not exceed 50 percent of the employee's rate of basic pay.

030404. Allowances and Differentials in Nonforeign Areas

A. Categories

1. Nonforeign Cost-of-Living Allowance. Nonforeign cost-of-living allowance is payable under 5 U.S.C. 5941 (reference (b)), at a location in a nonforeign area where living costs are substantially higher than those in the Washington, DC area. Nonforeign areas are the states of Alaska and Hawaii, the Commonwealths of Northern Mariana Islands and Puerto Rico, territories and possessions of the United States that the Secretary of State designates as being within the scope of Part II of Executive Order 10,000, as amended (reference (s)).

2. Nonforeign Post Differential. Nonforeign post differential is payable under 5 U.S.C. 5941 (reference (b)), at a location in a nonforeign area if conditions of environment differ substantially from conditions of environment in the contiguous United States and warrant its payment as a recruitment incentive.

B. Basic Requirement in Nonforeign Areas

1. When an allowance or a differential (or both) is set, each executive department, independent establishment, and wholly-owned government corporation must pay that allowance or differential (or both). Agencies must make these payments to all civilian employees in the area whose basic pay is fixed by statute and who are eligible; however, certain exceptions do exist.

2. The pay of employees under the FWS is based on the wages paid in the locality; therefore, these employees are not covered under this section.

C. Processing Allowances and Differentials

1. Notice of Eligibility. The civilian payroll office will accept SF 50 data as notice of an employee's eligibility for allowances or differentials. It will be a source document for payroll purposes. The HRO must report promptly to the civilian payroll office any changes in assignment and employment status that affects an employee's eligibility (including changes in rates).

★ 2. Entitlement When Both an Allowance and a Differential Have Been Established. Extra pay from an allowance or a differential, or both, may not exceed 25 percent of the employee's rate of basic pay. An employee eligible for an allowance is entitled to the full allowance set for a nonforeign area; therefore, the allowance should be paid first. If the allowance is less than 25 percent of the employee's basic pay, that part of the differential that will bring such employee's total extra pay to 25 percent of the basic rate shall be paid. Refer to 5 C.F.R. 591.210(d) (reference (l)).

D. Payment of Allowances and Differentials

1. Payment. An allowance or differential shall not be paid for time for which an employee does not receive basic pay except as stated in subparagraph 070202.B.

2. Duration of Payment. Payment of allowances and differentials shall start as of the date of arrival at the post of duty on regular assignments or on the date of entrance on duty, when an employee is recruited locally. Payment shall be stopped on the date of separation or as of the date of departure or transfer to a new post of regular assignment.

★ 3. Effect on Other Salary Payments. Allowances or differentials shall not be included in the base used to compute overtime pay under title 5 U.S.C., night differential, holiday pay, or any other extra pay, allowance or pay differential, retirement, TSP or FEGLI deductions. See 5 C.F.R. 591.210(e)(1) (reference (l)). An allowance or differential is included in an employee's regular rate of pay for computing overtime pay entitlement under the FLSA Act of 1938, as amended (reference (n)). See 5 C.F.R. 591.210(e)(2) (reference (l)). The cost-of-living allowance and post differential are included in the computation of lump-sum leave payments if separated in the nonforeign area. See 5 C.F.R. 591.210(c)(1) (reference (e)).

4. Effect on Gross Pay. Allowances shall not be included in gross income for Social Security/Medicare, federal income tax deductions, and state tax deductions except for the state of Hawaii. Include the differentials in gross income for Social Security/Medicare, federal, state, and local income tax deductions. See Table 4-1.

0305 OTHER DIFFERENTIALS AND ALLOWANCES030501. Physicians' Comparability Allowance

A. Title 5, C.F.R., Part 595 (reference (l)) and 5 U.S.C. 5948(e) (reference (b)) authorize the payment of allowances to certain eligible federal physicians who enter into service agreements with their agencies. These allowances are paid only in the case of categories of physicians for which the agency is experiencing recruitment and retention problems, and are fixed at the minimum amounts necessary to deal with such problems. Unless otherwise provided in the agreement or if the head of the agency by which the physician is employed determines that the failure was necessitated by circumstances beyond the control of the physician, if the physician fails to complete at least one year of service, (either voluntarily or because of misconduct) a refund of the total amount received is required.

B. The amount received shall not exceed:

1. $14,000 per annum if, at the time the agreement is entered into, the government physician had served as a government physician for 24 months or less, or
2. $20,000 per annum if the government physician has served as a government physician for more than 24 months.

C. An allowance may not be paid pursuant to this section to any physician who:

1. Is employed less than 20 hours per week or on an intermittent basis,
2. Occupies an internship or residency training position,
3. Is a reemployed annuitant, or
4. Is fulfilling a scholarship obligation to the U.S. Government.

D. Any allowance paid under this section shall not be considered as basic pay for the purposes of 5 U.S.C. 5551, 5552 and 5595, Chapters 81, 83, or 87 (reference (b)), or other benefits related to basic pay. See also 5 U.S.C. 5948(h)(1) (reference (b)).

E. Any allowance under this section for a government physician shall be paid in the same manner and at the same time as the physician's basic pay is paid. This allowance is subject to federal, state, and local income tax, Social Security and Medicare. This allowance is not subject to retirement or TSP.

★ 030502. Supervisory Differential

★ A. The authority to approve payment of supervisory differentials under Title 5, U.S.C. section 5755 (reference (b)) is delegated through, and subject to, the authority of the head of the DoD Component and the Component chain of command to the official(s) who exercises personnel appointing authority (normally, the head of an installation or activity). Only the Secretary or Deputy Secretary of Defense may approve a supervisory differential for an individual appointed to a Schedule C position, as defined by 5 U.S.C. 2103 (reference (b)). Additional detailed guidance on the supervisory differential entitlement is contained in the DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 575 (reference (u)). Payment of a supervisory differential is authorized to an employee under the General Schedule who has supervisory responsibility for one or more civilian employees not under the General Schedule. The differential is allowed if one or more of the subordinate civilian employees would, in the absence of such a differential, be paid more than the supervisory employee. A supervisory differential shall be calculated as a percentage of the supervisor's rate of basic pay. A dollar amount equal to the value of the authorized percentage will be provided by the HRO via SF 50 data.

★ B. The supervisory differential shall be paid in the same manner and at the same time as basic pay, but shall not be considered to be part of basic pay for any purpose. This differential is subject to Social Security and Medicare deductions and to federal, state, and local income tax. The supervisory differential is not subject to retirement, FEGLI, or TSP.

★ 030503. Retention Allowance

★ A. A retention allowance of up to 25 percent of basic pay may be offered to certain current employees in order to retain their services. A current employee is eligible for a retention allowance if the unusually high or unique qualifications of the employee or a special need of the agency for the employee's services make it essential to retain the employee. The approving officer must certify in writing that, absent a retention allowance, the employee likely would leave the federal service.

★ B. In general, the authority to approve a retention allowance is delegated through, and subject to, the authority of the head of the DoD Component and the Component chain of command to the official(s) who exercises personnel appointing authority (normally, the head of an installation or activity). Only the Secretary or Deputy Secretary of Defense may approve a retention allowance for an individual appointed to a Schedule C position, as defined by 5 U.S.C. 2103 (reference (b)). The authority to approve retention allowances for all other SES positions is delegated to the head of the DoD Component. This official may further delegate authority to appropriate levels consistent with existing pay administration policy. Additional guidance on the retention allowance entitlement is contained in DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 575 (reference (u)).

★ C. Payment of retention allowances are authorized by 5 U.S.C. 5754 (reference (b)) and 5 C.F.R. 575 (reference (l)). A retention allowance shall be paid in the same manner, and at the same time, as basic pay although this allowance shall not be considered a part of basic pay. The retention allowance may be paid for as long as the conditions warranting the allowance continue to exist. This allowance is subject to Social Security and Medicare deductions and to federal, state, and local income tax. This allowance is not subject to retirement, FEGLI, or TSP.

030504. Remote Site Allowance. The remote site allowance is paid to an employee who is assigned to duty, except temporary duty, at a site so remote from the nearest established communities or suitable places of residence as to require an appreciable degree of expense, hardship, and inconvenience. Such hardships and inconveniences must extend beyond that normally encountered in metropolitan commuting, on the part of the employee in commuting to and from his/her residence and such work site. When so assigned, the employee is entitled, in addition to pay otherwise due him, to an allowance not to exceed $10 per day. See 5 U.S.C. 5942 (reference (b)).

★0306 RECRUITMENT AND RELOCATION BONUSES

030601. The FEPCA section 208(a) (reference (e)), 5 U.S.C. 5753 (reference (b)), and 5 C.F.R. 575 (reference (l)) authorize payment of a recruitment and relocation bonuses. A recruitment or relocation bonus of up to 25 percent of basic pay may be offered to recruit certain newly appointed employees or retain certain current employees who must relocate to accept a position in a different commuting area. The approval of recruitment and relocation bonuses is treated in the same manner as the retention allowance in paragraph 030503. of this volume. Additional guidance for recruitment and relocation bonuses is contained in the DoD 1400.25-M subchapter 575 (reference (u)).

030602. Eligibility Criteria. Candidates for hard-to-fill positions and/or occupations that are critical to the organization's mission are eligible for recruitment or relocation bonuses. TP pay plan employees are not eligible to receive recruitment and relocation bonuses.

030603. Service Agreement. The OPM regulations (5 C.F.R. 575.106 and 206) (reference (l)) require that, before a recruitment or relocation bonus may be paid, the employee offered this bonus shall sign a written agreement to serve a specified number of months with the Department. The minimum period of such service shall be 6 months.

030604. Documentation and Recordkeeping. Each recruitment or relocation bonus shall be documented by the HRO via SF 50 data.

030605. Payment and Reduction or Termination of Recruitment and Relocation Bonuses. The recruitment or relocation bonus shall be paid as a lump-sum and shall be considered a supplemental wage. Federal income taxes shall be withheld at a flat 28 percent of the bonus. Social Security and Medicare shall be withheld as applicable. State and local taxes shall be withheld in accordance with tax formulas in effect for supplemental wages.

A. The bonus will be included with regular salary payments and separately identified on the LES.

B. The bonus shall not be considered part of basic pay for any purpose; i.e., no withholding shall be made for retirement coverage (CSRS/FERS) or life insurance.

C. The bonus shall be included in determining the aggregate limitation on pay as defined by 5 U.S.C. 5307 (reference (b)). No portion of the bonus shall be paid that would cause aggregate pay to exceed Level I of the Executive Schedule. This portion shall be paid in a lump-sum at the beginning of the following calendar year.

D. The bonus shall be recovered if the employee fails to complete the period of employment established by the service agreement. The amount to be repaid shall be determined by providing credit for each full month of employment completed by the employee under the service agreement. The amount owed by the employee shall then be recovered in accordance with provisions established by debt collection regulations. If a recruitment or relocation bonus must be recovered, the HRO shall notify the civilian payroll office via SF 50 data.

0307 LUMP-SUM LEAVE PAYMENTS

030701. Regulations. The regulations governing lump-sum payment for annual leave are contained in 5 U.S.C. 5551, as amended (reference (b)).

030702. Lump-Sum Payable. Lump-sum payment for accumulated and current accrued annual leave is as follows:

A. Separated Employees. An employee who is separated is paid in a lump-sum for all unused annual leave through the last full pay period before separation. If, however, if the employee is separated or has a break in service (from one agency to another), and is reemployed in a position under a leave system before a lump-sum payment check can be issued by the separating activity, payment is made for the days the employee was not in the federal service (less withholding tax) and the remainder of the annual leave is transferred to the gaining agency.

B. Certain Other Employees. An employee is entitled to a lump-sum payment for accumulated and accrued annual leave when he or she:

1. Transfers to a position not under a leave system to which annual leave may be transferred;

2. Moves to a position as an intermittent employee for whom there is no established regular tour of duty or to a position as a temporary employee engaged in construction work at hourly rates;

3. Enters the Armed Forces or transfers to a public international organization, provided the employee does not elect to retain the annual leave to his or her credit. However, leave restored under 5 U.S.C. 6304(d) (reference (b)) must be liquidated by lump-sum payment even though election is made to retain the accumulated and current accrued annual leave.

C. Payment to Beneficiary. Accumulated and accrued annual leave to the credit of an employee at the time of death shall be paid in a lump-sum to a designated beneficiary. If the employee has not designated a beneficiary, a lump-sum shall be paid in the established order of precedence under 5 U.S.C. 5581-5582 (reference (b)).

030703. Lump-Sum Not Payable. A lump-sum payment may not be made to an employee for accumulated annual leave when he or she is:

- A. Transferring to a position to which annual leave is transferable; or
- B. A student trainee placed in an intermittent status between full-time tours of duty.

★ 030704. Computation of Lump-Sum Payment

A. General Rule. The lump-sum payment for annual leave, including restored and reinstated annual leave, is calculated to include all pay changes to which the employee would be entitled had he or she remained in a duty status throughout the projected leave period. For example, an employee whose retained pay is scheduled to terminate during the projected leave period should have the lump-sum leave payment computed on the basis of the pay being received at the time of separation for the period covered by the retained rate, with the remainder computed at the scheduled reduced rate. Also, an employee is entitled to an adjustment in the lump-sum leave payment whenever a statutory change in pay becomes effective on a date which occurs during the projected leave period. The lump-sum payment for an FWS employee is similarly adjusted if the separation occurs after the issue date of a wage schedule or after a wage survey was ordered, but before the effective date of the wage increase as follows:

1. When an FWS employee is on the rolls on the date an order granting an increase is issued, but separates before the effective date of the wage increase and if his or her accrued annual leave extends beyond the effective date of the wage increase, the employee is entitled to have his or her lump-sum annual leave payment, authorized under 5 U.S.C. 5551(a) (reference (b)), paid at the higher rate for the leave that extends beyond the effective date of the increase (59 Comp. Gen. 494 (1980)) (reference (p)).

2. When an FWS employee separates after a wage survey is ordered, but before the date the order granting the wage increase is issued, and if his or her accrued annual leave extends beyond the effective date of the increase, the employee is entitled to have the lump-sum annual leave payment paid at the higher rate for the leave that extends beyond the effective date of the increase. The order that grants the new wage rate, however, must be issued before the effective date set by 5 U.S.C. 5344(b)(1) and (2) (reference (b)). Refer to 59 Comp. Gen. 494 (1980) (reference (p)).

B. Projecting the Leave. Nonworkdays (except holidays) are not counted against the leave when projecting the period over which the leave would otherwise be charged. The period covered by a lump-sum leave payment is not counted as federal civilian service.

★ C. Additional Pay. There is no provision to pay any premium pay for the period covered by a lump-sum payment and, therefore, employees are only entitled to their basic pay. Employees, however, who receive annual premium pay for standby duty under 5 U.S.C. 5545(c)(1) (reference (b)), employees who meet the definition of an LEO performing criminal investigator work receiving availability pay, and employees who meet the definition of an LEO receiving annual premium pay for administratively uncontrollable overtime under 5 U.S.C.

5545(c)(2) (reference (b)) also will receive annual premium pay as part of their basic pay. Consequently, only those premium pays would be included in a lump-sum payment.

D. Reemployed Annuitants. The lump-sum payment for reemployed annuitants upon separation from the service is based on the full pay rate without any reduction by the amount of the annuity.

E. Temporary Promotions. If the HRO has not terminated a temporary promotion prior to or as of the employee's separation date, lump-sum leave will be paid at the rate of the temporary promotion through the not-to-exceed date. After that time, the rate will revert to the employee's permanent rate of pay.

★ F. Payment. Lump-sum leave will be paid at the end of the pay period in which the separation transaction is received. Thus, lump-sum leave may or may not be included with any regular pay earned, depending on when the separation transaction is received. Payments will be identified separately, allowing the lump-sum leave to be taxed at a flat 28 percent for federal withholding, except when the employee's exemptions claimed on the Form W-4 exceed the regular pay. In the latter situation, the lump-sum leave and the regular pay for the pay period will be combined, and the taxes will be computed as if the total were a single payment.

★ 030705. Refunds. When a lump-sum payment has been made, and the employee reenters the federal service in a position subject to a formal leave system, he or she is required to refund the unexpired portion of the period covered by the lump-sum leave payment. This refund is required because all such unexpired leave is subject to recredit even though transfer to a different leave system is involved. Recredit of leave will be determined subject to the following paragraphs.

★ A. Regular Annual Leave

1. If reemployment is in the same leave year, any part of the refund which is for a period of leave in excess of the employee's formerly established leave ceiling for the year shall become subject to the regular procedures regarding forfeiture or possible restoration at the end of the leave year. Excess leave may be paid in another lump-sum payment if another separation occurs before the end of the leave year.

2. If reemployment is in a subsequent leave year, and any part of the refund is for a period represented by more than the leave ceiling (e.g., 240 hours), a refund will be required of all the unexpired portion. However, only a maximum of the leave ceiling hours may be recredited to the regular leave account. Any hours in excess of the leave ceiling are considered forfeited, unless it can clearly be established that the excess would have become restored in a separate account if the separation had not occurred.

B. Restored Annual Leave. If any part of the refund is for a period of restored leave, the restored leave shall again be established in a separate account. The limiting date for its use shall be the same date as that originally established during the former employment. If the originally established limiting date for the use of the restored leave would have occurred before the date of reemployment, a refund will be required for all of the unexpired portion. None of that restored leave, however, may be recredited.

C. Procedures. Obtain a refund in the gross amount equal to the gross compensation received for the unexpired portion of the leave period. Make collections either by cash or payroll deduction.

1. Processing Actions:
 - a. Audit the transferred SF 1150.
 - b. Credit the refund to the appropriation currently charged for the employee's salary.
 - c. Process the cash collection or payroll deduction.
 - d. Credit the employee's leave account when the total amount has been collected.
 - e. Process as a cash collection to the United States Treasury any check for the unexpired portion of lump-sum leave payable that is received from another DoD installation.
2. After collection of the full amount of the refund, prepare a statement for the employee including:
 - a. References to 5 U.S.C. 5551 (reference (b)) as the basis for the refund.
 - b. Date the refund was fully paid.
 - c. Total amount collected.
 - d. Statement that the earnings shown on Form W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement) for the calendar year in which the refund was made were not decreased by the refund amount. If the refund is spread over two payroll years, make a separate statement for each year.
3. Distribute the statement as follows:
 - a. Give the signed original and one copy to the employee.
 - b. Attach a signed copy to Form W-2 or tapes sent to the SSA.
 - c. Send a copy to any state or local taxing authority as appropriate.

★ 030706. Lump-Sum Payment for Restored Annual Leave for Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) and the Closure of an Installation in the Republic of Panama in Accordance With the Panama Canal Treaty of 1977. of Title 5 United States Code, section 5551 (reference (b)) requires payment of restored annual leave under 5 U.S.C. 6304(d)(3) (reference (b)) in certain situations. Effective on or after September 23, 1996, for BRAC and October 17, 1998, for Republic of Panama closures (P.L. 105-261, reference (e)), a lump-sum payment shall be made to any DoD employee moving to a position in any non-DoD federal agency or to any position within the Department that is not located at an installation being closed or realigned under 5 U.S.C. 6304(d)(3) (reference (b)). The SF 50 must contain a remark to indicate that "lump-sum payment for unused annual leave restored under 5 U.S.C. 6304(d)(3) is required under section 1611 of P.L. 104-201, dated September 23, 1996." The payroll office will make the lump-sum payment when this remark is received.

0308 SEVERANCE

★ 030801. Qualifications. An employee who qualifies under 5 U.S.C. 5595 (reference (b)) is entitled to severance pay in regular pay period intervals and amounts equal to that paid before separation. Public Law 104-106, section 1035 (reference (e)) allows Heads of DoD Components to authorize payment of severance pay in a lump-sum rather than on a biweekly basis. Title 5, United States Code, Section 5595(i)(4) (reference (b)) authorizes the Department to make a lump-sum payment of severance pay for separations taking effect before October 1, 1999. An employee separated within a pay period rather than at the end of a pay period receives an initial payment of severance pay for the remainder of that pay period. Severance pay for employees with variable work schedules or rates of pay is computed on the basis of the average rate of basic pay for the last position held during the 26 biweekly pay periods immediately preceding separation (5 C.F.R. 550.707) (reference (l)).

030802. Payments

A. The civilian payroll office will make severance payments. If the civilian payroll office is inactivated, the civilian payroll office assuming responsibility for servicing the closed civilian payroll office continues payment for the period of eligibility. The inactivated payroll office will discontinue the payments and send the new civilian payroll office enough pay data to establish the severance payments.

★ B. Severance payments are made biweekly based on SF 50 data provided. Appropriate withholding will be made for Social Security/Medicare, federal, state and local income taxes. If a former employee dies before the expiration of the entitlement period, severance payments will be continued on a biweekly basis to the beneficiary of the deceased or held in account until identification of the beneficiary by the HRO. Collection of an indebtedness from an employee's severance pay is permissible under 31 U.S.C. 3716 (reference (d)). These payments are subject to collection for any outstanding debts owed to the government. Additionally, under 5 C.F.R. 581.103 (reference (l)), severance pay is subject to court-ordered garnishments for alimony, child support, and commercial debts. However, any court-ordered garnishments are canceled upon the death of an employee. Payments to beneficiaries are not subject to federal tax withholding requirements.

030803. Withholding Tax Reports

A. When a separated employee has been paid the total severance pay to which entitled, or at the end of the calendar year, whichever is earlier, a Form W-2 will be issued.

B. Severance pay paid to beneficiaries of deceased employees will be reported on Form 1099-MISC.

030804. Discontinued Entitlement. When the civilian payroll office that is making severance payments to a former employee receives official notification from a HRO or other appropriate source that the individual has been reemployed in the federal service, severance payments will be discontinued. Discontinuation of such payments shall be effective on the date of reemployment. The total of amounts paid will be reported to the gaining activity or agency. This information will be used in determining future entitlement to severance pay since total severance pay during an employee's lifetime cannot exceed one year's pay at the rate received immediately before separation (5 U.S.C. 5595(c)) (reference (b)).

0309 ADVANCE OF PAY

030901. Policy

A. Title 5 United States Code, section 5524a (reference (b)) allows agencies to make advances of pay to new hires., The Department, however, has not authorized the use of these advances.

★ B. Advances of pay for DoD civilian employees proceeding to or arriving at a post of assignment in a foreign area are authorized, when applicable. An advance of pay is a prepayment made available to an employee in a pay status. A teacher in a nonpay status because of the summer recess shall be eligible for an advance of pay. A single, lump-sum pay advance of base pay for up to three months may be authorized to an employee with each permanent change of station (PCS) to a foreign area. Advances are intended to finance unusual employee expenses associated with overseas assignments that often are not otherwise reimbursed and to aid foreign assignment recruitment and retention. Such expenses may include transportation, storage of household goods, shipping costs, deposits on living quarters overseas, and purchase of household items. See 5 U.S.C. 5927 (reference (b)) and DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 1250 (reference (u)). Refer to subparagraphs 030402.A.1. and 2. for advances of LQA and TQSA.

C. For purposes of this section, a DoD civilian employee is defined as a full-time DoD employee who is a U.S. citizen paid from appropriated, revolving, or trust funds. New hires that are in a pay status and traveling to a foreign area on travel orders are also included. With respect to teachers, employment during a normally scheduled shift shall be considered full-time.

D. A foreign area is defined as an area located outside the United States, exclusive of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, territories of the United States, and other areas designated by the Secretary of State under E.O. 10903 (reference (s)).

★ E. Advances of pay for overseas transfers will be paid only by the disbursing officer (or the disbursing officer's overseas agent) who support the civilian payroll office servicing the overseas area, or in OCONUS from a disbursing officer who is a deputy to the CONUS office. Payment may be made in a single lump-sum or included in the next regular biweekly pay.

030902. Eligibility

★ A. The HRO responsible for the employee shall verify the eligibility for an advance by confirming the travel orders and the appropriate pay grade and step at the foreign post. If confirmation of the foreign pay grade or step is not obtained, the current gross pay at the time of the advance shall be used.

B. An employee may request an advance of pay 3 weeks before the estimated departure date for assignment to a foreign duty post or up to 2 months after arrival.

030903. Counseling. Each employee eligible for an advance shall be counseled by the HRO concerning authorized purposes of the advance, repayment requirements, expenses that can be anticipated at the foreign assignment, and application procedures.

★ 030904. Application. The employee shall request an advance on the SF 1190. The form serves as the request, authorization, and voucher document.

030905. Collection of Advance

★ A. Repayment shall be made by payroll deduction over a maximum of 26 pay periods. Advances for DoDEA employees must be repaid in no more than the number of full pay periods remaining in the school year, if applicable. Deductions shall begin the first pay period after receipt of the advance or following arrival at the foreign post, whichever is later. A copy of the SF 1190 must be sent to the gaining civilian payroll office for collection when payment is made by the losing disbursing office.

B. Partial or lump-sum repayments, in addition to payroll deductions, shall be accepted.

C. When an employee separates or transfers, the outstanding balance shall be due in full. Advances of pay are recoverable from the employee or the employee's estate by deduction from accrued pay, amount of retirement credit, other amounts due the employee from the government, or by other methods as provided in DFAS Regulation Number 005 (reference (w)).

D. The Defense Debt and Claims Management Office, DFAS-Denver Center, may waive, in certain cases, the government's right of recovery of an erroneous pay advance in accordance with the requirements in DFAS Regulation Number 005 (reference (w)) and 5 U.S.C. 5584 (reference (b)).

030906. Other Requirements or Conditions

A. An employee is authorized only one outstanding advance at a time, regardless of the frequency of PCS. If an employee becomes eligible for a second advance, the first shall be liquidated before payment is made for the second advance request.

B. More than one member of a household may be eligible for an advance.

C. Allotments and assignments of advances shall not be authorized.

D. Advances shall be paid to employees of another federal agency on a reimbursable basis provided there is an agreement between the other agency and DFAS to make similar payments to DoD employees.

E. Submission of statements and documents from the employee establishing the need for, and the use of, an advance may be required.

F. Management controls shall be developed to ensure only authorized employees obtain an advance and complete accountability procedures exist for the disbursement and collection of pay advances. Accounting records shall include current, accurate, and complete records of obligations, receivables, and collections.

G. On an exception basis, an additional payment on an advance shall be authorized when circumstances warrant and the employee has not received the full amount of the maximum possible advance consistent with the employee's pay grade. Examples of circumstances warranting a second payment, but not an all-inclusive list, are a substantial understatement of the maximum advance authorized; inadequate or inappropriate counseling on the purpose of the advance; and unforeseeable events leading to a significant increase in the cash outlay requirements of an employee at the foreign assignment location.

★0310 SPECIAL PAYMENTS. Special salary payments (e.g., beneficiary payments, employees erroneously omitted from the payroll) will be made in accordance with paragraph 080102.

★0311 AWARDS

031101. General. Title 5, United States Code, Chapter 45 (reference (b)) is the legal basis for the government-wide incentive awards program for civilian employees. The OPM prescribes regulations in 5 C.F.R., chapter 45 (reference (l)) under which the awards programs shall be carried out. The DoD 1400.25-M, subchapter 451 (reference (u)) prescribes awards policies governing the award program for DoD civilian employees.

031102. Incentive Awards. The DoD 1400.25-M delegates to the heads of the DoD Components the authority to pay cash awards, grant time-off as an award, and incur the necessary expense for the honorary recognition of an employee (either as an individual or as a member of a group) on the basis of (a) suggestions, inventions, superior accomplishments, productivity gains, or other personal efforts that contribute to the efficiency, economy, or other improvements of government operations; (b) a special act or service in the public interest in connection with or related to official employment; or (c) performance as reflected in the employee's most recent record of rating.

A. Time Off as an Incentive Award. Authorized by 5 U.S.C. 4502(e) (reference (b)), a time off award may be granted in lieu of cash (5 C.F.R. 451.101-451.107) (reference (l)). Title 5, C.F.R. 451.104(f) (reference (l)) does not permit a time-off award to be converted to a cash payment under any circumstances.

1. Time off granted as an incentive award must be used within one year from the effective date. Sick leave may be granted to an employee who becomes incapacitated for duty during a period of time off. Supervisors and employees are responsible for scheduling the use of this leave within one year. The incentive leave is forfeited if not used within the one-year time frame. There is no provision for restoring time-off awards.

2. The maximum amount of time off that can be granted to any one individual for a single achievement should not exceed 40 hours. The maximum amount of time off that can be granted to any one individual within one leave year should not exceed 80 hours. Part-time employees and employees with uncommon tours of duty may be granted one-half the average number of hours in the employee's biweekly tour of duty for a single achievement. The maximum amount of time off which can be granted to part-time employees and employees with uncommon tours of duty during any one leave year is the average number of hours of work in the employee's biweekly scheduled tour of duty.

3. Unused time off should be transferred when an employee transfers from one activity to another, but remains within the same DoD Component. If an employee changes to another agency, any unused time off shall be forfeited.

B. Foreign Language Awards. These awards may be paid to qualifying LEOs who are proficient in, and use, a foreign language(s) in the performance of their duties. Additional information is in 5 U.S.C. 45, subchapter III (reference (b)).

031103. Payroll and Payment Procedures

A. The civilian payroll office accepts the SF 50 or automated systems equivalent from the HRO as authorization for payment of cash awards or granting of time-off awards. Awards will be delivered to employees in the same manner as their net pay. Incentive award payments are not distributed to the worksite.

B. Time-off awards shall be posted to the employee's record and reduced when the time off is taken and or forfeited. Usage reported prior to the receipt of notification of the award shall be reflected as a negative balance in the civilian payroll system. Failure of the HRO to provide notification of the granting of the award within two pay periods of the usage shall be assumed to be a time and attendance error. The usage shall be converted as shown in Table 5-2.

C. Cash award payments are subject to the withholding provisions of the federal, state, and local income tax laws, and the provisions of FICA. The payroll system will deduct 28 percent federal tax automatically on special earnings of this nature. The applicable state and local tax deductions and Social Security and/or Medicare deductions will be computed based on tax information in the employee's current master record. No state and local taxes are withheld for employees assigned to overseas duty locations unless requested by the employee.

D. Payment to Separated Employees

4. When possible, the employee can be reestablished on the payroll using the last known information on the employee's master account record for applicable deductions and mailing address.

5. If the employee cannot be reestablished, payment can be made using an SF 1034 (Public Voucher for Purchases and Services Other Than Personal).

E. Cash award payments must be included on an employee's LES as well as the Form W-2.

0312 CONTINUATION OF PAY (COP) FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYEES

031201. The Federal Employees' Compensation Act (FECA), codified in pertinent part in 5 U.S.C., Chapter 81 (reference (b)), provides compensation and authorized medical care for all civilian employees of the United States for disability due to personal injury sustained while in the performance of duty. Regulations governing injury compensation are contained in 20 C.F.R. Part 10 (reference (x)).

A. Civilian employees are entitled to medical care and compensation for absences due to traumatic on-the-job injuries and disease sustained while in the performance of duty. Traumatic injury is not the same as disability from occupational disease. Eligible employees are entitled to up to 45 calendar days of COP for traumatic injury.

B. The FECA is administered by the OWCP, U.S. Department of Labor, through district offices. Each HRO maintains the address of the district office that services its region.

★ 031202. Continuation of Pay - Traumatic Injury

A. Entitlement to Continuation of Pay. An employee who sustains a disabling job-related traumatic injury is entitled to the continuation of regular pay for a period not to exceed 45 calendar days for each occurrence. The pay is subject to Social Security and/or Medicare, federal, state, and local tax, retirement, and all other normal deductions. The pay for a separated employee (unless the date of termination has been established prior to the injury) who is entitled to COP will be subject to Social Security and/or Medicare, federal, state, and local tax if appropriate. No other deductions will be taken. The injured employee's pay must continue unless denied by the Department of Labor.

1. Regular Pay. Regular pay is defined as follows:

★ a. For a full-time or part-time employee who works the same number of hours per week, the weekly pay rate shall be equal to the number of hours regularly worked each week times the hourly pay rate on the date of injury including premium pay, night or shift differential, holiday pay, and other extra pay, exclusive of overtime.

b. For a part-time employee who does not work the same number of hours per week, the weekly pay rate will be the average weekly earnings for the one-year period before the date of injury, exclusive of overtime.

c. For an intermittent or part-time employee, either permanent or temporary, who does not work each week of the year (or the period of appointment), the weekly pay rate equals the average of the employee's weekly earnings during the one-year period before the injury. It is computed on the basis of the total earnings divided by the number of weeks worked (partial weeks worked are counted as whole weeks). The annual earnings used for this computation must not, however, be less than 150 times the average daily wage earned within one year before the date of injury.

2. Standby premium, night or shift differential, holiday pay, or other extra pay should be included in regular pay in all instances. Overtime pay, however, must not be made part of COP except in the case of firefighters and law enforcement officers. If a salary increase (pay raise, step increase, promotion, etc.) occurs during the 45-day period, the new salary rate as of the effective date of the increase will be used for computing the remaining COP.

B. Controversion. Sometimes an agency objects to paying a claim for COP, either for one of the reasons provided by regulation or for some other reason. This action is controversion. The employing activity may controvert a claim by completing the indicated portion of Form CA-1 (Federal Employee Notice of Traumatic Injury and Claim for Continuation of Pay/Compensation) and submitting detailed information in support of the controversion to the OWCP.

★ C. Denial of COP. No COP may not be paid if the disability is not caused by a traumatic injury and the employee:

1. Is not a U.S. or Canadian citizen,
2. Does not file a written claim within 30 days of the date of injury,
3. Does not report the injury until after separation from employment,
4. Is injured away from the activity's premises by an event that is outside of the employee's official duties,
5. Is injured because of his or her own willful misconduct, intent to injure a person, intoxication by alcohol or illegal drugs, or
6. Does not stop work within 45 days after the injury.

D. Termination of COP. When pay is continued after the employee stops work because of a disabling injury, it must not be interrupted until the earliest of one of the following occurs:

1. The employee has not provided prima facie medical evidence of injury-related disability within 10 calendar days after the employee claims COP or the disability begins or recurs.
2. The activity receives medical information from the attending physician to the effect that the employee is no longer disabled.
3. The activity receives notification from the OWCP that pay should be terminated.
4. The COP has been used for 45 calendar days.
5. The employing agency receives evidence that the employee is partially disabled and the employee refuses suitable work.
6. The employee's scheduled term of employment expires and the date of termination has been established prior to the date of injury.
7. The employee returns to work with no loss of pay.
8. The OWCP determines that the employee refused or obstructed a medical examination required by OWCP.
9. Implementation of a disciplinary action where the preliminary notice is issued before the employee is injured.

E. COP Period. The COP period is 45 calendar days. If the employee has stopped work because of the disabling effects of the injury, the period starts at the beginning of the first full day or first full shift on which the disability begins. If disability occurs on the date of injury, the remainder of that day or shift will not be counted as COP. If the employee stops work for only a portion of a day or shift (other than the day or shift when the disability begins), that day or shift will be considered as one calendar day. If an employee is not immediately disabled as a result of the injury, the 45 days will begin on the first full day or the first full shift when the disability begins. The initial use of COP must begin within 45 days of the date of injury or the employee is only entitled to compensation from OWCP. The employee's scheduled nonwork days are included in determining the 45 days if medical evidence supports that the employee is disabled; however, there will be no COP paid for those nonwork days.

F. Light-duty Status. When a determination can be made that an employee is capable of performing light duty after an on-the-job injury, COP is chargeable against the 45-day entitlement when a personnel action has been taken to:

1. Assign or detail the employee to an identified position for which a position description exists which is classified at a lower salary level than that earned by the employee when injured;

2. Change the employee to a lower grade, or to a lower rate of basic pay;

or

3. Change the employee to a different schedule of work that results in loss of salary or premium pay, other than Sunday premium, authorized for the employee's normal administrative workweek. An employee placed in light duty status who refuses to work after suitable work is offered is not entitled to COP.

G. Recurrence of Disability. Should an employee suffer a recurrence of the disability, the regular pay can be continued, providing the 45 calendar days were not all "used" during the initial period of disability. This is applicable, however, only during a 45-day period beginning from the date the employee first returned to work following the initial disability. If a recurrence happens after the 45-day window has expired, the regular pay should not be continued although some of the 45 days of COP eligibility may remain "unused." In that instance, the employee is entitled only to compensation payable by OWCP.

H. Use of Leave Instead of COP

1. An employee may use annual or sick leave to cover all or part of an absence due to an injury. If an employee elects to use leave each full or partial day for which leave is taken will be counted against the 45 days of entitlement. Therefore, when an employee uses COP intermittently along with sick or annual leave, entitlement is not extended beyond 45 days of combined absences.

2. An election of sick or annual leave is not always irrevocable. If an employee who has elected leave for the period wishes to elect COP, the employing activity must make that change on a prospective basis from the date of the employee's request. The employee may also receive COP in lieu of previously requested annual or sick leave, provided the request is made within one year of the date the leave was used or the claim was approved in writing, whichever is later. A corrected time and attendance report is needed to authorize a change from leave to COP.

3. Leave Status of Employees Eligible for COP

a. Employees eligible for COP must be placed in a leave status for time lost from work due to injury in excess of the 45 days of COP. They may take annual or sick leave, or LWOP, if necessary, until OWCP approves their claims. Employees who are receiving OWCP compensation after the 45-day period must be in a LWOP status.

b. These employees may buy back annual or sick leave taken under subparagraph 031202.H.3.a. when they are awarded compensation by OWCP except under subparagraph 031202.H.3.c. They cannot receive dual compensation for pay and leave and OWCP compensation for that time lost due to injury. The leave will be reinstated when bought back.

c. Employees eligible for COP who take annual or sick leave for time lost due to injury instead of COP are not eligible for OWCP compensation for that leave. These employees may not buy back that leave and have it reinstated.

4. Employees not eligible for COP must be in a leave status during absence due to injury. Employees may take annual or sick leave or LWOP while awaiting a decision from OWCP on their claims. Employees must be in an LWOP status while receiving OWCP compensation. These employees may buy back, and have reinstated, all annual and sick leave used for time lost from work due to injury if OWCP approves their claims for compensation.

031203. Buy Back of Leave

A. General. When an employee elects to take sick or annual leave, or both, subsequent to the completion of 45 days of COP or in the case of occupational disease, and the claim for compensation is subsequently approved by OWCP, the employee may arrange with the civilian payroll office to buy back the leave used within one year of the date the claim was approved and have it reccredited to the leave account. The civilian payroll office shall make arrangements with OWCP to have compensation for the "buy-back" period paid directly to that office. After receipt, the civilian payroll office will notify the employee of the amount to be repaid and the method of repayment. An employee who elects to use sick or annual leave, or both, during the 45-day period of COP may not buy back the leave by claiming compensation for such period.

B. Computation. The gross amount paid for leave used during a period retroactively covered by compensation must be recovered; however, certain deductions may be recovered by payroll adjustment. The amount recovered from the employee and/or OWCP will depend on whether payment for the leave was made in the current year or in a prior year. See Figures 3-1 and 3-2 for examples.

★ C. Current Year Recovery. The amount to be collected for leave payments made in the current calendar year will be the net pay plus deductions for bonds, savings allotments, alimony and/or child support, rent, indebtedness to the United States, and any other deductions for which the employee received value, but cannot be otherwise collected. Deductions that will be reversed (if applicable and if the moneys are recovered) in the payroll system are CSRS/FERS, Social Security and/or Medicare, federal, state and local taxes, FEHB (if OWCP payment is for more than 28 days), FEGLI (basic and optional), TSP, union dues, charitable contributions, military service credit deposits and civilian service credit deposits. Adjustments to earnings to date for other than those items reversed in the payroll system shall be made. Amounts collected from the employee and/or OWCP shall be taken up as a cash refund on a voucher for disbursement and/or collection.

★ D. Prior Year Recovery. The amount to be collected for leave payments made during a prior year will be the gross amount less CSRS/FERS, Social Security and/or Medicare, TSP, FEHB (if OWCP payment is for more than 28 days), and FEGLI (basic and optional). The procedure in subparagraph 031203.C. will be followed for payroll reversals and cash collection. The credit to CSRS/FERS will be posted as a separate credit line item on the SF 2806/3100 fiscal side indicating the year for which the adjustment was made with an explanation in the "Remarks" column. Adjustments for federal, state, and local income taxes are not authorized. The Form W-2 prepared for the employee upon separation or at the end of the payroll year, as appropriate, will not include any tax adjustments for a prior year. A certified statement must be prepared to go with the current year's Form W-2. It will state that a refund for prior year CCYY was made in the amount of $____, but that the gross wages shown on the current year Form W-2 have not been reduced by the amount of the refund.

E. Partial Payroll Deductions. If circumstances warrant, the amount due from the employee, after recovery of the amount repaid by OWCP, may be repaid by partial payroll deductions. Adjustment of those deductions to be reversed on the payroll will not be accomplished until the full amount has been repaid.

F. Recrediting of Leave. The full amount of leave used during the "buy-back" period will be recredited to the employee's leave account. Leave bought back, however, may not be recredited until the total amount has been repaid.

0313 BACK PAY

★ 031301. General. Title 5 United States Code, section 5596. (reference (b)) and implementing regulations in 5 C.F.R. 550, subpart H (reference (l)) authorize the payment of back pay and reasonable attorney fees for the purpose of making an employee financially whole (to the extent possible). Payment of back pay can be made when, on the basis of a timely appeal or an administrative determination (including a decision relating to an unfair labor practice or a grievance), an appropriate authority finds that the employee was affected by an unjustified or unwarranted personnel action. Such action must have resulted in the withdrawal, reduction, or denial of all or part of the pay, allowances, and differentials, otherwise due the employee under an applicable law, rule, regulation, or provision of a collective bargaining agreement. The HROs will determine entitlement to payment of back pay that will be indicated in the remarks section of the SF 50.

031302. Correcting Unjustified or Unwarranted Personnel Action

A. When an appropriate authority corrects or directs the correction of an unjustified or unwarranted personnel action, the employee shall be deemed to have performed service in the Department during the period covered by the corrective action and the civilian payroll office shall compute, for the period covered by the corrective action, the pay, allowances, and differentials of the employee as if the improper personnel action had not occurred. In no case, however, will the employee be granted more pay, allowances, and differentials under the back pay law than he or she would have been entitled to if the improper personnel action had not occurred.

B. When an employee's total interim earnings (including those from other federal employment) exceed the total amount of back pay, the excess amount may be retained by the employee (Comp. Gen. B-194777, October 30, 1979) (reference (p)).

C. When an employee has been separated, corrective action is completed on the date the Department has reasonably set, with written notice to the employee, for return to duty. Until that date, the erroneous action is in effect. Failure by the employee to report for duty on the date set by the Department may result in the employee being charged annual leave, leave without pay, or absence without leave for the period from the date set for return of the employee to work until the date the employee actually returns to work. An employee who resigns instead of returning to duty, however, still is entitled to back pay, since there is no requirement that the employee must return to duty. In this case, the employee will receive back pay up to the date that he or she legitimately is separated, which may not be the date that he or she is requested to report for duty.

031303. Back Pay Computations

A. General. In computing the amount of gross back pay due an employee, the civilian payroll office must include premium pay and any changes that would affect the amount of pay, allowances, and differentials which the employee would have earned if the unjustified or unwarranted personnel action had not occurred. The computation of the net back pay to which an employee is entitled is a three-step process: interim net outside earnings from employment taken to take the place of government employment must be deducted from the gross back pay due the employee; erroneous payments received from the government as a result of an unjustified or unwarranted personnel action must be deducted from net back pay due the employee; and other authorized deductions. Authorized deductions which include retirement deductions computed on gross basic pay for the period of separation, federal and state taxes computed on net back pay after deductions for interim net earnings, and health benefits premiums, if any, may be made from the remaining back pay due the employee.

B. Computation of Gross Back Pay

1. Under 5 C.F.R. 550.805(c) (reference (l)), an agency may not pay back pay for any period during which the employee was not ready, willing, and able to perform his or her duties because of an incapacitating illness. The employing agency, however, must grant, upon request of the employee, any sick or annual leave to the his or her credit to cover the period of incapacity by reason of illness or injury. In addition, an agency may not pay back pay for any period during which the employee was unavailable for performance of their duties for reasons not related to, or caused by, the unjustified or unwarranted personnel action.

2. In computing an employee's pay, it is necessary to include any within-grade increases (WGI) to which the he or she became entitled during the period covered by the corrected personnel action. When the grant or denial of a WGI requires an acceptable level of competence determination, under 5 C.F.R., part 531, subpart D (reference (l)), the requirements for such a determination, including the right of reconsideration and appeal, must be followed (even though the determination is made retroactively) before the WGI may be included in the computation of the amount of back pay due the employee. It should be noted that the regulations governing WGIs waive the requirement of an acceptable level of competence determination when the employee had less than 60 days of service during the final 52 calendar weeks of the waiting period because of the unjustified and unwarranted personnel action (5 C.F.R. 531.409(d)) (reference (l)).

3. In computing the back pay of an employee who is restored to the rolls after an improper personnel action, any overtime the employee would have earned during the period of the erroneous separation is to be included in the back pay even though the overtime was not actually scheduled. The method of computing overtime incident to a back pay award due an employee may be based on the average number of overtime hours worked by fellow employees occupying similar positions during the same period (41 Comp. Gen. 273 (1961)) (reference (p)).

4. An employee who should have been selected for overtime work because a regulation or collective bargaining agreement provided for assignment of overtime work in a prescribed manner is entitled to back pay for the overtime not worked if the regulation or nondiscretionary provision of the agreement is violated. The appropriate authority must find that the action taken was unjustified or unwarranted and direct that corrective action be taken. The overtime will be computed on the basis of the number of hours worked by the employee selected to perform the overtime work during the same period (54 Comp. Gen. 1071 (1975)) (reference (p)).

5. Any allowances or differentials that the employee would have received if the improper personnel action had not occurred are included in the amount due the employee. This is true even though the employee did not physically remain in the location giving rise to entitlement to the allowance or differential (40 Comp. Gen. 479 (1961), 52 id 860 (1973), and 59 id 261 (1980)) (reference (p)).

6. In determining the amount of irregular or intermittent pay for physical hardship or hazard duty to which a GS employee would have been entitled, the civilian payroll office may determine the number of days per week the employee performed each type or irregular or intermittent hardship or hazard duty during the 52 weeks preceding the unjustified or unwarranted separation for which they would have been compensated. The civilian payroll office may use an average of the amounts to make the necessary computations.

7. Payment of environmental differentials on an actual exposure basis or on the basis of hours in a pay status must be computed in accordance with the OPM regulations and instructions. The Department determines entitlement to such differentials on the basis of the 52 weeks preceding the unjustified or unwarranted separation for which the FWS employee would have been compensated.

8. When the Department is not able to determine with certainty the number of hours that the intermittent employee would have worked during the period covered by the corrected personnel action, the civilian payroll office may estimate the amount of back pay. This estimate is determined by taking an average of the number of hours worked by other DoD employees under the same type of appointment and performing the same kind of work to which the employee in question would have been assigned during this period. The civilian payroll office also may determine the average number of hours a week the employee actually worked for a representative period preceding the unjustified or unwarranted personnel action (such as 26 or 52 weeks, whichever would represent a fairer approximation of the employee's earnings if he or she had actually worked) and use these average weekly hours to make the necessary computations.

C. Computation of Net Back Pay

1. Under 5 C.F.R. 550.805(e) (reference (b)), the civilian payroll office must deduct any amounts earned by an employee from other employment during the period covered by the corrective action. The amount of entitlement is the difference between the amount of compensation the employee would have earned, including all premium pay, and the amount actually earned in employment during the period covered by the corrected personnel action. The amount earned in employment obtained to take the place of federal employment means net earnings, that is, gross earnings less losses and certain expenses incurred in connection with the interim employment or business (34 Comp. Gen. 382 (1955)) (reference (p)). Losses sustained in a venture unrelated to that separation, however, are not allowable for deductions (35 Comp. Gen. 268 (1955)) (reference (p)).

2. The only earnings from other employment that may not be deducted from back pay are earnings from outside employment the employee already had before the unjustified suspension or separation. For example, if an employee worked 20 hours on an outside part-time job prior to separation from government employment, and during the period of separation worked 40 hours, the amount representing the 20 hours additional time worked would be offset against the back pay computation. To clearly establish whether the pay for outside employment increased substantially during the period of separation, the Department should obtain a statement or affidavits from the employee covering his or her outside earnings.

D. Computation of Interest on Back Pay Awards

★ 1. Under 5 U.S.C. 5596 (reference (b)) interest shall be paid on all back pay awards that became final on or after December 22, 1987. In most cases, the actual date of the award or decision is not the date the decision becomes final, i.e., no longer subject to reconsideration or higher level review or appeal. Interest begins to accrue on the effective date of the withdrawal of pay, allowances, and differentials. As a result, most computations will involve a series of effective dates—one for each date (usually a pay date) on which the employee failed to receive an amount of pay, allowances, and differentials because of the unjustified or unwarranted personnel action. Section 550.805 of 5 C.F.R. (reference (l)) sets out procedures for the computation of back pay, and 5 C.F.R. 550.806 (reference (l)) addresses the computation of interest.

2. The Department must issue the interest within 30 calendar days of the date on which accrual of interest ends. If issuance of the interest payment is delayed more than 30 calendar days after the date on which accrual of interest ends, interest must be recomputed based on a new ending date meeting the 30-day requirement.

3. The applicable interest rate is the "overpayment rate" adjusted quarterly by the Secretary of the Treasury and published in an IRS Bulletin issued before the beginning of each quarter.

★ 4. Interest is computed in accordance with the formula or computer software provided to civilian payroll offices by the OPM. Taxes will not be withheld from interest payments on back pay awards. The civilian payroll office will provide employees with a Form 1099-INT for all interest payments. The OPM has requested a formal opinion from IRS regarding the tax status of interest on back pay.

E. Erroneous Payments. The following deductions are mandatory and necessary to achieve the "make whole" purpose of the back pay statute:

1. Retirement Annuity Payments. Any employee who, as a result of separation that is subsequently determined by an appropriate authority to have been erroneous, has been in receipt of retirement annuity payments (either special payments or regular annuity payments) is indebted to the government for the gross amount of retirement annuity payments authorized for the period covered by the corrective action. Because the gross amount of annuity payments had already been reduced by required health benefits and life insurance premiums, the civilian payroll office recovers an amount of annuity from the back pay award equal to the gross annuity less health benefits and life insurance premiums, and transfers that amount to the retirement system. The government then recovers the amounts paid from the CSRS or FERS gross annuity for health benefits and life insurance from the respective carriers for those programs, and the retired employee's account is satisfied. The civilian payroll office then must collect from the back pay due the employee the required amount for health benefits coverage during the period following restoration and transfer that amount, plus the agency's share, to the OPM on the SF 2812.

a. As an example of the above instruction, consider that the retired employee was entitled to a gross annuity of $500 per month less $50 per month for health benefits coverage and $50 per month for unreduced basic life insurance coverage after age 65, and optional insurance. The net amount payable to the annuitant in this example was $400 per month. If the period of erroneous annuity payment was for only one month, the gross indebtedness was $500. However, the net amount of indebtedness to be withheld from the back pay award is $400 (the amount the annuitant actually received).

b. Erroneous separations resulting in indebtedness to the retirement fund may occur in a number of circumstances, including: an erroneous separation resulting from removal for misconduct or poor performance that subsequently is overturned on appeal; a reduction-in-force action that subsequently is overturned on appeal; separation for retirement that subsequently is determined to have been coerced; and erroneous separation for retirement because of incorrect counseling about eligibility for retirement. The civilian payroll office must deduct the amount of the net erroneous retirement payments from the back pay award. The civilian payroll office must remit the appropriate amount payable to the U.S. Office of Personnel Management and if a check payment, mail that payment to the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, Funds Control Branch, Room 1312, 1900 E Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20415.

2. Refund of Retirement Contributions. Title 5, United States Code, section 8342(a) (reference (b)) authorizes refund of an employee's retirement contributions only upon absolute separation from the service or transfer to a position not subject to the law. An employee must be separated or transferred for at least 31 consecutive days to be eligible for this refund. Therefore, a refund of retirement contributions paid to an employee based on a separation which subsequently is found erroneous and canceled by restoring the employee to duty retroactively so that there was no break in service removes the legal basis for the refund. A refund that was paid in error represents a debt due the retirement fund that must be deducted from any back pay entitlement. If the restored employee is entitled to back pay, the civilian payroll office should contact the OPM to determine the amount of refund, if any, to be offset against the back pay entitlement. A payment for the appropriate amount should be remitted to the OPM, at the address shown in subparagraph 031303.E.1.b.

3. Severance Pay. The severance pay paid to an erroneously separated employee at the time of his or her removal must be deducted from the back pay award upon restoration to duty.

4. Lump-sum Payment for Annual Leave. The lump-sum payment that an erroneously separated employee received upon his or her removal must be refunded by the employee upon cancellation of the separation action. This is because the lump-sum payment for annual leave is authorized under 5 U.S.C. 5551(a) (reference (b)) only upon separation from the service. Therefore, when a separation is canceled and the employee is restored to duty as of the date of separation, the lump-sum payment is considered erroneous. Any lump-sum received by the employee must be offset against the employee's back pay award, and the leave must be reccredited to the employee's leave account. There is no authority to permit an employee to elect to retain payment or receive credit for the leave. The procedures for collecting leave payments are in subparagraphs 031203.C. and 031203.D.

5. Order of Precedence. The order of precedence for deducting erroneous payments from back pay awards when the net amount of back pay is insufficient to cover all the deductions is as follows: retirement annuity payments or refunds of retirement contributions, severance pay, and lump-sum payment for accrued annual leave.

★ a. Employees may request the OPM to waive recovery of erroneous payments of any amount from the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund. Requests for waiver should be submitted to U.S. Office of Personnel Management, Office of Retirement Programs, Reconsideration and Debt Collection Division, Room 3H30, 1900 E Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20415. Employees also may submit requests to that address to repay debts owed to the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund by installment deductions from salary.

b. For severance pay and lump-sum annual leave payments, any net indebtedness remaining after liquidation of back pay is subject to waiver (by GAO or DFAS, as applicable) under the authority of 5 U.S.C. 5584 (reference (b)).

F. Other Authorized Deductions

1. The retirement contribution is computed on the employee's gross back pay subject to retirement and deducted after subtracting the earnings from outside employment. Even if no amount of back pay is due the employee, because of excessive outside earnings, the employee must remit the appropriate amount of retirement fund contributions to the Department in order to receive full retirement credit for the period of the unjustified or unwarranted separation (Comp. Gen. Decision B-235638, December 4, 1990) (reference (p)) and (5 U.S.C. 8334(c) (reference (b))).

2. Income tax withholdings are not computed on gross back pay before deductions from outside employment. Rather, interim net earnings (i.e., gross earnings less losses and certain expenses incurred in connection with the interim employment or business, but before income tax withholdings), if any, must be deducted from the gross amount of back pay and income tax withheld on the remainder (unpublished Comp. Gen. Decision B-125762, 1957) (reference (p)).

3. Health benefits premiums for an employee restored to duty following an erroneous separation for retirement must be deducted if coverage under the health benefits program continued without interruption during the erroneous retirement.

G. Examples of Back Pay Computations. The following examples are set forth as an aid to computing back pay (figures are not actual but illustrative only):

Example 1:

An employee's gross back pay computation (based on basic pay only) is $10,000. During the period covered by the corrective action the employee earned $7,000 from outside employment (interim earnings).

Gross back pay	$10,000
Less interim earning	$7,000
Subtotal	$3,000
Less authorized deductions
Retirement deductions computed on gross back pay ($10,000)	$700
Federal tax computed on net back pay ($3,000)	$325
State tax computed on net back pay ($3,000)	$97
Total deductions	$1,122
Net back pay	$1,878

Example 2:

An employee's gross back pay computation is $32,420, as follows:

Basic pay	$31,000
Overtime pay	$300
Holiday pay	$120
On-call pay	$1,000

The employee received lump-sum payments amounting to $1,000, and net retirement payments (gross retirement less the amount withheld for health benefits and the amount withheld for post retirement basic life insurance) amounting to $10,000. During the period covered by the corrective action the employee earned $11,000 from outside employment (interim earnings).

Gross back pay	$32,420
Less interim earnings	$11,000
Subtotal	$21,420
Less erroneous payments
Erroneous retirement payments (not including FEHB and FEGLI premiums)	$10,000
Erroneous lump-sum payments for annual leave	$1,000
Total	$11,000
Subtotal	$10,420
Less other authorized deductions
Retirement deductions computed on gross basic pay ($31,000)	$2,170
Federal tax computed on net back pay ($21,420)	$3,026
State tax computed on net back pay ($21,420)	$1,200
Health Benefits Premiums	$1,116
Total	$7,512
Net back pay	$2,908

031304. Restoration of Leave. Under 5 C.F.R. 550.805(g) (reference (l)), annual leave that is restored to an employee as a result of the correction of an unjustified or unwarranted personnel action, and that is in excess of the maximum leave accumulation authorized by law, must be credited to a separate leave account for use by the employee. Annual leave in such a separate leave account must be scheduled and used as follows:

A. For a full-time employee, excess annual leave of 416 hours or less must be scheduled and used by the end of the leave year in progress 2 years after the date on which the annual leave is credited to the separate account. This period is extended by one leave year for each additional 208 hours of excess annual leave or any portion thereof. Note: For both part-time and full-time employees, the ending date of the time limit for use of excess annual leave is not necessarily exactly 2 years, or the additional years, as appropriate, from the restoration date. Rather, the time limit ends at the end of the appropriate leave year.

B. A part-time employee shall schedule and use excess annual leave in an amount equal to or less than 20 percent of the employee's scheduled tour of duty over a 52 calendar week period by the end of the leave year in progress 2 years after the date on which the annual leave is credited to the separate account. The agency shall extend this period by one leave year for each additional number of hours of excess annual leave, or any portion thereof, equal to 10 percent of the employee's scheduled tour of duty over a period of 52 calendar weeks.

C. To determine the time limitations for use of restored leave, see paragraph 050403.

031305. Health Benefits and Life Insurance

★ A. Health Insurance. Title 5, United States Code, section 8908 (reference (b)) provides that if the enrollment of an employee, who was removed or suspended without pay, was terminated and the employee is ordered restored to duty on the grounds that the removal or suspension was unjustified or unwarranted, he or she may elect to (1) have the prior enrollment reinstated retroactive to the date it was terminated, with appropriate adjustments made in contributions and claims, to the same extent and effect as though the removal or suspension had not taken place, or (2) enroll the same as a new employee. Note: The statutory provisions of 5 U.S.C. 8908 (reference (b)) do not apply when an employee was separated erroneously for retirement under conditions that entitle him or her to continued enrollment. In such cases, there is no need to restore health benefits coverage; it was transferred to the retirement system and automatically continued. Refer to the Federal Employees Health Benefits Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (y)) for additional information.

B. Life Insurance

1. If an employee is restored retroactively to duty with pay after an erroneous suspension or removal, any insurance coverage the employee had before the improper action will continue as though the erroneous action never occurred. Retroactive salary deductions for life insurance, however, shall not be withheld from any back pay awarded for the period of separation or suspension. If death or accidental dismemberment occurs during the period between the employee's removal and the finding that the separation was erroneous, insurance proceeds will be paid and premiums will be withheld from the back pay award for the period of separation or suspension (5 U.S.C. 8706(d)) (reference (b)) and Federal Employees Group Life Insurance Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (z)).

2. An employee who had no insurance coverage prior to an erroneous suspension or removal and who is restored to duty after the closing date of an open season for life insurance which occurred during the period between the employee's suspension or removal and restoration is entitled upon restoration to elect life insurance coverage, as permitted during the open season. Since coverage for basic life insurance is automatic, the effective date is the first day in a pay and duty status. For options A, B, and C, the effective date is the first day in a pay and duty status on or after the date the SF 2817 (Life Insurance Election) is received by the employing office. An employee who had life insurance coverage prior to an erroneous suspension or removal and who is restored to duty after the closing date of an open season for life insurance which occurred during the period between the employee's suspension or removal and restoration, is entitled upon restoration to elect additional life insurance coverage, as permitted during the open season. The effective date is the first day in a pay and duty status on or after the date the employing office receives the SF 2817.

031306. Payment of Reasonable Attorney Fees. Title 5, United States Code, section 5596(b)(1)(A)(ii) (reference (b)) provides for payment of reasonable attorney fees in accordance with the standards established under 5 U.S.C. 7701(g) (reference (b)), under certain conditions. Under 5 C.F.R. 550.807 (reference (l)), such payment is available in all back pay cases, without regard to the nature of the case or the appropriate authority in the case HROs will determine entitlement to payment of attorney fees and indicate the amount in the remarks on the SF 50.

031307. Reporting Back Pay to State Agencies. If an employee is awarded back pay, see subparagraph 060105. regarding notification of the state agency.

0314 EMERGENCY EVACUATION PAYMENTS

031401. Purpose. This section prescribes the responsibilities of the civilian payroll offices in the event of evacuation of civilian employees or their dependents under the provisions of the DSSR, chapter 600 (reference (t)) and 5 C.F.R., Part 550, subpart D (reference (l)). Civilian payroll offices will use these procedures when evacuation for military or other reasons of national interest or because of imminent danger to their lives has been ordered by the proper authority. The place these persons are evacuated from may be within or outside the United States.

A. Forms. DD Form 2461 (Authorization for Emergency Evacuation Advance and Allotment Payments for DoD Civilian Employees) is used to authorize and record emergency payments to employees and dependents. This record is kept by the civilian payroll office to record these payments on the permanent records. Information on this form may, in appropriate cases, be disclosed to other federal agencies (i.e., IRS, SSA, OPM) to state and local taxing/welfare authorities, and to certain private organizations for crediting the payments to the employee's account. Before payment can be made to the employee or his dependents, an application for payment of amounts due the evacuated civilian employees or family members is required.

B. Determining entitlement and payee. Determine specific rates of entitlement, duration of evacuation/departure payments, and eligible allottees as follows:

1. For employees at foreign installations, use the DSSR, chapter 600 (reference (t)).

2. For all other employees, use 5 C.F.R. 550.401 through 550.408 (reference (l)).

C. Payments. Payments at the rate to which the employee was entitled immediately before the order of evacuation/departure may be made to the employee, or payments in the form of allotments may be made to an adult family member or designated representative.

031402. Transmission of Data to Safe-Haven Post

A. To the extent possible and practical, pay, leave, and other significant data will be sent from the evacuated installation to the safe-haven post as soon as possible after the evacuation order has been issued so that they will be available to support further payments. Some of the possible methods of communicating such data to the safe-haven post are shipping a machine or manual listing of the data; shipping the last complete payroll together with appropriate notations and changes; transmitting the essential data over available telephone, telegraph, or radio facilities; shipping the actual payroll, leave, and other appropriate records; providing the evacuated employees and dependents at the time that the evacuation is ordered with a statement of essential data in a locally reproduced format.

B. For the most part, the conditions and circumstances existing at the evacuation installation will determine the method and timing to be followed in transmitting the data. The safeguarding and preservation of the payroll, leave, and travel records are matters of primary concern because of the continuing need of the records after the conditions which gave rise to the emergency evacuation have been resolved. Accordingly, steps as necessary to safeguard and preserve the records should take precedence over the immediate need for them at the safe-haven post.

031403. Action Upon and During Evacuation. To the extent possible and practicable, employees and dependents remaining at the evacuated installation will continue to be paid in accordance with the normal fiscal procedures of that installation. A special advance payroll will be prepared in accordance with normal payroll procedures and charged against the appropriate funds available to the installation for advance payments authorized to be made to persons being evacuated.

031404. Action Upon Assignment of an Evacuated Employee

A. Return to Former Place of Employment

1. The disbursing officer will obtain a record of payments made to the employee and dependents from the safe-haven post and immediately request the supporting DFAS Center to furnish from its records the total amounts paid to each employee and dependents during the time of evacuation.

2. Upon receipt of the payment information from the supporting DFAS Center, the disbursing officer will reconcile all amounts paid and determine the amounts due the employee. A final payroll will be prepared to settle the employee's pay account subsequent to the last normal payment. That payroll will include all deductions that were suspended during the period of evacuation.

★ B. Assignment to an Installation Other Than One from Which Evacuated. The disbursing officer will take all action required in subparagraphs 031404.A.1. and 2. In addition, the disbursing officer will initiate a request to the former employing activity for the date of the last normal payment and all other pertinent information that normally would be furnished by a releasing activity. A new pay record will be established on the basis of the information obtained. When the required information cannot be obtained from the employee's last permanent station because of destruction of the records, it will be assumed that the employee drew all amounts due the employee as of the last day prior to evacuation. See DSSR, chapter 600 (reference (t)) and 5 C.F.R., Part 550, subpart D (reference (l)).

0315 MISCELLANEOUS

031501. Uniform Allowance. Uniform allowance is not paid through the civilian payroll system. It is paid through commercial accounts.

★ 031502. Transportation Fringe Benefits

A. Public Law 102-486 (reference (e)) requires employers report the valuation of fringe benefits as taxable income for amounts that exceed the established IRS threshold. The IRS publishes the qualified transportation fringe benefits excludable amount each year. Employers must determine the fair-market value of free or reduced parking provided to employees by comparing it to nearby commercial parking rates. The valuation in excess of the qualified published limits is includible as gross income and is subject to Social Security and/or Medicare, federal, state, and local income tax withholding. The valuation is not subject to retirement, group life insurance, or TSP deductions. See subparagraph 090205.D. for reporting information.

★ B. Beginning October 24, 1994, the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Force Management Policy) authorized DoD Components to implement the payment of subsidies for transit passes and riding in a commuter highway vehicle when going between a residence and work.

★ 031503. Government Provided Home-to-Work Transportation. Title 26, C.F.R., section 1.61-21 (reference (aa)), provides detailed rules as to the proper valuation method required for determining the employer-provided home-to-work benefit, as it must be reported on each applicable employee's Form W-2. The DoD 4500.36-R (reference (ab)) requires the USD(C), in coordination with the USD(P&R), to provide the necessary guidance annually concerning the valuation methods for home-to-work transportation. Employers are responsible for determining the value of the employer-provided benefit and reporting it to DFAS to be properly reported on the employee's Form W-2. The benefit is subject to Social Security/Medicare, federal, state, and local income taxes. The benefit is not subject to retirement, group life insurance, or TSP deductions.

CHAPTER 4DEDUCTIONS

★0401 GENERAL REQUIREMENTS. Written authority to make voluntary deductions from pay shall be obtained from DoD employees in all cases. All mandatory deductions shall be based on specific provisions of law or a court order. The authorization for each type of deduction shall contain sufficient information to properly establish the deduction and to enable payment to the proper payee of the amount deducted. A current file of all deduction authorizations shall be kept in the civilian payroll office, with the CSR or at other designated storage sites as justification for each deduction and maintained in accordance with General Records Schedule 2 (reference (g)).

0402 ORDER OF PRECEDENCE

040201. Deductions. Mandatory deductions are amounts required by law or regulation to be withheld from an employee's pay. Voluntary deductions are amounts withheld from pay that require written authorization from the employee. In some instances, an employee's gross pay is not sufficient to permit all mandatory and voluntary deductions to be made. In those cases, the following order of precedence shall apply:

A. Retirement, including retirement withheld under the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) Act of May 29, 1930, as amended (reference (ac)), the Federal Employees' Retirement System (FERS) Act (P.L. 99-335) (reference (e)) (5 U.S.C. 8334 and 8422) (reference (b)), state Retirement deductions for Title 32 National Guard technicians who elected to remain covered by a state retirement system (P.L. 90-486, section 6c) (reference (e)) and 5 U.S.C. 5518 (reference (b)), and retirement contributions withheld for NAF plans (P.L. 101-508) (reference (e)).

B. Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA); i.e., Social Security and/or Medicare (26 U.S.C. 3102, 3121, and 3122) (reference (ad)).

C. Current federal income tax authorized or required by law to be withheld (26 U.S.C. 3402) (reference (ad)). This includes any amounts voluntarily authorized by an employee in excess of the minimum withholding required.

D. Health insurance premiums for the current pay period and, when owed by the employee, for up to four pay periods immediately preceding the current period (5 C.F.R. 550.1104(c)) (reference (l)).

E. Basic group life insurance premiums (5 U.S.C. 8707) (reference (b)) and state life insurance premiums.

F. State income tax authorized, or required by law to be withheld, pursuant to an agreement between the state and the Secretary of the Treasury (5 U.S.C. 5517) (reference (b)).

G. Local income tax authorized, or required by law to be withheld, pursuant to an agreement between the local taxing authority and the Secretary of the Treasury (5 U.S.C. 5520) (reference (b)).

H. Mandatory repayments of indebtedness to the United States based on the age of the debt, not the agency to which it is owed, excluding those permitting IRS levy for prior year federal income taxes, as discussed in subparagraphs 040201.M. and O. (5 U.S.C. 5514, 5522, 5705, and 5724) (reference (b)) and (31 U.S.C. 3716) (reference (d)).

1. The amounts to be withheld and the duration of such withholdings must be determined under the due process provisions and other limitations contained in the law that applies to the particular collection action.

2. When there are multiple deductions required to satisfy various debts to the United States, and an employee's available pay subject to deduction is insufficient for all such deductions, priority shall be determined in accordance with the best interest of the United States. Debts to be collected normally are subject to the statute of limitations. Deductions for those debts for which the statute of limitations would first bar collection normally shall be made before deductions are made for debts under statutes of limitation allowing a longer time before barring collection.

I. Court-ordered garnishments for alimony and child support payments. If gross pay is not sufficient for both payments ordered in a single garnishment, a proportionate share of each payment must be made to the extent gross pay is available (42 U.S.C. 659) (reference (ae)). If there are multiple garnishments for these payments, the garnishments filed earliest are withheld first.

J. Court-ordered bankruptcy payments under 11 U.S.C. 1325 (reference (af)).

K. Court-ordered garnishments for commercial debts (P.L. 103-94) (reference (e)).

L. Optional life insurance premiums (5 U.S.C. 8714a, 8714b, and 8714c) (reference (b)).

M. Voluntary repayments of indebtedness due the U. S. Government in the order specified by the employee. These are separate payments from those set forth in subparagraphs 040201.H. (5 U.S.C. 5525) (reference (b)) and 040201.O. See 31 U.S.C. 3716 (reference (d)).

N. All other voluntary deductions in the following order (5 U.S.C. 5525 and 8432) (reference (b)):

1. Voluntary allotment for alimony and child support;

2. TSP loan allotments;
3. TSP deductions;
4. Employee organization dues;
5. Charity deductions;
6. Savings bond deductions;
7. Military service deposits;
8. National Guard Association of the United States (NGAUS) basic and optional insurance;
9. State-sponsored insurance for National Guard technicians; and
10. Other allotments.

O. IRS levy for prior year federal income taxes. The levy is based upon an employee's net pay and, during the time period it is effective, the affected employee may not increase the number or size of voluntary deductions (26 U.S.C. 6331 and 6334) (reference (ad)).

040202. Available Pay. An employee's available gross pay shall be reduced by the amount of each deduction withheld in the order specified in paragraph 040201. If an employee's remaining available pay, after applying as many deductions in the order of precedence as the pay will allow, is not sufficient to fund entirely the next deduction, then that deduction, if voluntary, will not be made. The full remaining available salary shall be paid the employee as net pay. If that next deduction is mandatory, however,, it will be made to the full extent of the remaining available pay, in which case, net pay will be zero.

0403 RETIREMENT

040301. CSRS and FERS Recordkeeping

A. General. The CSRS and FERS Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (i)) contains the instructions that civilian payroll offices need to carry out their responsibilities under CSRS and for basic retirement benefits under FERS.

B. Coverage. For employees subject to retirement, the SF 50 will reflect the appropriate retirement system to which an employee is subject. See Table 4-1 for pay subject to retirement deductions. Refer to the CSRS and FERS Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (i)) for the current deduction rates for both CSRS and FERS employees as well as the rates for employer contributions.

C. Responsibilities. Civilian payroll offices must fulfill the following general responsibilities relating to CSRS and FERS:

1. Withholding retirement deductions from employees' pay, making the correct agency contribution, and transmitting these monies to the fund.
2. An individual retirement record is prepared and maintained for each employee who is covered by CSRS or FERS.
3. Maintaining post-1956 military deposit accounts.
4. Certifying individual retirement records and related records, and ensuring the correctness of data in these records.
5. Certifying that the civilian payroll office portion of applications for retirement and survivor benefits is accurate and complete.
6. Maintaining retirement control accounts and preparing retirement accounting reports.

D. Communication with the OPM. Forward records of separated employees directly to the OPM Employees Service and Records Center, Boyers, PA, as follows:

1. CSRS Retirement Records
OPM/CSRS
P.O. Box 45
Boyers, PA 16020
2. FERS Retirement Records
OPM/FERS
P.O. Box 200
Boyers, PA 16020

E. Preparation and Maintenance of SF 2806/3100

1. An SF 2806/3100 is maintained for each employee subject to CSRS or FERS. These forms are used by the OPM to adjudicate the retirement rights of a separated employee or survivors. It is important each SF 2806/3100 be correct, complete, clear in every detail, and properly certified. Timely and accurate maintenance of the SF 2806/3100 also expedites closeout procedures when an employee is separated or transferred to the paying jurisdiction of another agency.

★ 2. The civilian payroll office will prepare an SF 2806/3100 for each employee subject to CSRS or FERS to include FERS reemployed annuitants. An SF 2806 will be prepared for CSRS reemployed annuitants who choose to have CSRS deductions withheld. Additionally, an SF 2806 will be prepared at separation for a reemployed CSRS annuitant that qualifies for a supplemental annuity and did not have deductions withheld. Also, prior service in the same agency that is not subject to retirement coverage is recorded on the SF 2806/3100. Examples are shown in the CSRS and FERS Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (i)).

3. Method of Posting

a. The SF 2806/3100 may be posted by an automated data processing system, by typewriter, or handwritten in permanent ink. All entries must remain within the ruled lines on the hard copy form. If necessary, use a second line to complete an entry, but do not post in the margin.

b. Manual corrections to the SF 2806/3100 will be noted by the officer who certifies the form or other responsible person, by lining through an incorrect item, entering the correct data, and initialing the correction.

c. If the "Service History" or "Fiscal Record" becomes filled on one side of the record for a manually maintained record, continue posting on the reverse side by bringing the cumulative salary deductions forward with the annotation "Balance Forward."

4. Civilian Payroll Office Number. Each civilian payroll office has been assigned a civilian Payroll Office Number that has been forwarded to the OPM. This number is used by the OPM to control records and identify the civilian payroll office making and remitting deductions and contributions. This number must be reflected on each retirement record.

5. Maintenance of Service History

a. Post Service History entries as they occur. Obtain the data from the SF 50. The OPM Operating Manual, the Guide to Personnel Data Standards (reference (ag)), contains the standard data elements that shall be used. Examples are shown in the CSRS and FERS Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (i)).

b. Include additional pay to which an employee is regularly entitled and which is a part of basic salary for CSRS/FERS deductions, e.g., firefighter standby premium. Omit postings for additional pay that are received on an irregular or unscheduled basis. Also omit additional pay not subject to CSRS/FERS deductions.

6. Posting to "Fiscal Record"

a. Post the total of retirement deductions withheld during the year in column 6 of the SF 2806/3100 at the end of the calendar year. If no deductions were made because of a nonpay status, enter a zero in column 6. If an employee had more than one retirement deduction rate during the year, enter separate yearly totals for each retirement deduction rate and note the deduction percentage rate for each entry in column 8.

b. If calendar year deductions entered in column 6 include deductions from additional pay not included in the base pay posted in the Service History, place an asterisk after the amount in column 6. Place an asterisk and footnote additional pay status or night shift pay in the lower left corner of the form. If calendar year deductions are annotated additional pay status or night shift pay, show in column 8 the number of LWOP hours for each hourly rate during the year. All LWOP must be shown. If none, show "No Leave Without Pay."

7. Entries in "Remarks" Columns. In addition to the "Service History" and "Fiscal Record," record the following information on the SF 2806/3100 under "Remarks," column 4 and 8, as appropriate.

a. Enter periods of LWOP or furlough of more than 6 months in a calendar year. Enter LWOP of more than 3 calendar days for reemployed annuitants.

b. For employees serving on an intermittent basis without a regular tour of duty, enter the number of days in a pay status during each calendar year. If the employee is paid at an hourly rate and the number of days on which work was performed cannot be determined, enter the number of hours in a pay status during each calendar year.

c. For employees serving on a part-time basis with a regular tour of duty administratively determined in advance, enter the tour of duty (e.g., 4 hours a day or 5 days a week). Refer to section 81A2.2-1C in the CSRS and FERS Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (i)) for additional information.

d. Enter the last date on which the employee was in a pay status, unused sick leave, and the service computation date annotated as "Service Computation Date (month, day, year)" when an employee retires or dies.

e. For piecework employees, record the aggregate earnings and number of days of LWOP, if any, during each calendar year.

f. Record periods of employment under the Social Security Act Amendments of 1965.

8. Sick Leave. If an employee dies, retires, or elects to convert to FERS, enter the amount of unused sick leave in column 4 of the SF 2806/3100 as follows:

a. If there is a minus or zero sick leave balance, enter "No unused sick leave balance."

b. If the employee has unused sick leave at the time of separation, enter the number of hours and cite "5 U.S.C. Chapter 63."

c. For employees with uncommon tours of duty, enter the number of hours of unused sick leave, with a notation showing there was an uncommon tour of duty, and the date the sick leave, if used, would have expired. Cite "5 U.S.C. Chapter 63."

★ d. If the SF 2806/3100 is for an application of disability retirement, post "Will use all sick leave" or "No unused sick leave." Only show sick leave on the SF 3100 if there is a CSRS component. When the application for disability retirement has been approved, post, if applicable, unused sick leave balance on the final SF 2806/3100 to be forwarded to the OPM.

9. Health Benefits Data. SFs 2806/3100 forwarded to the OPM for regular retirement, disability retirement, or deceased employees must be annotated with the status of health benefits in column 4 of the record. Examples are shown in the CSRS and FERS Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (i)).

10. FEGLI must be shown on the SF 2806/3100 as follows, selecting the appropriate statement shown in parentheses.

a. "Basic life: Elected (75%), (50%), (No) reduction."

b. "Standard Optional Insurance: (declined), (eligible to continue, coverage began (date)), (not eligible to continue)."

c. "Additional Optional Insurance: (declined), (eligible to continue, coverage began (date)), (not eligible to continue)."

d. "Family Optional Insurance: (declined), (eligible to continue, coverage began (date)), (not eligible to continue)."

11. Disposition of SFs 2806/3100

★ a. Transfers between civilian payroll offices in the same DoD Component, e.g., from one DoD (code 97) civilian payroll office to another DoD Component civilian payroll office:

(1) If the employee is covered by CSRS, complete the SF 2806 and transmit to the new civilian payroll office using an SF 2807. This type of transfer is commonly referred to as an "Intra-Agency Transfer."

(2) If the employee is covered by FERS, complete the SF 3100 and transmit the form to the OPM at the address cited in subparagraph 040301.D.2. using an SF 3103.

★ b. Transfers between civilian payroll offices not in the same Component, e.g., from a DoD civilian payroll office to a Department of Commerce payroll office (an "Inter-Agency Transfer"):

(1) If the employee is covered by CSRS, complete the SF 2806 and transmit it to the OPM at the address in subparagraph 040301.D.1. using an SF 2807.

(2) If the employee is covered by FERS, complete the SF 3100 record and transmit it to the OPM at the address in subparagraph 040301.D.2. using an SF 3103.

c. Employee Death. Send the SF 2806/3100 using an SF 2807/3103 to the OPM within 5 days of the date of the computation of final pay. Enter in column 4 of the SF 2806/3100 the service computation date "SCD (month, day, year)," FEHB carrier control number and enrollment code, "unused sick leave (enter hours) 5 U.S.C. Chapter 63" and pay ceased (date). The deceased employee's records and associated applications are to be received by the OPM within 30 days of the date of death.

d. Application for Refund of Retirement

(1) Upon leaving federal employment, an employee may request a refund of retirement deductions by submitting an SF 2802/3106 (Application for Refund of Retirement Deductions).

(2) If the request for refund is received at the same time as the notification of the separation, attach the SF 2802/3106 to the SF 2806/3100 and submit to the OPM within 10 calendar days after the ending date of the pay period in which the employee was separated. Annotate in column 4 of the SF 2807/3103 that the SF 2802/3106 is attached.

(3) If the employee completes the SF 2802/3106 within 30 days after the separation date and the SF 2802/3106 is received in the civilian payroll office after the SF 2806/3100 is transmitted to the OPM, send the SF 2802/3106 to the OPM. Annotate the SF 2802/3106 showing the date and number of the SF 2807/3103 on which the SF 2806/3100 was transmitted.

(4) If the employee has been separated more than 30 days, he or she must file the SF 2802/3106 directly with the OPM.

e. Disability Retirement Separations. Advance closeout of the SF 2806/3100 is required when an application for disability retirement is received from a current employee.

(1) Annotate the SF 2806/3100 as follows:

(a) Add the words: "Preliminary Disability Retirement" in the top margin of the SF 2806/3100.

(b) Post retirement deductions to the close of the previous calendar year.

(c) Enter the date the application for disability retirement was made in the "Service History."

(d) Show the pay status of the employee, as applicable: "Employee in duty status," "Leave with pay will end (date)," or "Pay stopped (date)." Also, enter in column 4 of the SF 2806/3100 the service computation date as follows: "SCD (month, day, year)."

(e) On each preliminary SF 2806/3100 submitted with an application for disability retirement, enter in column 4 the status of health insurance and life insurance. Examples are shown in the CSRS and FERS Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (i)).

(f) Show the unused sick leave data in column 4 of the SF 2806/3100 and enter "Will use all sick leave" or "No unused sick leave." In addition enter the projected date sick leave pay will terminate.

(2) Prepare a new SF 2806/3100 to record retirement deductions withheld after sending the preliminary SF 2806/3100 to the OPM. Add the words "Final-Disability Retirement" above the date of birth. Enter "APP FOR DIS RET EXC" and annotate the date the SF 2801/3107 (Application for Immediate Retirement) was executed on the "Service History" side of the SF 2806/3100. In addition, add a comment to reference the "Preliminary Retirement SF 2806/3100" on which calendar year deductions were reported to the OPM, plus the date and number of the SF 2807/3103 that transmitted the records. Post all actions that occur after submission of the SF 2801/3107 to this record.

(3) Prepare the SF 2807/3103 and send the preliminary SF 2806/3100 with the SF 2801/3107 to the applicable address listed in subparagraph 040301.D. within 5 calendar days after receipt of the application. Annotate column 4 of the SF 2807/3103 with "Preliminary Disability" and the date established by the HRO.

(4) On approval of the application, complete the final SF 2806/3100. Post retirement deductions withheld after the Preliminary SF 2806/3100 was sent. Show the effective date of the disability retirement and the date that pay ceased on the SF 2806/3100. Send the final SF 2806/3100 to the OPM within 5 calendar days after the date of the employee's final paycheck.

(5) Continue using the final SF 2806/3100 if the employee's application is denied. The OPM will not return the Preliminary SF 2806/3100. Annotate in column 4 of the SF 2806/3100 denial of the disability and the date.

f. Nondisability Retirement Separations. Send the SF 2806/3100 with the SF 2801/3107 with attached CSC Form 1084 (Information in Support of Civil Service Retirement Application) to the applicable address, listed in subparagraph 040301.D., within 10 calendar days after the ending date of the pay period in which the employee retired.

(1) Use the OPM checklists to ensure complete and accurate processing. Submit the completed and signed checklist to the OPM with the retirement package.

(2) Post retirement deductions through the date of retirement on the "Fiscal Record" of the SF 2806/3100.

(3) Enter the type of nondisability retirement in the "Service History," i.e., "Optional Service," "Mandatory Service," or "Discontinued Service."

(4) Enter the date pay stopped in column 4 of the SF 2806/3100. This will normally be the date of retirement; however, if the employee's pay status ends before the retirement date, enter the earlier date. Enter the "SCD (month, day, year)."

g. Service credit deposits for Post-1956 military service. Any individual first employed in a position subject to the CSRS Act (reference (ac)) on or after October 1, 1982, will receive credit for post-1956 military service only if he or she deposits a sum equal to 7 percent of the military basic pay received for post-1956 military service. Individuals who were first employed under CSRS before October 1, 1982, will have the option of making deposits for post-1956 military service and avoid a possible annuity reduction. A FERS employee may receive credit for post-1956 military service under FERS rules only if he or she deposits a sum equal to 3 percent of the military basic pay he or she earned during the period of military service, plus interest.

★ (1) Payment of military service credit deposits may be made either by cash payment or biweekly payroll deductions. Installment payments must be in whole dollar amounts not less than $25 per pay period, except for the last payment that may be in any amount to complete repayment. Unpaid balances are subject to interest calculations, and the OPM will issue annual guidance concerning the rate of interest to be used. Payments other than payroll deductions will be submitted directly to the disbursing office that supports the civilian payroll office operation in the form of a negotiable instrument. These payments must be submitted in time to be received by the disbursing officer by the close of business on the last regular business day before the interest accrual date. Therefore, if a deposit is sent by mail, the date of the postmark does not constitute the date of payment. Interest will be computed on the unpaid balance on the employee's interest accrual date.

(a) CSRS. Interest begins to accrue on deposits on October 1, 1985, or 2 years after an individual is first employed (or reemployed after a period of military service) in a position subject to CSRS. The interest accrual date (IAD) is the date each year when accrued interest is added to the amount owed by the employee. The initial IAD is the date 1 year after the end of the interest free grace period. Thereafter, the IAD falls on the anniversary of the first IAD until the deposit is paid in full.

(b) FERS. For employees first employed prior to January 1, 1987, interest started to accrue on January 1, 1989. Therefore, the initial IAD for these employees is January 1, 1990. For employees first employed on or after January 1, 1987, interest begins to accrue 2 years from the date the individual was first employed subject to FERS. Therefore, the initial IAD for these employees is one year after the two-year interest free grace period ends.

(2) Record payments on the OPM Form 1514 (Military Deposit Worksheet). In addition, a separate SF 2806/3100 will also be maintained for Post-1956 military deposits. The SF 2806/3100 Service History should carry the annotation "Military Service History and Deposit Record."

(3) Upon retirement, close out the SF 2806/3100 when military service credit deposits are complete and annotate in the "Remarks" column "Deposit paid in full." Submit the SFs 2806/3100 along with the OPM Form 1514 and the SF 2803/3108 to the OPM via a regular SF 2807/3103.

(4) Close out and submit the SF 2806/3100 to the OPM via a regular SF 2807/3103 in the event an employee resigns, retires, or dies prior to completing the military service credit deposits. Annotate the SF 2806/3100 in the "Remarks" column with either "Paid in full" or "Partially paid," depending upon action taken by the employee or survivor. Notify the employee or survivor of the intended close out and provide the opportunity to complete payment prior to submitting to the OPM. Advise the employee or survivor that refunds of military service credit deposits may be made only by the OPM.

(5) Close out and send the SF 2806 for military deposits to the gaining civilian payroll office when an employee transfers to another civilian payroll office within the same Component. When the transfer is to another civilian payroll office, but not in the same Component, close out the SF 2806 and submit it to the OPM. A FERS post-1956 SF 3100 is sent to the OPM together with the regular SF 3100 for all transfers to another civilian payroll office including transfers within the same Component.

F. Safeguarding the SF 2806/3100. SFs 2806/3100 not maintained in a mechanized manner must be stored in secured fireproof containers. Manually maintained SFs 2806/3100 must be microfilmed/microfiched after the annual posting, and stored separately from the record itself in accordance with the OPM requirements.

G. Register of Separations and Transfers

1. The SF 2807 is used to control and transmit SFs 2806 to other civilian payroll offices and the OPM. The SF 3103 is used to control and transmit SFs 3100 to the OPM.

2. Series Designations. Maintain two separate series of SFs 2807 transmittal numbers depending on whether the SF 2807 is transmitted to another civilian payroll office or to the OPM. Each series is numbered consecutively throughout the calendar year, and the first SF 2807 prepared in a new calendar year will begin with the number 1. SFs 2807 transmitted to another civilian payroll office will be designated Intra-Agency (IA). Those transmitted to the OPM will be designated "OPM." For example, the first SF 2807 transmitted to the OPM for calendar year 1998 will be designated "OPM-98-1," while the first SF 2807 submitted to another civilian payroll office will be designated "IA-98-1."

3. Because all SFs 3100 are transmitted to the OPM, it is necessary to maintain only one series of transmittal numbers for SFs 3103. These forms must also be consecutively numbered throughout the calendar year, and the first SF 3103 transmitted to the OPM in a calendar year will begin with the number 1. All SFs 3103 will be designated "FERS." For example the first SF 3103 submitted to the OPM for calendar year 1998 will be designated "FERS-98-1."

4. More than one SF 2806/3100 may be submitted with each SF 2807/3103. However, the transmittal of completed retirement records should not be delayed while other records are being prepared for submission.

5. Copies Required

a. OPM Series. Prepare and submit the original to the OPM. Retain one copy in the civilian payroll office's files. An additional copy may be required according to the applicable DFAS Center instructions.

b. IA Transfers. Prepare and submit the original and one copy to the gaining civilian payroll office. Retain one copy for the losing civilian payroll office's files. An additional copy may be required according to the supporting DFAS Center instructions.

c. FERS Series. Prepare and submit the original to the OPM. Retain one copy for the civilian payroll office's files. An additional copy may be required according to the supporting DFAS Center instructions.

6. Filing the SF 2807/3103. File SFs 2807 received from other civilian payroll offices in a separate file in order of receipt by calendar year. Maintain a separate file for "IA" series of SFs 2807 forwarded to other civilian payroll offices. Maintain a separate file for "OPM" series of SFs 2807 forwarded to the OPM. Maintain a separate file for "FERS" series of SFs 3103 forwarded to the OPM. These files shall be in numerical order for each calendar year.

H. Adjustments

1. Current Employees

a. Erroneous Deductions. If an overdeduction was made for retirement from the pay of a current employee, make an adjustment during the next payroll cycle. Decrease the current retirement deductions from the employee's current pay period earnings, and make a corresponding adjustment in the employer's contributions.

b.. Deductions Not Withheld When Required. If an underdeduction occurred, or if deductions were not made for a period when an employee should have been covered by CSRS/FERS, that employee must be afforded rights under due process to repay the overpayment. If deductions were made for a NAF retirement plan when deductions are required for CSRS/FERS, adjust the NAF retirement deductions and contributions and Social Security contributions and deductions in the next pay period. These amounts should then be offset against the amounts that should have been submitted for CSRS/FERS to determine the net amount that must be withheld from the employee's current period pay.

2. Separated Employees

a. Overdeductions

★ (1) When an excess amount has been deducted from a former employee's pay, and the SF 2806/3100 has not yet been forwarded to the OPM, the amount is to be corrected in the current calendar year and the correct total accumulative deductions posted in columns 6 and 7 respectively on the SF 2806/3100 prior to forwarding to OPM.

(2) If the overdeduction is found after the SF 2806/3100 was sent to the OPM, an SF 2806-1 (Notice of Correction of Individual Retirement Record for CSRS Employees) or an SF 3101 (Notice of Correction of Individual Retirement Record for FERS Employees) must be prepared and submitted to the OPM.

(3) If an overdeduction from a former employee's pay results in excess employer contributions, the amount of the excess should be deducted from the next pay period's SF 2812 report.

b. Underdeductions

(1) When an insufficient amount has been deducted from a former employee's pay, and the SF 2806/3100 has not yet been submitted to the OPM, note the amount of the deficiency in column 8 of the SF 2806/3100. If the SF 2806/3100 has been submitted, another SF 2806/3100 must be prepared and annotated "Supplemental" in the upper left margin.

(2) When an underdeduction from a former employee's pay results in insufficient employer contributions, the insufficient amount will normally be included in the SF 2812 report for the next pay period.

c. In the cases of subparagraphs 040301.H.2.a. and b, an SF 1081 (Voucher and Schedule of Withdrawals and Credits) shall to be prepared and attached to the SF 2812 for accounting purposes.

d. Service History Corrections. Corrections to the SF 2806/3100 should be made on the retirement record if the error is detected before the record is submitted to the OPM. If the error is detected after the record is sent to the OPM, prepare an SF 2806-1 or SF 3101.

3. Transferred Employees

a. Overdeductions

★ (1) When an excess amount has been deducted from a transferred employee's pay, and the SF 2806/3100 has not been forwarded, the amount is to be corrected in the current calendar year and the correct total accumulative deductions posted in columns 6 and 7, respectively, on the SF 2806/3100 prior to forwarding.

★ (2) Prepare and submit an SF 2806-1 to the gaining civilian payroll office if the overdeduction is found after the SF 2806 was forwarded to another civilian payroll office within the Department.

(3) When an overdeduction from a transferred employee's pay results in excess employer contributions, deduct the amount of excess employer contributions from the SF 2812 report for the next pay period.

b. Underdeductions. Note the amount of underdeductions in column 8 of the SF 2806 when an insufficient amount has been deducted from a former employee's pay, and the SF 2806 has not yet been forwarded to another civilian payroll office within the same Component. Prepare and forward a supplemental SF 2806 to the gaining civilian payroll office if the SF 2806 has previously been submitted.

c. Service History Corrections. Correct the "Service History" portion of the SF 2806 if the error is detected before the record is sent to another civilian payroll office within the same Component. Prepare and submit an SF 2806-1 to the gaining civilian payroll office if the error is detected after the record is submitted.

d. Retroactive Payments

(1) Report CSRS/FERS deductions withheld from a retroactive salary payment for a separated employee by preparing a supplemental SF 2806/3100, and forwarding it to the OPM using an SF 2807/3103.

(2) Include CSRS/FERS deductions withheld from a retroactive salary payment for a current employee in the current year salary deduction on the SF 2806/3100 being maintained for the employee.

(3) Report CSRS/FERS deductions withheld from a retroactive salary payment for an employee transferred to another civilian payroll office within the same Component by preparing a supplemental SF 2806/3100. Send the SF 2806 to the gaining civilian payroll office using an SF 2807. The SF 3100 will be sent to the OPM using an SF 3103.

I. Availability of Retirement Funds for Loans, Garnishments, and Indebtedness

1. Loans and Garnishments

a. An employee may not borrow from the retirement fund or assign money credited to his or her account as security for a loan or for any other purpose. An employee's retirement account is not subject to any execution of levies, attachments, garnishments, or other legal processes except as follows:

(1) The OPM will comply with a garnishment or attachment order issued to enforce child support or alimony obligation.

(2) The OPM will comply with the assignment of retirement benefits in a state court order, decree, or community property settlement agreement in connection with the divorce, annulment of marriage, or legal separation of a federal employee or retiree.

2. Indebtedness

a. Conditions governing collection for indebtedness.

(1) An employee's contributions to the retirement fund may be offset to recover any valid debt to the U.S. Government.

(2) All of the following conditions must be met before an offset of these contributions may be made:

(a) The employee has been separated.

(b) The civilian payroll office has exhausted all other means of recovery.

(c) The employee has filed an application for refund or for a monthly civil service annuity benefit.

(d) The creditor agency has given the employee an opportunity to request reconsideration of the collection including an oral hearing, waiver, or compromise.

(3) If the employee dies before becoming entitled to annuity benefits, retirement fund contributions may be offset when an application for lump sum benefits is filed.

b. Collection procedures

(1) Before a civilian payroll office can request the OPM to recover a debt for a former employee from the retirement fund, the employee must be notified in writing of the following:

(a) The reason for, and amount of, the debt;

(b) The date repayment must be made, (normally not more than 30 days after the date of the notice);

(c) The intention to collect the debt by offset from the retirement fund unless the employee has entered into a repayment agreement with the agency;

(d) An opportunity to request reconsideration of the decision to collect the indebtedness, including waiver or compromise; and

(e) An explanation of the employee's right to an oral hearing.

(2) Only one written demand containing the above information is required to be sent to the employee. If there is no reason to believe that the employee has not received the demand notice, the civilian payroll office has the right to judge the claim based on evidence in its possession.

(3) An SF 2805 (Request for Recovery of Debt Due the United States) will be prepared, and the civilian payroll office will send Part 1, 2, and 4 of the SF 2805 to the OPM. Part 3 will be retained in the civilian payroll office. See section 0408 for instructions for health benefits indebtedness.

(4) If a debt has been pursued to judgment, written demand need not be made. A copy of the court order must be attached to the SF 2805.

(5) Do not retain the SF 2806/3100 pending completion of action necessary to prepare and submit an SF 2805. If an SF 2805 will be submitted at a later date, the SF 2806/3100 should be annotated in column 8, "Remarks," of the existence of the debt, the amount (if known), and the reason for the debt. If the exact amount of the debt is unknown, note in column 8 of the SF 2806/3100 that the employee is indebted in an unknown amount.

J. Entries on the Payroll Voucher. Employee deductions and employer contributions shall be reported separately on the DD Form 592, Part I - Payroll Summary. Civilian payroll offices reporting to the OPM via hard-copy SF 2812 shall cite the OPM deposit fund account 24X8135.8 for the deductions and contributions on Part I. Civilian payroll offices reporting to the OPM via the Retirement Insurance Transfer System (RITS) shall report deductions and contributions on Part I, but shall not cite the OPM deposit fund account. Employer contributions shall be charged to the appropriation(s) from which the employee's salary is paid and shall be reported on Part II, Accounting Classification.

K. Pay Period Transmission of Deductions and Contributions. Deductions and contributions for CSRS and FERS are reported to the OPM each pay period using procedures described in subparagraph 090203.C.

040302. Contributions to State Retirement Programs for National Guard Technicians

A. General. The Department will negotiate agreements with states for federal employees' contributions to a state or state-sponsored contributory retirement program; and cooperate and process agreements with each state requesting a withholding agreement covering technicians of the National Guard for a state-sponsored retirement program.

B. Procedures

1. P.L. 90-486, section 6 (reference (e)) requires technicians who elected to continue coverage under a state retirement plan to make such an election by January 1, 1969. If a technician filed a valid election to remain covered by an employee retirement system sponsored by a state, the U.S. Government may pay the amount of the employer's contribution and withhold the employee's designated share for deposit to the state program that becomes due for the period beginning on or after January 1, 1969.

2. The federal share of payments, including employer's taxes imposed by 26 U.S.C. 3111 (reference (ad)), may not exceed the amount that the employing agency otherwise would contribute on behalf of the technician to the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund under 5 U.S.C. 8334 (reference (b)) and 32 C.F.R. 79.5(b) (reference (ah)).

3. A person covered under a state-sponsored program shall not earn credits concurrently toward retirement or receive an annuity under 5 U.S.C. 8331-8345 (reference (b)).

4. A person who retires under a state retirement program shall not be eligible for any rights, benefits, or privileges to which retired civilian employees of the U.S. Government may be entitled.

5. Agreements with states shall comply with the standards contained in subparagraph 040302.D.

C. Responsibilities

1. The Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) shall establish policy and procedures regarding state retirement programs for National Guard technicians and shall update agreements with authorized state officials for the Secretary of Defense. This authority may be redelegated. See 32 C.F.R. 79.6 (reference (ah)).

2. The Secretary of the Army and the Secretary of the Air Force shall coordinate and implement the provisions of this chapter, and designate the National Guard Bureau as the responsible agent for maintaining existing agreements with states and for coordinating administrative actions, to include preparing updated agreements.

D. Standards for Contribution Agreements with State Retirement Programs for National Guard Technicians. Each agreement between the Secretary of Defense and a Governor, or other authorized state official--for employer and employee contributions to a state retirement program for National Guard technicians--shall be completed within 120 days of receipt of a state request, provided that:

1. State law provides for payment of employee contributions to a state-sponsored employee retirement system by withholding sums from the employee's compensation and making payment to the official designated to receive sums withheld.

2. The program is limited to technicians of the National Guard.

3. Each agreement is consistent with 32 C.F.R. Part 79 (reference (ah)) and contains a clause that subjects the agreement to any statutory amendments occurring after the effective date of the agreement.

4. The agreement shall comply with the requirements of state law that specifies who is eligible for such state-sponsored retirement programs.

5. The commencement date for contributions must be specified.

6. Contribution procedures, filing requirements, and payment instructions conform, when practicable, to the usual fiscal practices of the Department.

7. The agreement does not impose requirements on the Department that are more burdensome than those requirements imposed on departments, agencies, or subdivisions of the state concerned. Except to the extent that an agreement may be inconsistent with 32 C.F.R. Part 79 (reference (ah)), the agreement shall continue in full force and effect until amended, modified, or terminated by appropriate authority. See 32 C.F.R. 79.7(g) and (h) (reference (ah)).

040303. Civil Service Employees Covered By Retirement Systems for Nonappropriated Fund Employees

A. The Portability of Benefits for Nonappropriated Fund Employees Act of 1990, P.L. 101-508, subsection 7202 (reference (e)) permitted certain NAF employees to retain coverage under a NAF retirement plan during employment in a position that normally would be covered by CSRS or FERS. An employee who elects to remain covered by a NAF retirement plan is excluded from coverage under CSRS or FERS for all subsequent periods of employment including periods of service as a reemployed annuitant. Refer to 5 C.F.R. 831.201(h), 831.204, 842.102, 842.104(g), and 842.106 (reference (l)) for additional information.

★ B. In accordance with P.L. 101-508 (reference (e)), the opportunity to retain coverage under a NAF retirement plan is limited to NAF employees who move after December 31, 1986, to positions within the Department or the Coast Guard which are covered under CSRS or FERS. Section 1043 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 1996, P.L. 104-106 (reference (e)), broadens the definition of a qualifying move under P.L. 101-508 (reference (e)), for the purposes of remaining in the employee's prior retirement plan following a move to or from a NAF position. It also allows certain FERS and NAF employees who had a qualifying move after December 31, 1965, and before August 10, 1996, to combine all their service, both NAF and CSRS, toward a single retirement benefit.

C. Employees who elect to retain coverage under a NAF retirement system will have block 30 of the SF 50 annotated as "5-Other." The "Remarks," block of the SF 50 will state that the employee has elected to retain coverage under a NAF retirement system.

★ D. Employee retirement deductions, employer contributions, contributions to applicable 401(k) plans, and loan repayments will be made biweekly and submitted to the appropriate NAF employee benefit system. FICA shall be withheld and reported in accordance with current guidance of the Department of the Treasury.

E. There currently are six NAF retirement plans. Employees who elect to retain NAF coverage will continue to be covered by the plan in effect at the time of election.

★ 040304. Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences (USUHS) Faculty Retirement. All full-time civilian faculty members of the USUHS with an appointment of more than 1 year are covered under the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association and College Retirement Equities Fund, which is a tax deferred retirement plan. A total of 15 percent of the employee's base salary is collected for the retirement plan. The employer (USUHS) contribution is 10 percent and the employee's deduction is 5 percent. Funds will be directly remitted to TIAA/CREF, 730 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10017. Off-line collections may be deposited into and disbursed from deposit fund --X6875 and remitted to address above.

0404 FEDERAL INSURANCE CONTRIBUTIONS ACT (FICA) TAX

040401. Authority. The FICA (reference (ad)) states that all civilian employees of the U.S. Government are eligible to receive FICA benefits. See paragraph 040406. for employees who are exempt from Social Security and/or Medicare withholdings. Wages for covered employment are taxable regardless of the worker's age or whether the worker is receiving Social Security benefits. For purposes of this Regulation, taxes withheld under FICA (reference (ad)) will be referred to as Social Security and Medicare taxes. The term FICA applies to total deductions for both Social Security and Medicare.

A. Generally, civilian federal employees are covered by Social Security and Medicare or Medicare only, based on the type of appointment. Coverage is determined by the HRO and is reflected on the SF 50. Social Security and/or Medicare taxes are withheld on the same entitlements, but are subject to different wage limitations. The guidance herein applies to both Social Security and Medicare deductions. The deductions are shown separately on the Form W-2. For purposes of determining the maximum wages subject to Social Security and/or Medicare withholding, the Department is considered one employer. Effective with the first pay period in calendar year 1983, federal employees under CSRS became subject to Medicare withholding.

B. Effective January 1, 1984, new federal employees were subject to Social Security and Medicare withholding as well as retirement deductions directed by the OPM. If an employee transfers between DoD Components, the gaining civilian payroll office must consider those Social Security and/or Medicare taxes already deducted by the losing civilian payroll office in order not to exceed the maximum Social Security and/or Medicare tax liability due for that payroll year. When an employee transfers, include Social Security and/or Medicare year-to-date wages, and Social Security and/or Medicare year-to-date taxes in the "Remarks," section of the SF 1150.

040402. Compensation Subject to Social Security and/or Medicare

A. Current Earnings and Allowances

1. For employees covered under FICA, generally any compensation subject to federal income tax (without regard to exemption status) is subject to Social Security and Medicare deductions (see Table 4-1). Employees covered under CSRS are subject only to Medicare withholding. The basis for Social Security and/or Medicare tax deductions is the employee's gross pay for each pay period.

2. In areas outside the United States, the gross amount upon which Social Security and/or Medicare deduction is computed includes the Canal Zone tropical differential, foreign post differentials, and nonforeign post differentials.

B. Back Pay Awards. Employee and employer portions of Social Security and/or Medicare taxes computed for back pay awards should be figured at the rate in effect for the periods covered by the corrective action.

040403. Tax Amounts. The tax rate percentage and wage base limitation for Social Security and/or Medicare taxes require separate computation and reporting.

A. Employee Deductions. For each pay period, deduct the applicable Social Security and/or Medicare tax from the gross pay of each employee covered by Social Security and/or Medicare. Discontinue these deductions when the employee's earnings reach the applicable maximum limitation. Refer to IRS Circular E (reference (h)) for the yearly update. Maximum limitations for prior years are listed in Table 4-2.

B. Employer's Social Security and/or Medicare Tax. The U.S. Government must pay an employer's contribution equal to the same rate used for employees.

C. Official Social Security and Medicare Tax Tables. Tax tables are published in IRS Circular E (reference (h)).

040404. Voucher Entry. For each pay period, enter the employees' deductions and the employer's contributions for Social Security and/or Medicare taxes on the appropriate line of the DD Form 592 (Payroll for Personal Services-Certification and Summary). The employer's portion is charged to the same appropriation(s) as the employee's salary.

040405. Adjustments. Adjustments due to errors and cancellation of paychecks are outlined in section 0808.

040406. Employees Exempt from Social Security and/or Medicare. The following employees are exempt from Social Security and/or Medicare deductions:

A. Noncitizens employed outside the United States, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico;

B. Interns, student nurses, and other student employees of federal hospitals (except medical and dental interns and residents) (26 U.S.C. 3121(b)(6)) (reference (ad));

C. Employees hired temporarily to handle fires, storms, earthquakes, floods, and other similar emergencies and disasters (26 U.S.C. 3121(b)(6)) (reference (ad));

D. Civilian chaplains. If a civilian chaplain wants to be covered under Social Security and/or Medicare, he or she must apply as a self-employed person, or if the order in which the chaplain belongs has made an election for its members to be covered by Social Security and/or Medicare, then the chaplain may also be covered by Social Security and/or Medicare;

E. Employees of instrumentalities of the U.S. Government that are specifically exempt from Social Security and/or Medicare by law (26 U.S.C. 3112) (reference (ad)); and

F. Title 32 National Guard technicians in Massachusetts and Nevada who elected to remain in the State Employees Retirement System.

040407. Panama Social Security System. All non-U.S. citizens employed by the Panama Canal Commission, after September 30, 1979, are covered by the Panama Social Security System (Social Security Provisions of the Agreement in Implementation of Article III of the Panama Canal Treaty). The employee's withholding is 7.25 percent of salary, and the employer's contribution is 12.45 percent of salary. Non-U.S. citizens covered by CSRS prior to October 1, 1979, who are employed by the Panama Canal Company or Canal Zone Government and were covered by CSRS, will continue to be covered under CSRS until termination.

0405 FEDERAL INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING040501. General

A. Withholding Authority for Federal Income Tax. The Internal Revenue Code, 26 U.S.C. 3402 (reference (ad)), requires each federal agency to withhold federal income taxes from wages paid to employees. The current IRS Circular E (reference (h)) summarizes the employer's responsibilities and contains rates and tables prescribed by the Treasury Department. Title 26, U.S.C., section 3306 (c)(6), (reference (ad)) states that services performed in the employ of the United States are exempt from the tax imposed under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act.

B. Employer's Identification Number (EIN). An EIN is assigned by the cognizant District Director of the IRS to identify the tax accounts of employers. Only one identification number per civilian payroll office is authorized for use in reporting all federal and Social Security and/or Medicare taxes. Note that the federal taxes deducted for PCS are not reported under the civilian payroll EIN. The civilian payroll office has the responsibility for the collection and reporting of federal and Social Security and/or Medicare taxes using an Form 941. The current IRS Circular E (reference (h)) should be used for guidance to withhold and report federal income tax and Social Security and/or Medicare.

C. Method of Withholding. The two most common methods for withholding tax provided by the IRS are the percentage method and the wage-bracket method. Refer to IRS Circular E (reference (h)) for information on these two methods.

★ 040502. Form W-4. Statutory deductions for federal income taxes will be supported by Form W-4 (Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate) from each employee stating the number of exemptions claimed or extra withholding authorized. Forms W-4 may be obtained from the nearest HRO or CSR. An employee may also be allowed to process tax changes through an automated computer program by using a personal identification code.

★ A. Withholding Allowances. An employee completes, at the time of entrance on duty, a Form W-4, and any additional forms required for withholding state or local taxes. The number of allowances claimed and the employee's marital status provides the basis to compute federal income tax withholding (FITW). The withholding of additional income tax in a fixed amount is permitted when the employee requests such withholding in either paper or electronic form. If an employee fails to submit a Form W-4, assume the employee is single and has no withholding allowances. Once filed, a Form W-4 remains in effect until the employee furnishes an amended certificate.

1. Permissible allowances are described on the Form W-4. Determining the accuracy of the number of allowances claimed is not the responsibility of the civilian payroll office.

2. The number of allowances claimed on the Form W-4 may be different than the number of exemptions claimed on the employee's tax return. Employees may use the worksheet on the Form W-4 to determine if they qualify for claiming extra allowances.

B. Additional withholding allowances, as computed through use of the table on Form W-4, may be claimed. An employee who wants to increase the amount of tax withheld may reduce the number of exemptions to which entitled. If an increase only in federal tax withheld is desired, the employee may request an additional amount be withheld on Form W-4, in whole dollar amounts, regardless of the number of exemptions claimed. The amount of withholding remains in effect until changed by the employee.

★ C. Reporting Certain Forms W-4 to the IRS. Civilian payroll offices must report to the IRS if certain Forms W-4 are received. This information will be accumulated by the CSR and sent to the civilian payroll office to be submitted with the Form 941, for each quarter. The Forms W-4 that are required to be reported include:

1. Any forms received with more than 10 allowances claimed.

2. Any form received from an employee who claims exemption from income tax, but is expected to earn more than $400 in a biweekly pay period. The reports must contain the following information: EIN; name and address of the civilian payroll office; and employee's name, SSN, and address.

D. The civilian payroll office will submit a copy of the Form W-4 currently in effect (or make the original available for inspection), when a written request is received from the IRS.

040503. Allowance Status Change. If an employee submits a new Form W-4, change the withholding effective the next pay period. If an employee claims the Form W-4 on file is erroneous and submits a corrected one, no retroactive adjustment is permitted.

040504. Compensation Subject to Income Tax. The general rule is that all wages and differentials are taxable, and all allowances are not taxable. See Table 4-1 for taxability on specific types of compensations.

040505. Withholding Allowances

A. Withholding Not Required. An employer is not required to deduct and withhold any federal income tax from wages paid to an employee who has certified to the employer (as prescribed by IRS) that the employee incurred no income tax liability for the preceding year and that the employee expects no liability for the current year. The employee uses the Form W-4 to make this certification. The employee must file a Form W-4 each year by February 15 to claim exemption from withholding.

B. Retained Copies of Forms 941 (Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return) and Related Reports. As forms are superseded or become obsolete, remove them from the active file and place in an inactive file. Treasury Department forms (e.g., Forms 941 or Forms W-4) do not have to be sent to the IRS District Director. However, the civilian payroll office must show, on request that the information is on file as a supporting record.

040506. Tax Tables and Tax Periods. Refer to IRS Circular E (reference (h)) for the current tax tables or applicable payroll system tax package.

040507. Adjustment in Tax Withheld

A. Undercollection. If no tax (or less than the correct amount) is withheld due to a computing error, instruct the employee to refund the overpayment in accordance with due process procedures (refer to section 0803 for procedures). If the employee is separated, refer to section 0804 for procedures.

B. Overcollection. If more than the correct amount of tax is deducted, refund the overcollection to the employee if within the same payroll year. Refund on the next payroll voucher, if possible, or use SF 1049 (Public Voucher for Refunds). Make an appropriate entry on the individual pay record. Include the amount refunded and the disbursing voucher number. If a Form W-2 was issued, prepare a corrected form as stated in IRS Circular E (reference (h)). Adjust overcollection of taxes on the current payroll. Enter the amount refunded, less the current pay period's tax withholdings on the pay record. Increase the normal net pay amount accordingly and note the reason for the adjustment on the pay record.

040508. Tax Payments - Payment of Withheld Tax

★ A. Tax Collection. All FITW, Social Security and Medicare taxes collected by the civilian payroll office will be directly remitted to IRS through FEDTAX, except for off-line payments that may be deposited in account --X6875.

B. Accounting. The civilian payroll office making the tax collection is responsible for preparing the Form W-2 and issuing it to the individual.

★ C. Disbursement. The disbursing office will disburse all taxes withheld based on the information provided by the civilian payroll office and the frequency of the payroll involved. The taxes are remitted for amounts withheld from wages for federal income taxes, Social Security and/or Medicare, and employer's contributions for Social Security and/or Medicare via FEDTAX on payday.

040509. Resident and Nonresident Aliens

A. Withholding Tax. Wages paid to both resident and non-resident aliens for services performed in the United States are subject to the withholding of federal income tax. The same regulations, procedures, and rates that govern U.S. citizens apply to resident and nonresident aliens.

B. Withholding Allowances. Resident aliens may claim the full number of withholding allowances to which they would be entitled if they were U.S. citizens. Nonresident aliens who are residents of Canada, Mexico, Japan, or Korea may claim the full number of withholding allowances to which they would be entitled if they were U.S. citizens. All other nonresident aliens should not claim exemption from income tax withholding, request withholding as if they are single, and claim only one allowance. This may avoid underwithholding of income taxes.

C. Payment of Taxes and Tax Return. Federal income and Social Security/Medicare taxes withheld for resident and nonresident aliens covered in this chapter will be included with the total tax deposit payment and reported on the Form 941.

040510. Lump-Sum Leave Payment Refunds

A. Refer to section 0808 regarding procedures on adjustments of overpayments and underpayments.

B. When the entire amount has been collected, prepare a statement (a sample format is shown in Figure 4-1) to be distributed as follows:

1. The original is sent to the employee, with one copy for each taxing authority for which tax has been withheld from the employee's pay.

2. One signed copy is sent to the IRS, the state (if applicable), the city or county (if applicable), and any other authorized taxing authority.

040511. Advance Earned Income Credit (EIC). Civilian payroll offices must make advance EIC payments to eligible employees; however, eligible employees must request payment by filing an Form W-5 (Earned Income Credit Advance Payment Certificate) with their employing activity. They must file a new certificate each year.

A. Eligibility. Eligibility requirements are shown on Form W-5 and are summarized below:

1. The employee's expected earned income and adjusted gross income must each be less than the amount set by IRS for each taxable year.

2. The tax return must be filed as single, married filing jointly, head of household, or qualifying widow(er) with dependent child.

3. The employee cannot be a qualifying child of another person.

4. The employee generally must have a qualifying child, as defined in the instructions on Form W-5, living with him or her more than half the year, including time when the child is away at school or on vacation (the entire year for a foster child). The child must be under the age of 19 at the end of the year, a full-time student under the age of 24, or permanently and totally disabled.

5. The employee generally must claim a married child as a dependent. There are special rules that may apply, however, if the child is the child of divorced or separated parents, or if the employee qualifies as an unmarried head of household. See Form W-5 for details.

B. Form W-5. On Form W-5 an employee must show if in a married status. If the spouse also has filed a Form W-5 with an employer, use the advance EIC tables in the IRS Circular E (reference (h)) (either the wage bracket or percentage method table) titled "Married with Both Spouses Filing Certificate."

1. Form W-5 remains in effect until the end of the calendar year. Eligible employees must file a new certificate each year.

★ 2. The signed form becomes effective with the first payroll period ending (or the first wage payment made without regard to a payroll period) on or after the date the certificate is received by the CSR.

★ 3. If an employee has given the CSR a signed Form W-5 and later becomes ineligible for the credit, the employee must revoke the previously filed form. If the employee's situation changes because his or her spouse files a Form W-5, the employee then must file a new Form W-5 showing that his or her spouse has a Form W-5 in effect with an employer.

4. If an employee has a Form W-5 certifying that their spouse has a Form W-5 in effect and the spouse's form is no longer in effect, the employee must file a new Form W-5.

C. Amounts to be Paid to Eligible Employees

1. IRS Circular E (reference (h)) contains a biweekly payroll period table to be used with the employee's biweekly taxable wages to compute the advance payment.

2. The civilian payroll office will refer employees with questions about their eligibility for advance EIC payments to the IRS.

D. Paying the Advance EIC to Employees

1. The advance EIC payment does not change the amount of federal income tax, Social Security, or Medicare taxes that is withheld from employees' wages. The advance EIC payment is not compensation for services rendered and is not subject to payroll taxes.

2. Generally, employers will pay the amount of the advance EIC payment from withheld income, Social Security, and Medicare taxes. These taxes are normally required to be paid over to IRS either through federal tax deposits or with employment tax returns.

3. If for any pay period the advance EIC payments are more than the withheld income, Social Security, and Medicare taxes (including the employer's share of Social Security and Medicare taxes), the civilian payroll office may take one of two actions:

a. Proportionately reduce each advance EIC payment. (Each payment must be reduced by an amount that has the same ratio to the excess as the payment has to the total of all advance payments for the payroll period).

b. Elect to make full payment of the advance EIC amount and have these full amounts treated as an advance payment of the employer's tax liability. If excess EIC payments are applied against any other taxes, attach an explanation to that tax return on which the credit for overpayment is taken.

E. Reporting EIC Payments

1. Advance EIC payments will be identified on the DD Form 592 and reported on the Form 941.

2. The total amount of advance EIC payments made during the year will be shown on the employee's Form W-2.

3. The amounts shown on Form W-2 for income tax withheld (if any), Social Security, and Medicare taxes withheld are not affected by advance EIC payments. Likewise, no other entries on Form W-2 are changed because of these payments.

F. Recordkeeping

1. The civilian payroll office retains the following:

a. Amounts and dates of all wage payments and advance EIC payments.

b. Dates and amounts of tax deposits made.

c. Copies of Form 941 returns filed.

2. The CSR will retain the following:

a. The employee's state withholding allowance certificate. These forms will be kept until superseded or canceled.

- b. Copies of the employee's Form W-5.
- c. Dates of employment.

0406 STATE INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING

040601. General. Each DoD employee shall complete a withholding certificate for state taxes as a basis for proper withholding. The certificate shall specify the employee's tax liability, place of residence, regular place of employment, exemptions and allowances. This certificate remains in effect until the employee submits a new certificate. state tax withholding is required for any DoD employee who is subject to the tax and whose regular place of federal employment is within the political boundaries of the state that has entered into an agreement with the Department of Treasury.

A. State Income Tax Withholding

1. Withholding Authority. Title 5, United States Code, section 5517 (reference (b)) and E.O. 11997 (reference (s)) provide for the withholding of state and territorial income taxes from the compensation of federal employees if an agreement has been entered into between the Secretary of the Treasury and the proper official of the state or territory. Employees may elect to have voluntary withholding for a state that has not reached an agreement.

2. Agreements with States. Agreements exist between the Secretary of the Treasury and many of the states for withholding income tax from the compensation of federal employees whose regular place of employment is within the state (TFM, Part Three, Chapter 5000, Appendix 2) (reference (ai)). The civilian payroll office will send copies of Forms W-2 to states that have negotiated agreements with the Secretary of the Treasury with respect to employees who (1) are subject to mandatory state withholding, or (2) may elect withholding under a state law (TFM, paragraph 3-5070.10) (reference (ai)).

3. Deduction for More than One State. If the employee is subject to withholding in more than one state, use separate deduction columns or codes to identify tax remittance for each state. The state requirements for withholding income tax may be modified by reciprocal agreements between states. The effect of reciprocal agreements generally is to relieve the nonresident employee of a tax liability to the state in which employed, and to relieve the employer of the duty to withhold such taxes.

4. Determination of Exemptions. Use the number of exemptions shown on Form W-4 for withholding state taxes unless other instructions are in state regulations or specified in the agreement with the Secretary of the Treasury. In some instances the Treasury-state agreement or state law permits nonresident employees to certify their compensation is not subject to that state's income tax. When the agreement or state law contains such a specific provision, the employee's signed statement is accepted as justification to discontinue withholding of state income tax, and the statement is filed with the employee's Form W-4.

5. Contacting States when a Civilian Payroll Office is Activated or a New Withholding Agreement is Established. To prepare to withhold state income taxes, the civilian payroll office will immediately prepare a letter to the state concerned including:

- a. A request for the forms and instructions required to withhold tax, process returns, and pay the tax.
- b. A request for a state EIN for the civilian payroll office.
- c. The approximate date withholding will begin.
- d. The name, address, and telephone number of the civilian payroll office.

6. Determining Employees Subject to Automatic State Withholding

a. Employees normally are subject to withholding for the state in which their duty station is located. The duty station is usually shown on the SF 50. The duty station also governs withholding for employees in continual travel status. For an employee whose duties are performed at a place other than the official duty station, the place where the employee regularly performs his or her duties is considered the regular place of employment for state tax withholding purposes.

b. Reciprocal agreements between states may affect automatic withholding according to the duty station.

c. In all disputed cases, the civilian payroll office will:

- (1) Withhold the tax; and
- (2) Advise the employee to negotiate directly with the proper taxing authority as to liability.

7. Voluntary Deductions of State Income Tax

a. When a state provides for voluntary allotment withholdings, civilian payroll offices must withhold tax for employees who have a legal obligation to pay. This applies whether or not the Department of the Treasury has a withholding agreement with the state.

(1) Employees must request the allotment on a proper withholding certificate.

(2) Employee tenure does not affect the allotment.

b. Civilian payroll offices located in foreign areas are not expected to exercise sole responsibility for determining the need for collection of state and local taxes for assigned employees. Each employee must assume that responsibility. Before a request is submitted, an employee must be advised of the following:

(1) Obtain assistance from the employing activity legal staff available to him or her; or

(2) Contact the appropriate state or local income tax office as to the applicability of withholding taxes while on an overseas assignment. Preferably, this should be done prior to an employee's departure from CONUS. Once a determination is made that withholding applies, civilian payroll offices will honor the request.

c. The civilian payroll office must comply with the agreement, regulations, and instructions of the state concerned.

d. The civilian payroll office will base the allotment amount on either:

(1) The amount (in whole dollars) set by an employee; or

(2) The withholding certificate filed by an employee and the state withholding tables or formulas.

e. The civilian payroll office will pay withheld state income taxes to each state concerned as prescribed for that state.

8. Wages Subject to State Withholding. All wages and salaries subject to federal income tax withholding are subject to state withholding. All cost-of-living allowances paid to employees in Hawaii are included as taxable income. Severance pay paid in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 5595 (reference (b)) is included; however, severance pay paid to the survivor of a deceased employee is excluded. Nonresident employees, who under the state income tax law are required to allocate at least three-fourths of their compensation to the state, shall be subject to withholding on their entire compensation. Nonresident employees, who under the state income tax law are required to allocate less than three-fourths of their compensation to the state, may elect to have:

a. State income tax withheld on their entire compensation, or

b. No income tax withheld on their compensation (31 C.F.R. 215.11) (reference (c)).

9. Amount of State Withholding and Personal Withholding Allowance

Forms

a. The civilian payroll office will withhold amounts based on personal exemptions and either:

- (1) The state withholding tax tables; or
- (2) Percentage or formula methods in accordance with the proper withholding agreement.

b. Generally, the tax withheld, after subtracting proper exemptions and allowances, should not be less than:

- (1) The amount set in the state withholding table; or
- (2) The amount determined by the percentage or formula method prescribed.

c. The civilian payroll office may use the employee's Form W-4 to determine state withholding in place of state forms if:

- (1) The withholding agreement authorizes it; and
- (2) The state and federal exemptions allowed are the same.

d. Employees must file a state employee withholding exemption certificate if:

- (1) Exemptions under state law are not the same as under federal law; or
- (2) The state requires the use of a separate form.

10. State Exemption Certificates. Employees normally are subject to mandatory withholding under Treasury-state withholding agreements; however, an employee may claim exemption from withholding under certain conditions. Civilian payroll offices shall:

a. Require the use of state-furnished tax exemption certificates, if available.

b. Give the designated official of the taxing state the following information (on request) about employees claiming exemption:

- (1) Name.
- (2) SSN.

- (3) The basis for the claimed exemption.

11. Accounting for Withheld Taxes

a. Employee Pay Records. The civilian payroll office shall record the amounts withheld each pay period on an employee's pay record when a special payment occurs; otherwise the system will automatically update an employee's records.

b. Deposit Accounts. The civilian payroll office shall:

(1) List the total of withheld state taxes as "State Taxes" under Payroll Summary on DD Form 592.

(2) Deposit the total in deposit fund account --X6275, Withheld State Income Taxes. (This account will be credited regardless of the employing activity of the employee; however, taxes deposited in the deposit fund account of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers civil function will be credited to 96X6070).

c. Error Corrections. The civilian payroll office should correct a clerical error made in the prior pay period to the current calendar year if the employee is still on the payroll. If the error resulted in the underdeduction of withheld taxes, due process procedures will be followed to collect the overpayment. If the error resulted in the overdeduction of withheld taxes, the amount of the overdeduction will be refunded to the employee on the next regular payroll cycle. The civilian payroll office will not make any adjustment if:

(1) The employee is no longer on the payroll; or

(2) The error was in a prior calendar year.

d. Paying Out Withheld Taxes

(1) Frequency. Civilian payroll offices will comply with the state's current tax law, whether payment is required biweekly, monthly, or quarterly. (Current laws may differ from those cited in Treasury-State agreements executed in the past.) Civilian payroll offices will not make payments more often than required.

(2) Payment identification. The disbursing officer will issue checks on the basis of the SF 1049 that is prepared by the civilian payroll office. The civilian payroll office must prepare required tax payment documents.

12. Balancing State Wage and Tax Information. The civilian payroll office will balance the amounts reported on the Forms W-2 or magnetic tape to each state with year-to-date control totals for state taxes withheld and state taxable wages. These amounts must be balanced before Forms W-2 are distributed to employees and forwarded to the states.

★ 13. Change of Address. Employees must furnish a change of address to the CSR as needed.

★ 14. Collection of Delinquent Taxes. Title 5, C.F.R. Part 582 (reference (l)) authorizes the collection of a tax levy from a state or local government. The DFAS-Cleveland Center (DFASCL/L) has been designated as the agent to accept legal process for DoD civilian employees for state or local tax levies. All state income tax liens will be sent to: Defense Finance and Accounting Service - Cleveland Center, Office of General Counsel, Attention: Code L, P.O. Box 998002, Cleveland, Ohio 44199-8002.

15. Notice to Employees. The DoD Components shall advise their employees that information returns will be sent to state and other taxing authorities of the employee's state of residence (and, in some cases, employment) where such authorities have requested the information; however, only information properly releasable under the Privacy Act (reference (e)) shall be released. The notice should point out that employees may have income tax liability to these taxing jurisdictions.

16. Recordkeeping

a. The civilian payroll offices shall keep the following records of state tax deductions:

(1) EIN assigned by the state.

(2) Amounts and dates of all wages subject to state tax withholding.

(3) Names, addresses, and SSNs of employees.

(4) Copies of returns filed.

★ b. The CSR shall keep the following:

(1) The employee's state withholding allowance certificate. These forms shall be kept until superseded or canceled.

(2) Copies of the employee's Form W-5.

(3) Employment dates.

17. Annual Form W-2 Reporting. Refer to subparagraph 090207.C. for procedures.

18. Official State and Territory Codes and Abbreviations. The official abbreviations and state codes for all the states of the United States (including D.C.) and U.S. possessions and territories are listed in Table 4-3. No other abbreviations or codes shall be used.

★ 040602. Guam or the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands Federal Income Taxes. The total amount of federal income taxes withheld from employee salaries creditable to Guam or the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands shall be certified and submitted each calendar quarter to the IRS. The certifications must include the employer identification number, the quarter covered by the certifications, and the dollar amount withheld. The submission may contain one certification, but amounts attributable to Guam and the Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands separately shall be reported. Refer to TFM, Part 3, section 4085 (reference (ai)) for additional information.

040603. Puerto Rico Taxes

A. The U.S. Court of Appeals issued a decision on October 19, 1994, which invalidated the Department of the Treasury withholding agreement with Puerto Rico.

B. The decision does not relieve federal employees of their tax liability to Puerto Rico. The effect of the Court's decision is that all federal agencies making wage payments to federal employees in Puerto Rico must withhold federal income taxes on those payments in the same manner as they did prior to the withholding agreement with Puerto Rico, even though Puerto Rico (rather than the United States) is entitled to income tax on those payments.

0407 CITY AND LOCAL INCOME AND EMPLOYMENT TAX WITHHOLDING

040701. Withholding Authority. Title 5, United States Code, section 5520 (reference (b)) and E.O. 11997 (reference (s)) authorized withholding of city, county or employment tax from compensation of federal employees who are subject to tax and whose regular place of federal employment is within the city which entered into a proper agreement with the Secretary of the Treasury. Withholding is also required if the employee is a resident of the local tax authority. Each DoD employee shall complete a withholding certificate for city or local taxes as a basis for proper withholding. An out-of-state employee's consent to have city or local taxes withheld is also required when applicable.

A. An agreement must be reached between the Secretary of the Treasury and the applicable city, county or local taxing authority before withholding is required (TFM, Part Three, Chapter 5000, Appendix 3) (reference (ai)). The agreement provides for mandatory withholding of income or employment tax from the compensation of federal employees whose regular place of employment is within the city or county or is a resident of the city or county. Generally, this is based on where employees report for work. In the case of employees who perform their services other than where they report, the regular place of employment is where the employee regularly performs his or her services.

B. Administration of City and County Withholding Agreements. Civilian payroll offices shall apply policies and follow procedures as prescribed for states. Wages subject to mandatory city and county withholding:

1. Basic wages. All wages and salaries subject to federal income tax withholding are normally subject to city and county withholding. Severance pay paid to an employee is included; however, severance pay paid to the survivor of a deceased employee is excluded.

2. Mandatory withholding

a. The civilian payroll office shall withhold tax from wages of federal employees who reside in cities or counties that have entered into withholding agreements.

b. The civilian payroll office shall withhold tax from the wages of federal employees whose regular place of federal employment is within a city or county if they are subject to tax. If the employee resides in a different state than that in which the city or county is located, he or she is exempt from mandatory withholding.

c. The federal employee's regular place of employment usually is the employee's official duty station that is shown on the SF 50. If an employee actually performs service at a location other than the official duty station, that alternate location will be considered the regular place of employment.

d. Services performed outside a city or county. Many local ordinances tax only wages for services performed within the city or county; in most cases, this applies only to nonresident employees. An employee eligible to exclude part of his or her annual income under such provisions must submit a withholding certificate that specifies the amount or percentage. The civilian payroll office shall then reduce withholding accordingly. If the employee does not file a certificate, the civilian payroll office shall withhold tax based on his or her total compensation.

Note: Civilian payroll offices shall not make an adjustment in withholding if the employee performs less than 25 percent of his or her services outside the city or county.

040702. Voluntary Withholding of City or Local Tax

A. Nonresident Employees. An employee who does not reside in the state in which the city or county (place of employment) is located is exempt from mandatory withholding; however, if there is an agreement between the city or county taxing authority and the Secretary of the Treasury, the civilian payroll office may withhold tax with the employee's consent. The employee must submit a withholding certificate.

B. Allotment for Voluntary Deduction. Employees have the option of making voluntary allotments for the payroll deduction of taxes of their city or county of residence if they are employed outside that location. The fact that taxes are withheld for the city or county of employment does not affect the employee's voluntary allotment.

1. An employee may make a voluntary allotment for withholding even though the city or county does not have a withholding agreement.

2. The civilian payroll office shall set the allotment amount on the city or county withholding method or deduct a whole dollar amount set by the employee. The employee must submit a proper withholding certificate.

C. Accounting for Voluntary Withholding. The civilian payroll office shall account for voluntary tax deductions as prescribed for mandatory withholdings.

D. Amount of Withholding

1. The civilian payroll office shall withhold tax based on:
 - a. The proper city or county tax withholding rate set in the city or county instructions;
 - b. The prescribed percentage or formula method; or
 - c. Computation of a set amount to be deducted from the employee's pay each pay period.
2. The civilian payroll office shall deduct an amount, at a minimum, nearly equal to the tax required by the city or county.

040703. Withholding Certificates

★ A. Employees must submit withholding certificates; they must provide the CSR with all the information needed to properly deduct city or county income taxes. If an employee does not furnish a certificate, the civilian payroll office shall withhold tax at the highest level that applies to that employee's annual wages; however, the civilian payroll office shall not withhold any tax from wages of an out-of-state employee until they submit a form consenting to withholding.

★ B. Employing activities may use a withholding or exemption certificate furnished by a city or county if it contains all required information. If the form does not contain all needed information, employing activities may use FMS Form 7311 (Employee Withholding Certificate for Local Taxes).

★ C. The CSR may furnish copies of the employees' withholding forms to the city or county on request; however, only information properly releasable under the Privacy Act (reference (e)) shall be released.

040704. Accounting for City and County Mandatory and Voluntary Withholdings

A. The civilian payroll office shall record amounts withheld each pay period in the employee's pay records when a special payment occurs; otherwise, the system will automatically update an employee's record.

B. Deposits. The civilian payroll office shall make a one-line entry on the DD Form 592 as follows:

1. Enter "Withheld City (or County) Income Tax" below state or territorial tax and the total amount withheld each pay period.

2. Credit the withheld tax to deposit fund account--X6275 for city and county tax.

C. Correcting Errors. Civilian payroll offices shall apply the same instructions applicable to the withholding of state taxes. Refer to subparagraph 040601.A.11.c. for procedures.

D. Paying Out Withheld Taxes. Civilian payroll offices shall apply instructions for state tax.

E. Annual Form W-2 Reporting. Refer to subparagraph 090207.C. for procedures.

040705. Recordkeeping

A. Civilian payroll offices shall keep all records of city or county income tax deductions. Records should include the:

1. EIN assigned by the city or county;

2. Amounts and dates of all wages subject to city or county tax withholding;

3. Names, addresses, and SSN of employees;

4. Dates and amounts of city or county tax paid; and

5. Copies of all returns filed.

B. The employing activity shall file withholding authorization certificates for city tax deductions in a file for each employee until superseded or canceled.

0408 FEDERAL EMPLOYEES HEALTH BENEFITS (FEHB)

040801. General

A. Statutory Authority. The FEHB Program, authorized by P.L. 86-382 (reference (e)) and 5 U.S.C. Chapter 89 (reference (b)) as amended, provides for health insurance to protect civilian employees against the cost of hospital and doctor care in case of sickness or accident. The employee and the employer share the cost of the insurance. The OPM specifies the amount that the employer contributes towards the cost of each type of enrollment. The employee pays the remainder of the cost through withholdings from his or her salary. The employee's participation in the program is voluntary.

★ B. Enrollment, Change of Enrollment, and Cancellation. The SF 2809 is completed by the employee to enroll, elect not to enroll, change enrollment, or cancel enrollment of FEHB coverage. An employee may elect to cancel FEHB coverage at any time. The HRO reviews SFs 2809 and, if they are properly completed, forwards two copies to the civilian payroll office for processing. The SF 2810 (Notice of Change in Health Benefits Enrollment) is used for the following situations: employment terminated; conclusion of 365 days in LWOP or other non-pay status; return to military duty for more than 30 days; transfer in from another agency or payroll office; reinstatement (correction of erroneous action); or change in name of enrollee.

C. Effective Dates. Unless otherwise noted, enrollments and changes to enrollments shall become effective the first day of the pay period that begins after receipt of an SF 2809 in an HRO. An employee shall be in a pay status at least part of the pay period proceeding the effective date of enrollment or change. If an employee was not in a pay status during this preceding pay period, an enrollment becomes effective on the first day of the pay period after the return to pay status. Effective dates of "open season" enrollments and changes in enrollment are set by the OPM. Report any discrepancies in establishing effective dates to the HRO.

★ D. Contact with Carriers. The civilian payroll office is the point of contact with the insurance carriers concerning names and numbers of enrollees under a carrier's health benefits plan. The carrier's copies of SFs 2809 and SFs 2810 should be sent to the appropriate carrier (with an SF 2811) on a daily or weekly basis, depending on the volume in the civilian payroll office. Under no circumstances should SFs 2809 and SFs 2810 be accumulated for longer than 1 week, nor should they be delayed to coincide with applicable payroll deductions. Before the carrier's copies of SFs 2809 or SFs 2810 are transmitted, the civilian payroll office should verify that the payroll action required by the form can be taken, e.g., that the employee was in a pay status sometime during the pay period preceding the effective date, if the pay status requirement is applicable to the action being taken.

★ E. Communication. Civilian payroll offices shall maintain appropriate communication with the HROs or the CSRs to ensure prompt action in processing and solving any problems. Answers to carriers about personnel actions shall be verified with the HRO or the CSR before a reply is made to the carrier.

040802. Deductions and Contributions

A. Enrollment Codes. A three-digit enrollment code is designated by the OPM to identify health benefit plans. The first two digits identify the plan and the third digit identifies the options, such as high or standard option and self-only or self and family option.

B. Employee Deductions

1. Withholding. Deductions for full-time employees shall be made each pay period except as discussed in subparagraphs 040802.B.3. and 040802.B.4. The amount to be withheld is determined by the rate applicable to the plan, option, and coverage selected. The benefits, biweekly deduction, and other major features of each participating plan are described in the brochure for that plan. Refer to the Federal Employees Health Benefits Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (y)) for a description of the types of plans offered. The formula provided in the Federal Employees Health Benefits Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (y)) is used to compute employee and employer biweekly deductions and contributions for employees, such as teachers, who are paid an annual pay in less than 26 pay periods. Deductions are started only at the beginning of a pay period. Effective dates of termination of enrollment or coverage are outlined in the Federal Employees Health Benefits Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices, subchapter S9 (reference (y)).

2. Partial Premiums. Partial premiums are not authorized except for employees who transfer to another government agency, employees who retire and are eligible to continue FEHB or die and there apparently is a survivor eligible to continue the enrollment, or employees whose enrollment is terminated or reinstated because of entry into, or return from, military service. Refer to subparagraph 040802.B.8. for the proration of deductions. Otherwise, the full withholding shall be made for each pay period even if an employee is in a pay status for only a part of the period.

3. Insufficient Salary for Withholding. If an employee's salary is not enough to cover the full withholding, nothing is withheld. The requirements are the same as during a nonpay status. If no FEHB premium is withheld from the employee, the government contribution is forwarded to the OPM immediately. If the government contribution has been forwarded to the OPM on the SF 2812, and an adjustment is required in a subsequent pay period because of late receipt of the FEHB cancellation, appropriate changes must be made to the DD Form 592 and the SF 2812.

4. Withholding While in Nonpay Status

a. If an employee is in a nonpay status for the entire pay period, the employee's portion of the FEHB premium still must be paid in order to maintain coverage. Payment can be made by check, money order, or payroll deduction from subsequent earnings. Any FEHB premiums collected during a period of leave without pay (LWOP) pending disability retirement or OWCP should be refunded if the disability retirement or OWCP is approved. The amounts due will be collected from the disability retirement or OWCP.

b. The payroll system shall be programmed to produce a listing of enrolled employees with no deductions for FEHB. One copy of the listing should be retained and one copy should be sent to the HRO. The HRO prepares the notices to each employee in accordance with instructions in the Federal Employees Health Benefits Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices, paragraph S20-2b and in Exhibit 20 (reference (y)). If an employee does not respond, it is presumed that coverage is to be continued. The employee should be advised of any withholding from pay, if possible, before the withholding occurs, and the employee should be given an opportunity to set a reasonable installment rate to liquidate the indebtedness. Any amount due accumulated over four pay periods or less immediately preceding the current pay period, can be collected without an employee's consent. The civilian payroll office should note payments received or payroll deductions withheld. Payments should be recorded in the OPM deposit fund for FEHB premiums. If the employee separates, the amount an employee owes should be offset against any entitlements due. If pay is not sufficient to cover the debt, the OPM Form 1522 (Request for Offset for Past Due Health Benefits Premiums from Monies Payable Under the Civil Service Retirement System) should be used to offset against CSRS/FERS. There is no minimum amount subject to offset. Payments shall be withheld when the annuity begins. If the employee has made any payments, they should be refunded.

c. The date of last withholding and amount due should be shown in the "Remarks," on the SF 1150 when an employee transfers and owes for FEHB premiums. Amounts due from employees transferring to or from another civilian payroll office can be collected and reported to the OPM by the gaining civilian payroll office.

d. An employee who is restored to duty retroactively after an erroneous suspension or removal may have his or her enrollment retroactively reinstated, or may enroll in the plan and option of the his or her choice, the same as a new employee. If the employee elects to have the enrollment retroactively reinstated, payroll deductions for the period of suspension or removal must be made from the retroactive pay adjustment. Government contributions are also required as though the suspension or removal had not occurred.

e. An employee may elect, within 60 days, to continue health insurance benefit coverage for the entire period while in an authorized LWOP status to serve as a full-time officer or employee of a labor organization. If this election is made, the employee pays his or her share of the premiums, through the civilian payroll office, with the employing activity making the government contributions (Federal Employees Health Benefits Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices, subchapter S8) (reference (y)).

f. An employee granted LWOP while temporarily assigned to a state or local government or to an institution of higher education may continue the coverage for the duration of the assignment. The employee shall pay his or her share of the premiums, through the civilian payroll office, with the employing activity making the government contributions.

g. An employee transferred to an international organization with the consent of his or her agency may continue health benefit coverage for the duration of the transfer.

The employee pays his or her share of the premiums, through the civilian payroll office, with the employing activity making the government contributions.

5. Withholding From Lump-Sum Leave (LSL) Payment. No health benefits deductions are made from the LSL payment. This does not apply to collections for indebtedness.

6. Cancellation of Coverage. An employee's cancellation of enrollment is effected by forwarding an SF 2809 to the HRO. The effective date of cancellation of enrollment is the last day of the pay period in which the cancellation is received by the HRO. See 5 C.F.R. 890.304(d) (reference (l)).

7. Deductions Withheld Upon Transfer. An employee's enrollment and coverage continues without change when the employee transfers from one civilian payroll office to another without a break in service of more than 3 days. Prorate withholdings and contributions in accordance with subparagraph 040802.B.8.

★ 8. Daily Proration Rule. In accordance with the OPM Payroll Office Letter P-96-05 (reference (aj)), the "four-day rule" has been abolished and replaced with the FEHB daily proration rule. The civilian payroll office (gaining and losing) is responsible for FEHB withholdings and contributions for the actual time the employee is paid by the office. To ensure consistency, all civilian payroll offices shall compute the daily FEHB withholdings and contributions rate separately as follows:

Biweekly withholdings rate multiplied by 26 and divided by 364 equals daily withholdings rate.

The denominator of 364 always is used, even during a leap year. When an employee transfers or retires at a time other than the beginning of a pay period, the following rules apply.

★ a. Active Employees. Daily FEHB withholdings and contributions rate will be obtained by applying the daily proration rule.

★ b. Retiring Employees. When an employee retires, the FEHB withholdings and contributions will depend on the employee's annuity date.

★ (1) If the annuity commencement date is after the end of the final pay period, withholdings and contributions will be made for the entire final pay period.

★ (2) If the annuity commencement date is before the end of the pay period, make withholdings and contributions through the day before the commencing date of annuity using the daily proration rule.

9. Mass Transfers. When a group of 25 or more employees enrolled in the same plan are to be transferred on the same day from one civilian payroll office to another, separate transfer-out and transfer-in forms need not be prepared. A list may be prepared and attached to one SF 2810 documenting the mass transfer-out. The gaining civilian payroll office should use copies of the same list attached to the SF 2810 to process the mass transfer-in.

★ 10. Withholding Upon Retirement or Death. If an employee retires and is eligible to continue enrollment as an annuitant, or dies and there is a survivor eligible to continue enrollment, as determined by the HRO, the losing civilian payroll office makes withholdings and contributions, according to subparagraph 040802.B.8. If there is no eligible survivor or the annuitant is not eligible to continue enrollment, a full deduction is withheld. The OPM makes withholdings beginning with the effective date of the annuity.

★ 11. Withholding Upon Termination for Military Service or Reinstatement. If an employee's enrollment is terminated or reinstated because of entry into, or return from, military service, prorate withholdings and contributions according to subparagraph 040802.B.8. The effective date of the action to be used as a basis in prorating is the date of entrance into, or return to duty from, the Military Service.

★ 12. Retroactive Changes in Enrollment. Employing offices have authority to make a change to self-only retroactive to the first day of the pay period after the one in which there were no family members eligible for coverage under the employee's family enrollment. Such a retroactive change, with a corresponding adjustment in health benefits withholdings and contributions, may be made only if the employee requests it and only if the employing office is satisfied that the last family member lost eligibility under the family enrollment. If an employee retroactively changes from family to self only, adjustments should be processed in accordance with paragraph 040807.

C. Employer Contributions

1. The government's contribution shall be paid every pay period during which an employee's enrollment continues, whether the employee is in a pay or nonpay status. The government's contribution should be submitted as soon as it becomes due, that is, with the other deductions and contributions forwarded on the SF 2812, for the same pay period in which the coverage continued (Federal Employees Health Benefits Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices, subchapter S20) (reference (y)).

2. See the OPM Schedule of Subscription Charges for contribution rates for full-time employees. Charge the total to the same appropriation from which the salaries of the employees are paid.

D. Withholdings and Contributions for Part-Time Employees. Public Law 95-437 (Federal Employees Part-Time Career Employment Act of 1978) (reference (e)) provides that part-time employees subject to the act may elect coverage under FEHB. The law requires that certain part-time employees, however, will pay not only the regular deduction for health benefit coverage but also a portion of the government's contribution. The HRO determines if the employee is exempt from the provisions of this law regarding proration of the government's contribution. If the employee is not exempt, the amount of the government's contribution is based on the proration of the number of hours the part-time employee is scheduled to work, as indicated on the SF 50, compared to the number of hours worked by full-time employees. See 5 U.S.C. 8906(b)(3) (reference (b)). The following example is provided:

1. A part-time employee is scheduled to work 50 hours per pay period.
2. Hours worked by a full-time employee are 80 hours per pay period.
3. The total health benefit premium per pay period is $51.55 of which $24.03 is the employee's share and $27.52 is the government's share.
4. Divide the hours a part-time employee is scheduled to work (50) by the hours a full-time employee is scheduled to work (80) to determine a factor (.6250).
5. Multiply the government's contribution ($27.52) by the factor (.6250) to determine the government's contribution for the part-time employee ($17.20).
6. Subtract the government's contribution for the part-time employee ($17.20) from the total health benefit cost ($51.55). The difference is the pay period deduction for the part-time employee.

E. Temporary Employees. Public Law 100-654 (Federal Employees Health Benefits Amendments Act of 1988) (reference (e)) provides FEHB coverage for certain temporary employees. Generally, for a temporary employee to be eligible for coverage, the employee must have completed 1 year of current continuous employment, excluding any break in service of 5 days or less. The HROs determine the eligibility of temporary employees for FEHB coverage. Once enrolled, the law requires that temporary employees with FEHB coverage pay both the employee and government share of the health benefits premium. The HRO shall include the following statement in "Remarks" on the SF 2809: "Temporary employee eligible under 5 U.S.C. 8906a must pay the full premium amount with no government contribution." Civilian payroll offices shall report the total premium withheld from the pay of the enrollee to OPM using an SF 2812. Since the full premium is deducted from the pay of the enrollee, it will be reported in the "withholdings" field on the "Health Benefits" line of the SF 2812. This amount also will be included in the amounts classified by enrollment code on the SF 2812 (5 U.S.C. 8906a) (reference (b)).

F. Temporary Continuation of FEHB Coverage

1. Public Law 100-654 (reference (e)) also provides temporary continuation of FEHB coverage to eligible individuals. These individuals are former employees, former spouses, and children of current or former employees or of annuitants. The HRO determines the eligibility of these individuals for such continued coverage. The Direct Premium Remittance System (operated by the National Finance Center (NFC) in New Orleans, LA), provides insurance services for enrollees participating in the FEHB under P.L. 100-654 (reference (e)) and P.L. 98-615 (reference (e)). It is a centralized billing, collection, and reporting system operated by the NFC. Participation in the NFC system eliminates the necessity for civilian payroll offices to process transactions related to FEHB premiums for these enrollees. The NFC also reports data to OPM related to the SF 2812, SF 2812-A, and the OPM Form 1523 (Supplemental Semiannual Headcount Report). See 5 U.S.C. 8905a (reference (b)).

2. Section 4438 of P.L. 102-484 (reference (e)) and 5 U.S.C. 8905a(d) (reference (b)) allow eligible DoD employees separated by reduction in force (RIF) to continue their health benefits coverage at the rates paid by current federal employees. The Department pays the government share and the 2 percent administrative charge. This provision applies to separations on or after October 23, 1992, through September 30, 1997, or through January 31, 1998, if specific RIF separation notice was given by September 30, 1997.

040803. Payroll Processing

A. Registration to Enroll

1. Upon receipt of the SF 2809 signifying enrollment:

★ a. Verify that the effective date of enrollment meets the requirement that the employee was in a pay status before the beginning of the current pay period. Also make sure that the effective date of enrollment or change of enrollment is the first day of a pay period and cancellation of an enrollment is the last day of the pay period. If there is any variance from the above, return both copies of the SF 2809 to the HRO or the CSR with appropriate notation.

b. Enter the civilian Payroll Office Number under part F, item 4, of the form.

2. Distribute the SF 2809 as follows:

a. Send the copy of the SF 2809 to each carrier concerned. If it is known that the employee will not be in a pay status during the pay period before the normal effective date, keep the SF 2809 until the employee returns to a pay status and the effective date of enrollment can be determined.

b. Separation before enrollment becomes effective. If an employee who has filed an SF 2809 retires, dies, or otherwise is separated (except by transfer) before the effective date of enrollment, his or her registration is void. Under such circumstances, note in "Remarks" on the SF 2809, "Employee separated (date), (reason)." If the carrier's copy was already transmitted, print "VOID" across the face of the original SF 2809 and mail it to the carrier. When the SF 2809 was not sent to the carrier or the registration was not to enroll, destroy all copies of the SF 2809. In all instances, note the action on the pay record.

c. Change in enrollment. Changes in enrollment may be processed on either an SF 2809 or an SF 2810. Process the SF 2809 as in 040803.A.2.a. and b. Upon receipt of an SF 2810, make the necessary adjustments in the payroll system and complete the SF 2811

(Transmittal and Summary Report to Carrier) report number, and the payroll action boxes of the form. Distribution instructions are printed on the back of the payroll copy of the SF 2810.

B. To terminate enrollment, send a copy of the SF 2809 to the carrier concerned.

040804. File. The SFs 2811, along with the supporting SFs 2809/2810, are filed in a single file. Destroy the copy of the SF 2811 originally retained and file the copy returned by each carrier. Carriers use the "Remarks" section of the returned copy of the SF 2811 to report any discrepancies. Clear all such discrepancies before filing the SF 2811. If an enrolled employee cancels coverage, file the SF 2809 in the employee's file. If an employee transfers or is separated, file the SF 2809 (and SF 2810, if applicable) in a separate file. For disposition, file the SF 2809 (and SF 2810) for retired and deceased employees in a separate file and destroy 6 months after the date of separation.

040805. Entries on the Payroll Voucher. Employee deductions and employer contributions shall be reported separately on the DD Form 592, Part I, Payroll Summary. Civilian payroll offices reporting to the OPM using a hard-copy SF 2812 shall cite the OPM deposit fund account 24X8135.8 for the deductions and contributions on Part I. Civilian payroll offices reporting to the OPM via RITS shall report deductions and contributions on Part I, but shall not cite the OPM deposit fund account. Employer contributions shall be charged to the appropriation(s) from which the employee's salary is paid and shall be reported on Part II, Accounting Classification.

040806. Pay Period Transmission of Deductions and Contributions to the OPM. The deductions and contributions for health benefits are reported to the OPM each pay period using the procedures described in paragraph 090203.

040807. Adjustment of Errors

A. Underdeduction. An overpayment as a result of the underdeduction of FEHB premiums is exempt from due process for up to four pay periods immediately preceding the current pay period (5 C.F.R. 550.1104(c)) (reference (l)). FEHB premium underdeductions of more than four pay periods, for any amount, are subject to due process. See paragraph 080302. for procedures.

B. Overdeduction. If more than the correct FEHB premium is deducted, refund the overdeduction to the employee and adjust the employer contribution during the next pay period.

040808. Panamanian Program

A. Non-U.S. citizens employed in Panama by the U.S. Government may elect to be covered under this program. Biweekly, withhold one percent from the employee's salary; the Panama Canal Commission's contribution is an amount equal to the maximum biweekly government contribution for the Federal Employee's Health Benefits Act (reference (e)).

B. Withholdings and contributions are collected into a deposit fund and disbursed from this fund to the payee on the agreed dates.

040809. Disability Insurance for Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences (USUHS)

A. Full-time faculty and staff members of the USUHS, School of Medicine, not eligible for coverage under the CSRS/FERS program, are covered under a Disability Insurance Program. The employer and employee share the cost of the coverage equally. Monthly premium rates are based on the average of salary and age for the entire group covered.

B. Deductions shall be made from the employee's pay and collected into a deposit fund. Disbursements from the deposit fund are made monthly to Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association/College Retirement Equities Fund, 730 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10017.

0409 FEDERAL EMPLOYEES GROUP LIFE INSURANCE

040901. General

★ A. The Federal Employees Group Life Insurance (FEGLI) Act of 1954 (reference (e)) (5 U.S.C. Chapter 87) (reference (b)), as amended, and P.L. 105-311, the Federal Employees Life Insurance Improvement Act, as enacted on October 30, 1998, provides life insurance coverage for federal employees and their families. Under this program an employee may elect basic insurance in which the government shares the cost.

B. Three types of optional insurance for which the employee pays the entire cost are also available. Refer to paragraph 040904 for a description of each type of optional insurance. The Federal Employees Group Life Insurance Handbook for Personnel and Payroll Offices (reference (z)) provides details on life insurance coverage for federal employees.

040902. Basic Insurance

A. An employee can have basic life insurance and accidental death and dismemberment insurance each in the following amounts:

1. If annual pay is $8,000 or less, the employee is insured for $10,000.

★ 2. If annual pay is more than $8,000, the employee is insured for an amount equal to the sum of the annual salary, rounded to the next highest thousand, plus $2,000.

B. The annual pay on which an employee's basic insurance deduction is based is the annual pay as fixed by applicable law or regulation. Included in this basic pay are:

1. Night shift differential pay for FWS employees.

2. Environmental differential pay for FWS employees.
3. Tropical differential pay for government employees in the Republic of Panama.
- ★ 4. Annual premium pay percentage for standby time not affected by P.L. 105-277, the Firefighter Overtime pay Reform Act of 1998 (reference (e)).
5. Annual premium pay percentage for irregular, unscheduled overtime for law enforcement officers. See 5 C.F.R. 870.302(c) (reference (l)).
- ★ 6. Availability pay for criminal investigators. See 5 U.S.C. 5545a(h)(2) (reference (b)).

C. The annual pay of a part-time employee is the basic salary applicable to his or her tour of duty in a calendar year. For example, an employee who has a salary rate of $8,000 a year and is employed half time would have an annual salary of $4,000 for insurance purposes. See subparagraph 070301.C.3. for additional information. Also see 5 C.F.R. 870.302(c) (reference (l)).

D. Multiple rates -- regular schedule. For life insurance purposes, the annual pay of employees who are regularly scheduled to work at different pay rates such as day and night rates, two positions at different rates for each, etc., is the weighted average of the rates at which the employees are paid, projected to an annual basis. For example, the annual pay of an employee who is paid $3.87 per hour on a day shift and $4.08 per hour on a night shift and who regularly is scheduled to work 8 months on day shift and four months on night shift is $3.87 multiplied by 1,391 hours plus $4.08 multiplied by 696 hours, or $8,223; the weighted hourly average then is $3.94, which when multiplied by 2,087 hours produces the same result. A regular schedule may exist even though the schedule varies within a year or even within a pay period.

E. Multiple rates -- no regular schedule. For life insurance purposes, the annual pay of employees who work at different pay rates, but not on a regular schedule, is the annual rate which they were receiving at the end of the pay period, or in the event of death or dismemberment, the annual rate they were receiving at the time of the death or accident.

040903. Withholding Schedule for Basic Coverage. Both the employee and the government share the cost for basic insurance. The government contributes one third of the total cost for basic insurance. See Table 4-4 for the effective rates.

040904. Optional Insurance

A. An employee who has not waived basic FEGLI coverage can purchase additional optional life insurance plans. The employee pays the entire cost. Credit amounts deducted for optional insurance coverage to the same deposit fund account as regular FEGLI. The premium rate for optional coverage is increased the first day of the pay period beginning on or after that in which the employee's birthday occurs for the next age group. An employee may elect optional life insurance coverage provided:

1. The employee is enrolled for basic insurance coverage;
2. The employee has filed an SF 2817 (Life Insurance Election) to elect the optional insurance or OPM Form RI 76-27 (FEGLI '99 Open Enrollment Period Election Form). The OPM Form RI 76-27 must be used for open season enrollments exclusively;
3. An uncanceled declination of optional insurance is not on file.

A covered employee may elect to stop or reduce optional insurance coverage at any time, although the opportunity to elect or increase multiples is strictly limited. If an employee cancels basic insurance, all optional insurance is automatically canceled.

B. Types of Optional Life Insurance

★ 1. Option A - Standard Optional Insurance. The amount of standard optional life insurance available to all employees is $10,000.

★ 2. Option B - Additional Optional Life Insurance. An employee may elect Option B - Additional in an amount equal to one, two, three, four or five times the annual basic pay (after rounding to the next $1,000).

★ 3. Option C - Family Optional Insurance. An employee may elect Option C - Family to cover "eligible family members": $5,000 for a spouse and $2,500 for each dependent child. The withholdings do not vary based on the family size. P.L. 105-311 extends family coverage to allow for employees to elect additional coverage in multiples of up to five times the current amounts.

040905. Enrollment Status Codes. An employee's life insurance enrollment status is indicated on the SF 50 by use of the codes in Table 4-5.

040906. Premium Withholding

A. When to Withhold Premiums. Deductions will be made from an employee's salary when the employee is in a pay status for all or part of a pay period. If the salary is insufficient to permit all payroll deductions, the order of precedence shown in paragraph 040201. shall be used. For new employees, deductions shall begin with the pay period in which coverage begins as follows:

1. Basic insurance. Coverage is effective on the first day in pay and duty status.

2. Optional insurance (all types). Coverage is effective the first day in a pay and duty status on or after the date the election (SF 2817) is received in the HRO.

3. When an employee waives basic insurance, cancels any or all optional insurance, or reduces the number of multiples under additional optional, coverage and deductions stop or are reduced effective the last day of the pay period in which an SF 2817 is properly filed. See 5 C.F.R. 870.204(a) (reference (1)).

B. Retroactive Adjustments. Retroactive adjustment shall not be made to recover deficiencies in deductions for prior periods because of LWOP. Effective after October 20, 1972, if an employee is retroactively restored to duty with pay after an erroneous suspension or removal, there will be no life insurance withholding made from the retroactive pay adjustment for the period of suspension or separation. However, if death or dismemberment occurred during the period of suspension or separation, insurance proceeds shall be paid and premiums withheld from the back pay. When an employee receives a retroactive within-grade increase (one that was delayed beyond its proper effective date through administrative error or oversight) and results in an increase in life insurance premiums, the insurance deductions retroactively shall be applied.

C. Withholding During Nonpay Status

1. If an employee is in a nonpay status for an entire pay period, no withholdings for that pay period are made from future salary payments. An employee keeps insurance coverage without cost while in a nonpay status for up to 12 continuous months from the last date of pay.

2. Employees granted LWOP while assigned to a state or local government or to an institute of higher learning may continue insurance for the period of LWOP. The employee's share of the premiums is paid to the civilian payroll office and that office pays the government contribution. Employees transferred to international organizations and employees on approved LWOP to serve as full time officers or employees of an international organization may continue coverage for the period in LWOP status. Employees shall pay or arrange to have paid on their behalf, to the civilian payroll office on a current basis, the employee withholding and the government contributions to cover the premium cost for the entire period of LWOP. Premiums for any pay period are considered currently paid if received before, during, or within one month after the end of the pay period. Advance payments may be accepted at regular intervals in multiples of the amount due each pay period. Any excess advance payments resulting from death, retirement, etc., are refunded. The beginning date of premiums payable by the employee is the first day of the pay period following the one for which withholdings of the premiums were made. The ending date is the last day of the pay period before the employee returns to a pay status.

D. Withholding While Employee is Receiving Office of Workers' Compensation Program (OWCP) Payments

1. An employee keeps basic life insurance (not accidental death and dismemberment) without cost if:

a. On the day basic insurance would otherwise end, he or she is receiving benefits under the FECA because of disease or injury and is held by the Department of Labor to be unable to return to duty; and

b. The employee does not convert to an individual policy.

2. An employee may keep optional life insurance (not accidental death and dismemberment) while receiving compensation from OWCP if eligible to continue basic insurance and if, in addition, optional insurance has been in force for not less than:

a. The full period or periods of service during which optional insurance was available to the employee; or

b. The 5 years of service immediately preceding the date the employee becomes entitled to compensation. Withheld from compensation is the full cost of optional insurance for any period before the first of the month following the employee's 65th birthday during which an insured employee or former employee receives compensation.

3. An employee who qualifies for compensation benefits remains insured as an employee until such coverage ends because of separation or completion of 12 months in a nonpay status. When coverage as an employee stops for either of these reasons, the employee may convert the insurance to an individual policy, but the HRO should inform the employee of the right to have the life insurance continued while receiving compensation and unable to return to duty.

4. The OWCP collects for all life insurance including basic. The OWCP shall make no optional insurance withholding if the employee receives compensation for less than 29 days.

E. Withholding During Nonpay Status, Employee Accepts Temporary Employment in Another Position. If an insured employee, entitled to free insurance for up to 12 months while in a nonpay status, accepts a temporary (or other) appointment to another position in which he or she normally would be excluded from insurance coverage, insurance (basic or basic and optional) continues in the temporary position. The amount of basic insurance is based on the greater of the two salary rates. The $10,000 minimum applies. Withholdings shall be made from pay in the temporary position. The HRO is responsible for determining if the employee is insured in the first position and to indicate appropriate withholdings. Upon termination of the temporary appointment, the insurance coverage reverts to the employee's coverage under the first nonexcluded position. If on termination of the temporary position the employee has been separated from the first position, the employee's insurance ends subject to the 31-day temporary extension of coverage. If, on termination, the employee still is on LWOP from the first position, the coverage under the first position continues until the employee is separated or the end of the 12 month nonpay status. If the employee served four consecutive months in the temporary position, a new 12-month nonpay period of free insurance begins.

F. Withholding From Lump-Sum Annual Leave Payments. No insurance premium is withheld from the lump-sum payment.

G. Withholding From Employees Paid an Annual Salary on a School Year Basis. A full annual insurance premium deduction for educators is required. Compute the biweekly deduction for those employees not paid each pay period of the year (26 or 27 times) as follows:

1. Multiply the biweekly deduction rate based on the salary bracket by 26.
2. Divide this total by the number of pay periods in the school year.
3. Round the total in subparagraph 040906.G.2. to the nearest cent. This is the biweekly insurance deduction.

★ H. Withholding From Employees Whose Pay Is Insufficient to Cover the Cost of the Premiums. This provision of P.L. 105-311 became effective on the first pay period beginning on or after October 30, 1998. It allows for an employee to arrange to make direct payments to the employing office for periods when an employee's pay is insufficient to cover the cost of the premiums. A determination of insufficient pay can be made when it is expected that an employee's pay, after all other applicable deductions, is insufficient to cover the cost of the premiums for a period of six months or more.

040907. Entries on the Payroll Voucher. Employee deductions and employer contributions shall be reported separately on the DD Form 592, Part I, Payroll Summary. Civilian payroll offices reporting to the OPM via hard-copy SF 2812 shall cite the OPM deposit fund account 24X8135.8 for the deductions and contributions on Part I. Civilian payroll offices reporting to OPM via RITS shall report deductions and contributions on Part I, but shall not cite the OPM deposit fund account. Employer contributions shall be charged to the appropriation(s) from which the employee's salary is paid and shall be reported on Part II, Accounting Classification.

040908. Adjusting Errors

A. Current Employees

1. Overdeduction. When amounts have been erroneously withheld from the salary of an employee, refund the erroneous withholding the next pay period. This automatically corrects the excess government contribution involved.

2. Underdeduction of FEGLI premiums of four pay periods or less immediately preceding the current pay period, are exempt from due process (5 C.F.R. 550.1104(c) (reference (1))). Underdeductions of FEGLI premiums after four pay periods, for any amount, are subject to due process. See paragraph 080302. for procedures. Government contributions shall be adjusted when payment is received from the employee.

B. Separated Employees

1. When an adjustment in withholdings is necessary for a separated employee, process it in the final salary payment to the employee or, if deceased, to the employee's beneficiary or estate.

2. If a valid claim for refund of deductions is received from a separated employee, process it on a regular payroll on which FEGLI deductions are more than the refund amount.

C. Adjustment to Proper Appropriation. Be sure to adjust the correct appropriation when there is a change in fiscal years between the processing of the erroneous payroll and the processing of the payroll on which the adjustment is made. Credit the government contribution for a prior year appropriation on DD Form 592 under "Other" (itemize) and explain.

040909. Pay Period Transmission of Deductions and Contributions. Deductions and contributions for life insurance shall be reported to the OPM each pay period using the procedures described in paragraph 090203.

★ 040910. Waiver of Insurance. When notification of waiver is received from an insured employee, discontinue withholdings beginning with the next pay period. When the waiver is canceled, the withholding applies for the full pay period in which the waiver is revoked.

040911. Canceling Optional Insurance. The employee may cancel optional life insurance at any time without waiving basic life insurance; however, if the employee cancels basic life insurance, all optional insurance is automatically canceled.

040912. Continued Protection for 31 Days. When basic or optional insurance, or both, terminates except by waiver or declination, the employee continues to have life insurance protection (not accidental death or dismemberment) for 31 days. Thereafter, this 31-day temporary extension is automatic. There is no extension of protection when insurance stops by waiver or declination. See 5 C.F.R. 870.501, 871.501, 872.501, and 873.501 (reference (l)).

040913. Office of Federal Employees' Group Life Insurance (OFEGLI) Requests for Pre-Payment Verification. Civilian payroll offices shall cooperate with the OFEGLI when it requests pre-payment verification. The OFEGLI is required to obtain verification before making payment to beneficiaries of enrollees with $200,000 or more of FEGLI coverage. When seeking pre-payment verification, the OFEGLI will ask for the insured's current salary, annual salary (if different), and details on enrollment in optional insurance, if applicable.

★ 040914. FEGLI Daily Proration Rule. In accordance with the OPM Payroll Office Letter P-96-05 (reference (aj)), the "four-day rule" has been abolished and replaced with the FEGLI daily proration rule. The civilian payroll office (gaining and losing) is responsible for FEGLI withholdings and contributions for the actual time the employee is paid by the office. When an employee transfers or retires at a time other than the beginning of a pay period, the following rules apply.

★ A. Active Employees. A daily rate shall be computed using the FEGLI daily proration rule - biweekly withholdings and contribution rates multiplied by 26 and divided by 364. The daily rate is then multiplied by the coverage/days on the payroll, see the formulas below for determining the amount of withholdings and contributions:

★ 1. Basic and Option B - daily rate multiplied by coverage/1000 multiplied by days on payroll.

★ 2. Option A and Option C - daily rate multiplied by days on payroll.

★ B. Retiring Employees. Life Insurance withholdings and contributions depend on the employee's age at the time of retirement.

★ 1. If the employee will be less than 65 years old on the commencing date of the annuity, the employing agency shall make basic life insurance withholdings and contributions and optional life insurance withholdings based on the commencing date of annuity.

★ a. If the annuity commencement date is after the end of the pay period, the civilian payroll office shall make full withholdings and contributions for the entire pay period.

★ b. If the annuity commencement date is before the end of the pay period, the civilian payroll office shall make withholdings and contributions through the day before the annuity commencement date, using the daily proration rule.

★ 2. If the employee will be age 65 or older on the commencing date of the annuity, the civilian payroll office shall ascertain the post-65 basic life insurance coverage the employee had chosen. Civilian payroll offices shall refer to the SF 2818 (Continuation of Basic Life Insurance Coverage) to determine the retiree's post-retirement life insurance election, so the correct life insurance withholdings and contributions for the retiring employee's last pay period will be processed.

★ a. If the employee elects the basic life insurance with the 75 percent reduction, the civilian payroll office shall make withholdings and contributions through the end of the pay period in which the employee separates for retirement.

★ b. If the employee elects basic life insurance with the 50 percent reduction or with no reduction, the civilian payroll office shall make withholdings and contributions based on the commencing date of annuity. If the annuity commencement date is after the end of the pay period, the civilian payroll office shall make withholdings and contributions through the end of the pay period. If the annuity commencement date is before the end of the pay period, the civilian payroll office shall make withholdings and contributions through the day before the commencing date of annuity, using the daily proration rule.

★ c. For optional insurance, the civilian payroll office shall make the withholdings and contributions through the end of the pay period in which the employee separates for retirement.

★ 040915. Revised Rule for Movement to New Age Band. OPM Payroll Office Letter P-99-07 (reference (aj)), identified three new age bands for optional coverage. The “60 and over” has been replaced with “60-64,” “65-69,” and “70 and over.” The new withholding rates are effective on the first day of the first pay period beginning on or after April 24, 1999. For an employee who reaches age 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, 60, 65 or 70, the new withholding rate will take effect on the first day of the first pay period following his/her actual birthday.

0410 NATIONAL GUARD ASSOCIATION OF UNITED STATES (NGAUS) INSURANCE TRUST PROGRAM

041001. Participation. National Guard technicians may participate in this program as authorized by an agreement between the Secretary of Defense and the state or territory (5 U.S.C. 5518) (reference (b)). Biweekly deduction rates depend on the coverage selected and the age group of the employee. Deductions will be applied to the following accounts:

A. --X6875 - Withheld Employee Contributions, State or Territorial Disability Benefits.

B. --X6875 - Withheld Employee Contributions, State or Territorial Death Benefits. The funds collected are disbursed to the proper payee on agreed dates.

041002. Termination. When an employee converts from a Title 32 to a Title 5 appointment, the NGAUS insurance must be terminated since the employee would no longer be eligible for the disability portion of the plan.

0411 COLLECTION OF DEBTS DUE THE UNITED STATES

041101. Authority. The Department shall collect indebtedness due the United States promptly in accordance with the law and applicable regulations. Title 5, United States Code, section 5514 (reference (b)), and Volume 5 of this Regulation authorizes collection of indebtedness from those civilian employees who are indebted to the U.S. Government. Generally, the amount deducted may not exceed 15 percent of the employee's disposable pay unless written the employee provides consent for a greater percentage to be deducted. Refer to chapter 8 for further procedures on indebtedness.

0412 GARNISHMENTS041201. Child Support and Alimony

A. Authority. Title 42, United States Code, section 659, (reference (ae)) provides consent by the U. S. Government for garnishment and similar proceedings for enforcement of child support and alimony obligations against civilian employees. Court-ordered garnishment under this section shall be deducted from the employee's pay. See 5 C.F.R. Part 581 (reference (l)) for guidance.

B. Pay Subject to Garnishment. All moneys due active civilian employees, the entitlement to which is based upon remuneration for employment, are subject to court-order garnishment or attachment. The term "remuneration for employment" means all compensation paid or payable for personal services performed by an individual, whether such compensation is denominated as wages, salary, commission, bonus, pay, or otherwise, and includes, but is not limited to, those items set forth in 5 C.F.R. 581.103 (reference (l)). Moneys paid as reimbursement, normally defined by law or regulations as allowances, awards paid for making suggestions, and injury compensation payments are not deemed to be "remuneration for employment" and, therefore, are not subject to garnishment. Deductions not subject to garnishment are as follows:

1. CSRS/FERS,
2. Social Security and/or Medicare,
3. TSP contributions,
4. Federal income taxes (not including additional withholdings unless the employee presents evidence of a tax obligation which supports the additional withholding),
5. FEHB,
6. FEGLI (basic only),
7. Indebtedness due the U.S. Government except where the employee's debt is for child support and the amount owed the United States results from an income tax lien or levy,
8. State income tax and city/local employment tax, and
9. Other deductions required by law or regulations to be withheld.

C. Maximum Percentage of Disposable Weekly Pay Subject to Garnishment. The term "disposable pay" means the amount of any pay that is due or payable to an employee as "remuneration for employment" minus the deductions listed in subparagraph 041201.B. The following maximum percentages apply (5 C.F.R. 581.402) (reference (l)):

1. If an employee is supporting a spouse or a dependent child (other than the spouse or child whose support is required by the garnishment order), 50 percent of that employee's disposable weekly pay is subject to garnishment.

2. If an employee is not supporting a spouse or dependent child (other than those named in garnishment order) 60 percent of that employee's disposable weekly pay is subject to garnishment.

3. An additional 5 percent of disposable weekly pay is subject to garnishment in each case if the outstanding arrearages are over 12 weeks old.

4. If the applicable law of the state from which the legal process was issued exempts a lesser percentage of the employee's disposable weekly pay, that percentage of earnings will be subject to garnishment.

D. Procedures

★ 1. All court orders for child support and alimony shall be sent to the DFAS-Cleveland Center legal review office (DFAS-CL/L) for processing. For employees serviced by DCPS, DFAS-CL/L will review and input the garnishment deduction information.

2. One-time Payment. If the garnishment involves a one-time payment, the amount due shall be processed on the next regular payroll.

3. More Than One Payment. If the garnishment order involves more than one payment, the DFAS-CL/L shall establish an involuntary deduction for the amount(s) shown in such order. Payment shall be made to the party named in the legal process.

4. Deduction Termination. Cancellations are automatic on the date of separation from the Department, upon death of the employee, or upon notification to the civilian payroll office that the legal process is terminated. The employee may not voluntarily stop deductions.

5. Payroll Procedure. Deductions shall be taken in accordance with the order of precedence in paragraph 040201.

6. Recording Deductions. The DFAS-CL/L shall establish deduction data within the employee's payroll record. The total amount of all garnishments processed for the current pay period shall be indicated on the DD Form 592. All remittance records shall be forwarded to the servicing disbursing officer.

★ 041202. Commercial Debts

A. Authority. Effective February 3, 1994, 5 U.S.C. 5520a (reference (b)) authorized the garnishment of federal civilian employees' wages for commercial debts. Authorization from the legal review organization is required prior to the garnishment becoming effective. Final regulations are found at 5 C.F.R. part 582 (reference (l)).

B. Pay Subject to Garnishment. A maximum of 25 percent of an employee's disposable pay may be used to satisfy garnishments for commercial debts. The term disposable pay means the amount of any pay due or payable to an employee as remuneration for employment, minus the deductions listed in subparagraph 041201.B. If the total deduction for child support and alimony equal or exceeds 25 percent of an employee's disposable pay, a deduction for commercial debt will not be processed. Further, limitations on the amount to be garnished are found in 5 C.F.R. 582.402 (reference (l)). There is no maximum amount for garnishment for state or local tax obligations, or bankruptcy.

C. Procedures

1. All orders for commercial debts shall be sent to the DFAS-Cleveland Center legal review office (DFAS-CL/L) for processing except for those categories found in Appendix A to Part 582 of 5 C.F.R. published at 59 Federal Register 14544-14545, March 29, 1994 (reference (ak)).

2. For employees serviced by DCPS, DFAS-CL/L will review and input the garnishment deduction information.

3. Deductions may be withheld as a fixed biweekly amount or as a percentage amount, but not both, provided it does not exceed the amount discussed in subparagraph 041202.B.

4. Current procedures shall be used for disbursement of the commercial garnishment. The return check process shall also follow existing procedures. The requirements of the court order regarding disbursement of funds will be followed.

5. Administrative Fee

★ a. An administrative fee of $75.00 shall be collected from the amount of the garnishment due to the creditor. The administrative fee will be collected in full before any payments are remitted to the creditor. An administrative fee may be assessed for each case if more than one commercial debt exists.

b. The administrative fee is not subject to the 25 percent rule. If an employee is in a nonpay status, the court order shall be returned by DFAS-CL/L with no action taken and the administrative fee shall not be charged.

c. If a court amends a garnishment order, an additional administrative fee may be charged.

6. As with all other garnishments, deductions for commercial debts shall be handled on a first in, first out basis. The civilian payroll office shall make these deductions each pay period as directed. Deductions shall be taken in accordance with the order of precedence in paragraph 040201. Care must be taken to process these garnishments as quickly as possible to ensure payment occurs before termination of the garnishment.

7. The total amount deducted for garnishments during the payroll cycle shall be reflected on a separate line on the DD Form 592.

8. A commercial debt may be received with a termination date. Payroll deductions shall be discontinued at the end of the pay period in which the termination date falls. If the termination date does not fall on the last day of the pay period, no proration of deduction shall be required. If the account is in escrow, the total amount withheld shall be disbursed based on the termination date.

0413 BANKRUPTCY

041301. General. Title 11, United States Code, section 1325, (reference (af)) permits an indebted individual who has a regular income to file a Wage Earner's Plan designed to liquidate all or part of a creditor's claim. When a plan has been approved, the court may order the Department to pay all or part of those wages to a trustee for the debtor. The law waives the U.S. Government's sovereign immunity for purposes of compliance with payroll deduction orders issued by the U.S. bankruptcy courts. Accordingly, the civilian payroll office shall honor these orders. Questions regarding a particular case should be referred to the DFAS Office of General Counsel. See paragraph 080703. for additional information. As a general matter, placing payments ordered by the bankruptcy court in the order of precedence in paragraph 040201. shall conform with the bankruptcy court's requirements. There are two exceptions:

A. If a bankruptcy court orders that a certain amount of net pay shall be paid an employee regardless of deductions, then:

1. The amount of the net pay shall be deducted from gross pay first. Remaining deductions shall then be withheld in accordance with paragraphs 040201. and 040202.

2. Deductions based on gross pay (for example, Social Security/Medicare deductions which are calculated by multiplying applicable portions of the gross pay by a required percentage) shall be computed on applicable portions of the full gross pay, that is, gross pay before subtracting court-ordered net pay.

B. In individual cases, the bankruptcy court may mandate that a sum be deducted each pay period or monthly under a different order of precedence or without providing an order of precedence. In those situations when a different order of precedence is mandated, the court's order shall be followed. If there is a question of conflict or nonpayment, the civilian payroll offices shall contact the designated trustee by telephone.

0414 ALLOTMENTS

★ 041401. Voluntary Deductions. An allotment or an assignment of pay, or a modification thereof, shall be requested in writing by the person from whose pay the deduction will be made or through automated computer programs that allow an employee to process allotments using a personal identification code. This request shall show the authority under which the allotment or assignment is permitted, the amount to be deducted, the period of time over which the deduction is to be made, and the name and address of the allottee or assignee. Employees shall request voluntary allotments from their pay consistent with the allotments authorized in paragraph 041402. See 5 C.F.R. 550.301-550.381 (reference (I)).

041402. Authorized Allotments. Allotments may be made in accordance with the eligibility criteria specified in paragraph 041404 for the following purposes:

- A. Support of relatives or dependents of the allotter.
- B. Savings.

1. Unrestricted as to allottee. Two such allotments at any one time may be authorized an employee whose place of employment is within the continental United States. Employees stationed outside the continental United States may make as many allotments as they want. The eligibility criteria are specified in subparagraph 041404.A.
